TUESDAY.—But little routine business was done in the house Tuesday morning, and shortly after the reading of the journal the house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Oates of Alabama in the chair, on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. Consideration of the consular portion of the bill having been completed without any material change having been made toward increasing the salaries of the various consuls above the amount appropriated by the bill, the committee reverted to the amendment offered a few days ago by Mr. Chipman of Michigan and temporarily passed over that part providing that no part of the emergency funds shall be paid to any foreign government in settlement of any claim against the United States. The amendment was adopted. Mr. Blount, of Georgia, in charge of the bill, moved to strike out the appropriation of $65,000 to continue the preliminary survey for an international railway. Mr. McCreary opposed the motion. The only gentleman on the foreign affairs committee who opposed the appropriation was the chairman, who had reported the bill. That gentleman stood in the attitude of asking the house to strike from the bill, which he himself had reported, one of its most important features. It was not a proposition to build a railroad. It was simply a proposition that the United States should furnish $65,000 to complete a survey which was already two-thirds accomplished. There was nothing in the clause that pledged the United States to furnish one dollar for construction of a road. After further debate the motion was agreed to, 118 to 71. Mr. Blount thus triumphed over the otherwise united vote of his committee. Mr. Blount then moved to strike out the appropriation of $25,000 for the collection and distribution of commercial information as recommended by the International American conference. Agreed to—97 to 68. The committee arose and reported the bill as amended to the house. Mr. Hooker of Mississippi demanded a separate vote on the amendment striking out the $65,000 appropriation for an intercontinental railway commission. It was agreed to; yeas 145, nays 84. He demanded also a separate vote on the amendment striking out the appropriation for a commercial bureau of the American republics. The amendment was rejected, yeas 74, nays 148, and the appropriation for an international union of the American republics remains in the bill. The bill was then passed. On motion of Mr. Outhwaite of Ohio, the senate amendment to the army appropriation was non-concurred in and a conference was ordered. The house then adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.—After approval of the house journal and reference of a number of senate bills, Geary, of California, presented the conference report on the Chinese exclusion bill. Geary demanded the previous question on the adoption of the report, and notwithstanding the protests of Hook, of Mississippi, it was ordered.

THE SENATE.

MONDAY.—Numerous petitions were presented in the senate Monday against legislation for the closing of the World's fair on Sundays. They came from the states of Vermont, New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Colorado, Missouri and Arkansas. Many of them were from religious bodies. Also one from a Methodist church in New Hampshire urgently protesting against further adverse legislation against the Chinese. In presenting the petition for legislation for the closing of the world's fair Sunday, Mr. Vest described it as a "machine petition." It had been originally, he said, addressed to two Ohio senators, and it contained a resolution pledging signers to refuse, henceforth, to support for any office or position of trust any senator or member who should vote for further aid of any kind for the world's fair except on conditions named in the memorials. Whatever might be his vote on the question, he said, he should certainly pay no attention to that sort of resolution. He did not hold people who had sent him the petition responsible for it. It had been obviously prepared in the city of Washington as a sort of political blackmail. If that sort of practice were to continue, and we were expected to vote for the bill, which he might believe unconstitutional, he did not want to hold office on any such conditions. As to closing the world's fair on the Sabbath, that question was before the committee, of which he was a member, and was being considered very carefully. A much more serious question, however, was as to the expenditures that had already been made about the Columbian exposition, among which he noticed that of the five millions contributed by the city of Chicago $90,000 had been expended for the location of the exposition in that city. He stated that the committee which had lately visited Chicago had investigated that question to see whether the expenditure was necessary, how it was expended and who got the money. He had expressed the opinion when the bill was first presented in the senate, that expending five millions the city of Chicago would come to congress and say that it was necessary, for the honor of the entire country, that the exposition should be of the people of the United States.

TUESDAY.—After the usual routine of the morning business was disposed of in the senate Mr. Morgan called up the president's message on the subject of the international conference as to silver coinage. Mr. Kyle then proceeded to address the senate in favor of free coinage. At the close of Mr. Kyle's speech the message was again laid on the table, Mr. Morgan giving notice that he desired to speak upon it. The conference report on the Chinese exclusion bill was then laid before the senate. As soon as it was read Mr. Sherman stated that, although a member of the conference committee, he had not been able to sign the report; he was very willing to provide any necessary legislation for the restriction of Chinese labor, and thought that the senate bill had done so very broadly. Mr. Sherman found great objection to the registry and certificate provision of the bill as amended by the conference committee. That, he thought, was in violation of the treaty of 1880 with China. Messrs. Dolph and Morgan, members of the conference committee, defended the registration provision. Mr. Call declared himself in opposition not only to the conference report, but to the principle on which the whole anti-Chinese legislation was founded. He believed that the pending measure would involve a loss of hundreds of millions of dollars to the already ruined cotton industry of the south. After half a dozen other senators had spoken both for and against, the conference report was agreed to—Yeas, 30; nays, 15. The house bill-placing binding twine on the free list was laid before the senate and referred to the finance committee. Several other house bills were presented and referred. After a brief executive session, the senate adjourned.

NOTES.

A bill to establish free mail delivery in towns having a population of five thousand, or annual post office receipts of five thousand dollars, is pending in the senate and will probably pass.

Notwithstanding the time lost in adjournments from Thursday or Friday of each week until the following Monday, the senate is disposing of business with a degree of rapidity that is in marked contrast with the conduct of affairs in the house.

An early adjournment of congress is one of the things earnestly desired by the majority party in the house, and in order to attain it, the policy is to pass the appropriation bills as speedily as possible and send them to the senate, so that on that body may be fixed the responsibility for any possible prolongation of the session well into the summer. The promptness with which the senate has passed the appropriation bills heretofore sent to it has stimulated the desire for an early adjournment, and has also increased the possibility of its accomplishment, if the house does its part.

Sporting Congressmen.

During the past week the race course has proven more attractive to the average member of congress than the capitol. Since the races commenced it has been almost impossible after 2 o'clock in the afternoon to get a quorum in either house of congress, but should the roll be called at the race track there is little doubt but that a quorum would answer to their names. On Thursday the house had to suspend business and send the sergeant-at-arms out to the track to arrest absentees and compel their attendance, but the track is five miles from the capitol, and although the officers of the house captured several carriage loads of members they did not return with them until those members who were at the capitol became tired of waiting and adjourned the house. Nineteen of the arrested members were carried before the bar of the house and put on trial Friday; but as usual all made excuses and were only punished by their colleagues making sport of them for a time.

A Protest from Railroads.

The proposition made by the house postoffice committee in the postal appropriation bill to reduce the compensation of land grant and subsidized railroads for carrying mails from 80 per cent of the rate allowed to non-aided railroads, as the law at present provides, to 50 per cent, has awakened various opposition from land grant railroads and they are protesting against the proposed legislation as unjust and unreasonable. On Tuesday representatives of a number of these railroads appeared before the committee and stated the reasons for their opposition. Major E. B. Stahlman, of Atlanta, Ga., commissioner for the Southern Railway and Steamship Company, spoke for the roads in the south. The present compensation for carrying mails, he said, was not equal to the amount the company would receive if it collected fare from a single mail messenger at the rate of 3 cents per mile. The Louisville and Nashville at present lost by means of the reduction of 20 per cent made under the existing laws between $13,000 and $15,000 per year, which was equal to 4 per cent on the amount the road had received by reason of the government land grant. Representative Clark, of Mobile, Ala., district read a letter from the president of the Mobile and Ohio railroad, protesting against the reduction. Representatives of several western lines of railroad also opposed the contemplated action of congress.

AN ADDRESS

MUCH DIFFERENCES OF OPINION AMONG DELEGATES BUT HARMONY PREVAILED THROUGHOUT THE MEETING.

The Farmers' Alliance convention met at Birmingham on the 3d inst. The convention was composed of the presidents and members of the executive boards of the various southern states. Every state was represented. The meeting, which was secret, was called to order by Col. L. L. Polk, president of the National Alliance, who was made the permanent chairman, and W. F. Gwynne, of Tennessee, was selected as secretary.

Considerable differences of opinion are known to have developed in the conference as to the extent to which the order should be influenced in politics. The People's party idea prevailed by a large majority, but the element that opposed taking the Alliance as an order into politics was strong enough to force a compromise. Some of the members proclaimed their right to freedom under the constitution of the order to vote as they pleased, and the address given below formally accords that right. But all members of the order are urged to vote for their demands. The proceedings were harmonious and it is understood the members go home with a general purpose to hold the Alliance out of local politics, as individuals supporting Alliance principles.

The Birmingham Age-Herald was furnished with the following as a correct statement of the alliance proceedings and prospects: "The day was spent in receiving reports from different states upon the situation and perfect harmony seems to prevail, and wise conservatism that will prevent any radical action governs the entire work. All present express a determined support of alliance principles by their constituents, and seem to be disposed to keep the order entirely free from any partisan estrangements."

WORDS OF ADVICE.

Following is the text of the address:

To the Brotherhood of National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union: We, the presidents and executive officers of the states of Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Texas, Louisiana, Virginia, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, West Virginia and Florida, together with the members of our national executive committee, national legislative committee, national judiciary committee and President Polk, having been called together in council to consider the reported peculiar conditions in the order in the southern states, which it was believed seriously threatened that harmony, brotherly love and unity of action so necessary to the success of our cause, and success of our order in these states, after counseling together and hearing detailed reports, rejoice to say to you that we feel greatly encouraged and inspired by the splendid spirit of unity and determined adherence to principle which pervades the order in nearly every one of these states, notwithstanding the combined efforts of our enemies to sow seeds of discord in our ranks, pending heated political contests, local and national.

We therefore feel it our duty as servants of the people we represent, standing upon the outposts and watchtowers of this, the greatest political revolution ever known to the nation, to say to you that we have entered the crucial period in the history of our great reform movement in which the greatest caution, earnest deliberation and strict adherence to our principles, are necessary to preserve intact that organization which stands today as the sheet anchor and hope of millions of wealth producers in the great battle for the God-given rights of humanity. You are congratulated upon the great harmony and unity of sentiment in regard to the alliance principles which prevails within your borders, and upon the fact that a careful canvass of the subject at this meeting has shown that practically the members of the order in these states stand squarely upon their demands, with the avowed determination of holding devotion to them above that to any method of action, and that today the number of those who so endorsed the principles of the alliance is much greater than ever before.

The sentiment also prevails, strong and uniform, that this great order as an organization is the greatest of all modern forces for the spread of reform education, and that its work must be perpetuated and encouraged in this high sphere entirely free from any partisan entanglements. The only danger which seems in any way to threaten a lack of the fullest development and prosperity of the order are those which attend the disposition of a few men and papers to publicly criticise and condemn others for their methods. This is not of sufficient extent to damage our order, but it mars that perfect unity that should prevail, and always injures all concerned, and is contrary to the spirit of brotherly love and forbearance that should prevail. Another evil which fortunately prevails only in very few localities is the disposition of members to seek political office at the hands of their brethren, forgetting that principle of alliance doctrine which declares that the office should seek the man and not the man the office. In consideration of these views as to the situation, the following rules of action are suggested as well calculated to enable the order to go through the coming ordeal of fierce political contest and come out strengthened and purified.

1. Let a spirit of harmony prevail and let unity of action be the rule. Let none condemn a brother who stands squarely by principles of the order or speak in any way disparagingly or disrespectfully of him because they may differ as to the best methods of enforcing our principles. Grant to every brother honesty of purpose.

2. Let fealty to the principles of the order be the true and only test of membership and let those who value partisan affiliations more than their alliance obligations be informed that their order demands strict and full devotion to its principles and leaves each to his own methods, but that method can in no case control principle and, therefore, all who affiliate should accept as supreme the principles of the order.

3. Every member who takes the obligation always administered to those who join, is first told as a condition precedent and upon which all that is to follow is predicated: "That it shall in no way interfere with your political or religious liberty." Therefore, this order as such, or any of its branches, has no right to take any partisan, political or sectarian religious action. We urge upon the brotherhood of all reform associations and all good citizens who believe as we do, that the enactment of laws based upon our demands is for the preservation of free institutions of our government and to rescue the masses from degraded servitude, that they use all honorable means to secure the election of men to our national legislative council who who stand pledged to work for the passage of such laws.

Finally, brethren, remember that devotion to our principles is only to be emphasized and our influence made effective by voting for our demands at the ballot box. We send greeting to the brotherhood in the north and the great northwest, and assure them that our hearts beat in unison with them in their efforts for industrial freedom, and we will stand by them in all laudable efforts to redeem this country from the clutches of organized capital, and that we will stand with them at the ballot box for the enforcement of our demands.

THE IMPRISONED CATTLEMEN.

Governor Barber, of Wyoming, has written a letter to the prosecuting attorney of Johnson county, where the recent cattle trouble occurred, in which he states that the men who surrendered to the commanding officer at Fort McKenny are confined at Fort D. A. Russell, and will be held until the prosecuting attorney has had reasonable and sufficient time to prepare and commence in the district court of his county criminal proceedings against any of them who, upon consideration, he shall deem justified and warranted by the evidence which the investigation may disclose to him. He urges the district attorney to make such investigations as he may deem proper, with all due diligence, and institute in the district court appropriate criminal prosecutions, so that those against whom there are no criminal accusations may be released and the others prosecuted for the crimes or violation of law committed by them.

ANOTHER THEATRE FIRE.

A Woman and Child Burned to Death---Narrow Escapes.

Sunday night a fire started in the rear of the stage at Loeb's Variety theater at Leadville, Colorado, and in a few moments the entire place was ablaze. The flames spread rapidly, and before they were got under control half of the block on State street was gutted. There were a number of narrow escapes. One woman and a little child were burned to death. The damage is estimated at $40,000, and about $10,000 insurance.

THE HOUSE.

FRIDAY.—In the house Friday morning the speaker called attention to the fact that at the time of adjournment Thursday the sergeant-at-arms had been given warrants for the arrest of absent members. He would now ask the officer to make his report. Colonel "Ike" Hill then proceeded to the space in front of the speaker's desk to submit his report, when he was interrupted by Mr. Owens, of Ohio, with the point of order that after the adjournment of the house the sergeant-at-arms had no authority to bring in the absentees. The speaker replied that that was not a question of order. It was a question for the house to decide. Colonel Hill stated that nineteen warrants had been put in his hands. Two members he had failed to find; one had been suddenly called away on account of sickness in his family; four were out of town. He had notified the other twelve and they had promised to be on hand Friday morning. The speaker stated that the sergeant-at-arms had called on him in the meantime and asked what he should do with the members upon whom he served warrants. The speaker had taken the liberty to instruct him to notify them to be present at Friday's session.

SATURDAY.—There were not one hundred members present when the speaker called the house to order at noon Saturday. By unanimous consent the house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Oates, of Alabama, in the chair, on the diplomatic and the consular appropriation bill, the pending amendment being that offered by Mr. Hitt, of Illinois, restoring the salary of the minister of Venezuela to $7,500, which the bill proposed to reduce to $5,000. Hitt and Blount resumed business as tellers, but received little patronage from the republicans. However, they were patient, and for almost an hour awaited the democratic customers who were summoned from the committee rooms by pages and doorkeepers; and their patience was rewarded, and they were enabled to close up business with honor. A quorum appeared and the amendment was lost—19 to 149.

MONDAY.—Being suspension day in the house, Mr. Fowler, of New Jersey, moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill which authorizes the secretary of the treasury to grant registers as vessels of the United States to such foreign built steamships, now engaged in freight and passenger business, and sailing in an established line from a port in the United States, as one of a tonnage of not less than 8,000 tons and capable of speed of not less than twenty knots per hour, of which not less than ninety per cent of the shares of foreign corporation or association owning same was owned January 1, 1890, and has continued to be owned until the passage of this act, by citizens of the United States, provided that such American owners shall, subsequent to the date of this law, have built, or have contracted to build, in American ship yards, steamships of aggregate tonnage of not less in amount than that of steamships so admitted to registry. After a brief explanation by Mr. Cockran, of New York, the motion was agreed to and the bill passed. The Bryan bill, providing for free binding twine, was then taken up and passed by a vote of 183 to 47, three republicans voted for it, and two democrats (Covert and Coburn of New York) voted against it; all the third party people voted with the democrats. The bill granting a pension to the survivors of the Indian wars of 1832 to 1842 was also passed. It provides that the names of the survivors who served thirty days in the Black Hawk war, the Creek war, the Cherokee disturbance, or the Florida war with the Seminole Indians and were honorably discharged, as well as the surviving widows of such officers or enlisted men, provided such widows have not re-married, shall be placed upon the pension rolls. The pension will be $8 a month. The bill will undoubtedly pass the senate very soon and will become a law at this session of congress.

TUESDAY.—But little routine business was done in the house Tuesday morning, and shortly after the reading of the journal the house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Oates of Alabama in the chair, on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. Consideration of the consular portion of the bill having been completed without any material change having been made toward increasing the salaries of the various consuls above the amount appropriated by the bill, the committee reverted to the amendment offered a few days ago by Mr. Chipman of Michigan and temporarily passed over that part providing that no part of the emergency funds shall be paid to any foreign government in settlement of any claim against the United States. Geary demanded the previous question on the adoption of the report, and notwithstanding the protests of Hook, of Mississippi, it was ordered.

Stahlman, of Atlanta, Ga., commissioner for the Southern Railway and Steamship Company, spoke for the roads in the south. The present compensation for carrying mails, he said, was not equal to the amount the company would receive if it collected fare from a single mail messenger at the rate of 3 cents per mile. The Louisville and Nashville at present lost by means of the reduction of 20 per cent made under the existing laws between $12,000 and $15,000 per year, which was equal to 4 per cent on the amount the road had received by reason of the government land grant. Representative Clark, of Mobile, Ala., district read a letter from the president of the Mobile and Ohio railroad, protesting against the reduction. Representatives of several western lines of railroad also opposed the contemplated action of congress.

AN ADDRESS

MUCH DIFFERENCES OF OPINION AMONG DELEGATES BUT HARMONY PREVAILED THROUGHOUT THE MEETING.

The Farmers' Alliance convention met at Birmingham on the 3d inst. The convention was composed of the presidents and members of the executive boards of the various southern states. Every state was represented. The meeting, which was secret, was called to order by Col. L. L. Polk, president of the National Alliance, who was made the permanent chairman, and W. F. Gwynne, of Tennessee, was selected as secretary.

Considerable differences of opinion are known to have developed in the conference as to the extent to which the order should be influenced in politics. The People's party idea prevailed by a large majority, but the element that opposed taking the Alliance as an order into politics was strong enough to force a compromise. Some of the members proclaimed their right to freedom under the constitution of the order to vote as they pleased, and the address given below formally accords that right. But all members of the order are urged to vote for their demands. The proceedings were harmonious and it is understood the members go home with a general purpose to hold the Alliance out of local politics, as individuals supporting Alliance principles.

The Birmingham Age-Herald was furnished with the following as a correct statement of the alliance proceedings and prospects: "The day was spent in receiving reports from different states upon the situation and perfect harmony seems to prevail, and wise conservatism that will prevent any radical action governs the entire work. All present express a determined support of alliance principles by their constituents, and seem to be disposed to keep the order entirely free from any partisan estrangements."

WORDS OF ADVICE.

Following is the text of the address:

To the Brotherhood of National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union: We, the presidents and executive officers of the states of Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Texas, Louisiana, Virginia, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, West Virginia and Florida, together with the members of our national executive committee, national legislative committee, national judiciary committee and President Polk, having been called together in council to consider the reported peculiar conditions in the order in the southern states, which it was believed seriously threatened that harmony, brotherly love and unity of action so necessary to the success of our cause, and success of our order in these states, after counseling together and hearing detailed reports, rejoice to say to you that we feel greatly encouraged and inspired by the splendid spirit of unity and determined adherence to principle which pervades the order in nearly every one of these states, notwithstanding the combined efforts of our enemies to sow seeds of discord in our ranks, pending heated political contests, local and national.

We therefore feel it our duty as servants of the people we represent, standing upon the outposts and watchtowers of this, the greatest political revolution ever known to the nation, to say to you that we have entered the crucial period in the history of our great reform movement in which the greatest caution, earnest deliberation and strict adherence to our principles, are necessary to preserve intact that organization which stands today as the sheet anchor and hope of millions of wealth producers in the great battle for the God-given rights of humanity. You are congratulated upon the great harmony and unity of sentiment in regard to the alliance principles which prevails within your borders, and upon the fact that a careful canvass of the subject at this meeting has shown that practically the members of the order in these states stand squarely upon their demands, with the avowed determination of holding devotion to them above that to any method of action, and that today the number of those who so endorsed the principles of the alliance is much greater than ever before.

The sentiment also prevails, strong and uniform, that this great order as an organization is the greatest of all modern forces for the spread of reform education, and that its work must be perpetuated and encouraged in this high sphere entirely free from any partisan entanglements. The only danger which seems in any way to threaten a lack of the fullest development and prosperity of the order are those which attend the disposition of a few men and papers to publicly criticise and condemn others for their methods. This is not of sufficient extent to damage our order, but it mars that perfect unity that should prevail, and always injures all concerned, and is contrary to the spirit of brotherly love and forbearance that should prevail. Another evil which fortunately prevails only in very few localities is the disposition of members to seek political office at the hands of their brethren, forgetting that principle of alliance doctrine which declares that the office should seek the man and not the man the office. In consideration of these views as to the situation, the following rules of action are suggested as well calculated to enable the order to go through the coming ordeal of fierce political contest and come out strengthened and purified.

1. Let a spirit of harmony prevail and let unity of action be the rule. Let none condemn a brother who stands squarely by principles of the order or speak in any way disparagingly or disrespectfully of him because they may differ as to the best methods of enforcing our principles. Grant to every brother honesty of purpose.

2. Let fealty to the principles of the order be the true and only test of membership and let those who value partisan affiliations more than their alliance obligations be informed that their order demands strict and full devotion to its principles and leaves each to his own methods, but that method can in no case conflict principle and, therefore, all who affiliate should accept as supreme the principles of the order.

3. Every member who takes the obligation always administered to those who join, is first told as a condition precedent and upon which all that is to follow is predicated: "That it shall in no way interfere with your political or religious liberty." Therefore, this order as such, or any of its branches, has no right to take any partisan, political or sectarian religious action. We urge upon the brotherhood of all reform associations and all good citizens who believe as we do, that the enactment of laws based upon our demands is for the preservation of free institutions of our government and to rescue the masses from degraded servitude, that they use all honorable means to secure the election of men to our national legislative council who who stand pledged to work for the passage of such laws.

Finally, brethren, remember that devotion to our principles is only to be emphasized and our influence made effective by voting for our demands at the ballot box. We send greeting to the brotherhood in the north and the great northwest, and assure them that our hearts beat in unison with them in their efforts for industrial freedom, and we will stand by them in all laudable efforts to redeem this country from the clutches of organized capital, and that we will stand with them at the ballot box for the enforcement of our demands.

Signed by all the members of the conference.

THE IMPRISONED CATTLEMEN.

Governor Barber, of Wyoming, has written a letter to the prosecuting attorney of Johnson county, where the recent cattle trouble occurred, in which he states that the men who surrendered to the commanding officer at Fort McKenny are confined at Fort D. A. Russell, and will be held until the prosecuting attorney has had reasonable and sufficient time to prepare and commence in the district court of his county criminal proceedings against any of them who, upon consideration, he shall deem justified and warranted by the evidence which the investigation may disclose to him. He urges the district attorney to make such investigations as he may deem proper, with all due diligence, and institute in the district court appropriate criminal prosecutions, so that those against whom there are no criminal accusations may be released and the others prosecuted for the crimes or violation of law committed by them.

ANOTHER THEATRE FIRE.

A Woman and Child Burned to Death---Narrow Escapes.

Sunday night a fire started in the rear of the stage at Loeb's Variety theater at Leadville, Colorado, and in a few moments the entire place was ablaze. The flames spread rapidly, and before they were got under control half of the block on State street was gutted. There were a number of narrow escapes. One woman and a little child were burned to death. The damage is estimated at $40,000, and about $10,000 insurance.

A Preacher Gets Damages.

A Boston, Mass., dispatch of Friday says: In the case of Rev. W. W. Downs for slander, against three of the members of the Roxbury Square Baptist church, the jury reported a verdict giving the plaintiff $10,000 damages. Mr. Downs sued for $50,000. The Alexander City Outlook, speaking of the prospect of a Behring Sea war, says: "It is very hard for the average husband and father to feel a patriotic desire to get his head shot off for the protection of seal-skin sacques."

"Editors, may edit, preachers may preach, and alliancemen may alliance," says a South Georgia contemporary, "but as long as our money continues to flow northward through the avenues of fashion and trade, the North will grow rich and the South will grow poor.

Hon. John L. Cobbs, state treasurer, is visiting Mobile in attendance upon the convention. Alabama has no worthier citizen. He has made a splendid treasurer and in his hands the money of the state is as safe as it would be in the Bank of England.—Mobile Register.

There is scarcely a disease to which the human family is heir but the sufferings therefrom would be greatly relieved or entirely prevented by the use of fruits, which are now so generally forbidden. Many diseases would be conducted to a safe termination by the free use of fruits, because of the acids they contain.

The hog in Ireland is sometimes called "the gentleman that pays the rent." It is not unfrequently that in this country the hog is entitled to the same compliment. A farmer in Fillmore county, Minn., says: "Twenty hogs, bred, fed and marketed for that specific purpose, paid the interest on the purchase price of my farm, and in ten years wiped out the principal."

The People Must be Considered.

The present crisis of political affairs in Alabama make a demand, and strong appeal for statesmanship, rather than further political trickery and demagoguery. There is one road that leads out of the political wilderness that our state has drifted into, and that road is for the next legislature to commence rubbing out from the constitution of 1876 and begin to adjust Alabama to things that are new, and to times that are progressive.

The restlessness of the people is not actuated by any love for any individual that seeks their votes. It is the out-cropping of self interest that may soon rise above party fidelity, and in its desperation assert itself. We are in favor of taxing the people for the education of their children. We know of no other means of attaining that end. The people are intelligent and see this is the only way of raising the necessary funds to have good schools.

The people despise the demagogue who says I am opposed to taxation, when they know that his methods lead to ignorance, poverty and crime among the masses. What the people want is good and sufficient schools in every township in Alabama; and the people are willing to pay the bill. When we speak of the people we include the overwhelming majority; we do not mean the very few who are blessed with large landed estates, and ample means to educate their sons and daughters, or else send them to Auburn where they go tuition free. This class are protected and well fixed, but the people are exposed, the bone and sinew of Alabama, the producers of wealth, and the white voters who elect democratic majorities by a fair vote and free count are suffering. The calamity has not been confined to them alone, it radiates out in every direction and the fact that Alabama has no free schools that entitle the state to the distinction of having a public school system has driven millions from our state that would have been invested with us. We hate to see any department of the school system wiped out of existence, but we would rather see every normal school in Alabama closed and its State funds handed over to the common schools than to see our State and white voters eternally cursed with the sham and pretext that are called county public schools in Alabama. There is no sense in perpetrating the fraud on the people of educating teachers when there is no fund to pay them with to teach. This is the actual condition of affairs, the pretended would-be teachers get their education free, and then turn it to purposes other than teaching school. Giving Alabama public schools is a matter of the greatest importance. Our people can't afford to pull over the same lines of roads that they used when the transit of the pioneer days of Alabama existed. They want to be able to move something when they hitch up their team, they also want to enjoy some of the blessings of civilization. Therefore the musty, rusty, worm eaten constitution that hangs over our State and handicaps every effort at progress should be completely done away with; and the road cleared for progress and prosperity, we say, and we are earnest in our utterance, if this is not done trouble, disaffection and disaster will follow as a reasonable and natural result, and one can blame the sufferer.

Let the organized democracy look to these things, and give less attention to party nomination and office seekers, which for sixteen years has been the all absorbing topic. The truth is there is but little difference with the people, who administer the laws, provided the laws guard and protect the people.—Huntsville Mercury.

Did He Take Part In It.

How can Kolb cry fraud in the last State Convention? Was he not a participant in that convention? Did he not stump the State in the interest of Jones after his nomination, and the idea of his now crying fraud is preposterous, if a fraud was committed was he not one of the perpetrators? Did he not say that he would submit to the will of the last State Convention? Did he not get up before the convention and congratulate them on their choice for Governor? Then could he congratulate a fraudulent convention? And could he support and even take the stump for his opponent after he had been defrauded out of the nomination? It seems to us that Kolb ought to know what consistency is. These are a few questions that Kolb ought to answer. —Midland City Clipper.

Speak by the Card.

From the Birmingham News.

The Huntsville Mercury which evidently speaks by the card, its editor-in-chief having had an unpleasant experience as an apostle from the Democratic party, gives all those democrats who may think of going off with the prospective bolters, the following sound and timely advice:

"We ask what do you wish to gain by leaving the organized democracy? Should your leaders succeed they will get a salary incident to it, and you will get nothing except a little valuable experience. Let those Alabamians who have known the political history of Madison county figure up what has been gained by the bolters and disaffected element. Now you place yourself in identically the same position of your neighbors and friends that these men have been in for the last few years. You will accomplish no good in any event."

The man who writes thus is now a good democrat, and his timely advice ought to sink deep in the hearts of all who may contemplate a bolt from the regular organized party.

Silly Falsehoods.

Florence Times.

Of all the silly demagogueism that one hears in a political campaign, none is so weak and disgusting as the cry that the press is bribed, bought up, controlled and so forth. It is an old chesnut. The men who make the charges frequently do so without seriously thinking of the matter; some do so because they cannot control the press, and others do so because the newspapers expose their schemes. During a long connection with the press we have never known an editor to sell himself for money; on the contrary we believe as a body they are as honest and patriotic as any body of citizens. This is stating the case mildly.

To carry out the demand made by the twelfth plank of the third party platform would require something over $2,500,000,000 and of that amount the South would have to pay her share and receive no benefit whatever from the robbery.—Shelby Chronicle.

The farmers of the whole country are compelled to pay their debts in gold and sell their cotton and wheat at the price of silver bullion. This is where the shoe pinches.

Judge Dowdell's Chances.

Opelika News.

The Lee county delegation will vote as a unit for Judge J. B. Dowdell for one of the Judges of the Supreme Court. Every county in the Fifth District that has acted has instructed for Dowdell and he is now drawing from the outside. The endorsement of his district will play an important part in securing for him the nomination.

CONFIRMING

The Story of Where Lee Stood Two Years Ago.

The contest in Lee county came to a close last Saturday night. The result to many was a surprise. After the county nominations were made, and home affairs gotten off of hand, both the Jones men and Kolb men in Lee went to work in dead earnest for the success of their respective favorite. As the day of the contest drew nearer the contest waxed warmer and warmer. Both of the aspirants, and some of their adherents, spoke to the voters of the county for the hustlings, and politically the county was stirred up from centre to circumference and Saturday found almost every Democratic voter ready to cast his vote for his favorite.

The contest on both sides was honest and honorable. The Jones men won: and the Kolb men like good Democrats, as they are, accepted their defeat gracefully and to-day finds the Democratic ranks in Lee county closed ready to meet the enemy at every turn.

The result in Lee is a rebuke to the charge that Lee county was unfairly taken from Kolb two years ago. Lee was then as she is to-day, against the "Genial Reuben" by a large majority. If Kolb had unhesitatingly stated in such a manner as to have left no doubts in the minds of Democrats, that he intended to abide the action of the party in convention assembled he would doubtless have been stronger at the polls. Lee county has grown sick and tired of aspiring men who are Democrats for revenue only, and, if we read the signs of the times correctly, she has set the year 1892 as the year in which everything independently tinged is to be buried so deep that there will be no resurrection.—Opelika News.

Wisdom About Women.

Whenever a man sets himself up to "boss" a woman, there should be a new Declaration of Independence issued at once, and ways and means provided to carry it into effect.

The best cosmetic I have ever seen used is a healthy diet, a well ventilated sleeping room, regular exercise in the open air, and a daily sponge bath with tepid water and castile soap.

Whatever shadows the life and destroys the happiness of a girl or woman in marriage or out of marriage, be it of a social, political, legal or religious nature, is a canker that will eat itself into the very heart of society.

The man is a crazy fool who wants to marry a woman who does not love him, or wants to continue in marriage with a woman who has ceased to love him. But the man who uses force or the law to compel a woman to live with him is a consumate rascal.

Men expect too much of women. If they would understand that she is simply human like themselves, having much the same desires and ambitions, and treat her accordingly, both sexes would be much better and happier for it.—Cincinnati Herald.

Lee County Alliance Democrats

Opelika News.

Mr. Wm. Bass, president of the Lee County Alliance, was in Opelika Tuesday. Mr. Bass says the contest was a fair one and the fight was honestly won. That Jones was virtually nominated. Mr. Bass takes the defeat of his favorite like a true Democrat, which he is, and proposes to go to work for the success of the State and county nominees. Independant and Third Partyism will find no assistance from the hands of the Lee County Alliance. Neither will the rank and file of the Alliance in Lee be found battling elsewhere than among the front ranks of Democracy.

A REMARKABLE CLUBBING RATE

But a few More Weeks to take Advantage of it.

By special arrangement with that greatest of all American weekly newspapers, The Atlanta Constitution, we are enabled to offer our paper with it for the remarkable low rate of $1.50 for one year.

The Constitution has a weekly circulation of 155,000 and is the model weekly newspaper of America. Bill Arp, Joel Chandler Harris, (Uncle Remus), Dr. Talmage, Betsey Hamilton, Sarge Plunkett, and a number of other writers of national reputation contribute to its columns.

Its farm and farmers' department is the ablest of that of any American newspaper, and the women's and childrens' department is conducted with a special view to interest and instruct those for whom it is prepared.

Its news department is the most complete of any weekly newspaper published. This great paper has correspondents in all parts of the world, and covers the news of the southern states in every detail.

This clubbing offer will only last until the first of June, as by an arrangement with the Constitution we cannot offer it after that time.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Ohio, states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it, and is to day enjoying good health. If you have any throat, lung, or chest trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it, this recipe in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noyes, 820 Powers' Blk, Rochester, N. Y. apr16-y

THE SOUTH IN BRIEF

The News of Her Progress Portrayed in Pithy and Pointed Paragraphs

AND A COMPLETE EPITOME OF HAPPENINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST FROM DAY TO DAY WITHIN HER BORDERS.

Huntsville, Ala., will have a third cotton factory, costing $100,000, to be located in West Huntsville. Work begins at once on the erection of the buildings.

Tuesday Governor Buchanan, of Tennessee, pardoned Ben K. Pullen who, while assistant secretary of the taxing district of Shelby county, was guilty of embezzlement, and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. Pullen was a high flyer, and spent the money at swell summer resorts in the east.

Two hundred men on the Kentucky Central and Louisville and Nashville railroads, including trackmen hands, switchmen, yardmen, section hands and laborers, went on a strike Monday on account of a reduction in wages from $1.35 to $1 25 per day. They predict that all men along the line will join the strike.

The stockholders of the North Carolina Cotton Oil Company met at Raleigh Saturday and elected directors who in turn elected officers: T. R. Cheney, of New York, president; W. G. Upchurch, of Raleigh, vice president; R. F. Monroe, of New York, secretary; Justus Ralph, of New York, treasurer; Garland Jones, of Raleigh, assistant secretary and treasurer.

The railroad commission of Georgia, at a meeting in Atlanta on Monday, decided to lower the rate on excess baggage on railroads. The rate is now fixed at 10 cents per hundred 30 miles, 45 cents for 100 miles, 90 cents for 200 miles. This a considerable reduction. At the same meeting the commission decided against the petition of the drummers for ticket books ot two cents per mile.

In the criminal court at Nashville, Tuesday, Judge Ridgeley charged the grand jury to investigate the lynching of the two negroes Friday and Saturday night. He said that all who were present or aided or abetted were guilty of murder. He said also that those who participated in breaking or attempting to break open the jail, or aided or abetted in such attempt were guilty of felony.

The first through train from Atlanta, Ga., over the Seaboard Air-Line arrived at Raleigh, N. C., Monday morning on time. This line will undoubtedly prove a grand trunk line between the northeast and southwest. The track is pronounced admirable, that of the new portion of the Georgia, Carolina and Northen being superior to many old roads. All classes of railroad officials turned out to see the new train.

Sunday morning a disastrous fire occurred at Herling, Ky. The Sentinel newspaper office, J. H. Brunner's shoe store, the postoffice, Hauline's Bazaar, Enoch's bargain house, business houses of T. P. Martin & Co., dry goods and notions; Walter M. Gay & Co., grocerics, and Mrs. Kate O. Clark, millinery, were entirely destroyed. Total loss $50,000, with insurance aggregating one-half that sum.

There has been considerable interest awakened in railroad circles by the report that H. B. Plant, president of the Plant railway and steamship lines, had recently visited Jacksonville, Fla., for the purpose of examining the books of the Florida Central and Peninsula Railroad company, and that he had subsequently purchased that property. The management of the latter company was seen on Wednesday and denied the rumor as false and absurd.

The talk of the Liquor Dealers' Association testing the constitutionality of the "dramshop" chapter of the annotated code is creating some stir and feeling in Jackson, Miss. The supposition, even among persons not avowed enemies of the liquor traffic, is that the whisky people are liable, if they succeed, to jump from the frying pan into the fire, as it is asserted that the legislature will pass a more stringent law, even if it does not enact absolute prohibition.

A fire at Norfolk, Va., destroyed the cotton warehouse owned jointly by E. C. McCulloch and C. W. Grandy & Sons, and occupied by Bassett, Nash & Co., and other cotton merchants, in which was stored 1,200 bales of cotton, 100 bags of peanuts and 100 tons of fertilizers. Bassett, Nash & Co. were the principal losers. Their loss amounts to $30,000, covered by insurance. The total loss on the building and contents is about $75,000. The total insurance is about $50,000.

The concluding arguments were made Saturday in the Richmond and Danville cases before Judge Speer at Macon, Ga., in the cases for contempt. The attorney for the Central, argued that the court could fine or imprison (or both) the officials of the Richmond and Danville for failure to pay over the insurance money collected for the loss of the Macon passenger depot. Judge Speer ordered the Richmond and Danville to pay the Central $30,000. Macon depot insurance. He reserves his decision on the Steamship stock in escrow.

GEORGIA'S MELON CROP

For 1892 Has Been Placed at About Nine Thousand Car Loads.

The Savannah, Florida and Western railroad's official report as to the watermelon acreage and outlook has just been completed. It shows a total acreage along that road of 10,507 acres, a decrease of forty-four acres, in comparison with the acreage of last year. The yield last year was 5,454 carloads, or an average of one carload to every two and a half acres. Along connecting railroad lines the reports show a decrease in acreage of one-third. The total acreage devoted to watermelons in Georgia this year is placed at 20,000. The vines are in fine condition, hardy and just beginning to bloom. The outlook is for a fine and early crop. The total crop this year will probably not fall far short of 9,000 car loads.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.

Figures Showing How Uncle Sam's Account Stands.

The public debt statement issued by the treasury department Monday shows the total interest-bearing debt to be $585,029,030; total debts of all kinds, $1,600,170,734. Total cash in the treasury, $797,626,846; net debt, $802,543,-378; decrease of debt during April, $778,375; balance in the treasury, including $100,000 000 gold reserve, $181,-378,160. Gold certificates outstanding, $175,644 679; silver certificates outstanding, $380,499,009; currency certificates outstanding, $30,500,000; treasury notes of 1890 (bullion purchase notes), $93,-240,000.

THE SARATOGA MIRACLE

FURTHER INVESTIGATED BY AN EXPRESS REPORTER.

THE FACTS ALREADY STATED FULLY CONFIRMED—INTERVIEWS WITH LEADING PHYSICIANS WHO TREATED QUANT—THE MOST MARVELOUS CASE IN THE HISTORY OF MEDICAL SCIENCE.

A few weeks ago an article appeared in this paper copied from the Albany, N. Y., Journal, giving the particulars of one of the most remarkable cures of the 19th century. The article was under the heading "A Saratoga Ch. Miracle," and excited such widespread comment that another Albany paper—the Express—detailed a reporter to make a thorough investigation of the statements appearing in the Journal's article. The facts as elicited by the Express reporter are given in the following article, which appeared in that paper on April 16th, and makes one of the most interesting stories ever related:

A few weeks ago there was published in the Albany Evening Journal the story of a most remarkable—indeed so remarkable as to well justify the term "miraculous"—cure of a severe case of locomotor ataxia, or creeping paralysis, simply by the use of Pink Pills for Pale People, and, in compliance with instructions, an Express Reporter has been devoting some time in a critical investigation of the real facts of the case.

The story of the wonderful cure of Charles A. Quant, of Galway, Saratoga County, N. Y., as first told in the Journal, has been copied into hundreds if not thousands of other daily and weekly newspapers and has created such a sensation throughout the entire country that it was deemed a duty due all the people, and especially the thousands of similarly afflicted, that the statements of the case as made in the Albany Journal, and copied into so many other newspapers should, if true, be verified; or, if false, exposed as an imposition upon public credulity.

The result of the Express reporter's investigations authorizes him in saying that the story of Charles A. Quant's cure of locomotor ataxia by the use of Pink Pills for Pale People, a popular remedy prepared and put up by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Morristown, N. Y., and Brockville, Ontario, IS TRUE, and that all its statements are not only justified but verified by the fuller development of the further facts of the case.

Perhaps the readers of the Express are not all of them fully familiar with the details of this miraculous restoration to health of a man who after weeks and months of treatment by the most skillful doctors in two of the best hospitals in the State of New York—the Roosevelt Hospital in New York City and St. Peter's Hospital in Albany—was dismissed from each as incurable and, because the case was deemed incurable, the man was denied admission into several others to which application was made in his behalf. The story as told by Mr. Quant himself and published in the Albany Journal, is as follows:

"My name is Charles A. Quant; I am 37 years old; I was born in the village of Galway and excepting while traveling on business and a little while in Amsterdam, have spent my whole life here. Up to about eight years ago I had never been sick and was then in perfect health. I was fully six feet tall, weighed 180 pounds and was very strong. For 12 years was traveling salesman for a piano and organ company, and had to do, or at least did do, a great deal of heavy lifting, got my meals very irregularly and slept in enough 'spare beds' in country houses to freeze an ordinary man to death, or at least give him the rheumatism. About eight years ago I began to feel distress in my stomach, and consulted several doctors about it. They all said it was dyspepsia, and for dyspepsia I was treated by various doctors in different places, and took all the patent medicines I could hear of that claimed to be a cure for dyspepsia. But I continued to grow gradually worse for four years. Then I began to have pain in my back and legs and became conscious that my legs were getting weak and my step unsteady, and then I staggered when I walked. Having received no benefit from the use of patent medicines, and feeling that I was constantly growing worse, I then, upon advice, began the use of electric belts, pads and all the many different kinds of electric appliances I could hear of, and spent hundreds of dollars for them, but they did me no good. (Here Mr. Quant showed the Journal reporter an electric suit of underwear, for which he paid $124.) In the fall of 1888 the doctors advised a change of climate, so I went to Atlanta, Ga., and acted as agent for the Estey Organ Company. While there I took a thorough electric treatment, but it only seemed to aggravate my disease, and the only relief I could get from the sharp and distressing pains was to take morphine. The pain was so intense at times that it seemed as though I could not stand it, and I almost longed for death as the only certain relief. In September of 1888 my legs gave out entirely and my left eye was drawn to one side, so that I had double sight and was dizzy. My trouble so affected my whole nervous system that I had to give up business. Then I returned to New York and went to the Roosevelt Hospital, where for four months I was treated by specialists and they pronounced my case locomotor ataxia and incurable. After I had been under treatment by Prof. Starr and Dr. Ware for four months, they told me they had done all they could for me. Then I went to the New York Hospital on Fifteenth street, where, upon examination, they said I was incurable and would not take me in. At the Presbyterian Hospital they examined me and told me the same thing. In March, 1890, I was taken to St. Peter's Hospital in Albany, where Prof. H. H. Hun frankly told my wife my case was hopeless; that he could do nothing for me and that she had better take me back home and save my money. But I wanted to make a trial of Prof. Hun's famous skill and I remained under his treatment for nine weeks, but secured no benefit. All this time I had been growing worse. I had become entirely paralyzed from my waist down and had partly lost control of my hands. The pain was terrible; my legs felt as though they were freezing and my stomach would not retain food, and I fell away to 120 pounds. In the Albany Hospital they put seventeen big burns on my back one day with red hot irons, and after a few days they put fourteen more burns on and treated me with electricity, but I got worse rather than better; lost control of my bowels and water, and, upon advice of the doctor, who said there was no hope for me, I was brought home, where it was thought that death would soon come to relieve me of my sufferings. Last September, while in this helpless and suffering condition, a friend of mine in Hamilton, Ont., called my attention to the statement of one John Marshall, whose case had been similar to my own, and who had been cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In this case Mr. Marshall, who is a prominent member of the Royal Templars of Temperance, had, after four years of constant treatment by the most eminent Canadian physicians, been pronounced incurable, and paid the $1000 total disability claim allowed by the order in such cases. Some months after Mr. Marshall began a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking some 15 boxes was fully restored to health. I thought I would try them, and my wife sent for two boxes of the pills, and I took them according to the directions on the wrapper on each box. For the first few days the cold baths were pretty severe as I was so very weak, but I continued to follow instructions as to taking the pills and the treatment, and even before I had used up the two boxes of the pills I began to feel beneficial results from them. My pains were not so bad. I felt warmer; my head felt better; my food began to relish and agree with me; I could straighten up; the feeling began to come back into my limbs; I began to be able to get about on crutches; my eye came back again as good as ever, and now, after the use of eight boxes of the pills, at a cost of only $4.00—see!—I can with the help of a cane only, walk all about the house and yard, can saw wood, and on pleasant days I walk down town. My stomach trouble is gone; I have gained 10 pounds; I feel like a new man, and when the spring opens I expect to be able to renew my organ and piano agency. I cannot speak in too high terms of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, as I know they saved my life after all the doctors had given me up as incurable."

Such is the wonderful story which the Express reporter has succeeded in securing verifications of in all its details, from the hospital records where Mr. Quant was treated and from the doctors who had the case in hand and who pronounced him incurable. Let it be remembered that all this hospital treatment was two long years, years both while his cure, by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, has been effected since last September, 1891. So it is beyond a doubt evident that his recovery is wholly due to the use of these famous pills which have been found to have made such remarkable cures in this and other cases.

Mr. Quant placed in the hands of the reporter his card of admission to Roosevelt Hospital, which is here reproduced in fac-simile for confirmation of his statements:

To verify Mr. Quant's statement our reporter a few days ago, (March 31st, 1892,) called on Dr. Allen Starr at his office, No. 22 West Twenty-eighth St., New York city. Dr. Starr is house physician of the Roosevelt hospital, situated corner of Ninth avenue and Fifty-ninth street. In reply to inquiry he said he remembered the case of Mr. Quant very well, and treated him some, but that he was chiefly treated and under the more especial care of Dr. Ware. He said he regarded this case as he did all cases of locomotor ataxia as incurable. In order that our reporter might get a copy of the history of the case of Mr. Quant from the hospital record he very courteously gave him a letter of which the following is a copy:

Dr. M. A. Starr, 22 West Forty-eighth street, office hours, 9 to 12 a. m., New York, March 31st, 1892.—Dear Dr. Vought: If you have any record of a locomotor ataxia by name of Quant, who says he came to the clinic 3 or 4 years ago, No. 14,037, of the O. D. Dept., Roosevelt, send to me from Ware, will you let the bearer know. If you have no record send him to Roosevelt Hosp.

Yours, STARR.

By means of this letter access to the records was permitted and a transcript of the history of Mr. Quant's case made from them as follows:

"No. 14,037. Admitted September 16th, 1889. Charles A. Quant, aged 34 years. Born U. S. Married. Hoboken."

"History of the case:—Dyspepsia for past four or five years. About 14 months' partial loss of power and numbness in lower extremities. Girdling sensation about abdomen. (November 29th, 1889, not improved, external strobismus of left eye and dilatation of the left eye.) Some difficulty in passing water at times; no headache but some dizziness; alternate diarrhoea and constipation; partial ptosis past two weeks in left eye.

"Ord. R. F. Bi pep. and Soda."

These are the marked symptoms of a severe case of locomotor ataxia. "And Dr. Starr said a case with such marked symptoms could not be cured and Quant, who was receiving treatment in the out-patient department, was given up as incurable."

"There never was a case recovered in the world," said Dr. Starr. And then said: "Dr. Ware can tell you more about the case as Quant was under his more personal treatment. I am surprised, he said "that the man is alive, as I thought he must be dead long ago."

Our reporter found Dr. Edward Ware at his office, No. 162 West Ninety-third street, New York. He said: "I have very distinct recollections of the Quant case. It was a very pronounced case. I treated him about eight months. This was in the early summer of 1890. I deemed him incurable, and thought him dead before now. Imagine my surprise when I received a letter from him about two weeks ago telling me that he was alive, was getting well and expected soon to be fully recovered."

"What do you think, doctor, was the cause of his recovery."

"That is more than I know. Quant says he has been taking some sort of pills and that they have cured him. At all events, I am glad the poor fellow is getting well, for his was a bad case and he was a great sufferer."

Dr. Theodore R. Tuttle, of 319 West Eighteenth street, to whom our reporter is indebted for assisting courtesies, said of locomotor ataxia; "I have had several cases of this disease in the course of my practice. I will not say that it is incurable, but I never knew of a case to get well; but I will say it is not deemed curable by any remedies known to the medical profession."

After this successful and confirmatory investigation in New York, our reporter, Saturday, April 2d, 1892, visited St. Peter's Hospital, in Albany, corner of Albany and Ferry streets. He had a courteous reception by Sister Mary Philomena, the sister superior of St. Peter's Hospital, and when told of the object of his visit, said she remembered the case of poor Mr. Quant very distinctly. Said she: "It was a very distressing case and excited my sympathies much. Poor fellow, he couldn't be cured and had to go home in a terrible condition of helplessness and suffering." The house physician, on consulting the records of St. Peter's Hospital, said he found only that Charles A. Quant entered the hospital March 14th, 1890, was treated by Dr. Henry Hun, assisted by Dr. Van Derveer, who was then, 1890, at the head of the hospital, and that his case being deemed not possible of cure, he left the hospital and was taken to his home, as he supposed to die.

Such is the full history of this most remarkable case of successful recovery from a heretofore supposed incurable disease, and after all the doctors had given him up, by the simple use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Truly it is an interesting story of a most miraculous cure of a dreadful disease by the simple use of this popular remedy.

A further investigation revealed the fact that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not a patent medicine in the sense in which that term is generally understood, but are a scientific preparation successfully used in general practice for many years before being offered to the public generally. They contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale or sallow cheeks. In the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, over-work or excesses of whatever nature.

On further inquiry the writer found that these pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ontario, and Morristown, N. Y., and are sold in boxes (never in loose form by the dozen or hundred) at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams Medicine Company, from either address. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

A Mammoth Engine.

Friedensville, Pa., is not a very large place, but it can boast of the largest stationary engine in the United States and one of the largest in the world. Its driving wheel is 35 feet in diameter and weighs 40 tons; its sweep rod is forty feet long; its cylinder is one hundred and ten inches in diameter; its piston rod is ten inches in diameter and and of a ten foot stroke, and it raises seventeen thousand and five hundred gallons of water in a minute. The engine has been patriotically name "The President."

How to Get Change.

Stranger (politely)—"Pardon the interruption, but could you change a five dollar bill for me, so that I can pay street car fare?"

Stranger (abruptly)—"Gimme a cigar."

Dealer (briskly)—"Yes, sir. Here you are, sir. Thanks, sir. Here's your change, six—four dollars ninety five cents."—Street & Smith's Good News.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Happenings of the Day Culled from Our Telegraphic and Cable Dispatches.

WHAT IS TRANSPIRING THROUGHOUT OUR OWN COUNTRY, AND NOTES OF INTEREST FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

A dispatch of Monday states that the loss by Sunday's fire in Winnipeg, Manitoba, aggregates $185,000. Four blocks were burned over.

The British steamer Glengoil, from Brasil, which arrived at New York Tuesday morning, reports having lost three of her crew while at Santos from yellow fever.

The house of representatives of Connecticut met at Hartford, Tuesday, after a recess of nearly three months. A few appropriations for contingent expenses were passed and the house adjourned until September 27th.

At the ministerial council at Madrid, Spain, Tuesday, the cabinet decided in favor of the introduction in the cortes of a law providing for the trial of dynamiters without jury.

Joseph Silver, twenty years old, died Tuesday evening in Pennsylvania hospital. He is the third who has died since the fire from his injuries, making nine victims in all.

A quantity of explosives was seized Sunday in an anarchist residence at Ville Momble, near Paris, France, the police having got wind of the plot to destroy the Hotel de Ville. One person was arrested and a number of others escaped.

Reports reached Berlin, Germany, on Monday, that over a ton of dynamite and gunpowder had been stolen from the magazines at Corfu, a Greek island in the Mediterranean, where the king of Greece makes his summer residence. No details are given.

A bill in equity has been filed in the United States circuit court at Philadelphia by the government against the sugar trust, to prevent the consummation of the recent deal by which the trust obtained control of the individual refineries in that city.

The Princess opera house, at Winnipeg, Manitoba, and six stores in the block burned Sunday. Ruso & Swift's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company lost everything, including the special scenery, warbrobes, etc. The loss will be very heavy.

On Tuesday the commissioner of patents issued three patents to Thomas A. Edison, assignor, to the Western Union Telegraph Company, of New York, covering features of the speaking telephone. The original application for patents was filed in 1877.

At a meeting of the workingmen's delegates held in London, Sunday night, letters were read from Lord Salisbury and Balfour, saying they could not promise to receive a deputation to set forth their claims for the establishment of the eight-hour day law.

A telegram says that the grand circus at Troyes, France, was set on fire Sunday, presumably, by the anarchists, and burned to the ground. The flames spread to and destroyed three adjacent houses. While the fire was burning a loud explosion took place in the interior of the circus.

A London cablegram says: The grand jury, on Wednesday, returned a true bill against Charles Wilfred Mowbray, publisher, and John Nichol, editor of the anarchist paper, The Commonweal, for soliciting and encouraging certain persons unknown to murder certain other persons.

A dispatch from Gurdon, Ark., says: Since the burning of the negro, Coy, at Texarkana, the negroes have been leaving the state and nearly all threaten to leave and go to Africa. The planters are greatly alarmed at the condition of their farms, resulting from the exodus, as they are fearful there will be no one to cultivate their fields.

The British steamship Tynehead, loaded with 7,000,000 pounds of wheat for the Russian famine sufferers, sailed from New York Sunday for Riga. The cargo forms a contribution of the state of Iowa and will be delivered to the Russian sufferers. Two hundred and thirty-two car loads of grain were received at Brooklyn, but this was more than the Tynehead could carry away. What remains will be sold and the proceeds forwarded to Russia. A miscellaneous lot of other provisions also went on the Tynehead.

A NEW POSTAL LAW

Proposed to Change the Plan of Carrying Money in the Mails.

The postmasters of the United States have formulated a bill which, if made a law, will materially change the postal system of Uncle Sam's government. The bill has been drawn up in regular form and will be introduced in congress in a few days. Under the plan now in vogue all sums of money transmitted through the mails less than one dollar, are converted into postage stamps. Frequently much larger sums are sent through the mails in stamps. In one year more than a million and a half of dollars in stamps are sent through the mails in lieu of money. The cause of this is that to send money through the mails in fractional parts is very inconvenient and very unsafe, and persons who have money to transmit through the mails usually convert it into stamps. The result is that a number of firms, which do a large business through the mails accumulate large quantities of stamps inconvenient to handle and hard to dispose of.

GRANT'S MAUSOLEUM.

The First Corner-Stone Laid by President Harrison.

The first stone of the great mausoleum which is to perpetuate the memory of General Ulysses S. Grant, was laid in Riverside park, New York, Wednesday afternoon. President Harrison, in the presence of his cabinet and thousands of citizens, laid the granite block upon which is to be builded a tomb worthy of the nation and the nation's hero. The ceremonies were impressive and the weather favored them. Chauncey M. Depew delivered the oration of the day. Notable among those who gathered around the bier of the hero of Appomattox were Generals Howard, Slocum, Schofield and Dodge. The committee composing the only living generals who were associated with Grant in the great civil struggle. The ceremony was concluded by firing a salute of twenty-one guns by the monitor Miantonomah which lay in the waters of the Hudson adjacent to the scene of the memorial.

Opening of Memphis' Big Bridge.

May 12th will be a great day in the history of Memphis, Tenn. On that day the big bridge across the Mississippi at that place, and which is about completed, will be opened with grand and imposing ceremonies.

Among the notables who will be present at the opening will be: Secretary of War Elkins, Secretary of Navy Tracy, Speaker Crisp, Senators Vorhees, Allison, Gallom, Vest, Butler, Frye and Gordon; Congressmen Allen, Burrows, Henderson, Storer, Bellows and Williams. Senator Vorhees will deliver the oration of the day. The bridge will be tested by sending fifteen heavy locomotives over it. A United States man-of-war will be at Memphis and three days will be given up to the celebration. The citizens have raised $50,000 for the celebration. A banquet will be tendered the distinguished visitors on the night of May 13th, and $10,000 worth of fireworks will be let off. There will be civic parades and pageant, in which a number of the mardi gras floats will be seen.

Belgium Punishes Hypnotists.

The votaries of the theory that there is no such thing as hypnotism will find it hard to explain the action of the Belgian authorities, who have just passed a law prohibiting the indiscriminate exercise of this remarkable power. The cause for this action is stated to be that "while it is admitted that in medical hands hypnotism is a valuable therapeutic and relieving patients afflicted with nervous diseases and in cases connected with cerebral disorders and hallucinations, the use of hypnotism places the patient within the power of the operator, and the ascendancy of one mind over that of another is such that crimes may be suggested and actually carried out by the unconscious agent of another's will." The new law prescribes punishment by both fine and imprisonment for exhibiting a hypnotized person in public, and also prescribes a penalty for the exercise of the mysterious power by any one holding a physician's diploma.

Astonishing Transportation Rates.

The discovery of gold has been a great thing for the Boni Africans on the Maroni river in French Guiana. They were terribly poor before the placer mines were discovered in 1888. Since then they have been getting rich in the transport service. They carry all freight around the rapids to the placer diggings at the enormous charge of $18 a barrel. Owing to their curious method of computing barrels they greatly increase their earnings. Each box is a barrel. Each man is a barrel. Demijohns and handbags are barrels. Thus they get about $200 a ton for carrying freight a distance of 181 miles, which is much higher than the rates on the Congo. The miners say that $60,000 has been distributed in the past two years in the shape of $1 pieces of native gold, among the Bonis.—[Picayune.

A Brilliant Discovery in Dematology.

It is said that superfluous hair can be permanently removed without pain. An interesting and valuable discovery has recently been made by John H. Woodbury, of 125 West 42d street, New York City. It is a remedy for the permanent removal of superfluous hair, consisting of a fluid which is applied to the hair follicle by means of an electric needle. It is designed to be used by patients at their homes, and is said to be fully as effectual as electricity. Full particulars in reference to this valuable remedy are found in a little book of 128 pages, which is sent to any address for 10 cents on application to the discoverer.

The Singing in God's-Acre.

Out yonder in the moonlight, where God's Acre lies,
Go angels walking to and fro, singing their lullabies;
Their radiant wings are folded and their eyes are bended low,
As they sing among the beds whereon the flowers delight to grow.

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The shepherd guardeth his sheep!
Fast speedeth the night away,
Soon cometh the glorious day;
Sleep, weary ones, while ye may—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

The flowers within God's-Acre see that fair and wondrous sight,
And hear the angels singing to the sleepers through the night;
And, lo! throughout the hours of day those gentle flowers prolong

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd loveth His sheep!
He that guardeth His flock the best
Hath folded them to His loving breast—
So, sleep ye now and take your rest—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

From angel and from flower the years have learned that soothing song,
And with its heavenly music speed the days and nights along;
So, through all time, whose flight the Shepherd's vigils glorify,
God's-Acre is umbereth in the grace of that sweet lullaby:

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd loveth his sheep!
Fast speedeth the night away,
Soon cometh the glorious day;
Sleep, weary ones, while ye may—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

A CLOSE CALL FOR TWO.

BY WILLIAM P. BROWN.

"There is only one thing to be said, Nelly," said John Sanders, taking up his hat and starting for the door. "If you will accept this fellow's attentions, notwithstanding all that I have said, you must take the consequences."

He paused with his hand upon the knob and glanced at the girl. She was standing by the window and pulling at the leaves from a geranium plant. As he did so, she turned her back upon him and gazed into the gathering darkness without.

"What do I care for consequences?" she rejoined at length. "Oscar is my cousin and only desires to be polite while you are away. I think you are most unreasonably jealous."

"I am not asking much, Nelly," said he, reluctantly, after all, to go away quarreling. "When I am away upon an engine, do you think that my mind is running upon other girls? Not much. I don't think that I am unreasonable in exacting a promise from you that you should be really faithful to me."

"Well, what do you want me to do?" she asked, rather sulkily, it must be confessed.

"I do not want you to go to that ball with your cousin Oscar, tomorrow night."

"Will you remain here and take me?"

"How can I? You know the company will not let me off."

"Do you think, then, that I should deprive myself of all amusement, simply because you cannot or will not be attentive. No! thanks, Cousin Oscar wants me to go and—and I shall go."

"Have a care, Nell," he returned. "I mean all I say. You will consider my wishes in this one respect, won't you?"

"I most certainly shall go; and if you won't take me, I suppose Oscar will."

John turned on his heel, and uttered a subdued imprecation. This did not mend matters, for Nelly now ignored him entirely. He gave her one long, scrutinizing glance, then abruptly left the room.

For a moment she barely appeared to realize the extent of the rupture that had occurred; but as the echoes of his departing footsteps died away, she threw herself into a chair and burst into tears.

"I could almost hate him," she sobbed; but her own heart pangs disputed this dictum of sudden resentment. "He will soon come back," she faltered at length. "He must come back, for—for I love him so."

* * * * * * *

Meanwhile Sanders went to his boarding-house, ate his supper, then sought his engine, which stood ready in the yard to pull the evening express to W——, the other terminus of his route.

He said but little, though his manner seemed both preoccupied and stern. On the way down to W—— he was unusually severe with his fireman, and spent the three hours' run glowering savagely through his little window and with his hand upon the throttle.

The next day, upon his return trip, he looked rather eagerly down the street where Nelly lived, as his engine passed through the town. She was not in sight though she well knew the time his train was due. He set his face more sternly, and after that looked no more for several days.

A week or so passed. The strain between his wearing duties and the dull wretchedness that now enveloped him grew so severe that he applied for a "week off." It was given him. That very night he received a note from Nelly.

"Come back," it read. "You are awfully, unreasonably exacting, but I cannot endure this suspense. All shall be as you wish."

The note had been carried for several days in the pocket of a friend, who, not dreaming of its importance forgot to hand it over.

"Poor little girl," said John to himself, then he cursed his friend's forgetfulness.

He mounted his engine for his last run, as he was to be relieved at the station where Nelly lived. The night was dark and cloudy. An uncomfortable feeling, as of an impending catastrophe assailed him from the start, and grew so unaccountably that as he neared the town he felt himself almost unnerved.

As the engine rounded a sharp bend a figure rushed from behind a water tank into the full glare of the headlight. It was a woman, with her head apparently muffled. Without a pause she threw herself upon the track, directly in front of the rushing train.

Sanders reversed his engine, applied the air brakes and held to the side of the cab while his head swam. He imagined he could feel the horrible crunching of human bones and flesh. By the time the cars had stopped he, recovering, jumped down and ran back towards where the trainmen, with lanterns, were looking about to see what was the matter. The fireman, preceding him, was taking them back to the water tank.

Sanders, still feeling unaccountably nervous, saw them bend down, lift something up and bear it aside.

"Is she—dead?" he faltered as he came up.

But before he could be answered, the lantern flashed its light upon a white, pale face. The engineer started back and a heavy groan burst from his lips.

"My God! Nellie!" he gasped, then he reeled and fell senseless to the earth.

* * * * * *

So great was the shock Sanders had received, that it was quite an hour before he recovered. His train went on, in charge of the man who was to take his place, and when the engineer came to his senses, a pair of sweet though tear-washed eyes were gazing into his. Two soft hands were clasping one of his own. Around him were the bare walls of the switch-tender's cottage which he knew was near the tank.

"Her spirit!" he sighed as if to himself.

But the spirit threw herself upon her knees beside him, half sobbing, half laughing, in a very human-like way.

"No, no, John!" she cried at last. "It is Nell, your own Nell. I was so miserable because you did not return. I thought you did not care, and in my despair I resolved upon a deed which I felt would make you doubly wretched if you ever had really cared for me. Wicked, wasn't it? But I could not have been myself; and you will forgive me, won't you? I felt so terribly hopeless when I found that my note did not bring you back."

John embraced her, despite his own weakness; and while he anathematized the friend who had kept the letter so long, he still wondered how Nellie, who had seemed ground, as it were, under the wheels of his engine, should now be here full of life as well as love. The old switchman seemed to apprehend the inquiry in John's eye.

"Have you forgotten that cattle guard?" he asked, then Nellie finished the explanation.

"I fell through that and was saved in spite of myself. I've only a bruise or two, so don't worry, dear. I did not know the cattle guard was there, and in the darkness saw nothing but your engine. Can you ever really and truly forgive me, John?"

John's answer was so very satisfactory that they were married before the furlough was up.—[Yankee Blade.

When Did the "Glass Age" Begin?

As far as research has been able to determine, glass was in use 3000 years before the birth of Christ, and was even then not in its infancy by any manner of means. In the Slade collection at the British Museum there is the head of a lion moulded in glass, bearing the name of an Egyptian King of the eleventh dynasty. This is the oldest specimen of pure glass bearing anything like a date now known to exist. The invention now known as "bloozing," the mode of varnishing pottery with a thin film of glass, is believed to date back to the first Egyptian dynasty. Proof of this is found in the pottery beads, glass-glazed, found in the tombs of the age above referred to. Dr. Schliemann found bits of glass in his excavations at Mycenæ, though Homer does not mention it as a substance known in his time. The most eminent Egytologers place the date of the first use of glass at a period too remote to be given in years.—[St. Louis Republic.

The Discovery of Porgy Oil.

Congressmen who are studying upon the menhaden fishery question will be interested to know that the credit of having produced the first porgy oil for commerce belongs to a Maine woman. That was in 1850. Mrs. John Bartlett of Blnehill began at that time to boil the porgy for her feed. She noticed that a thin scum of oil gathered upon the water in which the fish was boiled, and she thought possibly it could be turned to some more profitable use. Taking a bottle full of this oil she brought it to E. B. Phillips of Boston, the oil dealer here, and he encouraged Mrs. Bartlett to bring more of the oil. The following year the Bartletts made a start in the business and shipped to Boston thirteen barrels of porgy oil. This was the beginning of the industry.—[Boston Journal.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Happenings of the Day Culled from Our Telegraphic and Cable Dispatches.

WHAT IS TRANSPIRING THROUGHOUT OUR OWN COUNTRY, AND NOTES OF INTEREST FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

Dispatches of Monday state that great floods are raging in all the Iowa rivers, entailing great loss upon the crops.

The head of the Hammerstein banking house of Berlin committed suicide Saturday by shooting himself with a revolver.

The pope has ordered the dissolution of the alleged Catholic societies in France, which are really monarchical societies.

Dispatches of Saturday state that snow fell at Rushville, Neb., during the past thirty-eight hours to a depth of sixteen inches.

A severe cyclone passed near Morrilton, Ark., Sunday night, causing great destruction of property. Two persons were fatally injured.

The upper Carnegie mills, in Pittsburg, Pa., have been forced to close down because of the want of gas. Four hundred men are out of work.

The residence of a district notary in Veresca, Hungary, was wrecked Sunday by a dynamite explosion. Revenge is supposed to have been the motive.

The Philadelphia and Reading railroad officials estimate that $80,000 will cover the loss on their freight station, which was burned Saturday night at Philadelphia.

The mill and salt works of the Butlers and Peters Salt and Lumber Co. was burned at Ludington, Mich., Saturday. Five hundred men are thrown out of employment.

A dispatch of Tuesday from Albuquerque, N. M., says: The democratic territorial convention sends an uninstructed delegation to Chicago. The platform favors free silver.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Cabul, capital of Afghanistan, states cholera is epidemic in that city. The ameer has withdrawn from the palace and is residing in a camp that has been established a little distance outside the walls.

A London cablegram of Wednesday says: George J. Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, announced to a number of bimetallic deputations that waited upon him that England would accept the invitation of the United States to take part in an international conference to discuss the silver question.

Fatalities resulting from the Central theater holocaust at Philadelphia continue to be reported. A dispatch of Tuesday says: After suffering two weeks from burns received at the Central theater fire, Amer Hinchcliffe, 15 years old, died at the Pennsylvania hospital. Hinchcliffe, who is the thirteenth victim, had escaped by leaping through the flames and was burned internally, inhaling them.

A bloody collision between the police and 200 striking iron workers from the World's fair ground, at Chicago, supported by crowds of sympathizers, occurred Monday. A score or two of scalp wounds were inflicted by the policemen's clubs and the excitement for a time was intense. The riot was due to the importation of men from New York, Pittsburg and Baltimore to take the place of the strikers.

In the United States circuit court at Philadelphia, Wednesday, decrees were entered in the case of the National Cash Register company, of Dayton, Ohio, against Henry Nuss, jr., Jonathan C. Hare and William Stonebach, users of the American cash register. The defendants were enjoined from using the American cash register, which was declared an infringement of the National Register company's patents.

A fatal accident occurred Monday at Trieunm colliery, at Gilly, Belgium. The day shift were entering the pit, and the cage crowded with miners, who were being lowered into the mine. Suddenly the chain, by means of which the cage was raised and lowered, broke, and the cage and its occupants were precipitated to the bottom of the pit. Five of the miners were instantly killed, and some of the others were badly injured.

Forty-Two Miners Killed.

A dispatch of Tuesday night reports that a terrible explosion has occurred in the coal mines at Roslyn, Washington, and forty men killed. A later telegram reads: Forty-two miners were killed in the explosion. Six bodies have already been taken out.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Development in the Week Ending May 7th.

The Tradesman, Chattanooga, Tenn., in its review of the new industries established in the Southern States for the week ending May 7th, says that reports from all portions of the Southern States indicate a revival of activity in the cotton seed oil industry, as evidenced by the formation of a number of new companies in different portions of the south. Advices point to increased shipments of southern iron to the Eastern and Middle States, and this fact is further depressing the situation among northern furnaces. Two new southern furnaces, one at Big Stone Gap, Va., and another at Middlesborough, Tenn., are preparing to go into blast, and a third, at Rome, Ga., went into blast on the 3d. All southern furnaces are in blast except two, one of which is idle for repairs and the other is in litigation. The lumber mills reports better demand and steps are being taken looking to the formation of a new yellow pine manufacturing company with one million dollars paid up capital in one of the southern states. A better demand has sprung up for Florida phosphates and new areas of phosphate bearing lands are being opened.

Fifty-nine new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with 7 enlargements of manufactories, and 13 important new buildings. Among the new industries are a brewery at Bristol, Tenn., a broom factory at Dunlap, Tenn., brick and tile works at Cleveland, Tenn., and Owensboro, Ky., a $35,000 cannery at Decatur, Texas, and one at New Albany, Miss., a cotton gin on a large scale at Beeville, Texas, and a cotton compress at New Albany, Miss. Electric lighting plants will be established at Tignall, Ga., Rogersville, Tenn., and Montgomery, W. Va. Flouring mills will be built at Huntsville, Ala., Richmond, Ky., Cornersville, Tenn., and Kelly, Va., a large corn mill at Montgomery, Ala., and glass works at Richlands, Va. A hardware company is reported at Bentonville, Ark., a harrow factory at Mineola, Tex., and a $30,000 ice factory at Temple, and one at Mineola, Tex. Foundry and machine shops will be built at Atlanta, Ga., Florence, S. C., and Meridian, Miss., a moss factory will be built at Savannah, Ga., and oil mills are reported at Alexandria, Campti and Nachitoches, La., and a 300-ton per day oil mill at Sherman, Tex.

A gold mine is to be developed at Union, S. C., and a brownstone quarry at Harriman, Tenn. A $100,000 company for making patented novelties has been formed at Phillippi, W. Va., a shoe factory established at Maysville, Ga., and a steel and iron company formed at Lynchburg, Va. A $100,000 cotton mill is reported at Huntsville, Ala., one with $50,000 capital at Magnolia, Miss., a $250,000 cotton mill at Galveston, Texas, and other mills at High Point, N. C., Mcminnville, Tenn., and Owensboro, Ky. Extensive tobacco machinery works will be built at Richmond, Va. Among wood-working plants of the week reported are furniture factories at Memphis, and Tazewell, Tenn., and Lexington, Va., a lumber company at Perdyce, Ala., sash and blind factories at Mobile, Ala., and Estawville, S. C., stave works at Luverne, Ala., and Gates, Tenn., and saw and planing mills at Moss Point, Miss., Luverne, Ala., and Marion, Ark.

Enlargements are reported of ice factories at Macon, Ga., and Gainesville, Tex., of iron works at Dublin, Ga., and Spartanburg, S. C., of a shoe factory at Alexandria, Va., and of cotton mills at Griffin, Ga., and Waco, Tex. Among the new buildings of the week are business houses at New Orleans, La., Rome, Ga., Luverne, Ala., and Crockett, Tex., college buildings at Tuskaloosa, Tenn., and Fort Worth, Tex., a court house at Pamplin City, Va., government buildings at Henderson, Ky., Tampa, Fla., and Elizabeth City, N. C., a library building at Richmond, Va., an hotel at Unicoi, Tenn., and an opera house at Florence, S. C.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

As Given By Dun & Co., for the Past Week.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade for week ended May 6, says: The business failures occurring throughout the country during the week number for the United States 186; for Canada, 23. Business has been much retarded throughout most of the western states by unusual and continued rains. The movement of products is thus delayed, though it is believed temporarily. Collections are retarded. Seeding in many quarters is interrupted, though on the whole, fairly advanced for the season and the distribution of goods is checked. A somewhat better tone appears at the south and business at the east is fairly active for the season, though in some lines dull and depressed. Money is everywhere abundant, in part because the demand is smaller than usual, but this is, in a measure, due to the unusual conservatism of trade, buyers making many small purchases, instead of larger purchases, and waiting more carefully for actual distribution.

Inquiry for cotton is large and improving, western stocks being small and trade in prints fair for the season. The iron trade shows larger transactions but no better prices. Thousands of coke ovens have stopped at Connellsville, because the manufacture is slackening, but more inquiry is seen for rails. Furniture manufacture is improving, and shipbuilding plants are taxed to their full capacity. At New Orleans trade is somewhat improved, with cotton more active, and at Savannah is somewhat decreased, the drought having affected crops. Cotton is a sixteenth higher, though receipts and exports exceed last year's. Rumors of the sensational accounts of a shortage in the acreage. Pork products are a shade lower and coffee weak at three-eighths decline.

A CLOSE CALL FOR TWO.

BY WILLIAM P. BROWN.

"There is only one thing to be said, Nelly," said John Sanders, taking up his hat and starting for the door. "If you will accept this fellow's attentions, notwithstanding all that I have said, you must take the consequences."

He paused with his hand upon the knob and glanced at the girl. She was standing by the window and pulling at the leaves from a geranium plant. As he did so, she turned her back upon him and gazed into the gathering darkness without.

"What do I care for consequences?" she rejoined at length. "Oscar is my cousin and only desires to be polite while you are away. I think you are most unreasonably jealous."

"I am not asking much, Nelly," said he, reluctant, after all, to go away quarrelling. "When I am away upon an engine, do you think that my mind is running upon other girls? Not much. I don't think that I am unreasonable in exacting a promise from you that you should be really faithful to me."

"Well, what do you want me to do?" she asked, rather sulkily, it must be confessed.

"I do not want you to go to that ball with your cousin Oscar, tomorrow night."

"Will you remain here and take me?"

"How can I? You know the company will not let me off."

"Do you think, then, that I should deprive myself of all amusement, simply because you cannot or will not be attentive. No! thanks, Cousin Oscar wants me to go and—and I shall go."

Her face flushed angrily as she turned towards him, while his own suddenly grew pale.

"Have a care, Nell," he returned. "I mean all I say. You will consider my wishes in this one respect, won't you?"

"I most certainly shall go; and if you won't take me, I suppose Oscar will."

John turned on his heel, and uttered a subdued imprecation. This did not mend matters, for Nelly now ignored him entirely. He gave her one long, scrutinizing glance, then abruptly left the room.

For a moment she barely appeared to realize the extent of the rupture that had occurred; but as the echoes of his departing footsteps died away, she threw herself into a chair and burst into tears.

"I could almost hate him," she sobbed; but her own heart pangs disputed this dictum of sudden resentment. "He will soon come back," she faltered at length. "He must come back, for—for I love him so."

* * * * * *

Meanwhile Sanders went to his boarding-house, ate his supper, then sought his engine, which stood ready in the yard to pull the evening express to W——, the other terminus of his route.

He said but little, though his manner seemed both preoccupied and stern. On the way down to W—— he was unusually severe with his fireman, and spent the three hours' run glowering savagely through his little window and with his hand upon the throttle.

The next day, upon his return trip, he looked rather eagerly down the street where Nelly lived, as his engine passed through the town. She was not in sight though she well knew the time his train was due. He set his face more sternly, and after that looked no more for several days.

A week or so passed. The strain between his wearing duties and the dull wretchedness that now enveloped him grew so severe that he applied for a "week off." It was given him. That very night he received a note from Nelly.

"Come back," it read. "You are awfully, unreasonably exacting, but I cannot endure this suspense. All shall be as you wish."

The note had been carried for several days in the pocket of a friend, who, not dreaming of its importance forgot to hand it over.

"Poor little girl," said John to himself, then he cursed his friend's forgetfulness.

He mounted his engine for his last run, as he was to be relieved at the station where Nelly lived. The night was dark and cloudy. An uncomfortable feeling, as of an impending catastrophe assailed him from the start, and grew so unaccountably that as he neared the town he felt himself almost unnerved.

As the engine rounded a sharp bend a figure rushed from behind a water tank into the full glare of the headlight. It was a woman, with her head apparently muffled. Without a pause she threw herself upon the track, directly in front of the rushing train.

Sanders reversed his engine, applied the air brakes and held to the side of the cab while his head swam. He imagined he could feel the horrible crunching of human bones and flesh. By the time the cars had stopped he, recovering, jumped down and ran back towards where the trainmen, with lanterns, were looking about to see what was the matter. The fireman, preceding him, was taking them back to the water tank.

Sanders, still feeling unaccountably nervous, saw them bend down, lift something up and bear it aside.

"Is she—dead?" he faltered as he came up.

But before he could be answered, the lantern flashed its light upon a white, pale face. The engineer started back and a heavy groan burst from his lips.

"My God! Nellie!" he gasped, then he reeled and fell senseless to the earth.

* * * * * *

So great was the shock Sanders had received, that it was quite an hour before he recovered. His train went on, in charge of the man who was to take his place, and when the engineer came to his senses, a pair of sweet though tear-washed eyes were gazing into his. Two soft hands were clasping one of his own. Around him were the bare walls of the switch-tender's cottage which he knew was near the tank.

"Her spirit!" he sighed as if to himself.

But the spirit threw herself upon her knees beside him, half sobbing, half laughing, in a very human-like way.

"No, no, John!" she cried at last. "It is Nell, your own Nell. I was so miserable because you did not return. I thought you did not care, and in my despair I resolved upon a deed which I felt would make you doubly wretched if you ever had really cared for me. Wicked, wasn't it? But I could not have been myself; and you will forgive me, won't you? I felt so terribly hopeless when I found that my note did not bring you back."

John embraced her, despite his own weakness; and while he anathematized the friend who had kept the letter so long, he still wondered how Nellie, who had seemed ground, as it were, under the wheels of his engine, should now be here full of life as well as love. The old switchman seemed to apprehend the inquiry in John's eye.

"Have you forgotten that cattle guard?" he asked, then Nellie finished the explanation.

"I fell through that and was saved in spite of myself. I've only a bruise or two, so don't worry, dear. I did not know the cattle guard was there, and in the darkness saw nothing but your engine. Can you ever really and truly forgive me, John?"

John's answer was so very satisfactory that they were married before the furlough was up.—[Yankee Blade.

When Did the "Glass Age" Begin?

As far as research has been able to determine, glass was in use 3000 years before the birth of Christ, and was even then not in its infancy by any manner of means. In the Slade collection at the British Museum there is the head of a lion moulded in glass, bearing the name of an Egyptian King of the eleventh dynasty. This is the oldest specimen of pure glass bearing anything like a date now known to exist. The invention now known as "bleezing," the mode of varnishing pottery with a thin film of glass, is believed to date back to the first Egyptian dynasty. Proof of this is found in the pottery beads, glass-glazed, found in the tombs of the age above referred to. Dr. Schliemann found bits of glass in his excavations at Mycenæ, though Homer does not mention it as a substance known in his time. The most eminent Egytologers place the date of the first use of glass at a period too remote to be given in years.—[St. Louis Republic.

The Discovery of Porgy Oil.

Congressmen who are studying upon the menhaden fishery question will be interested to know that the credit of having produced the first porgy oil for commerce belongs to a Maine woman. That was in 1850. Mrs. John Bartlett of Bluehill began at that time to boil the porgy for her food. She noticed that a thin scum of oil gathered upon the water in which the fish was boiled, and she thought possibly it could be turned to some more profitable use. Taking a bottle full of this oil she brought it to E. B. Philips of Boston, the oil dealer here, and he encouraged Mrs. Bartlett to bring more of the oil. The following year the Bartletts made a start in the business and shipped to Boston thirteen barrels of porgy oil. Thus was the beginning of the industry.—[Boston Journal.

Atkins' Patent Concave Tooth Dexter.

DIXIE'S FAVORITE. FOR THE WOODS OF THE SOUTH IT HAS NO EQUAL.

The patent by which this saw is protected consists of a depression of the face of the cutting teeth through the center from point to base, thus removing all friction while in use, giving strength and stiffness to the teeth and increasing three-fold the durability of the "set." WE CHALLENGE THE WORLD to produce a saw equaling the ATKINS FAST CUTTING DEXTER.

PRICE: {Silver Steel, Including Handles, $1.00 per foot. Special Steel, Without Handles, .75 per foot.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The large demand for the ATKINS CONCAVE TOOTH DEXTER SAW has led competitors to make inferior saws which they claim "as good as the Dexter." These imitation Saws are made from a lower grade of steel, inferior workmanship, and without the patent concave tooth.

Ask your hardware dealer for the "ATKINS DEXTER" and take no other. If the dealer will not order it for you, remit amount with order direct to us.

The Singing in God's-Acre.

Out yonder in the moonlight, where God's Acre lies,
Go angels walking to and fro, singing their lullabies;
Their radiant wings are folded and their eyes are bended low,
As they sing among the beds whereon the flowers delight to grow.

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The shepherd guardeth his sheep!
Fast speedeth the night away,
Soon cometh the glorious day;
Sleep, weary ones, while ye may—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

The flowers within God's-Acre see that fair and wondrous sight,
And hear the angels singing to the sleepers through the night;
And, lo! throughout the hours of day those gentle flowers prolong

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd loveth His sheep!
He that guardeth His flock the best
Hath folded them to His loving breast—
So, sleep ye now and take your rest—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

From angel and from flower the years have learned that soothing song,
And with its heavenly music sped the days and nights along;
So, through all time, whose flight the Shepherd's vigils glorify,
God's-Acre s umbereth in the grace of that sweet lullaby:

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd loveth his sheep!
Fast speedeth the night away,
Soon cometh the glorious day;
Sleep, weary ones, while ye may—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

Fatalities resulting from the Central theater holocaust at Philadelphia continue to be reported. A dispatch of Tuesday says: After suffering two weeks from burns received at the Central theater fire, Amer Hinchcliffe, 15 years old, died at the Pennsylvania hospital. Hinchcliffe, who is the thirteenth victim, had escaped by leaping through the flames and was burned internally, inhaling them.

A bloody collision between the police and 200 striking iron workers from the World's fair ground, at Chicago, supported by crowds of sympathizers, occurred Monday. A score or two of scalp wounds were inflicted by the policemen's clubs and the excitement for a time was intense. The riot was due to the importation of men from New York, Pittsburg and Baltimore to take the place of the strikers.

In the United States circuit court at Philadelphia, Wednesday, decrees were entered in the case of the National Cash Register company, of Dayton, Ohio, against Henry Nuss, jr., Jonathan C. Hess and William Stonebach, users of the American cash register. The defendants were enjoined from using the American cash register, which was declared an infringement of the National Register company's patents.

A fatal accident occurred Monday at Trieuism colliery, at Gilly, Belgium. The day shift were entering the pit, and the cage crowded with miners, who were being lowered into the mine. Suddenly the chain, by means of which the cage was raised and lowered, broke, and the cage and its occupants were precipitated to the bottom of the pit. Five of the miners were instantly killed, and some of the others were badly injured.

Forty-Two Miners Killed.

A dispatch of Tuesday night reports that a terrible explosion has occurred in the coal mines at Roslyn, Washington, and forty men killed. A later telegram reads: Forty-two miners were killed in the explosion. Six bodies have already been taken out.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Development in the Week Ending May 7th.

The Tradesman, Chattanooga, Tenn., in its review of the new industries established in the Southern States for the week ending May 7th, says that reports from all portions of the Southern States indicate a revival of activity in the cotton seed oil industry, as evidenced by the formation of a number of new companies in different portions of the south. Advices point to increased shipments of southern iron to the Eastern and Middle States, and this fact is further depressing the situation among northern furnaces. Two new southern furnaces, one at Big Stone Gap, Va., and another at Middlesborough, Tenn., are preparing to go into blast, and a third, at Rome, Ga., went into blast on the 3d. All southern furnaces are in blast except two, one of which is idle for repairs and the other is in litigation. The lumber mills report a better demand and stops are being taken looking to the formation of a new yellow pine manufacturing company with one million dollars paid up capital in one of the southern states. A better demand has sprung up for Florida phosphates and new areas of phosphate bearing lands are being opened.

Fifty-nine new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with 7 enlargements of manufactories, and 13 important new buildings. Among the new industries are a brewery at Bristol, Tenn., a broom factory at Dunlap, Tenn., brick and tile works at Cleveland, Tenn., and Owensboro, Ky., a $35,000 cannery at Decatur, Texas, and one at New Albany, Miss., a cotton gin on a large scale at Beeville, Texas, and a cotton compress at New Albany, Miss. Electric lighting plants will be established at Tignall, Ga., Rogersville, Tenn., and Montgomery, W. Va. Flouring mills will be built at Huntsville, Ala., Richmond, Ky., Cornersville, Tenn., and Kelly, Va., a large corn mill at Montgomery, Ala., and glass works at Richlands, Va. A hardware company is reported at Bentonville, Ark., a harrow factory at Mineola, Tex., and a $30,000 ice factory at Temple, and one at Mineola, Tex. Foundry and machine shops will be built at Atlanta, Ga., Florence, S. C., and Meridian, Miss., a moss factory will be built at Savannah, Ga., and oil mills are reported at Alexandria, Campti and Nachitoches, La., and a 300-ton per day oil mill at Sherman, Tex.

A gold mine is to be developed at Union, S. C., and a brownstone quarry at Harriman, Tenn. A $100,000 company for making patented novelties has been formed at Philippi, W. Va., a shoe factory established at Maysville, Ga., and a steel and iron company formed at Lynchburg, Va. A $100,000 cotton mill is reported at Huntsville, Ala., one with $50,000 capital at Magnolia, Miss., a $250,000 cotton mill at Galveston, Texas, and other mills at High Point, N. C., Mcminnville, Tenn., and Owensboro, Ky. Extensive tobacco machinery works will be built at Richmond, Va. Among wood-working plants of the week reported are furniture factories at Memphis, and Tazewell, Tenn., and Lexington, Va., a lumber company at Fordyce, Ala., sash and blind factories at Mobile, Ala., and Eufaula, S. C., stave works at Luverne, Ala., and Gates, Tenn., and saw and planing mills at Moss Point, Miss., Luverne, Ala., and Marion, Ark.

Enlargements are reported of ice factories at Macon, Ga., and Gainesville, Tex., of iron works at Dublin, Ga., and Spartanburg, S. C., of a shoe factory at Alexandria, Va., and of cotton mills at Griffin, Ga., and Waco, Tex. Among the new buildings of the week are business houses at New Orleans, La., Rome, Ga., Luverne, Ala., and Crockett, Tex., college buildings at Tuskaloosa, Tenn., and Fort Worth, Tex., a court house at Pamplin City, Va., government buildings at Henderson, Ky., Tampa, Fla., and Elizabeth City, N. C., a library building at Richmond, Va., an hotel at Unicoi, Tenn., and an opera house at Florence, S. C.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

As Given By Dun & Co.'s for the Past Week.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade for week ended May 6, says; The business failures occurring throughout the country during the week number for the United States 186; for Canada, 23. Business has been much retarded throughout most of the western states by unusual and continued rains. The movement of products is thus delayed, though it is believed temporarily. Collections are retraded. Seeding in many quarters is interrupted, though on the whole, fairly advanced for the season and the distribution of goods is checked. A somewhat better tone appears at the south and season, although in some lines dull and depressed. Money is everywhere abundant, in part because the demand is smaller than usual, but this is, in a measure, due to the unusual conservatism of trade, buyers making many small purchases, instead of larger purchases, and waiting more carefully for actual distribution.

Inquiry for cotton is large and improving, western stocks being small and trade in prints fair for the season. The iron trade shows larger transactions but no better prices. Thousands of coke ovens have stopped at Connellsville, because the manufacture is slackening, but more inquiry is seen for rails. Furniture manufacture is improving, and ship building plants are taxed to their full capacity. At New Orleans trade is somewhat improved, with cotton more active, and at Savannah is somewhat decreased, the drought having affected crops. Cotton is a sixteenth higher, though receipts and exports exceed last year's because of the sensational accounts of damage to the acreage. Pork products show a little lower and coffee weak at three-eighths decline.

Parkhurst Endorsed.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Presbyterian ministers of Baltimore, Md., Tuesday, resolutions endorsing the methods of Rev. Dr. Parkhurst passed almost unanimously, and a copy ordered sent to New York.

So far the Russian famine has cost the imperial treasury $167,000,000.

The signs are multiplying that the power of the demagogues over the railroads in this country is beginning to wane.

As to bolting the VIEW would prefer to move out of the county or district to bolting any ticket that might be nominated by the organized Democracy.

A gentleman informed us the other day that Capt. John Burns says he found that everybody in Chilton favored him for Congress except the VIEW man. That may be true, still the VIEW cannot favor any man for the Democratic nomination for Congress who favors the Ocala demands. If Capt. Burns gets the nomination the VIEW will have to swallow him, but will do so in the full knowledge that an Ocalaite in Congress can do nothing worse than spit at flies on the wall.

There are old school Democrats who have lived long enough to observe that in Republican America a political craze will sometimes take the form of a popular wave. That is one of the disadvantages of living under this "best government the world ever saw." It is called political liberty. These popular waves are of mush room growth—they flourish for a season and are no more. Genuine Democracy never squeals and never says die, but safe in the conviction of right and justice and fitness and worth will live on forever.

The Shelby Chronicle is endeavoring to worry the idea into its cranium that the VIEW favors Capt. Kolb. The Chronicle is one of those papers that is as crazy on one side of the question as Kolb and the Alliance Herald are on the other, and it read us wrongly and with some prejudice between its eyes. Our position concerning Mr. Kolb is quite the reverse of what our contemporary assumes. Mr. Kolb's friends are claiming that he is a better Democrat than Governor Jones, but no matter how sound a Democrat Mr. Kolb may be, the VIEW could not favor giving any man a party nomination until the Jeffersonian qualifications of honesty and fitness and capacity have been successfully applied. Whether Mr. Kolb's Democracy is sound or unsound need not be a question in his case. He will be defeated on other short comings.

The Huntsville Mercury takes the following view concerning a prospective bolt in the State Convention:

The first duty of the Madison County delegation to the Democratic State Convention is to enter the Convention of the organized Democracy, their second and highest duty is to keep their seats in this Convention regardless of any Convention that may be set up by any individual and his friends for any cause whatsoever. If the names of Thos. G. Jones and Reuben F. Kolb are put before the regular convention in good faith and neither of them are in sympathy with, or abetting a bolt or bolting Convention for any cause whatsoever, then it is the duty of the eight delegates from Madison county or any fractional number of the eight delegates present, to cast four votes for Kolb and four votes for Jones. Such was the agreement in writing which was ratified by the Democratic Convention of Madison county.

The Rider and Driver says: "As regards color, gray horses live longest, roan horses nearly as long. Cream colored horses are deficient in staying power, especially in summer weather. Bays, on an average are the best." On other points it says: "Horses with black hoofs are tougher than others. There are some points which are valuable in horses of every discription. The head should be proportionately large and well set on, the lower jawbones should be sufficiently far apart to enable the jawbones to form an angle with the neck, which gives a free motion and a graceful carriage, and prevents it from bearing too heavily on the hand. The eye should be large, a little prominent, and the eyelid fine and thin. The ear should be small and erect and quick in motion. The lop ear indicates dullness and stubbornness; when too far back there is a disposition to mischief."

The Shelby Chronicle is in a horrible state of mind now that the Elmore Convention has acted and will send an Alliance delegation to our Senatorial convention. It would like to have the Anti-Alliance Democrats bolt in Chilton, and will probably inject some of its fearful and wonderful vulgarisms into the straight-outs in Elmore if they don't bolt. There were some grounds of complaint at the Elmore convention, but the Democracy there have taken the medicine without any unmanly squeals. They realize as we do here that in the future the old school Democrats must come to the surface just as naturally as oil floats upon and calms the troubled waters, and that bolting a convention's work is not the way to bring about that result. The "devils" in this office have been reading the Chronicle during the campaign with as much hilarity as would have been afforded by two mad cats in mid air. It is apparently apprehensive of the terrible dose it will have to swallow in supporting an alliancemen for State Senator. We all have to take this sort of medicine occasionally in politics, and such a dose would afford an opportunity of testing the party fealty of the Chronicle when it comes to the question of supporting the nominee whether he is the devil or a door nail.

The Ocala platform is a pretty big bug-bear if you will make it so. But it is dead, very dead in fact. Inquiry will discover that even in Chilton's alliance hot-bed there are only about one in every dozen alliancemen who advocate the extreme measures of that platform. The platform as a whole has a purpose to serve and that purpose is to frighten the do-nothing element in politics into giving the country some financial legislation of a wholesome character. It is serving that purpose poorly, but is probably doing the best it can.

This space is given and these observations made in the hope of calming the perturbed spirit of our noble pill-peddler friend who edits the Chronicle, and again bring about the serene quiet of the easy going political policy which characterized it only a few years ago. It looks a little out of place for the Chronicle to dive into mythology and bob up and call the Calera News man a "Janus faced individual." The VIEW does not know the political record of the News man, but it knows the record of the Chronicle from A. to Z., and when its latter day editor jots down the inscriptions on the bottles in his drug-shop and sticks them in the paper as editorial under the delusion that they are political classics, why we know at once in this part of the country that he has had too much of "something better." Nevertheless, in closing he must be given credit for being a most valiant and patriotic citizen and it seems that he is even now, like "Warwick" of the Alliance Herald, already in the saddle with boots and spurs and sabre prepared to march to glory at the first bugle call of "Reform or Blood." There is but this difference. Warwick would be satisfied with the "reform," while the Chronicle brother literally and financially cares for nothing but the "blood."

THIRD PARTY MEN GLOOMY.

The Alliance Meeting at Birmingham Not to Their Liking.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—It is understood among the Democrats here that the Birmingham Alliance convention has destroyed all hope of organizing a cohesive third party with the Alliance to father it. Outside of Texas and Kansas, reports here show the movement has been overthrown. Livingston and Macune conducted the obsequies of the abortive party at Birmingham. Polk came back to North Carolina and will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Tracy, of Texas, one of the leaders of the third party went home disgruntled and crestfallen. He had declared last summer that free silver would amount to nothing, but when the Democrats in Congress thought best not to pass the silver bill, he bloomed out a stalwart silver man and advised the Alliance Democrats to quit the party. Macune was put as a quietus upon him. There is not now the same air of mingled confidence and mystery wrapping the demeanor of the Alliance leaders about headquarters here as was erewhile apparent. Their cause has lately looked too much advancement in the to South give them any encouragement.

This May 10th, 1892.

Have you an old grude in your heart against somebody, that has been smouldling for years, poisoning your joys, and saying to the Spirit of Christ, You may come so far and no farther? If you have, be a sensible man and get rid of it in a Christian way. It was an unforgiving spirit that killed Jesus, and the same thing will kill your soul if you don't get rid of it. If you forgive not, neither will your Father forgive you.—Selected.

Grand Jury Report.

To Hon. J. R. Dowdell, Judge presiding:

The Grand Jury empanelled for the present term of the Circuit Court of Chilton county, desire to present this their final report.

We find the public roads in reasonably good condition, and the bridges in good repair.

We have examined the bonds of the county officers and find them good and sufficient.

The jail is neatly and tidily kept, and the prisoners well provided for with good and wholesome food. From information before us we find the poor of our county well cared for.

We are pleased to note the comparatively few cases of violation of the law committed in the county. This fact should be a source of congratulation to our people. We have examined thirty-nine cases and have found twenty true bills. We have investigated as best we could a number of cases in the western part of our county charged with carrying concealed weapons, and the illicit distilling and selling of liquors, and regret to say that in our opinion pistols and illicit whiskey have preference over proper execution of the law. We have examined 154 witnesses besides the information given by the grand jurors.

We have examined the books and offices of the various county officers and find them in the main neatly and accurately kept. We especially commend the neatness and business-like manner in which the books and offices of the Probate Judge and Circuit Clerk are kept. We recommend that good comfortable chairs be provided for the petit jury rooms.

We thank your honor for the able, intelligent and comprehensive charge, delivered to us by your honor. With such a charge no grand jury need err.

We especially desire to acknowledge the valuable aid and assistance given us by W. B. Nolen, special solicitor, in the discharge of our duties. He has spared no pains in the discharge of his duties as Solicitor.

To our Sheriff and bailiff, S. B. Ratliff, we return thanks for the promptness and courtesy with which they have treated us.

J. L. WILLIAMS, Foreman.

Keeping Farm Accounts.

Few farmers keep any books at all, and very few can tell anything about the cost of the products they raise. Were a merchant or manufacturer to carry on their business in the fashion most farmers follow theirs, the percentage of successful ones would be infinitesimal. How could any one succeed where he did not know the cost of the articles sold? Yet what grower can tell the cost of a ton of hay, or the expenses of its production, and what dairy farmer can compute the cost of a gallon of milk, yet these are manufactured products in fact, and not raw materials, having passed through the machinery and laboratory of nature, aided by the efforts of man.

It is not often that a farmer knows which cow makes money and ought to be kept, and which one is an expense and ought to be sold. What is needed in farm operations is a system of book-keeping which shows expenditures, receipts and profits—a system like that of the manufacturer who follows every step in the process of his work, and knows when it is completed, what is the net charge against each article produced. A plan like this would lead the farmer to a point where he could determine what crops, what rations, what products, his land, situation, surroundings and resources best qualify him to pursue, and to adapt himself to changes in the conditions around him, thereby improving him financially.—Baltimore American.

The Shelby Chronicle appears a a little vexed at the VIEW because it has not bolted the Alliance ticket. The VIEW is not trying to please or humor the monumental prejudices which seem to animate the political giant who edits the Chronicle. In Chilton, (under the ruling of the State executive committee that all who habitually vote the State and national Democratic ticket are qualified to participate in Democratic primaries) the Alliance got control of our party organization, and nominated men of their choice. The "straight-outs" have never been bolters and they will support the ticket. The same dish was served to the "straightouts" in Tuskaloosa county and will be swallowed there as here. The remarkable ruling of our State executive committee in permiting Democratic primaries to be thus controlled by those who do not habitually vote the Democratic county ticket is certain to wipe out the old party organizations in several counties in north Alabama. The dose was administered to Elmore the other day, and this makes things look like the Chronicle will have to support an alliance nominee for Senator in this district or bolt. Further, the VIEW would drop this little hint to the Chronicle—the greater part of our independent-Alliance vote is in the territory which Chilton inherited from Shelby, and we ask the Chronicle to please distress itself a while over this fact, if it can.

Workers and Shirkers.

Shirkers try how little they can do; workers, how much. Shirkers seek easy jobs; workers take what comes. Shirkers want others to do for them; workers are glad to do for others. Shirkers lie abed and doze; workers are up and at it. Shirkers say, "Must I?"; workers say, "Can I?" Shirkers are out of sight when hard jobs are coming; workers are on hand when you need them. Shirkers are watching for the sun to go down; workers are toiling to get the work completed. Shirkers begin late and leave off early; workers begin early and work an honest day's work. Shirkers stand waiting for something to do; workers hunt something to do and go about. Shirkers try to keep themselves comfortable; workers seek to make themselves useful. Shirkers refuse to master trades, and grow up botchers and blunderers; workers master their business, and then oversee the shirkers and make them do theirs. Shirkers are despised; workers are prized. Shirkers are discharged; workers are retained. Shirkers are a good riddance; workers cannot be spared. Shirkers grow shiftless, vicious and poor; workers become employers and reliable, responsible people. Shirkers become vagabonds; workers do the business and have the profit and benefit of it when it is done.—Kind Words.

PROCEEDINGS FROM DAY TO DAY BRIEFLY TOLD—BILLS AND MEASURES UNDER CONSIDERATION—OTHER NOTES.

THE HOUSE.

FRIDAY.—In the house, the urgent deficiency bill was debated.

SATURDAY.—Although the house does not imitate the example of the senate by adjourning from Friday until Monday, Saturday is usually a dull day. An early adjournment is always expected, and consequently many members devote that day to the transaction of their departmental business. But the prospects of a final vote on the river and harbor bill had the effect of bringing together an unusually large Saturday attendance. Several requests for unanimous consent were denied, but Delegate Harvey, of Oklahoma, was fortunate. He secured the passage of a bill donating to Oklahoma City, for school purposes, a military reservation at that point. The house then went into committee of the whole on the river and harbor bill. The pending amendment was that offered by Mr. Whiting of Michigan, striking out the appropriation for a ship channel twenty-one feet in depth connecting the waters of the great lakes between Chicago and Duluth and Buffalo and inserting in lieu thereof a provision authorizing the secretary of war to appoint a board of engineers to whom shall be referred the report of Colonel O. M. Poe upon the subject of a twenty foot channel from Duluth to Buffalo, through great lakes. The board shall also report as to the practicability of raising the water level of the lakes and connecting the harbors by damming up the Niagara river.

MONDAY.—Almost an hour was consumed in the house Monday morning in the consideration of unimportant reports submitted by the committee on accounts. The house then proceeded to a further consideration of the river and harbor bill. The pending question was on the reconsideration of the vote by which the house on Saturday agreed to the amendment providing that in cases where authority has been granted to the secretary of war to make contracts for the completion of certain works if no bids be received which are deemed by the secretary to be advantageous then materials may be purchased and work may be done otherwise than by contract. Reluctantly, but recognizing that by so doing that they would escape a day of filibustering, the advocates of the bill voted to reconsider, and the amendment was then rejected. Mr. Holman, of Indiana, moved to recommit the bill, with instructions to the committee to report it back with the amendment striking out contract provisions. Mr. Outhwaite moved to amend the instructions by requiring the committee to strike out all appropriations which are for new works or for further extension of the works now under construction, so that the bill shall include only appropriations for continuation or completion of the works now in progress. The amendment was lost—yeas, 69; nays, 70. The question then recurred on Mr. Holman's motion. The motion was defeated—yeas 92, nays 49. The bill was then passed—yeas 186, nays 65.

TUESDAY.—After the reference of a few senate bills and granting a dozen leaves of absence, the house, on Tuesday, accorded an hour to the committee on printing to call up measures already reported by it. Several joint resolutions providing for printing the reports of the bureau were passed. The house then went into committee of the whole on the sundry appropriation bill, general debate being limited to five hours. Mr. Holman stated that the amount appropriated by the bill was $5,157 782, a gain over the estimate of $35,183,953, an appropriation for the current year of $38,895,853. Mr. Cogswell, of Massachusetts, found fault with the bill, because it cut the estimates necessary for the publisher, for the purpose of party capital, and the reductions in this bill would increase expenditure. Mr. Wilson of Washington found fault because the appropriation for the survey of public lands was totally inadequate. Mr. Kerr of Nebraska opposed any increase of the appropriation in the pending bill, and gave the house a lecture on extravagance, as exemplified by the river and harbor bill. Sweet and Herman spoke against cutting the appropriation for public land and surveys. Mr. Enloe criticised the appropriation for coast and geoletic survey. Mr. Dingley attacked the bill as in violation of the requirements of law, and as paving the way to large deficiency appropriations at the second session. The committee then arose and the house adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.—Mr. Sayers, of Texas, presented the conference report on the urgent deficiency appropriation bill in the house Wednesday. Mr. Sayers explained that the bill as agreed to appropriated about $250 000 more than it carried when it passed the house. Mr. Dingley, of Maine, said that that was true, but that the $250,000 was made up principally of two items, which, had they been brought to the attention of the house, would have been incorporated in the measure when it was originally under consideration. The conference report was agreed to. Mr. Beltzhoover, of Pennsylvania, demanded the regular order. Mr. Watson, of Georgia, appealed to him to withdraw the demand in the interest of fairness. There seemed to be some understanding between the two sides of the house, that recognition should alternate, but the third party had received no recognition, although none of its members had made objection to the requests for unanimous consent. He wanted to get an opportunity to call up the resolution requesting the ways and means committee to report on the subtreasury bill. Mr. Beltzhoover said that he had called for the regular order without reference to anyone or any measure. He thought that the house should go on with its regular business. Mr. Watson gave notice that hereafter alliance members would object to all requests for unanimous consent, and he emphasized this notice by objecting to Holman's request that the call of committees be dispensed with. Several bills were reported and referred. The house then went into a committee of the whole, Mr. Lester, of Georgia, in the chair, on the sundry civil appropriation bill.

THE SENATE.

THURSDAY.—At the opening of the senate Thursday Vice-President Morton announced that he had signed, among other bills, the amended house Chinese exclusion bill, which now goes back to the house and thence to the president for his approval. The senate commerce committee by unanimous vote decided to report favorably the bill granting American register to certain foreign built ships of the Inman line, of a tonnage of not less than 3,000 tons and a speed of not less than 20 knots, which passed the house on Monday. Senator Frye, the chairman of the committee, was authorized to urge immediate consideration by the senate, and this he will do at the first opportunity. Secretary Tracy, in a letter to the committee, expresses the opinion that the bill is second in importance only to the naval appropriation bill, and urges its passage.

FRIDAY.—The senate spent Friday in listening to eulogies on the late Senator Wilson of Maryland.

MONDAY.—After the routine morning business of the senate, Mr. Frye, from the committee on commerce, reported back the house bill to encourage American ship building. He said that the report was unanimous, and that he had been instructed to move its present consideration. He made that a motion and it was agreed to. The bill having been read in full, Mr. Frye stated that although it was general in its provisions, two ships only were to be admitted to the American registry; they were to be excluded from coastwise trade, and might be used by the government (by charter or purchase) in case of war. After some important discussion the amendment offered by Mr. Mills to strike out of the bill certain words that might allow two ships to avail themselves of the postal subsidy was rejected without division, and the bill just as it came from the house, giving the American registry to the City of New York and the City of Paris, was passed—yeas 40, nays 10.

TUESDAY.—In the senate, Tuesday, the river and harbor bill was received from the house and referred to the committee on commerce. The conference report on the urgent deficiency bill was presented and agreed to. The following bills were taken from the calendar and passed: House bill to authorize the construction of a telephone line off the coast of Virginia from Cape Charles to Assateague island, in aid of the preservation of life and property. The senate bill to establish the boundaries of the Yellowstone National park, and adding about 33 per cent to the extent of the park, increasing it from 3,600 square miles to about 5,000 square miles, and changing its shape was taken up, and after a discussion that lasted nearly two hours, the bill was passed, yeas, 33, nays 18, and then at 2:30 o'clock the senate, on the motion of Mr. Sherman, proceeded to executive business, after which doors were opened and the senate adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.—In the senate, Wednesday, Mr. Sherman, from the committee on foreign relations, reported two amendments to be offered on the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill, one being to increase from $25,000 to $30,000 the international bureau of American republics; and the other to insert an item of $65,000 for the payment of the United States' share of the expenses of the preliminary survey for a continental railway recommended by the International American conference.

NOTES.

The free coinage fight will be precipitated upon the house again within a day or two. It will come up in the shape of an amendment to the sundry civil bill.

The river and harbor bill finally passed the house Monday. There were three or four score of opponents, who fought the measure, but it went through practically as reported from the committee.

Charles Emory Smith, of Pennsylvania, United States minister to Russia formally tendered his resignation of that office to the president Monday in order to resume his journalistic duties in Philadelphia.

The president, on Tuesday, approved the act to encourage ship building within an hour after its receipt from the house committee on enrolled bills. This is the bill for the benefit of the two Inman line steamers which passed the senate Monday.

Representative Pierce, of Tennessee, says he has received assurances from two members of the house, now away from Washington, that they will sign the petition requesting the committee on rules to bring in an order fixing a day for a final vote on the Bland bill for the free coinage of silver and to prevent filibustering against the bill. These two additions will make 107 signatures to the petition.

Senator Colquitt, having been pressed by his alliance constituents to favor the sub-treasury idea on the ground that the government might as well build warehouses for the farmers as for the distillers, sought information from the commissioner of internal revenue. The officer replied that, contrary to the general impression, the distillers are compelled to build their own warehouses, which are taxed by the government.

The newspaper correspondents of Washington are going to investigate the charges made by the senate against Mr. James Young, the executive clerk. It will be remembered that Mr. Young was removed under the charge of having betrayed executive secrets of the senate. No effort was made to prove the charges, and he was not even given an opportunity to prove his innocence. Mr. Young is a newspaper man and the correspondents have taken up his case, and will insist upon their right that any one of their number shall have a fair hearing when charges are preferred against him. The senate removed him to shield several senators, and the newspaper men, knowing him to be innocent, are going to have an investigation, and bring out the truth of the matter.

DESTITUTION AMONG NEGROES

Who Started Out to Colonize Oklahoma Territory.

Telegrams of Wednesday from Wichita, Kansas, state that fearful destitution and starvation exists among the negro colonists scattered through the black jack country around Kingfisher, Oklahoma Territory. It is said that there are 500 or 600 families with starvation staring them in the face. The negroes blame men who organized the colonies in the south and charge them with misappropriating funds which it was thought would tide immigrants over till they could raise crops. An urgent appeal has been made to Governor Seay through E. P. McCabe, the colored ex-auditor of Kansas.

THE TWELFTH VICTIM

Of the Central Theatre Fire at Philadelphia.

A Philadelphia dispatch says: Death claimed the twelfth victim of the Central theatre fire Monday morning, when 14-year-old Harry McCloskey died at the Pennsylvania hospital. W. C. McCloskey was one of the most severely burned of all those taken to the hospital the night of the fire. The flames had taken all the hair from his head. His eyebrows were singed off and parts of the flesh were burned from his cheeks and hands. He had inhaled flames besides, and from the first the physicians in attendance on the boy had no hope of his recovery.

Commendation in Orthography.

English spelling is the worst in the world. Millions of dollars are wasted each year in the writing and printing of useless letters. The education of our children is retarded and the progress of our people is hampered by our cumbrous, illogical, misleading orthography. The scholarship of the world is almost a unit in demanding a change. The American Philological Association has recommended the following RULES FOR NEW SPELLING, and a resolution has been introduced in Congress, instructing the Public Printer to conform to them in all printing for the government.

1. Drop UE at the end of words like dialogue, etc., where the preceding vowel is short. Thus spell damagog, epilog, synagog, etc.

2. Drop final E in such words as definite, infinite, favorite, etc., where the preceding vowel is short. Thus spell opposit, preterit, hypocrit, requisit, etc.

3. Drop final TH in words like quartette, cigarette, etc. Thus spell cigaret, roset, epaulet, vedet, gaset, etc.

4. Drop final ME in words like programme. Thus spell program, oriflam, gram, etc.

5. Change PH to F in words like phantom, telegraph, phase, etc. Thus spell alfabet, paragraf, filosofy, fonetic, fotograf, etc.

6. Substitute E for the diphthongs AE and OE when they have the sound of that letter. Thus spell pean, esthetic, diarrhea, subpena, esofagus, atheneum, etc.

If you would array yourself on the side of progress, adopt the foregoing in all that you write.

English Army Nurses.

The best paid and the most sought for employment in England is that of army nurse. There are three ranks of these nurses, and they are under the control of the war office. The classification is lady superintendents, senior nursing sisters and nursing sisters. The lady superintendents are stationed at military hospitals. Their pay is $600 a year, increasing by fifty dollars a year to $1,000. The wages of a nursing sister are $150 a year, increasing twenty dollars a year until $250 is reached.

A senior nursing sister has $100 additional. They are supplied with free quarters, fuel, light and get allowance for clothing, board and lodging. At the age of sixty they are retired on pensions. No applicant is admitted under the age of twenty-five, and without three years' experience in hospital nursing.—London Letter.

A Waterproof Rope.

A ropemaking firm in England is manufacturing a new type of rope called the anti-corrosive and self-lubricating wire rope. The core and all the wires in the strands are said to be coated with a composition called glissantoline, which fills up the interstices of the rope and makes it impervious to corrosion. The lubricant also makes the rope more flexible.—New York Times.

The Horse Liked Wood.

Stranger (anxiously)—"I left my horse tied here to your post, and now he's gone. What became of him?"

Mr. Wayback (reflectively)—"I dunno, for sure; but from the way that horse o' yourn was chawin' at my post, I shouldn't wonder if he'd eaten it up an' gone off ter hunt another.—Street & Smith's Good News.

The New Way.

First Bank Director—"I think it would be a good idea, some time or other, to quietly employ a physician to inquire into the mental and physical condition of our cashier. I think he is suffering from paresis."

Second Bank Director—"My! my! How much has he stolen?"—New York Weekly.

Made It All Right.

She (disappointed)—"The ring is—is pretty, but the pearls are so very, very small."

He (airily)—"Yes, I told them it was for the smallest hand in the city."

Measures Not Men.

Teacher—"Give a sentence which shall include the words 'measures, not men.'"

Bright Pupil—"A dressmaker measures not men."

THE SOUTH IN BRIEF

The News of Her Progress Portrayed in Pithy and Pointed Paragraphs

AND A COMPLETE EPITOME OF HAPPENINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST FROM DAY TO DAY WITHIN HER BORDERS.

The Confederate monument at Dalton, Ga., was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies Tuesday.

The broom factory of the Goodman Manufacturing Company at Richmond, Va., was partly destroyed by fire Monday night. Loss $25,000; insured.

The Charleston, S. C., cotton exchange has adopted rules for the government of dealings in future deliveries. The rules go into effect September 1st next.

Huntsville, Ala., will have a third cotton factory, costing $100,000, to be located in West Huntsville. Work begins at once on the erection of the buildings.

The Friedman-Shelton Clothing company at Jackson, Miss., one of the largest firms of the kind in the state, made an assignment Tuesday. The failure was on account of poor collections and dull business.

The grand lodge of Odd Fellows of North Carolina met Tuesday evening at Wilmington, Grand Master John F. Bruton presiding, and Grand Sire Charles M. Busbee, of the sovereign grand lodge being present.

A Louisville, Ky., dispatch of Monday states that the bondholders in that city of the Louisville Southern railway refuse to accept the plan of re-organization of the Richmond Terminal as proposed under the Olcott committee, and not one bond has yet been turned in as requisites. They say they will hold the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia to its guarantee of five per cent on the Louisville Southern.

Confederate Memorial services were held at Richmond, Va., last Tuesday A marked event of the occasion was the large attendance of military, consisting of infantry, cavalry and artillery. The Richmond Light Infantry Blues, the second oldest militia organization in the United States, celebrated its ninety-ninth anniversary. Memorial services were also celebrated at Charleston, S. C., Raleigh, N. C., and other places.

At a meeting of the Confederate veterans in New Orleans, Monday, notice was given that they will insist upon the passage by the legislature of the pension law giving all confederate veterans crippled, disabled or otherwise incapacitated of supporting themselves, a pension of from $6 to $12 a month. The demand if granted, which it probably will be, will cost he state somewhere from $50,000 to $100,000 a year.

A dispatch from Baton Rouge, La., states that Hon. P. Leonard, republican candidate for governor; Major Andrew Hero and Judge Morris Marks, on Tuesday, filed a demand under the constitution to seat Leonard. They have prepared a document which sets forth that Leonard was elected governor, and demanding the office; that votes cast be honestly counted and compiled, and that Leonard be inducted into office. The object of this proceedure is stated to be the forerunner to a congressional investigation of the late election.

The Central Trust company, of New York, wants to vote the majority block of Central railroad stock at the election at Macon, Ga., on the 17th inst. A petition has been presented to Judge Speer asking him to grant an order allowing the Central Trust company to vote the 42,200 shares of stock. This block is now under an injunction placed upon it March 25th, when Judge Speer directed that no votes should be received at the coming election on behalf of the majority stock unless upon a bona fide transfer of the same, approved by the court.

At the confederate memorial services at Charleston, W. Va., Tuesday, a battle-scarred confederate flag was run up underneath the United States flag, which spanned the main street near the court-house. Some citizens, including union veteran soldiers, said that it should come down. The confederate veterans said that it should remain and warned those who wished the flag removed not to touch it—to let it alone. The counsel of the cooler heads of both bands prevailed, and the flag was allowed to remain till late in the afternoon, when it was removed.

MAY COTTON.

Report for the Month Issued by Agricultural Department.

The May returns to the department of agriculture at Washington report a delay in the work of cotton planting, from low temperature, drought in many districts, and in some excess of rain. The germination is arrested, and plants start slowly. Some replanting will be necessary. It is estimated that 86 per cent. of the crop is usually planted by the first of May. This year the estimates make only 78. They are as follows for the several states: Virginia 84, North Carolina 70, South Carolina 83, Georgia 85, Florida 96, Alabama 83, Mississippi 78, Louisiana 72, Texas 83, Arkansas 64, Tennessee 45. Average 78.3. These figures represent the proportion of the prepared area already planted, and show that planting is materially later than usually. Some indication is given of the intended area as compared with that of last year.

The decrease of area, averages 18.6 per cent. The percentages are: Virginia, 79; North Carolina, 70; South Carolina, 80; Georgia, 83; Florida, 80; Alabama, 85; Mississippi, 88; Louisiana, 93; Texas, 82; Arkansas, 90; Tennessee, 74; Missouri, 74. It should be added that every year the area is reported too low, and almost every year less than the year before, notwithstanding the fact that the actual increase will be more than half a million acres per annum. The estimates of acreage will be made on the first of June as usual.

AS TO GRAIN.

The statistical returns indicate an average condition of 84 for wheat, against 81.2 last month. The change in the central wheat region is from 71 to 75 in Ohio, 83 to 84 in Michigan, 78 to 85 in Indiana, 86 to 86 in Illinois, 73 to 74 in Missouri, and 77 to 80 in Kansas. The condition has slightly declined in California, yet the prospect is still good on the Pacific coast. The condition of rye has advanced from 97 to 88.9. The condition of pastures average 87.5. The proportion of spring plowing usually done on the first of May is a little above three-fourths for the whole country, or 76.6 per cent. as reported.

M. J. Tennant, a freight conductor on the Louisville and Nashville road, recovered $20,000 damages from the Standard Oil Company for injuries received through the explosion of a barrel of naphtha improperly labeled.

Virginia's Historic Ground.

The largest price paid the owner of the farm on which the famous "Bloody angle" in Spottsylvania is situated recalls how important a proportion of Virginia's soil has an extensive value on account of its association with historic events. With the possible exception of Greece and England—we doubt even whether an exception ought to be made in the instance of these countries—there is no land in the world which contains more localities which derive their interest from the records of history, and which, if put up for sale, would bring a larger sum for reasons which have no relation whatever to the question of natural productiveness or general convenience.

Fortunately, though these scenes may change hands, they cannot, like Libby prison, be removed beyond the borders of the old state. Jamestown, Yorktown, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Manassas, the Wilderness, they are here to stay and to call up in the minds of the remotest generations of Virginians the heroic deeds of their ancestors, which are a part of the character of the living.—Richmond Times.

South Carolina's Exhibit.

Although the South Carolina legislature refused at its last sitting to appropriate any money whatever for a state exhibit at Chicago, the patriotic women of the state have taken the matter in charge and are making splendid efforts to have South Carolina well represented at the World's fair. The women all over the state are diligently co-operating and pushing ahead in the matter of collecting exhibits. Among the notable articles secured so far is a broadcloth coat made by ex President Andrew Jackson for Chief Justice Simpson in 1820, when Jackson was a tailor at Laurens; also a quilt made by a lady to whom Jackson was engaged in 1820. The worthy president of the Woman's World's Fair Association deserves lasting gratitude at the hands of South Carolina for her untiring efforts to make the state exhibit a success.

Catarrh--Remove the Cause.

I was afflicted from infancy with Catarrh, and for ten years with eruptions on my face. I was attended by the best physicians, and used a number of Blood remedies with no permanent relief. MY LIFE BECAME A BURDEN TO ME, for my case was declared incurable. I saw S. S. S. advertised, and took eight bottles, which cured me entirely, and I feel like a new person.—MISS JOSIE OWEN, Montpelier, Ohio.

I was the victim of the worst case of Catarrh that I ever heard of. I was entirely deaf in one ear, and all the inside of my nose, including part of the bone, sloughed off. No sort of treatment benefited me, and physicians said "I would never be any better." As a last resort I took Swift's Specific, and it entirely cured me and restored my hearing. I have been well for years, with no sign of return of the disease.—MRS. JOSEPHINE POLHILL, Due West, S. C. S. S. S. cures Catarrh, like it does other Blood diseases, by eliminating the poison which causes it. Treatise on Blood and Skin mailed free.

STATE CONVENTIONS

Democrats of Kentucky, New Jersey, Colorado and Washington Act.

THREE OF THE FOUR STATES UNINSTRUCTED—CLEVELAND'S ADMINISTRATION ENDORSED—PLATFORMS IN BRIEF.

The Kentucky democratic state convention was called to order shortly after 2 o'clock Wednesday by General Castleman, chairman of the state committee. Charles J. Bronston, of Lexington, the candidate of the Cleveland element was placed in nomination for temporary chairman. On behalf of the anti-Cleveland element Charles R. Long, of Louisville, was placed in nomination. An hour was consumed in roll call, and in wrangling over contested delegations, and results finally showed that Long had been elected by a vote of 427 to 390. The anti-Cleveland men gave a wild deafening cheer of delight, when the result was announced. The vote on the temporary chairmanship was recognized as a triumph for Mr. Watterson and immediately loud calls went up for him. Mr. Watterson spoke for an hour. When Watterson had concluded, Congressman Breckenridge, leader of the Cleveland forces, was called out, and he held the attention of the convention for another hour. Committees were then appointed, district delegates were reported, and the convention took a recess til 8 30 p. m. On reassembling, Congressman McCreary was made permanent chairman. The district delegates were reported and confirmed. Nominations for four delegates at large to the national convention being declared in order, a number of candidates were placed in nomination. On motion Henry Watterson was declared a delegate. The calling of the roll of the counties for the selection of the remaining delegates at large consumed an hour. The platform adopted endorses and reaffirms the principles of the democratic platform of 1888, condemns the principles and measures of the republican party as exemplified in its iniquitous tariff legislation, its advocacy of the infamous force bill, its extravagant pension laws, the wasting of public funds, class legislation and centralization, and endorsing the democratic idea of tariff reform and economy in government, whereby the great mass of people would be relieved of unjust and oppressive burdens of taxation, demands a sound and stable currency composed of or redeemable in gold and silver coin, declaring it to be the mission of the democratic party to preserve the parity in the value of gold and silver dollars, and to provide means, by appropriate legislation, for the free coinage of silver, without detriment to any business interest, and to the great relief of the over-taxed and debt-ridden people; endorses the democratic administration of Grover Cleveland and winds up with a resolution that the delegates to the national convention go uninstructed, except to use their best endeavors for the success of the democratic party and its principles.

NEW JERSEY.

The New Jersey democratic state convention met in Trenton Wednesday. Judge Chauncey J. Bessly, of Mercer county, was made temporary chairman. After the usual routine proceedings a recess was taken until 2 o'clock p. m. On reassembling ex-Congressman McDonald, of Hudson county, was made permanent chairman. The election of district delegates followed and like all other proceedings of the day, was attended with excitement, there being a sharp contest in several districts. The convention adjourned without any speech making. The following paragraphs from the platform are textual:

Resolved, That with a full recognition of the responsibility of the democracy of New Jersey towards the national democracy, we name as our candidate for the presidency, a statesman who boldly took a decisive step in the way of tariff reform and to emphasize our preference, we instruct our delegates to cast the vote of the state for Grover Cleveland as long as his name is before the convention.

Resolved, That we condemn the policy of the free coinage of depreciated legal-tender silver, and also further purchases of silver bullion under the republican legislation of 1890; and we believe that the whole matter of the use of silver as a money metal should be relegated to the future concerted action of commercial nations.

The platform was adopted with a whirl of enthusiasm. The tariff plank condemns the McKinley bill, lays claim to reciprocity as a feeble step in the direction of tariff reform as laid down by President Cleveland, and says the democratic party should continue to battle for tariff reform until that reform is achieved in the interests of the United States.

COLORADO.

The Colorado democratic state convention met at Denver Wednesday. T. M. Patterson, Dr. Paul, J. M. Orman and Theodore O'Donnell were chosen delegates at large to Chicago. The platform is a long one. It asked for a modification of the existing tariff laws and demanded as a right the free and unlimited coinage of silver. It was resolved that the delegates to the national convention use every endeavor to secure a free silver plank, demanding the restoration of silver to free and unlimited coinage, and it was declared the sense of the democrats of the state that they could have little hope of the election of the Chicago nominee unless such declaration was made. Every mention of David B. Hill's name was loudly applauded.

WASHINGTON.

The democratic state convention of Washington met at Vancouver Wednesday. The convention strongly indorsed Cleveland, but refrained from instructing the delegation. The following were chosen as delegates: John Collins, C. W. Griggs, F. p. Hogan, H. J. Snively, M. J. Maloney, H. S. Blandford, W. H. Dumph and J. H. Mundy.

TENNESSEE.

The Tennessee democratic state convention met at Nashville Thursday and organized by selecting W. C. Bimmukes, of Gallatin, as chairman. President Cleveland's administration was endorsed and the delegates to Chicago were instructed to vote as a unit for him. The silver resolution is as follows: "We favor a currency of gold, silver and of paper convertible into coin at the option of the holder and in such amount as will meet the business necessities of internal trade and commerce among the people; and we further favor the parity of the two metals at a commercial unit of value and as legal tender for the payment of all debts, public and private, as existed under the laws of the United States down to the infamous and surreptitious demonetization of silver in 1873 by the republican party; and we further favor the continued coinage of silver and gold bullion in such manner as that every dollar so coined shall be equal to every other dollar." The delegates for the state at large are: J. S. Bradford, of Nashville; Jules M. Taylor, Memphis, and D. D. Anderson, Knoxville. All Cleveland men.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

South Dakota's state democratic convention was held at Yankton Thursday. Following are the delegates and alternates elected: First district, Bartlet Harp, Yankton; second district, William Eyes, Sioux Falls; third district, A. W. Mullen, Dasmet; fourth district, P. S. Wickham, Alexandria; fifth district, J. A. Bowler, Groton. The resolutions contain indorsement of Cleveland's administration and express faith in him.

IDAHO.

The democratic state convention of Idaho met at Pocatello, Wednesday, and elected the following delegates to the national convention: J. M. Burke, J. W. Reid, J. M. Bennett, J. H. Hawley, Col. Bryan and R. Z. Johnson. The resolutions favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and recommend that a plank be inserted in the national platform. The delegates go uninstructed.

EXPLOSION OF FIREWORKS

Wreck a Building and Causes the Death of Several People.

At 4:35 o'clock Saturday afternoon the factory of the Etna Pyrotechnic Company at Hartford, Conn., blew up with tremendous noise, which shook the city and was heard some miles in the country. The contents of the building flew high in the air and were scattered in every direction, some of the fragments being carried a mile or so from the scene. J. L. B. Bibley was at the works paying off help. His was the first body taken out of the wreck. He was apparently killed instantly. Emma Turbor, Emma Treguan, a widow and Maggie Copen, employes, were found dead in the ruins, recognizable only by their clothing. They were fearfully blackened. George Emoth and one woman employed there are missing, but will probably be found in the ruins. A number of others were more or less seriously hurt.

VICTORIA'S BIRTHDAY

Celebrated in Grand Style by Rathe-castle Britishers.

The birthday of Queen Victory was celebrated in London Wednesday with much eclat. There was a very large gathering, which included many foreign visitors, the American deputies and committee, the Americas and the clans and retinue from the country. The Queen's birthday is a legal holiday in London, and the streets were filled with people. The Queen's procession to the Horse Guards parade was a splendid pageant. Her majesty was escorted by the Household Cavalry, the Life Guards and the Blues. The Queen's carriage was preceded by the Duke of Cambridge and Prince Christian, and followed by the Princess of Wales, the Princess Victoria and the Princess Louise. The Queen was received with the usual royal salutes and the cheers of the people. The Queen's procession to the Horse Guards parade was a splendid pageant. A PROCLAMATION

HE SAYS THAT LYNCHINGS MUST STOP AND THE FULL POWER OF THE STATE WILL BE EXERTED TO THAT END.

Governor Northen is greatly concerned about the recent exhibition of mob violence in Georgia, especially the triple lynching at Clarksville a few days ago, and he says he is going to break up this lawlessness if he has to bring the whole power of the state to bear upon it. With this view he has issued a proclamation to the people of Georgia as follows:

"A Pproclamation.—Georgia. By W. J. Northen, Governor of Said State.—It is a fundamental principle in our organic law that 'no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, except by due process of law.' This, supported by the further constitutional provision, 'protection to person and property is the paramount duty of government and shall be impartial and complete,' should make every citizen absolutely secure in his rights guaranteed in the constitution of the state. These rights I have sworn to defend, and so long as I continue in the office I will exert all the power the law confers upon me to secure to every citizen of the state, of whatever class or condition, the enjoyment of all the rights given him under the law.

"Under our peculiar social conditions, we are liable to many and great criminal outrages. I cannot conceive, however, of any violation of law so outrageous as to justify setting aside the authority of the state, in order to find suitable punishment to meet the ends of justice. This is especially true since, by an act of the present general assembly, the supreme court is required to give speedy hearing and determination in criminal cases, and to transmit promptly the remitter to the clerk of the court from which the writ of error was taken, and the judge of said court shall then have full power, in term or vacation, to pass any order, sentence, or judgment necessary to carry into execution the judgment of the court. There can now be no just complaint against delays in the law.

"The laws of the state are ample for the protection of the people; the courts are open for conviction, and the executive stands ready, at all times, to enforce the judgments of the courts against lawlessness and violence of any and all kinds. The killing of a citizen by a mob is deliberate murder, and the perpetrators of the crime should suffer at the hands of the courts the proper penalty. Lynching is brutal, cruel and barbarous. I now call upon the people of this state, in the name of law and order, to respond promptly to the summons of the officers of the law for the protection of citizens whose lives may be threatened by a mob. We cannot afford, in any case, however aggravated, to justify the defiance of the law.

"The law provides that the sheriff, in suppressing a mob, may summon to his assistance, either in writing or orally, all the citizens of a neighborhood or county. The acts of such posse shall be subject to the same protection and consequences as official acts.

"The law further provides: 'Whenever any riot, outbreak, tumult, mob or rout, shall occur or be imminent, under such circumstances that timely application cannot be made to the governor, and action had thereon by him, the mayor of any city, town or village, in which any of said volunteer forces are located, if he ascertains, or has good reasons to believe, that the ordinary posse comitatus or civil power of the county, city, town or village where such violation of the laws and peace of this state occurs or appears imminent, are or would be unable to promptly suppress or prevent the same, may, without first making application to the governor, direct the commander of such company, or part of a company, of said volunteer forces, in the county, or said city, [illegible] such lawlessness [illegible] such civil officer enforces the laws and preserve the peace, and it shall be the duty of such commander and all persons composing such command to obey such order.'

"The honor of the state demands that the law be enforced, and that all citizens be given a fair and impartial trial before the proper tribunal—the courts of the state.

"In the exercise of my purpose to secure to every citizen of [illegible] the enjoyment of all the rights guaranteed by the constitution, I [illegible] the secretary of state [illegible] persons actively participating in the murder of said persons, with proof sufficient to convict, to the sheriff of Habersham county. By the governor.

W. J. NORTHEN, Governor.

J. W. WARREN,
Secretary Executive Department."

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Development in the Week Ending May 21st.

The Chattanooga Tradesman in its review of the situation in the South for the week ending May 21, 1892, states that from the great majority of reports there is an absence of complaint of "hard times" which has been the almost universal cry for months past, and there seems to be some improvement.

Forty-six new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with 10 enlargements of manufactories and thirteen important new buildings. Among the new industries reported are brick works at Morristown, Tenn., and Madisonville, W. Va.; a $20,000 canning and manufacturing company at Winston, N. C., a steam cotton gin at Furman, Ala., a construction company at Tampa, Fla., and a development company, with $100,000 capital, at Rocky Mount, N. C. Electric lighting plants will be established at Kissimmee, Fla., and Newport, Tenn., a flouring mill at Waxahatchie, Texas, a grist mill at Lincolnton, Ga., glass works at Fairmount, W. Va., and ice factories at Athens, Ala., Newnan, Ga., and Waco, Texas. A foundry and machine shop at Atlanta, Ga., a tool and machine manufactory, with $300,000 capital at Bessemer, Ala., an engine works with $100,000 capital at Birmingham, Ala., machinery works capitalized at $25,000, also at Birmingham, an $80 000 iron working plant at Richmond, Va., coal mines to be opened at Norton, Va., and Charleston, W. Va., and an iron mine at Talladega, Ala. Among miscellaneous new industries of the week are bicycle works, capitalized at $50,000 at Harper's Ferry, W. Va., and a $50,000 wood scouring plant at San Antonio, Tex. Cotton mills are reported at Columbia, S. C., and Opelika, Ala., a pine fiber factory at Aiken, S. C., a $50,000 rope and twine factory at Rome, Ga., and a yarn mill at Greenville, S. C.

The wood working plants of the week include a barrel factory at Columbia, Tenn., $50,000 carriage works at Corsicana, Tex., and a wagon factory at Nashville, Tenn., saw and planing mills at Brook Neal, Va., Fordyce and Waldo, Ark., Crooked Fork, Tenn., Lake Charles, La., and St. George's, S. C., and a pencil factory at Scottsboro, Ala.

The enlargements of factories as reported for the week, include agricultural works at Greensboro, N. C., of a canning factory at Gadsden, Ala., a flouring mill at Knoxville, Tenn., iron working plants at Atlanta, Ga., and Harriman, Tenn., a knitting mill at Martinsburg, W. Va., an oil mill at Montgomery, Ala., and lumber mills at Fordyce, Ark., and Benton, Tenn.

Among the new buildings to be erected are a $70,000 asylum at Jackson, Miss., business houses at Atlanta, Ga., Louisville, Ky., and Beaumont, Tex., college and school buildings at Decatur and Whitesboro, Tex., a court house at Albemarle, N. C., an hotel at Lee's Springs, Tenn., and opera houses at Florence, S. C., and Natchez, Miss.

ANOTHER HOLD-UP IN FLORIDA

Train Robbers Again at Work—A Suspect Now in Jail Confesses.

A Jacksonville dispatch of Tuesday says: Only one of the Monroe junction murderers is in custody. He is in Orlando jail and has confessed. The other suspects are not identified, but are still held. The authorities refuse to give the name of the man who has confessed and will allow no one to see him. He has furnished an accurate description of his four accomplices and claims to have had nothing to do with the killing of Saunders, the express messenger, and was one of the men who boarded the locomotive.

THEY TRY IT AGAIN.

A Gainesville special Tuesday says: "Alfred Davis, engineer of the switch engine at the Savannah, Florida and Western yard, was held up by two white men Tuesday morning at 2 o'clock. They first made inquiries about the departure of trains. Then they asked whether or not the train robbers had been caught and what was known of them. Then placing their pistols close to Davis' head they demanded all he had, which they took from him. One wanted to kill him, saying, 'Dead men tell no tales.' The other objected, but ordered Davis to walk off. Davis's pistol was in the cab and no one was down there at the time except the night telegraph operator, who finally came up town and told a policeman, but the policeman refused to leave his beat, to notify the sheriff, so nothing was known of it until morning. Both men were white and answered very closely the published description of the Monroe junction train robbers. The authorities are searching for them with a vengeance.

Disastrous Fire at Spokane Falls.

Fire at Spokane Falls, Wash., Tuesday destroyed the footers of the Spokane Mill company, the Echo Roller mills, the cotmeal mills and the building of the Washington Shingle company. They also burned several cottages, damaged Corbett street bridge and the National Iron Works and the steam laundry. The loss, as near as can be learned, is about [illegible], as follows: Spokane Mill company, $[illegible]; Echo mills, [illegible]; cottages, [illegible]; Washington Shingle company, [illegible]; Corbett street bridge, [illegible]; National Iron Works, [illegible]; steam laundry, [illegible]; total, [illegible]. The insurance is [illegible].

STATUS OF BUSINESS.

Dun & Co. Make a Favorable Report for the Past Week.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade for week ended May 20: The business failures occurring throughout the country during the week number for the United States 169; Canada, 23. Total, 192. For the corresponding week last year the figures were 214 failures in the United States and 40 in Canada.

The great floods in the west, unprecedented at some points, and prolonged rains extending over the whole of the Mississippi valley seriously interrupted trade. But there is nothing to warrant the apprehension that the year's crops will be deficient, or that trade for the year will fall below expectations. In all quarters a confident spirit prevails, and even at the south business seems to be relatively less embarrassed than of late.

Money is everywhere in large supply and light demand. Collections are only unsatisfactory where bad weather delays distribution and settlements. Philadelphia notes fair trade in dry goods, excellent except in the south; more activity in wool, especially in worsted grades, and larger trade in iron, though at low prices, [illegible] encouragement is seen in glass, and slight improvement in some groceries. Iron is weaker at Pittsburg, but there is fair demand for finished products, especially for hardware, and improving trade in glass.

At New Orleans trade is fair, with cotton in better demand and firmer, and at Savannah, though trade is falling, prospects are favorable. Coffee has advanced [illegible] half cent, with sales of 133,000 bags.

The injury to cotton in the southern valleys has less to do with the advance of a sixteenth in the price than the covering of speculative sales. With dealings of 475,000 bales the fluctuations have been small.

THE GREAT INDUSTRIES.

The great industries are fully as active as usual at this season, though prices are remarkably low. Cotton, perhaps, fares best, the price of the material being about the lowest for forty years, while the great demand prevents corresponding reduction in goods. New wool begins to come forward, and is promptly taken with a slight advance on some grades, the market being more nearly bare of supplies than usual. The sales at the three chief markets aggregate since January 1st, 9,000,000 pounds, or 10 per cent. more than last year. The manufacturers are fairly supplied with orders in most branches, the demand for dress goods pressing upon the capacity of the mills and the trade in flannels exceeding last year's.

COLORED CHURCHES UNITE.

The Zion and African Methodist Episcopal Churches Combined into One.

A Philadelphia dispatch says: After being twenty-three days in session the African Methodist Episcopal church conference adjourned Tuesday to meet at Wilmington, N. C., in 1896. During the last day's session Bishop Turner stated he had received a telegram from Bishop Harris, of the African Methodist Zion church, agreeing to consolidate the two great bodies and call them the African and Zion Methodist Episcopal churches.

A motion was made that the name be adopted as it was a step toward organic union. On the call of the roll the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of consolidation and the adoption of the name.

Bishop Turner was then ordered to acquaint the Zion church conference of this action. It was agreed that the board of bishops acquaint the separate churches of their action and ask approval of it. It was also agreed to adopt the book of discipline now used as a whole.

BLAINE FOR PRESIDENT.

He Will Get the Republican Nomination If He Will Accept.

A special dispatch of Monday from Washington says: Unless Mr. Blaine writes a letter, positively refusing to accept the nomination, he will be the republican nominee for president. That is as definitely fixed as anything political can be, and the possibilities of his declining are almost infinitesimal. The thing is, indeed, fixed. A senator who is in a position to know, if the future can be foretold, is reported as saying that there was no longer any doubt about the republican nomination.

The Tennessee democratic state convention met at Nashville Thursday and organized by selecting W. C. Bimpkes, of Gallatin, as chairman. President Cleveland's administration was endorsed and the delegates to Chicago were instructed to vote as a unit for him. The silver resolution is as follows: "We favor a currency of gold, silver and of paper convertible into coin at the option of the holder and in such amount as will meet the business necessities of internal trade and commerce among the people; and we further favor the parity of the two metals at a commercial unit of value and as legal tender for the payment of all debts, public and private, as existed under the laws of the United States down to the infamous and surreptitious demonetization of silver in 1873 by the republican party; and we further favor the continued coinage of silver and gold bullion in such manner as that every dollar so coined shall be equal to every other dollar." The delegates for the state at large are: J. S. Bradford, of Nashville; Jules M. Taylor, Memphis, and D. D. Anderson, Knoxville. All Cleveland men.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

South Dakota's state democratic convention was held at Yankton Thursday. Following are the delegates and alternates elected: First district, Bartlet Harp, Yankton; second district, William Eyes, Sioux Falls; third district, A. W. Mullen, Dennet; fourth district, P. S. Wickham, Alexandria; fifth district, J. A. Bowler, Groton. The resolutions contain indorsement of Cleveland's administration and express faith in him.

IDAHO.

The democratic state convention of Idaho met at Pocatello, Wednesday, and elected the following delegates to the national convention: J. M. Burke, J. W. Reid, J. M. Bennett, J. H. Hawley, Col. Bryan and R. Z. Johnson. The resolutions favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and recommend that a plank be inserted in the national platform. The delegates go uninstructed.

EXPLOSION OF FIREWORKS

Wreck a Building and Causes the Death of Several People.

At 4:35 o'clock Saturday afternoon the factory of the Etna Pyrotechnic Company at Hartford, Conn., blew up with tremendous noise, which shook the city and was heard some miles in the country. The contents of the building flew high in the air and were scattered in every direction, some of the fragments being carried a mile or so from the scene. J. L. B. Sibley was at the works paying off help. His was the first body taken out of the wreck. He was apparently killed instantly. Emma Tarbox, Emma Tregunna, a widow and Maggie Copen, employes, were found dead in the ruins, recognizable only by their clothing. They were fearfully blackened. George Zimoth and One woman employed there are missing, but will probably be found in the ruins. A number of others were more or less seriously hurt.

VIC'S BIRTHDAY

Celebrated in Grand Style by Enthusiastic Britishers.

The birthday of Queen Victory was celebrated in London Wednesday with much eclat. There was a very large gathering which included many foreign visitors. The dancing, libation and conviviality lasted long into the morn and all was jolly in the extreme. The

A PROCLAMATION

HE SAYS THAT LYNCHINGS MUST STOP AND THE FULL POWER OF THE STATE WILL BE EXERTED TO THAT END.

Governor Northen is greatly concerned about the recent exhibition of mob violence in Georgia, especially the triple lynching at Clarksville a few days ago, and he says he is going to break up this lawlessness if he has to bring the whole power of the state to bear upon it. With this view he has issued a proclamation to the people of Georgia as follows:

"A Proclamation.—Georgia. By W. J. Northen, Governor of Said State.—It is a fundamental principle in our organic law that 'no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, except by due process of law.' This, supported by the further constitutional provision, 'protection to person and property is the paramount duty of government and shall be impartial and complete,' should make every citizen absolutely secure in his rights guaranteed in the constitution of the state. These rights I have sworn to defend, and so long as I continue in the office I will exert all the power the law confers upon me to secure to every citizen of the state, of whatever class or condition, the enjoyment of all the rights given him under the law.

"Under our peculiar social conditions we are liable to many and great criminal outrages. I cannot conceive, however, of any violation of law so outrageous as to justify setting aside the authority of the state, in order to find suitable punishment to meet the ends of justice. This is especially true since, by an act of the present general assembly, the supreme court is required to give speedy hearing and determination in criminal cases, and to transmit promptly the remittur to the clerk of the court from which the writ of error was taken, and the judge of said court shall then have full power, in term or vacation, to pass any order, sentence, or judgment necessary to carry into execution the judgment of the court. There can now be no just complaint against delays in the law.

"The laws of the state are ample for the protection of the people; the courts are open for conviction, and the executive stands ready, at all times, to enforce the judgments of the courts against lawlessness and violence of any and all kinds. The killing of a citizen by a mob is deliberate murder, and the perpetrators of the crime should suffer at the hands of the courts the proper penalty. Lynching is brutal, cruel and barbarous. I now call upon the people of this state, in the name of law and order, to respond promptly to the summons of the officers of the law for the protection of citizens whose lives may be threatened by a mob. We cannot afford, in any case, however aggravated, to justify the defiance of the law.

"The law provides that the sheriff, in suppressing a mob, may summon to his assistance, either in writing or orally, all the citizens of a neighborhood or county. The acts of such posse shall be subject to the same protection and consequences as official acts.

"The law further provides: 'Whenever any riot, outbreak, tumult, mob or rout, shall occur or be imminent, under such circumstances that timely application cannot be made to the governor, and action had thereon by him, the mayor of any city, town or village, in which any of said volunteer forces are located, if he ascertains, or has good reasons to believe, that the ordinary posse comitatus or civil power of the county, city, town or village where such violation of the laws and peace of this state occurs or appears imminent, are or would be unable to promptly suppress or prevent the same, may, without first making application to the governor, direct the commander of each company, or part of a company, of said volunteer forces, in the county, or said city, town or village [illegible] such lawlessness [illegible] to call out, and require the command to such civil officers to enforce the laws and preserve the peace, and it shall be the duty of each commander and all persons composing such command to obey such order.'

"The honor of the state demands that the law be enforced, and that all citizens be given a fair and impartial trial before the proper tribunal—the courts of the state.

"In the transfer of my purpose to secure to every citizen of this state the enjoyment of all the rights guaranteed to him by the constitution and laws of the state, I call upon every citizen to aid me in the discovery of those persons actively participating in the murder of said persons, with proof sufficient to convict, to the sheriff of Habersham county. By the governor.

W. J. Northen, Governor.

J. W. Warren,
Secretary Executive Department."

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Development in the Week Ending May 21st.

The Chattanooga Tradesman in its review of the situation in the South for the week ending May 21, 1892, states that from the great majority of reports there is an absence of complaint of "hard times" which has been the almost universal cry for months past, and there seems to be some improvement.

Forty-six new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with 10 enlargements of manufactories and thirteen important new buildings. Among the new industries reported are brick works at Morristown, Tenn., and Madisonville, W. Va.; a $20,000 canning and manufacturing company at Winston, N. C., a steam cotton gin at Furman, Ala., a construction company at Tampa, Fla., and a development company, with $100,000 capital, at Rocky Mount, N. C. Electric lighting plants will be established at Kissimmee, Fla., and Newport, Tenn., a flouring mill at Waxahatchie, Texas, a grist mill at Lincolnton, Ga., glass works at Fairmount, W. Va., and ice factories at Athens, Ala., Newnan, Ga., and Waco, Texas. A foundry and machine shop at Atlanta, Ga., a tool and machine manufactory, with $200,000 capital at Bessemer, Ala., an engine works with $100,000 capital at Birmingham, Ala., machinery works capitalized at $25,000, also at Birmingham, an $50 000 iron working plant at Richmond, Va., coal mines to be opened at Norton, Va., and Charleston, W. Va., and an iron mine at Talladega, Ala. Among miscellaneous new industries of the week are bicycle works, capitalized at $50,000 at Harper's Ferry, W. Va., and a $50,000 wood scouring plant at San Antonio, Tex. Cotton mills are reported at Columbia, S. C., and Opelika, Ala., a pine fiber factory a, Aiken, S. C., a $50,000 rope and twine factory at Rome, Ga., and a yarn mill at Greenville, S. C.

The wood working plants of the week include a barrel factory at Columbia, Tenn., $50,000 carriage works at Corsicana, Tex., and a wagon factory at Nashville, Tenn., saw and planing mills at Brook Neal, Va., Fordyce and Waldo, Ark., Crooked Fork, Tenn., Lake Charles, La., and St. George's, S. C., and a pencil factory at Scottsboro, Ala.

The enlargements of factories as reported for the week, include agricultural works at Greensboro, N. C., of a canning factory at Galveston, Ala., a flouring mill at Knoxville, Tenn., iron working plants at Atlanta, Ga., and Harriman, Tenn., a knitting mill at Martensburg, W. Va., an oil mill at Montgomery, Ala., and lumber mills at Fordyce, Ark., and Benton, Penn.

Among the new buildings to be erected are a $70,000 asylum at Jackson, Miss., business houses at Atlanta, Ga., Louisville, Ky., and Beaumont, Tex., college and school buildings at Decatur and Whitesboro, Tex., a court house at Albemarle, N. C., an hotel at Lea's Springs, Tenn., and opera houses at Florence, S. C., and Natchez, Miss.

ANOTHER HOLD-UP IN FLORIDA

A Jacksonville dispatch of Tuesday says: Only one of the Monroe junction murderers is in custody. He is in Orlando jail and has confessed. The other suspects are not identified, but are still held. The authorities refuse to give the name of the man who has confessed and will allow no one to see him. He has furnished an accurate description of his four accomplices and claims to have had nothing to do with the killing of Saunders, the express messenger, and was one of the men who boarded the locomotive.

THEY TRY IT AGAIN.

A Gainesville special Tuesday says: "Alfred Davis, engineer of the switch engine at the Savannah, Florida and Western yard, was held up by two white men Tuesday morning at 2 o'clock. They first made inquiries about the departure of trains. Then they asked whether or not the train robbers had been caught and what was known of them. Then placing their pistols close to Davis's head they demanded all he had, which they took from him. One wanted to kill him, saying, 'Dead men tell no tales.' The other objected, but ordered Davis to walk off. Davis's pistol was in the cab and no one was down there at the time except the night telegraph operator, who finally came up town and told a policeman, but the policeman refused to leave his beat, to notify the sheriff, so nothing was known of it until morning. Both men were white and answered very closely the published description of the Monroe junction train robbers. The authorities are scratching for them with a vengeance.

Disastrous Fire at Spokane Falls.

Fire at Spokane Falls, Wash., Tuesday, destroyed the factory of the Pettyjohn Mill company, the Echo Roller mills, the oatmeal mills and the building of the Washington Shingle company. They also burned several cottages, damaged Howard street bridge and the Northern Iron Works and the steam laundry. The loss, probably $100,000, is almost covered by insurance. Eighteen Mill companies, an insurance company and [illegible] $100,000; the Pettyjohn Mill company, $50,000; the Echo Roller mills, $10,000; the oatmeal mills, $10,000; the Washington Shingle company, $5,000; the Howard street bridge, $5,000; the Northern Iron Works, $5,000; the steam laundry, $5,000.

STATUS OF BUSINESS.

Dun & Co. Make a Favorable Report for the Past Week.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade for week ended May 26: The business failures occurring throughout the country during the week number for the United States 189; Canada, 28. Total, 193. For the corresponding week last year the figures were 214 (failures in the United States and 40 in Canada.

The great floods in the west, unprecedented at some points, and prolonged rains extending over the whole of the Mississippi valley seriously interrupted trade. But there is nothing to warrant the apprehension that the year's crops will be deficient, or that trade for the year will fall below expectations. In all quarters a confident spirit prevails, and even at the south business seems to be relatively less embarrassed than of late.

Money is everywhere in large supply and light demand. Collections are only unsatisfactory where bad weather delays distribution and settlements. Philadelphia notes fair trade in dry goods, excellent except in the south; more activity in wool, especially in worsted grades, and larger trade in iron, though at low prices, more encouragement is seen in glass, and slight improvement in some groceries. Iron is weaker at Pittsburg, but there is fair demand for finished products, especially for hardware, and improving trade in glass.

At New Orleans trade is fair, with cotton in better demand and firmer, and at Savannah, though trade is falling, prospects are favorable. Coffee has advanced one-half cent, with sales of 133,000 bags.

The injury to cotton in the southern valleys has less to do with the advance of a sixteenth in the price than the covering of speculative sales. With dealings of 475,000 bales the fluctuations have been small.

THE GREAT INDUSTRIES.

The great industries are fully as active as usual at this season, though prices are remarkably low. Cotton, perhaps, fares best, the price of the material being about the lowest for forty years, while the great demand prevents corresponding reduction in goods. New wool begins to come forward, and is promptly taken with a slight advance on some grades, the market being more nearly bare of supplies than usual. The sales at the three chief markets aggregate since January 1st, 9,000,000 pounds, or 10 per cent. more than last year. The manufacturers are fairly supplied with orders in most branches, the demand for dress goods pressing upon the capacity of the mills and the trade in flannels exceeding last year's.

COLORED CHURCHES UNITE.

A Philadelphia dispatch says: After being twenty-three days in session the African Methodist Episcopal church conference adjourned Tuesday to meet at Wilmington, N. C., in 1896. During the last day's session Bishop Turner stated he had received a telegram from Bishop Harris, of the African Methodist Zion church, agreeing to consolidate the two great bodies and call them the African and Zion Methodist Episcopal churches.

A motion was made that the name be adopted as it was a step toward organic union. On the call of the roll the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of consolidation and the adoption of the name.

Bishop Turner was then ordered to acquaint the Zion church conference of this action. It was agreed that the board of bishops acquaint the separate churches of their action and ask approval of it. It was also agreed to adopt the book of discipline now used as a whole.

BLAINE FOR PRESIDENT.

He Will Get the Republican Nomination If He Will Accept.

A special dispatch of Monday from Washington says: Unless Mr. Blaine writes a letter, positively refusing to accept the nomination, he will be the republican nominee for president. That is as definitely fixed as anything political can be, and the possibilities of his declining are almost infinitesimal. The thing is, indeed, fixed. A mentor who is in a position to know, if the truth can be foretold, is reported as saying that there was no longer any doubt about the republican nomination.

The Selma Mirror insists that the Ocala "demands" are not dead. The trouble with the Mirror is that it is dead itself, and either don't know it or won't own it.

Our esteemed Chronicle friend at Columbiana with his hands pretty full of Shelby county politics has decided to leave Chilton to her fate, while he industriously continues his canvass for the position of Surgeon-General of the anti-Ocala forces in Shelby.

Some of the writers for the Alliance Herald who seem wholly animated by that intensity of feeling which belongs to narrowness, are advocating anarchy pure and simple. The financial distress which the paper has been in for sometime seems also positive proof that the right-thinking alliancemen of the state do not endorse its course.

There are more people in the world who "know just exactly how to run a newspaper," and who really know nothing at all, than you can count in a long life time. You might turn them loose in a printing office, and the help-box, put on press just as it stands, would make about as creditable a showing as they could.—Russell Register.

The last issue of the Alliance Herald complained of the intolerance toward Alliancemen which exists in Montgomery. It is a well foundedopinion that the Herald has brought about this intolerance by unwisely preaching "blood and thunder" to its readers. "He that sows the wind will reap the whirlwind." A resort to force and strife among the white people could not help a soul in Alabama but would prove a death knell to the Alliance cause throughout the country.

The Ocala platform is a pretty big bug-bear if you will make it so. But it is dead, very dead in fact.—Chilton View.

Which causes us to rise to remark that the azure complexion of some people rival in tint the foliage of the historic "green bay tree."—Selma Mirror.

Which latter observation causes us to remark that the Mirror should study its grammar and its dictionary. The verb "rival" does not agree in number with the noun which it qualifies. This is saying nothing of its inexplicable comparison of a "blue complexion" to a "green bay tree." Perhaps the Mirror knows what it meant to say if nobody else does. The Mirror often gives evidence that the View is right in contending that what our State most woefully needs is an improved public school system.

The Memphis Commercial wants to know why the old men of to-day are not as good looking as the old women. One reason that philanthrophy, religion and reform work are more ennobling pursuits than money grubbing. It may be said that the latter is absolutely necessary. It is not. Christ said, "take no thought for the morrow what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, or wherewithal ye shall be clothed;" and it is because we neither believe nor act on this command that lives are crushed in competition. If every one to-day acted upon that law and its companion, "love one another" the millennium would be at hand and the spiritural side of man would show in feature as well as action.—New Decatur Advertiser.

The tone and temper of a number of the republican state conventions that have been held recently indicate that there will be a demand upon the party at the national convention at Minneapolis to revive the force bill measure.

There seems to be very little doubt of this, if the republicans think they have a chance of carrying the next congress. It has been hoped especially in the South that the idea of proposing the passage of an election law based upon the bayonet and reconstruction plan was beyond resurrection; but it seems that such was not the case, and that the republican party still fondly cherishes it and will not hesitate to push it to the front at the first opportunity.—Tuskaloosa Gazette.

Robert Ingersoll, the great infidel, is often called upon to deliver an address at the grave of some other prominent infidel. In these talks he usually admits his belief in a future life. Over the grave of Walt Whitman he spoke of the deceased as "waiting for the light." Though Ingersoll's efforts always show lack of force and depth—everything being sacrificed to style, yet his syllabub rhetoric always attracts attention. Of the poet Whitman he said:

"He was not afraid to live; not afraid to speak his thoughts. Neither was he afraid to die. For many years he and death lived near neighbors. He was always willing and ready to meet this thing called death. And for many months he sat in the deepening twilight waiting for the night—waiting for the light. In his brain were the blessed memories of the days, and in his heart were mingled the dawn and dusk of life. He was not afraid. Cheerful in every moment, the laughing nymphs of the day did not desert him. They remained that they might clasp the hand of the veiled and silent sisters of the night when they should come. And when they did come Walt Whitman stretched his hands to both—on one side the nymphs of the day and on the other hand the silent sisters of the night. And so hand in hand, between smiles and tears he reaches his journeys end. From the frontier of life, from the Western wave-kissed shore he sent us messages of content and hope. And those messages seem now like strains of music blown by the mystic trumpeter from death's pale realm."

A Backset for Bellamy.

Mr. Bellamy and his co-nationalists have suffered a setback at the hands of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts. They sought to establish municipal coal yards where the people could be supplied with wood and coal at cost; but the Supreme Court by a vote of five to two, decides it cannot be done. "We are of the opinion," the majority of the judges say, "that the Constitution does not contemplate this as one of the ends for which the government was established or as a public service for which cities and towns may be authorized to tax their inhabitants."

There is no great force in the latter suggestion for, rightly conducted, such an institution as was contemplated ought not to be a tax on the community. The decision is, nevertheless, sound and ought to be commended. If municipalities are to go into the business of supplying wood and coal at cost, they should also undertake the supplying of food and clothing, and in a very short time the individualism, which is one of the race, would be weakened and destroyed. There is a strong temptation to try such schemes when the coal men combine as they have; but centralization of the nationalistic kind is not the true remedy for such combination.

Reverend South Haters.

The Northern Methodists went through their usual program of cursing and calumniating the south at their annual conference. When a fraternal delegate from the M. E. Church South spoke in a most conservative and temperate fashion in defense of the south he was insulted with "groans" in which, according to the New York Tribune, "even the bishops joined." When he casually mentioned the name of "John Brown" the whole assemblage burst into rapturous applause as signifying their love for the memory of this murderous villain. Many members of the conference rose and left the room while Dr. Tigert was speaking, and in every other way known to malice and bad breeding, they attempted to insult and humiliate the speaker. We do not suppose that outside of hell itself a more infernal spirit of hate is ever manifested than in a Northern Methodist conference. The father of lies himself never was more fertile in the invention of calumny, and the most conscienceless republican spell-binder in the country would be ashamed to repeat the baseless and atrocious slanders which constitute the texts for the tirade of foul abuse which in the north are called "sermons." The conduct of these "ministers" on the occasion referred to was merely that of common hoodlums. The reverend bishops who insulted a Christian gentleman and minister for daring to tell them that the people of the south were not murderers and scoundrels have much more of the malice of the devil than they have of the grace of God. In applauding the name of John Brown they applaud his act and purpose. They applauded his effort to excite a servile insurrection, to give the earth over to massacre pillage and rapine; to the murder of men and the violation of women. This was what these pious and godly men would like to have seen, not because they approve of such crimes in general, but because they would gladly see the people made the victims of any crime and would applaud the criminal.—Memphis Commercial.

Baptists and Thirst.

The following "true story" was told to me more than forty years ago and was vouched for then as true, the names and locality furnished:

The Primitive Baptists, commonly called "Hardshells," were quite numerous in that section and were always considered honest and upright, but they had some very peculiar forms of worship, said to be taken from the Bible, such as foot washing, etc., and flatly denied any prohibition of the use of whisky and declared it one of "God's good creatures," to be enjoyed in gratitude. But a few of the members took issue on the temperance question and withdrew and organized a little missionary Baptist Church of their own, without the imbibing privileges. There was no good feeling existing between these two churches as there should have been. About this time a question of annoyance was introduced in the town council and a motion made for a committee to look into the matter. Pending this motion, a missionary Baptist who had a grudge arose and said: "Your honor need not appoint a committee, for I have a scheme to get rid of that dogfennel—buy a barrel of red whisky and sprinkle it on, and those fellows over on the hill will eat the last bit of it before morning." Carried. —"Phlogmoggin" in Mountain Home.

A Third Party.

Memphis Commercial.

That there is no need for a third party ought not to cause much argument. What can not be attained in the way of healthy legislation through the Democratic party cannot be attained at all, for that party is always ready to zealously watch over the interest of every class of citizens and to do whatever lies in its power to advance the welfare of all. But the Democratic party or any other party cannot afford to yield to the absurd demands of the Ocala platform, which could not be made practical even if both sides of congress and the president should assent to them. The leaders of the third party movement know this perfectly well, but they must get them something to give them notoriety, and no other means for so doing at present present themselves.

While this general statement holds good in all sections and in every state in the union, it particularly holds good in the south. Were the third party and its Ocala platform with its sub-treasury and other similar provisions, practical at all, they could never be adopted in the south, since an effort to do so would necessitate a division of the Democratic party, such a division would mean social and political death to any state that attempts it. With the democracy of any state of the south weakened by division, the republican party, with its unscrupulous white leaders and negro cohorts, would find it an easy task to get possession of the government, and the days of reconstruction are not things so remotely in the past for people to have yet forgotten what horrors always attend [illegible] publican rule. Unless a [illegible]thern state is ready to see its social system entirely subverted; its finances in confusion; its people demoralised and its ship of state a stranded wreck, drifting about without rudder or compass the prey of political sharks and harpies, it will never consent to cut loose from its sure moorings in the safe democratic harbor to trust itself to the uncertain and dangerous winds and waves of third parties.—And when this danger stares any southern state squarely in the face, not one will dare venture the experiment. Virginia tried it once, and was only too glad to get back to port, and will be likely to stay there for sometime to come.

The Same Old Tragedy.

The following is an editorial from the Atlanta Constitution of the 18th inst., upon the killing of Alpheus Cosin by his friend, Porter Stocks. Both were young men and former friends. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty and murder in the first degree. Drinking and pistol carrying are terrible evils and are widely practiced. What an earnest warning in the following words of the Constitution:

Whiskey went in and wit went out. The two friends quarrelled, and rough words and rough blows followed. But this was nothing new, and nobody looked for anything serious. In fact, it was doubtful whether the young men were in earnest.

A little later, one of the parties, after a brief absence reappeared with a pistol. Making some excited remark he rushed forward and fired a fatal shot.

Arrest, trial, conviction, sentence—all in a few weeks.

Then the youthful prisoner began to think it all out.

In the long, hot days he brooded in his cell. "But for that pistol," he said, "it would not have happened."

The whiskey was bad enough and so was the quarrel, but the pistol that had done the deadly work.

In the gloomy nights he sat on his cot and tried to think. No matter how he reasoned, he always came back to the same point. "If I had remained unarmed—without a pistol — there would have been no killing."

What had caused him to shoot his friend? He did not know, but whenever he asked himself the question he recollected that he had a pistol, and some impulse prompted him to use it.

It is a very common story in this land of pistol toters. Men drink and abuse each other and tussle every day, without injury; they are unarmed. And men drink and quarrel every day and murder is done, they have pistols in their pockets.

No wonder the condemned man in his waking hours and in his dreams finds himself always thinking of that pistol. It is an ever present danger in America, north and south, in town and country—everywhere. Put a drink behind it and it seeks a human target, and the tragedy is completed, whether the gallows follow it or not.

"He had a pistol"—that explains it all.

Third Party Ghosts and Goblins.

A Texas contemporary has been looking up the history of third parties for the education of its friends who have strayed away with the people's party, so called. Here is the list:

1. The Clinton Democracy, born 1812 and died the same year.

2. The anti-Masonic party, born 1826 and though such men as Seward, Fillmore, Clay, Weed and Wirt were identified with it, its existence ceased in 1832.

3. The Liberty party, born in 1840 and died in 1844.

4. The Free Soil or Abolition party, born in 1852, died in 1852.

5. The Southern State's Rights party, born in 1852, died the same year.

6. The American or Know Nothing party, born in 1853, died in 1860.

7. The Liberal Republican party, born in 1872, died the same year.

8. The Temperance party's birth and death occurred in 1872.

9. The Labor Reform party came into and went out of existence in 1872.

10. The American National party was born in 1875 and died in 1876.

11. The Greenback party was born 1875 and died in 1880.

12. The Prohibition party, as a National party, was born in 1876 and has been dying a slow death ever since.

13. The National party was born in 1878 and died the same year.

14. The National Liberty party breathed its first and last breath in 1879.

15. The Greenback Labor party was born in 1882 and died so quickly that the exact time of its demise is not known.

Should Kolb have his friends declare him the nominee, every true Alabamian should vote against him, vote for Jones and a lot of sensible progressive and fair minded men for the legislature. Then Governor Jones, a reward for others, in his first message to the law-making power, advise them that there are two things necessary for the good of the state and party, the first is to either repeal the constitution or patch it up until it is good as new; the second is to change greatly for the better, the public school, road and election laws. This is the only way to save the state in the future, and we will only have one chance to do this.—Huntsville Mercury.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Mr. G. W. Dawson has a very sick child.

Mr. T. Phillips is having his residence painted.

Mr. F. W. Denty is able to be up after serious illness.

Mr. H. C. Martin visited Birmingham Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. H. B. Oliver, of Verbena, visited friends in Clanton a few days since.

Miss Mollie Hannon is visiting relatives in Birmingham for several days.

Mrs. M. J. Bandy, of Jemison, was the guest of Mrs. John Garner last week.

Mr. J. P. Vanderveer, democratic nominee for circuit clerk, was in town Friday.

Dame Rumor has it that two of our young people will wed before many months.

Mrs. Rainer and her mother are now occupying Mr. J. W. Edwards' house on Main St.

Miss Mary Hester has returned home after a long and pleasant visit to relatives in Birmingham.

Special low prices for thirty days in everything worn by men and boys at Alex. Rice's, Montgomery.

Mrs. Zella Givhan and Miss Inez Collier are visiting relatives at Pine Level, Montgomery county.

Rev. A. J. Briggs was in Clanton last Tuesday and Wednesday, and was the guest of Dr. A. E. Biyings.

Never decry your home town to strangers. Talking for it cannot hurt you and may help to build it up.

Mrs. R. H. Croswell returned to Deatsville last Saturday after a pleasant visit to her parents in Clanton.

We are overstocked on a great many goods, and will make special low prices for thirty days. Alex. Rice, Montgomery.

The doctors are kept busy since last Friday. Picnics invariably cause a great deal of sickness among children.

Mr. W. L. Sampey has erected a horse rack near his store. This is a good move and an example for some others to follow.

Rev. Father Andrite, of Montgomery, spent Sunday in Clanton. He came up to administer the last sacraments of the church to the late Mr. P. Murphy.

All who attended the union Sunday School picnic at Mims' mill had a delightful time, and owe much of their enjoyment to Mr. C. H. Abbott and his boat.

We can fit big men, little men, stout men and lean men. We have clothes to fit everybody.
Alex Rice, Montgomery.

Dick Middleton, of Birmingham, was in town visiting his home folks Sunday. He is now connected with Morson & Middleton, grain and coal dealers of the Magic City.

Mr. L. H. Reynolds represented the Chilton county farmer's alliance in the labor conference which met in Birmingham, May 30. Mr. A. J. Henley represented the Knight's of Labor.

Immense bargains in men's and boys' suits, thin coats and vests, straw hats, stiff hats, soft hats, shirts and underwear.

Something to Eat!

Realizing the fact that at this season of the year it is usually hard to get a variety of eatables, I have just gotten in a supply of fine Canned Goods, and will sell them at reasonable prices. Also very fine sugar house molasses at 60 cents per gallon. Staple groceries always on hand.

W. L. SAMPEY.

The VIEW office has the best printing outfit in central Alabama and turns out the very best work.

We would be glad to have each of our correspondents and any of our former readers to drop us postal cards giving us information as to the crop prospects in their particular neighborhoods, stating whether or not there has been any reducing of the acreage in cotton. We desire the information for publication.

Miss Mattie W. Ryan, representing the Montgomery Advertiser, was in our city Tuesday in the interest of that journal. Miss Ryan is an accomplished young lady of graceful and modest manners, and thoroughly imbued with earnestness in her work. She is one of Alabama's brave daughters and the VIEW trusts that her work may prove a bonanza for herself and the Advertiser.

Mr. P. Murphey, who has been spending sometime in Clanton, died here Tuesday morning of paralysis. The deceased was the father of Mrs. C. P. Jones, of Montgomery. Capt. Jones, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Eppelsheimer, another daughter from Kansas City, were with him during his last hours. He was 67 years of age, and was a follower of the Roman Catholic faith. The remains were taken to Birmingham for interment.

Verbena Views.

Dr. A. A. Green, of the Montgomery, Mr. Bob Sedwick and lady, of Birmingham, Mr. Ben Merriwether of Bullock, Mr. Barnett Merriwether, of Selma, Messrs. Bennett Griffin, John Cobb, and Thos. Scott, of Montgomery, and Capt. C. L. Brown of Butler county, have been visitors to our city during the week.

Miss Mary Fitzpatrick, of the Capital City, has been the charming guest of Miss Lilla Gulledge.

Miss Lucas Brooks, one of our most charming young ladies, gave the young people a delightful sociable on the evening of the 27th. It was a most enjoyable occasion.

I am informed that the quarterly conference will be held at Wadsworth, the 9th and 10th of July, instead of Verbena.

The baseball craze has struck Verbena. We will soon be ready to play any amateur nine in the State.

Major J. C. Gibson has bought the Watt place and had it fenced in.

When will we have another Sunday School Convention?

Mr. Frank Baldwin has returned from Bibb, where he assisted Solicitor Fitzpatrick in the circuit court.

If your child is bitten by a dog, don't think of hydrophobia, but as our grandmothers say, keep the wound open. Remember a dog's tooth, like a nail makes a deep and narrow wound and that blood poisoning may result from the festering of the torn flesh if an outlet is not left for the corrupt matter to flow out. We were once in a Mexican village, remote from physicians, when our child was bitten on the arm by a large and savage dog. Not knowing what else to do we bared the arm and attempted to suck out the poison. To our intense astonishment, very nearly a teaspoonful of torn, stringy bits of flesh came out with the first two or three draws. These we cut off with scissors. The bite scarcely made a perceptible spot, and would have undoubtedly healed on the surface at once, but the depth of the bite showed that it ought to heal from the interior. There is great similarity between the spasms of lock jaw and hydrophobia, but blood poisoning is a serious and dreadful menace from the bite of a dog, and one way to guard against it is to keep the wound open by poultices or a bit of lint replaced every day.—New Decatur Advertiser.

Business and Politics.

Here is what Tom L. Cannon says in his latest letter from St. Louis in regard to the attitude of business men toward politics;

"So long as business men consider themselves too clean for political work, at least to vote, so long may they expect to pay tribute to politicians who live by such work. If the work done by such men is not satisfactory, those who hold themselves too pure to vote are to blame for such laws. Until the business men in all walks of life, from the trust company's coffer to the machine bench, interest themselves in the nominating conventions and primaries, we may expect more or less political anarachy. There is no man too clean or too busy to vote. The men who love good government are in the majority. It is political cowardice to neglect a duty so imperative; it is political idiocy to complain of the result when the opportunity to remedy the evil has been allowed to pass without utilization."

An Important Fact to Face.

Montgomery Advertiser:

Additional to the dangers which confront the Southern cotton planters, should another great crop of cotton be produced, there is another which appears to be looming up to dismay them. Reports from the leading grain States indicate that the production of the three great cereal crops, corn, wheat and oats will be much less this year than last.

Should this be the case there can be but one result, that is, higher prices both for grain and provisions. The Southern cotton planters know from the experience of the past year what it is to pay advancing prices for food stuffs, while their own staple crop is continually declining in price. It looks now as if the coming year is to bring still higher prices for corn and meat. The relief of the Southern cotton planter from such an emergency is to meet the deficiency of the grain crops of the West with an increase of the same crops in the South.

It would be a matter of indifference to the Southern cotton producer if wheat was worth $2 and $1 a bushel, and meat 25 cents a pound in the West if he raised enough of these necessities to meet his home demand. If cotton could be regularly sold for $50 or $60 a bale it might pay the cotton planter to have his grain bins and hog pens in the West. But, unfortunately, the cotton planter is too often forced to pay increased prices for groceries and wheat when he is selling his own product at a price below the cost of production.

This fact has become so noticeable that, when meat goes up cotton goes down, has almost become a ruling influence with speculators in both commodities. During the year 1889-90 the cotton planters of the South relieved themselves almost entirely of debt. This happy situation was the result of a fortunate combination of circumstances. The southern farmers raised a surplus corn crop and a cotton crop just large enough to keep the price up to a living figure.

The truth is, there is no farmer in all the world so fortunately situated as the Southern farmer. He can raise a crop which is gold at any time he wants to sell it, and which no other section of the country can produce and any known food stuff for man or beast, and when the day comes that his cotton will not be made a surplus crop the equal of the southern planter will not be found anywhere.

The marriage of Mr. Eugene Barrett, of Clanton, and Miss Sallie Bell, is announced for the 8th of June.—Montgomery Journal.

Private Allen's Latest Story.

From the Washington Post.

Congressman John Allen told a good story at Chamberlain's last night. Referring to election days down in Mississippi, Mr. Allen told of an electioneerer who grandiloquently referred to the old saying, "The office should seek the man, not the man the office."

A few days afterward the speaker was noticed electioneering in old fashioned style, with drinks and cigars, etc. Being called down and asked about his assertion of a few days before that "the office should seek the man," he replied:

"I still maintain my position. The office should indeed seek the man, but by —— sahl the man should be around when the office is looking for him."

What is Being Done in Congressional Halls for the Country's Welfare.

PROCEEDINGS FROM DAY TO DAY BRIEFLY TOLD—BILLS AND MEASURES UNDER CONSIDERATION—OTHER NOTES.

THE HOUSE.

MONDAY.—The house met at 11 o'clock Monday with less than 75 members in attendance. Mr. Butler, of Iowa, made a request for the consideration of the senate bill to grant a pension to ex-Senator George W. Jones, of Iowa. Watson, of Georgia, objected. Then Mr. Watson's resolution requesting the committee on ways and means to report the sub-treasury bill was adopted without objection or debate. Mr. Watson, having achieved his object, withdrew his objection to the Jones pension bill, and, on motion of Mr. Henderson, of Iowa, it was taken up and passed. Mr. Kilgore was also in attendance, and his objection was defeated by the request of Mr. Bryan, of Nebraska, for the consideration of the bill for the erection of a pedestal for the statue to General W. T. Sherman. Mr. Bailey, of Texas, was also on hand with his demands for a quorum on the private bill called up by Mr. McKinney, of New Hampshire, and almost three quarters of an hour elapsed before a quorum appeared, and the measure was passed. The floor was then accorded to the committee on the District of Columbia. A bill giving the district commissioners authority to supervise the management of all street railroad lines within the city was passed; also an amendment was adopted providing for all-night cars running at intervals of half an hour. After passing a few more local bills, the house adjourned.

TUESDAY.—In the house Tuesday, Mr. Stewart, of Texas, from the committee on rivers and harbors, reported back the river and harbor appropriation bill with the senate amendments thereto, with the recommendation that the senate amendments be non-concurred in. Objected to. The bill was referred to a committee of the whole. The house then went into a committee of the whole, Mr. Lester in the chair, on the sundry civil appropriation bill. The only action of importance was the decrease of the appropriation for the Alaska boundary survey from $35,000 to $10,000. Pending further discussion the house adjourned and a democratic caucus was announced for 8 o'clock Tuesday evening.

WEDNESDAY—After some routine business, the house on Wednesday went into committee of the whole on the sundry civil appropriation bill. The first subject considered was the appropriation for the government exhibit at the world's Columbian exposition. Mr. Houk, of Ohio, offered an amendment appropriating $100,000 to pay the expense of collecting, preparing and publishing facts and statistics pertaining to the industrial advance of United States citizens of African descent from January 1, 1863, to January 1, 1893, to constitute a part of the government's exhibit. In speaking to this amendment, Mr. Johnson, of Indiana, made reference to the force bill and stating that President Harrison had stood for the measure and was still in favor of it. The allusion to the "force bill" brought a number of democrats to their feet, and Mr. Johnson was deluged with questions. Mr. Johnson replied that the president was in favor of any system of constitutional legislation that would guarantee to the lowliest man of the south the right to cast his vote without fear, favor or intimidation. He was surprised, in view of the appointment of the president, that the imputation should be cast against him, that in the distribution of patronage he had not recognized the colored man. He then cited a list of colored men appointed by President Harrison to important offices. Then there was a scene of great confusion in the hall. Dozens of members were on their feet, raising their voices and crowding into the aisles. In the midst of the confusion, Mr. Johnson's time expired. He resumed the floor, however, and proceeded in vehement language to denounce the treatment of the negro by the democratic party of the southern states and as he was so vehemently contradicted by a number of members from the south the house became a perfect bedlam, the chair being utterly unable to secure the semblance of order or to confine Mr. Johnson's remarks to the question before the house. Several members finally succeeded in making themselves heard, after much effort, and replied to Mr. Johnson in terms as bitter as his own, but with greater dignity. Among these were Messrs. Hooker, of Mississippi; Johnstone, of South Carolina; O'Neill, of Missouri; Stockdale, of Mississippi, and Mr. Cheatham, of North Carolina, the only colored man in the house, regretted that this debate had taken a political turn. It had not been intended that any partisan feeling should be injected. He appealed to the committee to set aside political and race feeling and give this appropriation. He wanted to see the democratic and republican party come together and help the negro and do something for him. (Applause.) This ended the incident. Mr. Bergen's last amendment was withdrawn and the house came back to the pending bill. Mr. Dockery, on behalf of the subcommittee of the committee on appropriations, offered an amendment reducing the salary of the director general of the world's Columbian commission of $8,000, and of the secretary to $3,000. This amendment was vigorously opposed but it was adopted. Mr. Johnstone, of South Carolina, offered an amendment providing that no part of the amount appropriated for the world's Columbian commission shall be available unless the doors of the exposition shall be closed on Sunday. Pending further action the committee rose leaving Mr. Johnson's amendment as amended and Mr. Bland's substitute as amended still undisposed of and the house adjourned.

THURSDAY.—Cheatham of North Carolina, the colored member who poured oil on the troubled waters Wednesday, was recognized in the house Thursday morning to ask consent for the consideration of the bill appropriating $100,000 for the compilation of statistics showing the progress of the colored race from January 1, 1863, to January 1, 1893. Mr. Kilgore, of Texas, objected, and the house went into a committee of the whole, Mr. Lester in the chair, on the sundry civil appropriation bill. The pending question was on the subject of the Sunday closing of the World's fair. Mr. Dockery, of Missouri, offered as a substitute the following: "Provided, that the government exhibit at the World's Columbian exposition shall not be open to the public on Sunday." Adopted. The question then recurred on the original amendment as amended by the substitute, and it was adopted.

THE SENATE.

MONDAY.—In the senate Monday Mr. Voo[illegible] offered a resolution which was laid on the table for the present, discharging the committee on finance from further consideration of the house bill to put wool on the free list and to reduce duties on woolen goods and directing the committee to report the bill back to the senate for its action thereon. The senate bill appropriating $50,000 for an equestrian statue of General Francis Marion, at Columbia, S. C., was taken from the calendar and passed. The calendar was then taken up. Among the bills passed was the following: Referring to the court of claims, the claim of the Citizens' Bank of Louisiana for specie taken from the bank by General Butler, with an amendment excluding the allowance of interest. At 2 o'clock the calendar was laid aside and "unfinished business" taken up, being the senate bill to provide for the punishment of violations of the treaty rights of aliens. Several speeches were made for and against the bill. Pending discussion the senate adjourned.

TUESDAY.—Immediately after opening proceedings in the senate, Tuesday, the calendar was taken up and a large number of bills disposed of. Among those passed were the following: Appropriating $300,000 each for public buildings at Oakland and San Diego, Cal.; senate bill to submit to the court of private land claims the title of William McGarrahan to Rancho Panoche Grande, Cal. This claim arises out of a grant made by Manuel Michelterena, governor of Upper California, to Vicente P. Gomez, in 1844, and purchased by McGarrahan. It has been before congress in one shape or another for many years. The calendar was laid aside at 2 o'clock p. m., and the bill to provide for the punishment of violations of the treaty rights of aliens was taken up, Mr. Morgan continuing his argument in advocacy of the bill. At the close of his argument Mr. Morgan moved, with the assent of the committee on foreign relations, that the bill should go over till next December. Debate on the bill was continued by Messrs. Turpie, Gray, Hiscock, George, Teller and others. The matter finally went over without action. Mr. Pettigrew, from the committee on quadri-centennial reported a joint resolution directing the president to proclaim a general holiday commemorating the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America on October 12, 1892. Placed on the calendar. The senate then adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.—After the morning routine business, Wednesday, the senate took up the resolution offered by Mr. Morgan, on the 31st of March, directing the committee on finance to make an examination and report in relation to currency and coinage, and as to the effect of the act of July, 1890, on the price of silver bullion. Mr. Morgan called for the yeas and nays on the adoption of the resolution. Mr. Morrill moved the reference of the resolution to the finance committee. The motion was defeated—yeas, 17; nays, 28. Mr. Vilas called for a division of the question—the resolution containing several distinct propositions—and Mr. Morgan modified the resolution by adding a new paragraph instructing the finance committee to report a supplementary act providing for the coinage of gold and silver bullion on equal terms as to each metal, and authorizing depositors of gold or silver bullion to receive coin certificates for it at its mint value. Mr. Stewart reinforced Mr. Morgan with a straightout free silver coinage speech. At 2 o'clock, as the regular order, the bill to punish violation of treaty rights of aliens was taken up, despite Mr. Morgan's protest, and he gave notice that he would move to take up his resolution again at the conclusion of the speech of Mr. Gray, who had the floor to debate the alien bill. Mr. Morgan replied to Mr. Gray's argument, and had not completed his argument when the senate adjourned.

THURSDAY.—At the opening of its session Thursday morning Senator Stewart caught the senate napping, and made a motion to take up the pending free coinage bill. Before the senators actually realized what the motion was the clerk was calling the roll. Then there was a stampede from the chamber by the senators who feared the issue. Senator Hill was one of those who declined to commit himself by a vote. Mr. Stewart's resolution passed by a vote of twenty-eight to twenty. This vote probably represents the sentiment of the senate on the question. The debate then commenced on the bill, and went on until adjournment. The principal speech of the day was delivered by Senator Morgan, of Alabama, who declared that if both parties nominated candidates for president who were opposed to free coinage, the great mass of the people of the country who were in favor of the free coinage of silver, would have but little preference for one over the other. The inference drawn from his remarks was that thousands of people, who want financial relief, would be forced to join the third party. Pending the debate the senate adjourned.

NOTES.

The president, on Thursday, issued a proclamation promulgating a reciprocity treaty with Austria-Hungary. Its terms are similar to those in force with Germany, Italy and Switzerland.

There was a desultory discussion upon the general subject of tariff legislation by the senate finance committee Tuesday, but no effort was made to secure action upon any of the house tariff bills that are now on the calendar of the committee. It appears that there is no probability of an early report by the committee upon these measures.

Mr. Mitchell, from the committee on privileges and elections, on Tuesday, reported to the senate a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senators by the popular vote. He said that the members of the committee were divided on the subject and would make separate reports. The joint resolution was placed on the calendar.

Representative Livingston, of Georgia, has made a request of the committee on rules to set aside one or two days for the consideration of the sub treasury bill by the house. It will be granted. There is a disposition among all the members of the house to bring the matter up and dispose of it finally. When it does come up, there can be no trimming. Members will have to show their hands as being squarely for or against it.

The silver senators feel quite jubilant over their victory, which was brought about by the adoption of Mr. Stewart's motion to take up the pending free coinage bill in the senate Thursday, and they declare a free coinage bill will be passed by the senate. In that event, the bill will be sent to the house, and that body will take it up for consideration. If the senate passes it, the house will have to do likewise, and the bill will then go to the president and place him in the embarrassing position of either having to sign or veto it.

The Unexpended Balance.

The unexpended balance of public moneys now in the hands of disbursing officers is $68,456,949. Secretary Foster regards this as largely exceeding the actual requirements of the service, especially in view of the fact that the cash balance of the treasury, including national bank deposits and subsidiary and minor coin, has fallen to $82,946,285. To remedy this state of affairs, he issued a circular Thursday to disbursing officers, instructing them to cover into the treasury at the end of the current fiscal year all money advanced to them from appropriations pertaining to the year 1891 and of prior years, remaining unexpended at that date; also to cover into the treasury, at the end of the first quarter of the next fiscal year, all unexpended balances remaining to their credit from appropriations of 1892, to check, on and after July 1, 1892, against any balances standing to their official credit in payment of public dues without regard to appropriations, and to make requisitions for such funds only as may be necessary for the prompt fulfillment of public engagements, as the same may arise from month to month. Disbursing officials are required to settle accounts monthly instead of quarterly. At the present, the effect of this order will be to retain more money available for the current wants of the treasury.

The state executive committee of the prohibition party of Alabama met in Birmingham Thursday and called a state convention to meet there July 4th next. The object of the convention is to provide for an organized movement in the presidential campaign.

A Baton Rouge, La., dispatch of Thursday says that a deadlock has occurred in the senatorial contest. The ballot for United States senator was: Jones, 45; Adams, 24; Gibson, 21; Caffrey, 19; Blanchard, 18; Burgess, 5. No election.

The bark Nevado was libeled at Savannah Thursday by a Brazilian firm on a large claim. The Nevado left Brazil in January with a cargo of salt worth $14,000. Arriving here the mate sold the entire cargo for $120. The bark may be sold to satisfy the claim.

A special of Monday night says a cyclone swept through Bertie county, N. C., wrecking all the houses on Wiley Askew's farm. It leveled the trees on William Pritchard's place. Some of these fell on his house and crushed it, killing one of his children instantly and breaking the other's back.

A Mobile telegram of Monday says: Twenty-eight mules of the Mobile Street Railway Company, affected with glanders, have been isolated and eight killed. Seven more have since taken the disease and will probably be killed at once. It may be necessary to isolate all the well mules, and if so traffic on the street railway will stop.

A Baltimore telegram of Tuesday states that Colonel Charles Marshall, who served on General Robert E. Lee's staff during the late war, has been invited by the U. S. Grant post, Grand Army of the Republic, of Brooklyn, to deliver an oration at the Memorial Day exercises at Grant's tomb. Colonel Marshall has accepted.

Advices of Thursday from New Orleans state that the street car drivers' strike continues. Cars can only be run under a heavy guard of policemen. The strikers are blockading the tracks, removing rails and in other ways hampering the running of cars. An effort is being made to arbitrate the difference between the strikers and companies, but so far little has been accomplished.

John Coleman, of Louisville, Ky., entered a general creditor's suit in the United States court at Knoxville Thursday to have a receiver appointed for the Morristown and Cumberland Gap railroad. Coleman was a subcontractor under Allison, Shafer & Co., in the construction of the road, which runs from Morristown in Hamblen county, to Corryton, in Grainger county. Coleman's claim amounts to $16,790 90.

A Memphis dispatch of Tuesday says: Crenshaw county, Missouri, is a scene of desolation. Three-fourths of the county is now under water, and assistance is urgently needed at several points in the county between Benfort Lake and Parragould on the Arkansas side. Three families have been drowned. It is estimated that 300 horses and mules and 2,000 head of cattle have been drowned and that 700,000 acres of cultivated farms are under water between Memphis and Cairo.

FOR MORE PENSION MONEY

Commissioner Raum Makes an Appeal to the Appropriation Committee.

A Washington dispatch of Thursday says: Commissioner Raum has asked the appropriation committee of the house for a deficiency appropriation of $7,000,000 on account of pension payments for the balance of the fiscal year. He said that he had $12,000,000 on hand and would need $26,000,000 for the two remaining months of the present fiscal year. When last before the committee Commissioner Raum estimated that all of the present appropriation would not be expended during the current fiscal year. The committee was not satisfied with the estimates submitted by the commissioner and will appoint a sub-committee to confer with him.

If you ask that consumptive fiction, the Man in the Street, what sort of plant a cactus is, he will probably tell you it is all leaf and no stem, and each of the leaves grows out of the last one. Whenever we set up the Man in the Street, however, you must have noticed we do it in order to knock him down again like a ninepin the next moment, and this particular instance is no exception to the rule; for the truth is that a cactus is practically all stem and no leaves, what looks like a leaf being really a branch sticking out at an angle. The true leaves, if there are any, are reduced to mere spines or prickles on the surface, while the branches in the prickly pear and many of the ornamental hothouse cactuses are flattened out like a leaf to perform foliar functions.—Grant Allen in Popular Science Monthly.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

PROCEEDINGS FROM DAY TO DAY BRIEFLY TOLD—BILLS AND MEASURES UNDER CONSIDERATION—OTHER NOTES.

THE HOUSE.

TUESDAY.—After routine business Tuesday morning, the house went into a committee of the whole (Buchanan, of Iowa, in the chair) on the postoffice appropriation bill. The house had to adjourn early however, because of the absence of a quorum. Over 130 men were at home looking after fences or frolicking about the country. The house thereupon issued an order revoking all leaves of absence. An attempt was made to add to the postoffice appropriation bill $300,000 for the delivery of mails but owing to the absence of a quorum it was not voted upon.

WEDNESDAY.—The interest in the fast approaching national conventions and speculation as to the candidates which the two great parties will present for the suffrages of the people have a very dampening effect upon the business of the house. The attendance Wednesday morning was small, attention listless and a few private bills were passed without opposition. The census investigating committee obtained leave to sit during sessions of the house. Mr. Oates, of Alabama, submitted the report of the committee on judiciary in the case of Judge Boarman, of Louisiana, and it was ordered printed and laid on the table. Mr. Whiting, of Michigan, from the committee on ways and means, reported the bill limiting the amount of wearing apparel and personal effects that may be admitted free of duty. Placed on the calendar. The house then went into committee of the whole, Mr. Buchanan, of Virginia, in the chair, on the postoffice appropriation bill. The pending question was on the motion of Mr. Caldwell, of Ohio, increasing by $300,000 the appropriation for the free delivery service. Lost—24 to 144. Almost the whole day was consumed in the discussion of points of order. No material change was made in the postoffice appropriation bill, and but one page of the measure was disposed of. Mr. Lanham, of Texas, offered an amendment providing that the appropriation for free delivery shall be disbursed in such manner that no additional free delivery offices shall be established in any congressional district in which there may be established one or more free delivery offices, nor shall the free delivery facilities be increased in said offices until each congressional district possessing the necessary qualifications shall have been supplied with at least one free delivery office. The amendment reduces the appropriation $1,000 in order to escape the restriction of the rule that no new legislation shall be in order unless it reduces the expenditures. After a good deal of opposition and exhausting all parliamentary tactics against it, this amendment was adopted—114 to 53—and it was the only one adopted during the day. Pending further action on the bill, the committee rose and the house adjourned.

THURSDAY.—In the house Thursday morning Mr. Hatch reported the agricultural appropriation bill. It was ordered printed and recommitted. About one dozen leaves of absence were granted, principally to republicans, the cause assigned being "important business." Mr. Goodnight, of Kentucky, from the committee on judiciary, reported a resolution calling for information as to the status of business before the court of claims. Adopted. The house then went into committee of the whole, Mr. Buchanan in the chair, on the postoffice appropriation bill. No other amendment was acted upon, the committee rose and Mr. Hooker, of Mississippi, asked unanimous consent for the consideration of a joint resolution appropriating $30,000 for the relief of flood sufferers in Warren and Jefferson counties, Mississippi. Mr. Long, of Texas, objected. The house then adjourned.

THE SENATE.

TUESDAY.—There was a very small attendance of senators at the opening session of the senate Tuesday morning. The vice president was absent and Mr. Manderson took the chair as president pro tem. At 2 o'clock the calendar was laid aside and the bill to provide for the free coinage of gold and silver was taken up. Mr. Sherman addressed the senate, prefacing his speech on the silver bill by saying that he did not regard it as a partisan measure, or as a political measure, on which the parties were likely to divide. It was largely a local measure. There was no question to be compared with it in the importance of its effect on the business interests of the country. He representing a state nearly central in population, had tested the sense of the people of Ohio and they, he believed, were, by a large majority, not only in the republican party but in the democratic party, opposed to the free coinage of silver. They believed that it would degrade the body of currency, reduce its purchasing power one-third, destroy the bimetallic system of the country and reduce the country to the single monetary standard of silver, measured at the rate of 371 grains to the dollar. He went on to defend the financial action of the republican party and his own part in it. During the two and a half hours that Mr. Sherman spoke, but few senators left the chamber. The senator commanded close attention of his hearers. He had not finished his argument when the hour of adjournment came.

WEDNESDAY.—In the senate Wednesday the credentials of General Eppa Hunton, recently appointed by the governor of Virginia to the office made vacant by the death of Senator Barbour, were presented by the other senator from that state, Mr. Daniel, and when they were read at the clerk's office, the presiding officer, Mr. Manderson, invited Mr. Hunton to advance and take the oath. Subsequently Mr. Hunton was appointed to the committee on claims in place of Mr. Faulkner, excused, and Mr. Faulkner appointed to the committee on immigration in place of Daniel, excused. Mr. Hale, from the committe on appropriations, reported back the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill with amendments and gave notice that he would call it up at a very early day. The senate joint resolution, authorizing and directing the president to proclaim a general holiday commemorating the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America on the 12th of October, 1892, was taken from the calendar and passed. Among other bills upon the calendar taken up for action was the house bill to regulate the manner in which property shall be sold under orders and decree of any United States court. Considerable discussion was had on the bill, and Mr. Morgan moved to proceed to its consideration, notwithstanding objection. A vote was taken and there were yeas 25, nays 12—no quorum. The roll of the senate having been called, forty-seven senators, more than a quorum, responded to their names, and as the vote was about being taken for the second time, Mr. Allison suggested that before the vote could be finished the hour of 2 o'clock would have arrived, when the calendar would have to be laid aside. The bill was then laid aside without prejudice, under rule 8. At 2 o'clock the calendar was laid aside and the bill to provide for the free coinage of gold and silver was taken up, and Mr. Sherman continued his argument begun Tuesday against the bill. He spoke for an hour with the same force and earnestness that he had displayed the day before. At the conclusion of Mr. Sherman's speech, Mr. Aldrich suggested that in view of the fact that many senators would be absent from Washington for some time to come, that by unanimous consent debate on the silver bill might continue, but that no vote upon the bill or amendment should be taken until after the 14th of June. After some colloquy and with the understanding that the bill should retain its place as unfinished business, the proposition was agreed to. Mr. Stewart then took the floor to reply to Mr. Sherman's argument against the bill. He held the floor until half-past 4 o'clock, when, without finishing his speech, he gave way to the motion to adjourn.

THURSDAY.—There was an unusually small attendance of senators present when Thursday morning's session began. Although the exodus to Minneapolis was exclusively from the republican side of the chamber, the democratic side made the smallest showing in point of number—there being only six senators present on that side. The silver bill senators were almost all at their posts. Mr. Sherman was in his seat, and so was Mr. Allison, on whose motion the senate agreed to adjourn till Monday. The resolution offered Wednesday by Mr. Turpie, calling for the correspondence with Hayti, Colombia and Venezuela, in regard to reciprocity, was taken up, and Mr. Turpie addressed the senate upon it. The only other feature of the senate proceedings was Mr. Stewart's speech—continued from Wednesday—in favor of the free coinage of silver, in the near existence of which he declared himself a firm believer. The senate, at the close of Mr. Stewart's speech, provided for an investigation of recent national bank failures, held an executive session and then took a holiday until Monday.

NOTES.

The house committee on elections Tuesday, decided, by a strictly party vote of 7 to 2, to report in favor of the democratic sitting member, Turpin, in the contested election case of McDuffie vs. Turpin, from Alabama.

Col. Polk, president of the Farmers' Alliance, has come out in a card in the third-party organ at Washington declaring for the the Third-party, and stating that his paper in North Carolina will be for it hereafter.

Senator Turpie, of Indiana, introduced in the senate Thursday the memorial adopted in Atlanta on May 9, 1892, by the Woman's Mission Union, an auxiliary of the Southern Baptist convention, protesting against the opening of the world's fair on Sunday.

The silver debate opened in earnest in the senate Tuesday. Senator Sherman consumed all the afternoon in an argument against free coinage. The silver senators polled the senate, and Senator Teller expressed the opinion that it would be out of the question to force the anti-silver senators to a vote until after the Minneapolis convention. Thus the silver question can play no part in that convention.

The Agricultural Bill.

The agricultural appropriation bill, as reported to the house Thursday contains a clause that will do away with a grievance which the tobacco and cotton growing people have had against Secretary Rusk's department. The statistician of the department, M. Dodge, has been in the habit in his reports of not giving facts and figures, but of commenting upon and interpreting them this way or that. This grievance has at times arisen to the proportions of a scandal. The bill as reported prohibits Mr. Dodge from injecting his phantasies into his reports. He is to tell the facts and quote the figures and let those interested do the rest as best suits them.

The Postoffice Bill.

The house finished general debate on the postoffice bill Saturday. There will be two contests during the discussion of this bill by sections. One for free delivery of mails in the country, and the other to pay all railroads the same for carrying mails. The majority of the members of the house favor the rural delivery of mails, and the fight for such will be earnest. The only question is that of expense. While, perhaps, this house will fear to do the whole thing at once, the experiments will be extended, and the chances are we will have free delivery everywhere very soon. There is a clause in the bill to pay land grant roads but 50 per cent of the amount paid other roads for carrying mails. As it costs the land grant roads just as much as it does others to carry mails, this reduction of their compensation is considered unfair, and a strong fight will be made to amend the bill as reported from the committee, and place all the railroads on the same footing. It is also possible that an effort will be made to pay the Richmond and Danville the same compensation for its fast service to the south as that paid the Atlantic coast line. It is considered by all the southern members as only right and proper that the two systems should be paid on the same basis, especially as the Richmond and Danville mail service is quicker and superior in every way to the other.

THE MAURITIUS HORROR.

Over a Thousand People Were Killed in the Tornado.

A cable dispatch of Tuesday from Marseilles, France, says: Mails which have just arrived from Mauritius confirm the statement that 1,200 persons were killed and 4,000 injured in the recent hurricane. The hurricane was preceded by a violent magnetic disturbance. The sea rose nine feet, the highest level since the cyclone of 1818. Scarcely a house in the colony escaped damage. Many churches and public buildings were destroyed. The fine church of the Immaculate Conception is in ruins. The cathedral, however, by a strange chance, escaped. The dead include a large number of leading inhabitants. Fearful sights were witnessed in the streets. One factory collapsed, killing 200 inmates. One-half of the sugar crop was destroyed. The planters' losses are incalculable. A special relief loan of $60,000 will be obtained from the imperial government to be repaid in twenty-five years.

BIG DAY IN ROCHESTER.

Harrison and Blower Make Speeches—250,000 People Present.

Monday will ever be a memorable day in the history of Rochester, N. Y. Never before has the city been so crowded and never before has it entertained such distinguished company. Public and private business was suspended and everybody took a holiday. It is estimated that fully 250,000 people took an active part in the various demonstrations. Of this number fully 100,000 came from the surrounding country. The president was enthusiastically received everywhere and was compelled to bow his acknowledgements to almost continuous cheering. The weather was bright and fair. The feature of the day was the dedication of the handsome monument in Washington square in honor of the soldiers and sailors of Monroe county who died in defense of their country. Speeches were made by President Harrison and Governor Flower.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Happenings of the Day Culled from Our Telegraphic and Cable Dispatches.

WHAT IS TRANSPIRING THROUGHOUT OUR OWN COUNTRY, AND NOTES OF INTEREST FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

Kingan & Co's. packing house at Kansas City, was destroyed by fire Tuesday night. The plant was valued at $1,000,000.

Fire Wednesday morning at Cogville City, Ore., destroyed three-fourths of the business portion of the town. The loss is $100,000, partially insured.

John Simpson, dry goods dealer, New York made an assignment Tuesday for the benefit of his creditors. There are preferences amounting to $12,000.

The colored people of Washington city observed Tuesday as a day of fasting and prayer because, they state, "of the outrages inflicted upon their race in the southern states."

A Vienna cablegram states that the town of Ulianowa, in Galicia, was visited by a disastrous fire Wednesday. Two hundred houses were destroyed, and two persons were burned to death.

Ex-President Cleveland and family left New York Wednesday for their summer residence at Buzzards Bay, where they expect to find rest and recreation during the heated season.

Another great storm passed over Indianapolis Tuesday and a tremendous amount of water fell. A number of streets were submerged. The water is over the first floor of many houses. The damage will be great.

Official advices have been received from Yemen to the effect that the recent uprising in that district ended in the submission of the revolting tribe, numbering 60,000. The chiefs of the tribe sent their eldest sons as hostages to the Turkish authorities.

Wednesday morning work was resumed in the mills and factories of the Oxford Iron and Nail factory at Oxford, N. J. The works have been idle for six months. The puddlers have agreed to make seven heats. Some of the strikers threaten to prevent the men from working.

Floods in the vicinity of Indianapolis caused by the heavy rains of Tuesday have caused the loss of at least three lives. Carl Weaver, aged nine years, and John Henderson and his six-year-old son were drowned. It still rains, and the creeks and rivers are still rising.

Advices of Wednesday from Guthrie, Oklahoma, state that heavy rains have again caused the streams to rise rapidly, and much damage has been done. It is reported that a man, woman and three children were swept away and drowned while fording the Canadian river.

The Minneapolis Tribune is taking a postal card vote of the delegates to the national convention as to their preferences for president. Up to Tuesday night 283 replies had been received, divided as follows: Harrison, 180; Blaine, 88; non committal 54, and 10 scattering.

A dispatch of Thursday from Guthrie, Oklahoma, says: In the country hail as large as hen's eggs fell for some time during Monday's storm, breaking windows, destroying vegetation and killing live stock. The little town of Carney was almost completely wiped out. Nobody was injured, however.

At Little Rock, Ark., the family of C. L. Wolen, consisting of his wife, five children and ten boarders were taken violently ill shortly after breakfast Tuesday morning. The five physicians in attendance say that one third will die. All are very critically ill, caused by poison administered in the food, how and by whom is unknown.

The purser of the steamer Miranda, which arrived at New York Wednesday morning from Central American ports, reports that a revolution has broken out at Puerto Cortez, Honduras. General Borneo, with an armed force from Guatemala, attacked the city and captured it after a fight with much loss of life and damage to property.

The prohibition state convention of Minnesota met at Minneapolis Thursday and named the following state ticket: Governor, W. J. Dean, of Minneapolis; lieutenant governor, Ole Kion, of Douglass county; state auditor, B. T. Raine, of Filmore county; state treasurer, R. H. Evans, of Lyons county; secretary of state, Prof. M. R. Baker.

According to a Washington dispatch eight European governments have accepted the president's invitation to participate in the monetary conference, and there is no longer any doubt of such a meeting. The president will communicate with congress on the subject in a few days and will probably transmit the correspondence.

A committee representing New York, Philadelphia and London capitalists has submitted a new plan of reorganization for the Marietta and North Georgia railroad. The plan provides for the issue of new first mortgage fifty year 5 per cent bonds for $3,500,000, a second 5 per cent mortgage for $4,000,000 (interest to 1897 payable in incomes), income bonds for $1,500,000 and $11,500,000 of stock, of which $3,500,000 is preferred. The proceeds from the sale of $2,600,000 of the firsts will be used to retire the $1,389,000 prior lien bonds of 1881, to settle receiver's debts and provide for betterments and improvements.

The platform which was adopted at Madison, Wis., Thursday by the prohibitionists, besides demanding prohibition, declares for an ample circulating medium issued by the government; education in the English language under the supervision of the state; government control of railroads and telegraph; educational qualifications for voters and an improved system of highways. A full state ticket was nominated.

A destructive fire broke out at Moscow, Russia, which threatened for a time to sweep through the city. The fire department found it impossible to subdue the flames and save the property attacked, so it was decided to endeavor to confine the conflagration and hasten the destruction by burning. [illegible] fire had burned itself out, three streets, containing sixty houses were in ruins.

FOURTEEN DEAD BODIES

Taken from a Burning Silver Mine in Bohemia.

Cable dispatches from Prague brings news of an appalling accident which occurred Wednesday at the famous Barksberg silver mine near Pernibram, in Bohemia. The timbers for supporting the roof of the mine and for other purposes caught fire and the flames spread from one part of the workings to another until the whole of the mine was a mass of fire. The escape of the men working in the mine was cut off, and, though it is not known how many were killed, it is known the list of dead will be large. After a long struggle the fire was extinguished and volunteers went down into the mine to rescue any one who might have lived through the fire. The galleries, etc., were found to be badly obstructed with charred timbers and much difficulty was found in making progress in any way from the shaft. The rescuing party found no trace of life, but they found twelve bodies, which were sent to the surface.

Later dispatches state that at the time 500 men were working in the mine. All but forty succeeded in making their escape. Fourteen bodies have been recovered. Many others seriously injured were brought to the surface.

FLOCKING TO MINNEAPOLIS.

Great Preparations for the Republican National Convention.

A dispatch of Thursday from Minneapolis, says: The contest for the republican presidential nomination has fairly begun, and the two factions of the party are vigilant and aggressive, and the dividing lines are clearly drawn. Nearly a hundred politicians of more or less prominence from all parts of the country are now on the ground, and the Harrison and Blaine people have so far acknowledged the probabilities of the contest as to engage rival headquarters at the leading hotel. J. S. Clarkson, chairman of the national committee, is recognized as the leader of the Blaine forces, and John C. New, of Indianapolis, is in charge of Harrison's headquarters. Mr. New has authoritatively announced that Harrison would be placed in nomination by Chauncey M. Depew, and that R. W. Thompson, ex-secretary of the navy, would second the nomination on behalf of the state of Indiana. Governor McKinley, of Ohio, is the candidate of the Harrison delegates for permanent chairman of the convention.

NURSERYMEN MEET.

An Enthusiastic Convention Held in Atlanta.

The American Association of Nurserymen met in the house of representatives at Atlanta Wednesday, and, after the usual addresses of welcome and the usual response, went at once into the discussion of nursery questions. In the absence of the president, Mr. J. Van Lindley, of North Caroline, Colonel N. H. Albaugh, of Tadmore, O., presided. The convention is a fine body of men, representing all parts of the country, from New England to California. One of them, Mr. Fell, is from England. Others were from Canada and the northwest, and a great many were from the middle states. The president, Colonel N. H. Albaugh, is the president of the Albaugh-Georgia Company, which has [illegible]

FLORIDA'S STATE CONVENTION

The Florida state democratic convention assembled at Tampa at noon Wednesday. After a two hours' session forming a temporary organization it adjourned to 8 o'clock p.m. After a ten minutes' session in the evening it adjourned till Thursday. The convention has developed into a "Call" and "anti-Call" fight, and it will be a war of the giants, for all factions are fiercely in earnest and propose to beat if in their power, no matter at what cost. The "antis" came out ahead in the temporary organization. The session was hot and stormy. St Clair Abrams, Hon. B. P. Calhoune and others fiercely denounce the state executive committee for its unheard-of and impertinent interference in thus packing the convention with its adherents. The delegates are hot-headed and serious personal collisons have only been averted by some of the cooler heads in the delegation.

SECOND DAY.—It developed on the second day of the session that the Farmers' Alliance had captured the convention; that is, the alliance delegates, elected as democrats, had measured their strength, found that they numbered nearly 160. They held the balance of power. When the committee on credentials was chosen Wednesday, the Anti-Mitchell men were jubilant, for they figured it out that their side had a majority of the committee, about 22 to 20. This meant, they said, the seating of all the contesting delegations from Duval, Polk and Washington counties, thus adding 38 votes to the anti-Mitchell column, and assuring the defeat of the judge, but they had not figured on the alliancemen who had places on the credentials committee. They were evidently under some obligation to somebody, which it was not easy to determine. When the committee took an informal ballot Thursday morning on the Duval county contest it stood 24 in favor of the Mitchell delegation and 18 against. This was a surprise to everybody outside of the committee. The alliancemen had undoubtedly done the business. It is now said that a secret deal was made whereby the Mitchell men, in exchange for the alliance votes, bound themselves to stand solidly with the alliance delegates for an endorsement of the "Ocala demands" and the St. Louis platform

ALLIANCE PRESIDENT POLK

Withdraws His Paper as the Official Organ in North Carolina.

A Washington dispatch of Wednesday says: President Polk, of the Alliance, has decided that if his paper, The Progressive Farmer, of North Carolina, cannot serve both the alliance and the third party, it will serve the third party. This paper is the official organ of the North Carolina alliance. For some time it has contained too much third party doctrine to suit the non-partisan alliancemen. Representative Alexander, chairman of the state alliance executive committee, officially protested against the paper's course, whereupon President Polk resigned as the paper, the official organship of the alliance.

COALITION IN KANSAS

Between Democrats and the Third Party People.

A joint meeting of the democratic and people's party of Kansas was held at Kansas City Wednesday. The meeting decided that it would be well for the democratic and people's party to form a coalition against the republicans in the coming elections. The meeting went into secret session at 11 o'clock, and did not adjourn till 5 o'clock in the afternoon. During the intervening hours, the whole matter of fusion was thoroughly discussed, and a resolution was adopted giving the sense of the meeting as in favor of fusion. The resolution is kept secret, for some reason unknown, but will be divulged in a few days.

THE LAST ROBBER CAUGHT

Who Held Up a Florida Train and Murdered the Messenger.

For two or three days officers of the Southern Express Company, with three sheriffs and armed posse with bloodhounds, have been scouring the country penetrated by railroads leading out of Palatka for Bob Floyd, the fourth one of the train robbers who killed Messenger Saunders at Monroe Junction, on the morning of May 21st.

Late Saturday night a special from Gainesville, Fla., says: Bob Floyd is now here. He was captured by Sheriff Fennell and his posse at Jonesville, at 10:15 o'clock Saturday night. He was taken at the house of a Mr. Benefield, for whom he had worked two years ago, when he first came to the state. The posse surrounded Benefield's house and Floyd surrendered without any trouble.

FLOYD'S STORY.

Floyd is a slight, boyish-looking lad, and told his story frankly and freely, and impressed all who heard him as being a simple country boy, led by evil companions and whisky into the commission of crime. He has made a confession, giving all the facts in the case. His account of the planning of the attempted robbery tallies very closely with the confession of Finch, who is in the Orlando jail, and with the published newspaper stories.

Without doubt, this is the most remarkable case in the history of train robberies. Within eight days from the "hold up" and murder all implicated in this crime are either captured or killed. The Southern Express Company has pushed the investigation most vigorously from the start, and has spent a large sum of money in prosecuting the search. The sheriffs of Orange, Volusia, Putnam, Clay, Hamilton and Alachua counties have all done excellent work, and at least 2,000, in all, have from time to time been under arms in various posses at scores of points.

The Debt Statement.

The debt statement for May shows a decrease in the cash balance in the treasury during the month of $5,512,378, the net cash balance being $86,005,880; aggregate of the debt, including certificates and treasury notes, $1,603,440,970; total cash in the treasury, $795,800,598; gold certificates outstanding, $171,765,729; silver certificates outstanding, $380,904,003; currency certificates outstanding, $84,020,000; treasury notes of 1890 outstanding, $97,391,986.

Texas Towns Inundated.

A Denison, Texas, dispatch of Wednesday says: For twenty-four hours it has rained uninterruptedly. The storm was the most violent of the year. The whole country is overflowed. A number of bridges are reported carried away by the flood. The damage to crops is very great. Trains are delayed by a number of washouts. Similar reports of flood damage come from Gainesville and Greenville.

Nicaragua Canal Convention.

Delegates from twenty-five or more states and various commercial bodies of the union gathered at St. Louis Thursday morning to open the first session of the Nicaragua canal convention inaugurated by the business men of California. Ex-Governor E. O. Standard, of St. Louis, was chosen presiding officer. Governor Francis, of Missouri, welcomed the guests.

Colored G. A. R. Men.

The first parade ever seen in Charleston, S. C., of a colored Grand Army post was witnessed on the streets of the city Tuesday. It was James C. The post turned out about thirty men in uniform and was escorted by a detachment of colored troops.

Atkins' Patent Concave Tooth Dexter.

NATURE'S PRINCIPLE FOR THE WOODS OF THE SOUTH IT HAS NO EQUAL.

The patent by which this saw is protected consists of a depression of the face of the cutting teeth through the center from point to base, thus removing all friction while in use, giving strength and stiffness to the teeth and increasing them full the durability of the "tooth." WE CHALLENGE THE WORLD to produce a saw equalling this ATKINS PATENT CUTTING DEXTER.

The Memphis Commercial puts it this way: "The delegates to the South Carolina Democratic Convention met the other day and denounced Grover Cleveland as a liar, a horse thief, meanwhile flapping their ears to keep off the flies."

The Democratic State Convention met in Montgomery yesterday. It is to be hoped that any serious trouble may not materialize. The re-nomination of the Governor is assured. What it may lead to is not so certain. A great many of the Governor's friends and followers would be glad to see Mr. Kolb run as an Independent as that would result in his political death. That Governor Jones will be elected there can be no doubt.

Macon News: Editor James R. Randall, of the Augusta Herald, has written an able editorial showing that the reason Congress cannot make any notable retrenchments is the presence of an ever-growing iniquitious pension system. Until this is abolished the South will continue to bear the brunt of the battle and her resources will be squandered in feathering the nests of northern soldiers (?) who don't know the smell of gun-powder.

"Just let me ask a question there," said a level headed farmer the other day to a third party man who was talking about the corruption of the two old parties and the necessity of forming a new one, "where are you going to get your members for your new party?" "From the two old parties, of course," was the answer. "But how are you going to make a good thing out of two old rotten things?" was next asked. It was a stunner and has not yet been answered.—Newton Enterprise.

Mr. Kolb in his threats to run for Governor of Alabama, complains that the election methods in Alabama have been against him. Others charge that when Mr. Kolb calls the black belt methods in question he will incriminate himself, as he has often boasted of his work in that line. Yet there is a growing demand for a change of our present election law. It was a law framed more in desperation than wisdom. The law in Mississippi is preferrable. Under the Mississippi law every voter is required to read and give a reasonable interpretation of any part of the State Constitution, and under that requirement only one negro in ten is a qualified voter. Alabama needs such a law for the protection of the good name of the State and for the salvation of the black belt counties.

The article from the Memphis Commercial concerning the lynching of negro rapists and reprinted in another column expresses the sentiments of every respectable white person in the South. There is another reason than that given by the Commercial why these fouldevils are strung up as soon as caught and that is that the jails of the country do not always hold them until they can be tried and when one escapes another victim of his devilish lust will be shortly added to the list. Negro preachers over the country instead of praying to the Almighty against the frequent lynchings in the south for this crime should impress upon their congregations that the penalty for its commission is quick and certain death.

In editorial ability the Commercial stands among the newspapers of the country like Saul among the children of Kish, a head and shoulders above its brethren. The next paper in this particular is the St. Louis Republic, edited by Col. Chas. H. Jones, a Georgian. These two papers take the same advanced position on this question, and are in striking contrast to the puzzle-minous Alabama journal that advocates hanging the leaders of the mob in Tennessee while at the distance of two hundred miles from the Tennessee line. This latter class of newspapers have yet to realize as does the Commercial that a black rape fiend is hardly less dangerous to the community at large than a rabid dog and in a civilized section will be treated with no more consideration. The crime has reached that stage in the south.

Now here comes the Alliance News from Guntersville. It has been an advocate of Kolb all the while, and has worked for him, and is still working for him; it seeks to keep him on the best basis possible. The question now is will Captain Kolb take the advice of the advocate and do as he is told? Here is what it has to say to him:

"Capt. R. F. Kolb formulated his own plans, made his own issues and went before the democratic party of Alabama for governor. Believing him to be a true democrat and knowing that every individual in the party had the right to vote for whom he saw fit, we have given him our support from the beginning. We have lost faith in the democracy of Capt. Kolb, and we do not believe that he will abandon principles for which he has been fighting for years. We cannot think that he would entertain for a moment the idea of bolting a convention or running on an independent ticket. But there is one thing that we do believe, and we are satisfied that the best men in the Alliance, who belong to the democratic party, will sustain us in this belief. After Capt. Kolb made his own issue, and went before the people and was repudiated in his own county and his own beat by an overwhelming majority we think that he should have withdrawn from the race. It is like rowing against the wind for us to support a candidate when his own neighbors snow him under and say, "we will not have him rule over us." It is to be hoped that he will consider the matter calmly and dispassionately and withdraw from the race."

The South and its Slanderers.

The Commercial has been unsparing in its condemnation of lynchings whether perpetrated upon a negro or a white man; but we have made an exception in one case—that of rape. We do not undertake to justify the action of a mob in taking the life of a citizen in this case; but we confess we share the general sentiment that there is small cause for lamentation when a black fiend pays the penalty of his brutal crime without the intervention of Judge or jury. There is something revolting in the thought of forcing a pure and innocent girl to appear in a crowded court room to be the feast of vulgar eyes and repeat the horrible details of the story of her debauchery. This is the state of public opinion in the South and those who choose to characterize it as barbarous may have what pleasure they can find in the use of such terms. The people of the South have long since ceased to care for the criticisms of puritanical Pecksniffs who know nothing of and care nothing for the conditions with which the southern whites have to deal. The South does not want the praise and does not care for the curses of all the hypocrites in puritandom. All the undamned pharisees of the northern Methodist church may rave themselves hoarse, but the negro scoundrel who violates a white woman will get his neck stretched just the same. Our civilization may not have reached that high state which can contemplate the debauching of white women with equanimity and be shocked into fits by the hanging of a negro rapist.—Memphis Commercial.

Talmage says that in the sight of the Creator "This world is a rosebud, and the oceans are drops of dew hanging upon it." No grander thought was ever uttered. It suggests at once the omnipotence of God, who looks upon this world as a gardener looks upon one rosebud in a vast garden of roses, and it suggests also the beauty of this world.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Fudge! This is merely a characteristic piece of Talmagian fustian. The figure is about as wretched as the worst of Talmage's tawdry and bedizened rhetoric. The world may be compared to a rosebud if Mr. Talmage likes, but just why it should be thought grand to compare the ocean to drops of morning due hanging on the said bud is something which our conceptions of the sublime and the beautiful are not able to understand. Mr. Talmage loses all sense of proportion when he starts out to construct one of his shimmering similies, and general falls at least one step below the sublime.—Memphis Commercial.

The stuff from the Age-Herald has been catching adverse criticism from all sides. It is not easy to understand why the A.-H. should have been snapped up by so many on this particular squib, as that paper contains a similar quality of matter every day. It is also common with Talmage.

GET DELEGATES.

The Word Sent to a "Man of Tether Hue"—He's a Democrat.

Since Capt. Kolb has sent out his circular saying, "come and bring all my sympathizers" he is being eyed a little by the ones who have been ready to vote for him as long as they could have any ground to call him a democrat. The following is taken from the correspondence of the Advertiser from Roanoke, Randolph county, Ala.

"The circular letter of R. F. Kolb that appeared several days ago was no great surprise to many democrats of Randolph county. Your correspondent saw a letter the other day written in Captain Kolb's own hand, April 22nd, 1892, on paper headed "Citizens Alliance, W. S. Reese, State Organizer," to a delegate to the county convention, which met at Wedowee, May 17th.

"Among other things he advised the person addressed to go to the convention, and get a delegation for Kolb straight if possible, if he could not, send him a delegation to the State Convention any way, for there would be two conventions he would be the nominee of the people, and Jones the nominee of the machine democracy. He was in the race until August, and would beat Jones 50,000 votes.

"If Capt. Kolb wishes to deny the above statement let him do so and the proof will be furnished with a sworn statement of the person receiving the letter attached. The person addressed has been a strong supporter of Captain Kolb, but he is mistaken when he counts him other than a true democrat.

"I suppose Captain Kolb has in his possession from this same person a letter in reply to the one written, telling him if he was nominated by the democratic party he would support him, otherwise he could not.

"Kolb also wrote to another party, not long since, in this county to know if he could accept a position on the State Kolb ticket.

"This is another statement he dare not deny.

"Two of the delegates elected by Randolph County to the State Convention have been approached on the side of the Roaring Kolb faction rump convention.

"They declare they are going into the convention called by the Chairman of the State Executive Committee of the Democratic party, and will vote for Kolb if he comes before said convention, but neither Kolb nor any other man can lead them into a rump convention.

"Your correspondent has talked to several prominent Alliancemen who are strong supporters of Captain Kolb, and they say that they would like to see him elected Governor, but the moment he leaves the Democratic convention they are against him, that they cannot and will not support any man in opposition to the organized democracy.

"Most of the Alliancemen of Randolph county are true democrats and Mr. Kolb or any other man will be left when they expect their support against the ticket named by a democratic state convention."

Governor Northern has issued a proclamation against the lynching of negroes for rape in Georgia. Concerning the proclamation, Bill Arp truly says that should the crime come home to the Governor, he would forget all about that proclamation, and the usual proceedings would prevail.

Needs More Votes and Less Fuss.

Capt. Kolb is bent on keeping up appearances. He invites all his friends to come to Montgomery. His delegates will be scarce and he will need all the outside assistance he can get. There is nothing like puting on a solid front even if the back lines are a little disfigured. There is a great deal in appearances sometimes; but in this case votes only will count. Capt. Kolb needs more votes and less fuss; he started out with too much of the latter. The general wind up shows many of his assertions to be untrue.—Camden New Era.

Postmaster General Wanamaker has received an unsigned and undated letter containing $1,000. In his letter the writer says: "This is the balance of the interest I owe of the sum I took from the Government in 1865. I have now paid principal and interest in all $17,500. No man has suffered more for his crime than I have, and I now pray the Lord's forgiveness for my sin." Mr. Wanamaker turned the amount into the Treasury to the credit of the conscience fund.—Montgomery Journal.

The Republicans for Kolb.

Opelika News.

The following conversation between a prominent democrat and a prominent republican shows very plainly which way the wind blows.

Democrat.—"I don't believe Captain Kolb can secure the support of the republicans of Alabama should he decide to run outside the Democratic party."

Republican.—"Why not?"

Democrat.—"Well, the Republicans know that he has no sympathy for the party and is not running for the office, besides Kolb's character unfits him for Governor and the republicans know it."

Republican.—That may be all true, but I have a little question I would like to ask you."

Democrat.—"All right blaze away."

Republican.—"Governor Jones says if Kolb is nominated he will support—in fact will take the stump for him. Now, I want to know if Kolb is nominated will you support him?"

Democrat.—"I certainly will, and will do all I can to secure his election; but mind you in supporting him, I shall only do so for the good of my party and not because I think he is worthy of the place."

Republican.—"Very good, then if on the other hand Kolb should oppose the Democratic nominee, and the republicans of Alabama find it to their interest why should not they support him? I rather think the rule works both ways and it may be arranged so that in case Kolb shall take the field independent of the organized democracy he will find a full support from the Republicans. Not that the Republicans desire Captain Kolb for Governor; but if the Democrats can afford to vote for him if nominated, for the good of the party, I think that the republicans can as well afford to vote for him if he runs independent for the good of their party!"

Hon. Cyrus D. Hogue, state auditor, died at his home in Marion Ala., on the 4th inst. He had been in feeble health for a year past. He was about 44 years of age. His death will cause regret throughout Alabama and his loss will be keenly felt.

There Was no Trade.

Can you refer me to any one that would be likely to exchange good land in your country for a good farm in Harper county, Kansas? I have a nice piece here of 400 acres, but want to go south and will give some one a good trade.

The Greenville, Miss., Times makes the following spicy reply.

Not for Joseph. We don't blame you, pard, for wanting to grup yourself out of that country. No wonder Sam Jones is a failure in Kansas. You can't scare a man with fire when he is freezing to death. In summer the playful cyclone whirls through your prairies and lifts the hair off of the inhabitants, licks the cream off the milk and moves every thing except the mortgages on the farms. In winter the blizzard howls around seeking whom it may devour, and freezing out what the cyclone has spared. Oh, no! we can't trade where the water gurgles in the sunbeams, the birds sing, and the orange blossoms sweeten the breezes, for the howl of the coyote, the whistle of the cyclone, and the death rattle of the blizzard. Not any. We'd rather lie in the sunshine and tickle the lizzards, than to be fed to the wolves in the land of the blizzards.

The State Democratic Convention met in Montgomery yesterday. Up to the time of going to press permanent organization of the convention had not been effected. The VIEW is not disposed to prognosticate anything than that the outcome will be satisfactory to the organized Democracy.

It is estimated that the decrease in the cotton acreage of west Tennessee, north Mississippi and north Alabama is 20 per cent. This means a decrease of 200,000 bales with a season as favorable as the past two years. The estimated decrease for Texas is 20 per cent. This is equal to the decrease of 400,000 bales. If the balance of the country shows a similar decrease the crop of this year will be about 1,750,000 bales less than last. This would wipe out the surplus on hand and put the price of cotton on a normal and a profitable basis.—Ex.

Maplesville Dots.

Died, May 27th, Little Lucy Lenn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. U. Crumpton, aged one year and nine months. She was so much loved by all who knew her; was the pet of the place, and for many a long day will her sweet face be missed, but it seems such bright little lives are often examples to teach us to live, so when we go to meet our darlings on the other shore "the cold dark river" would seem only a little stream. Many sympathies are felt for the parents.

There is a Reaper whose name is Death,
And with his sickle keen,
He reaps the bearded grain at a breath,
And the flowers that grow between.

"Shall I have naught that is fair?" saith he.
"Have naught but the bearded grain?
Though the breath of these flowers is sweet to me.
I will give them all back again."

A Dream.

I dreamed that love was dead,
That friendship reigned in Love's sweet stead.

'Twas not a merry world I saw as in times past,
Though pure the Queen and faithful to her trust;
Men walked alone, dejected and downcast
And dreaded not the last words—"dust to dust."

No lovers were there seen in all the land,
And weary women saw I passing by,
For sympathy they clasped each other's hands,
And grew sad-eyed and still, they knew not why.

Even little children kneeled at their play,
Which cut me to the heart, so dread it seemed;
My eyes were blind with tears I could not stay,
When lo—I woke! Thank God, I had but dreamed

That Love was dead—
That friendship reigned in Love's sweet stead.

Hill as a Sprinter.

Washington Dispatch.

"Look! Look! Look at Hill go. He's on a dead run."

These exclamations were not heard on a race track to-day, but they broke out in the United States Senate Chamber, and were followed by as near an approach to laughter and hooting as that distinguished body ever permitted itself.

The creator of the fun was David Bennett Hill, who made the distance between his seat and the door in the quickest time on record in what he evidently thought was the race for his political life. Mr. Hill was frightened. The silver bill was after him and he didn't propose to be caught. He had been on tenterhooks for an hour or more before he broke away. With one eye on the door and the other on Senator Morgan, who was speaking for free silver, the ex-Governor gathered himself for a dash in the event of a vote being taken on the proposition to consider Stewart's bill.

The proposition came and the Governor was off. Henry Cabot Lodge, who stood between the Governor's seat and the cloak room, says: "I just saw a streak of cloth fly by me, and Hill was gone. It reminded me of the Chinaman's definition of the tobaggan slide which he explained was "Swish! Walkee back two mile."

Hill's dash rose above the common dodging of a vote. It was a wonderful performance in that from start to finish, no one eve, saw an account of the quickness of his movements.

For the benefit of history and to make it impossible for those who are opposed to Mr. Hill to make his action of to-day seem worse than it was, I went over the course after him from the cloak room door to the Senate restaurant. He came out of the door with a flying start, nearly fell down stairs and slid into a seat at a table behind a big stone pillar.

He quickly ordered something to eat and had about recovered his calmness after his unwonted exercise when his nerves received another terrible shock. Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Reed approached the table and politely said, "Senator, they are calling the roll on Stewart's Silver Bill." "I-I-I know that," replied the Governor, busying himself with the bill of fare, "I am very much obliged to you." Mr. Reed saw that the senator was occupied and left him to enjoy his luncheon as best he could.

It was a light luncheon, but it lasted a long time. When it was over and the Senator had ventured into the Senate Chamber the dark cloud with the silver lining had rolled by and the Governor sat down and wrote a letter to Ed. Murphy.

Barbecue.

Saturday the 4th inst., was the occasion of the most pleasant and enjoyable picnic and barbecue of the season. A party from Birmingham, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Cox and their interesting little daughter, Bessie, Mrs. Rose and her sweet little girl, Mamie, The charming Miss Ola Johnston and the beautiful and accomplished Miss Beulah Achors, with a party from Lomax proceeded to Mimm's mill where they enjoyed a most pleasant day.

Quite a crowd from Clanton attended among whom was the agreeable Mr. C. H. Abbott, and all the ladies were delighted with him and his boat.

If you have $10 to spend," said Barnum, "spend one for an article and the other nine in advertising it." The old man knew a thing or two when it came to advertising. Barnum said some years ago: "I can out talk any body on earth except the printer. The man who can stick type and talk to thousands of people while I am talking to one, is the only man I am afraid of. I want him for my friend."

Trial bottles free.

The latest from Montgomery is that a number of Mr. Kolb's leaders have publicly declared that they will not follow Mr. Kolb out of the regular convention, and it begins to look as if the threads of two conventions amount to little more than an effort to bulldoze the Jones majority in the convention into throwing some conciliatory plank to Mr. Kolb.

NEW YORK CONTEST.

The Syracuse Convention Selects Delegates to the Chicago Meeting

VIEWS INDICATE A BITTER CONTEST—THE MID-WINTER MEETING DENOUNCED AND CLEVELAND INDORSED.

Pursuant to call the Cleveland Democrats met in convention in Syracuse, N. Y., Tuesday. The meeting was called to order at 2:30 o'clock by Charles S. Fairchild, chairman of the state committee, who made a brief speech. Hon. John D. Kernan was named as temporary chairman of the convention. Mr. Kernan then took the chair, and addressed the convention. At the conclusion of his remarks the roll of delegates was called, and the convention took a recess until 3:30 o'clock. During the recess delegations met by congressional districts to elect members to each of the committees that had been provided for before the intermission. At 4:15 o'clock the convention was again called to order by Mr. Kernan, who asked for reports of the committees. Jacob F. Miller, of New York, as chairman of the committee on permanent organization, reported for permanent officers the temporary organization. Mr. Kernan thanked the convention for its renewed courtesy, and called on Ellery Anderson, chairman of the committee on resolutions, for the report of that committee. Chairman Anderson then sent to Secretary Baldwin the platform as prepared and revised by the committee during the recess, and it was read.

THE PLATFORM ADOPTED.

The platform opens with the declaration that the democratic party alone is true to the people and can be trusted to administer the government in their interest; denounces the republican party and its billion dollar congress and its McKinley bill and the force bill, and contrasts with it the wise and prudent democratic administration of Grover Cleveland. It condemns, with much detail, the McKinley tariff act and says the democratic party has no more urgent mission than to destroy a system productive of so much evil and, in a spirit of moderation with due regard to the interest of capital now invested and labor now employed in protected industries, the paramount duty of the party is to continue its opposition to the tariff until all customs taxation is enacted for revenue only. It approves the use of both gold and silver as money and demands that all dollars, whether gold or silver, shall be equal in value to each other, in fact as well as by declaration of law. It demands the repeal of the Sherman silver law of 1890, as an obstruction of international bimetalism and because it is rapidly bringing this country to silver monometalism with all of its attending evils. It recognizes the necessity of an organization through which the party may direct its energies, but when such organization claims to be the party itself instead of its instrument, then it suppresses the voice and misrepresents the desire of the party. When it calls caucuses at unaccustomed seasons, and upon insufficient notice; when regardless of the votes it placed upon the convention roll, it admits to the convention only those who, without respect to the voice and wishes of their constituents, will agree in advance to support the schemes and oligarchy it has established; when it gives notices in advance that they who will not agree to be subservient will not be admitted—then it ceases to be representative, creates discontent, rouses resentment and imperils the success of the party. In this emergency it becomes the duty of the original elements of the party to take such notice as will restore to it the just relations between its members and their agents. The platform closes as follows:

The democratic party retains unshaken confidence in the ability and lofty integrity of Grover Cleveland, and in his devotion to public duty. He is the choice of an overwhelming majority of the democrats of New York, and the country may rely with confidence on his ability to carry the state triumphantly in November. We believe that by nominating him to lead the party in the approaching contest for the presidency the national convention will carry out almost the unanimous wish of the party and best consult the welfare of the country. We pledge ourselves to support the candidate nominated in Chicago. The delegation chosen by this convention is instructed to act as a unit according to the determination of a majority of its members.

The denouncement of the midwinter convention was greeted with tremendous applause. The reference to Grover Cleveland as being able to carry New York state also moved the convention to its feet and brought on a storm of applause, while the affirmation that this convention and its constituencies would support the nominee at Chicago, whoever he might be, was greeted by a burst of ringing cheers that left no doubt as to the purpose of the convention. At the close of the reading the throng was again upon its feet, and the applause was long and uproarious. Several enthusiastic and earnest speeches were made in seconding the motion for the adoption of the platform. The report of the resolutions committee was then adopted, the platform being thus endorsed. The following resolution supplementary to the platform was presented and adopted:

Resolved, That this convention approve, endorse and point with pride to the administration of Grover Cleveland, and we recommend him to the Chicago convention for nomination, and to the democratic party and patriotic people of the country for re-election again to the presidency.

Judge Sunderlin, of Schuyler county, then read a list of district delegates at large chosen by the districts and by the committee on delegates to the Chicago convention. The work of the committee was approved, and thus the question of a protest had been determined, and a course of a contest and demand at Chicago for the seventy-seats of New York York had been fixed upon.

INDORSED THE ELECTORS.

Before adjournment was had the following resolution was presented:

"Whereas, The object of this convention is to correct the wrong done to the democrats of New York by the convention held at Albany on the 22d of February last in the selection of a delegation to Chicago not representative of their will; and

Whereas, We realize that the action of the electoral college clearly registers the will of the party, as proposed at the national convention and expressed at the polls; now, therefore, better to assure the democratic party that we have no other wish than that the will of the party shall be fairly ascertained and registered by the electoral college, we hereby nominate as electors for president and vice president of the United States the following citizens of New York:

Mr. Fairchild then read the list of electors named at the Albany convention in February, and the resolution was adopted, and the nominations thus were endorsed. A resolution of thanks to the citizens of Syracuse was adopted, for their hospitable treatment of the convention, and at 5:50 o'clock p. m., the convention adjourned sine die.

SCENES OF DEVASTATION.

A dispatch of Sunday from Arkansas City brings news of fearful devastation by floods in the west. The telegram says: The river here is still rising and now the guage is 49.8 feet. All communication with the back country, except by skiff or dugout, is cut off. The water is cutting all kinds of capers. Bayous and sloughs that have heretofore run down stream during flood times are now rushing up stream at lightning rapidity regardless of all the laws of gravitation, taking not only farmers' fences, but actually taking his crops by the roots, soil and all, and carrying it no man knows where. Whole fields are reported from which every particle of loose soil has been swept away. While the back water of Arkansas City is eight-tenths below that of 1890, six miles west of here it is reported up to 1890, and up about the Amos Bayou country it is above 1890. Water from the Arkansas passing through Gum swamp and other places, is now pouring over the banks into Bayou Bartholomew in a number of places and overflowing that stream, damaging the planting community along its banks.

A trip through a portion of the sub merged districts of the Arkansas and White rivers reveals the fact that the stories of suffering have not been half told. Without any attempt at exaggeration it can be said that the entire valley is in a condition bordering on a state of horror. In Desha county, Arkansas, one of the richest farming counties in the south, there are not one thousand acres of dry land to be seen outside of Laconi circles. Not a farm has escaped and of the entire population, with the exception of a few negroes, who are roosting in the second stories of houses, not a human being is to be seen. Hollindel, up the White river, has been swept off the face of the earth and the remnants of houses are lodged among the limbs of the trees along the banks of that mighty torrent. There is not an inhabitant there today, nor a soul living at Chicot City. The back water has come forty miles from the Arkansas river and is up to the second story of buildings.

Red Fork, a place of 400 people, is no more, and the same can be said of Pendleton. Relief boats have come in from that section, bringing surviving families. Large plantations, known as the Blackmore place, Allen Maples and Green place, are under water, and ruined, and tenants are camping around on high spots of ground, wet and hungry. All around Catfish point the waters come rushing in from the Arkansas river, sweeping through forty miles of plantation property.

AT GRANT'S TOMB.

A New York dispatch says: The fund for the Grant monument has been completed. That was the announcement made, amid the cheers of the multitude, at the Memorial Day exercises Monday afternoon in front of the tomb of General Grant. The crowd was a very large one. The program of exercises was very impressive and appropriate. The principal oration was delivered by Colonel Charles Marshall, who was chief of staff to General Lee, the confederate commander. Among other things, he said: "It is not easy to express the thoughts that the scene before me inspired in my mind—in the mind of every man who understands the full meaning of this occasion. Men who were arrayed against each other in deadly strife are now met together to do honor to the memory of one who led one part of this audience to complete and absolute victory over the other, yet in hearts of the victors there is no feeling of triumph, and in the hearts of the vanquished there is no bitterness; no humiliation."

After referring to the bitterness of the conflict and the fact that the combatants so quickly dispersed at the end of the war, he said:

"No such peace as our peace ever followed immediately upon such a war as our war. The exhausted south was completely at the mercy of the victorious north and yet the sound of the last gun had scarcely died away when, not only peace, but peace and good will, were re-established, and victors and vanquished both took up the work of repairing the damages of war and advancing the common welfare of the whole country, as if the old relations—social, commercial and political between the people of the two sections had never been disturbed."

CORN IN GEORGIA.

The Census Office Gives the Average Yield Per Acre.

The census office at Washington has just issued its report of the average yield of cereals per acre in Georgia and Alabama. Of corn in Georgia the yield is 11.33 per acre, while in Alabama it is 14.14. Of oats, in Georgia, 9.32; in Alabama, 9.37. Wheat, in Georgia, 5.68; in Alabama, 5.26. Of rye, in Georgia, 4.15; in Alabama, 5.67. The county in Georgia which produced the largest number of bushels of corn in 1889 was Burke, which produced 598,585, but that was produced on 64,480 acres, while Floyd produced 506,377 bushels on 30,087 acres, or over twice as many bushels per acre. Washington county produced 510,560 bushels on 57,621 acres. Bartow produced more wheat than any other county in Georgia. It grew 66,933 bushels on 9,906 acres. Gordon comes next with 57,164 bushels on 8,524 acres. There are twenty-six counties in Georgia which did not produce a bushel of wheat during that year. There are but three counties in the state that produced more than 100,000 bushels of oats. They are Brooks, Floyd and Wilkes. Brooks produced 132,775 bushels on 12,225 acres, Floyd 102,643 bushels on 9,759 acres and Wilkes, 124,401 on 12,697 acres.

Smallpox in West Virginia.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Parkersburg, W. Va., says: The reports of smallpox in a violent form in Pomeroy, Mason City and Setart have abundant foundation. It was reported Tuesday that there were twenty-six cases at Pomeroy, with four deaths, and a dozen cases at Mason City, with several deaths. The disease is spreading rapidly down the river.

A CYCLONE'S WORK.

Wellington, Kansas, a Heap of Ruins and a Scene of Death and Disaster.

THE DEAD AND DYING UNDER MASSES OF BRICK AND MORTAR—INCIDENTS OF THE CALAMITY.

A disastrous cyclone struck the town of Wellington, Kan., Friday night which plowed its devastating track through the business part of the town, killing and injuring hundreds of people and destroying an immense amount of property. A heavy storm of wind preceded the cyclone about half an hour. A few minutes after 9 o'clock the cyclone struck the city, coming from the northwest. There were no premonitory signs. Everybody was indoors and the cloud passed with its destructive rush and awful roar. Washington avenue, principal business street, is lined on both sides for blocks with ruins. To add to the horror, fire broke out among the debris of Colonel Robinson's block. A solid block of brick buildings containing half a dozen stores and the postoffice and printing offices lies a tumbled heap of bricks and mortar. No reports have been received from other points. Wellington is the county seat of Sumner county, and has a population of over ten thousand inhabitants. It is in the center of a thickly settled agricultural district. It is the most promiment town in southern Kansas.

FURTHER DETAILS.

A special dispatch of Saturday from Kansas City gives further details of the cyclone horror and says: The cyclone of last Saturday night was terribly destructive in its effects. Fifteen persons are known to have been killed, and an investigation of the wrecked buildings has only been barely commenced. The cyclone did not do much damage until it reached the center of the town. On Jefferson avenue it destroyed the Lutheran church, but only wrecked residences. Its most furious work was done within the compass of four squares bounded by Jefferson avenue, Avenue C and Seventh and Ninth streets. Every building in those four squares was demolished and wrecked. Fortunately, residences in that locality are not numerous, otherwise the loss of life would have been much greater than now appears to be. The Phillips house, a hotel, was demolished, and seven dead bodies have been taken from the ruins. The work of rescue there is just only begun. The house was well filled with guests, and the loss of life in the house is thought to be great. The offices of the four local newspapers—The Monitor, The Press, The Voice and The Mail—were destroyed. The Wellington foundry was demolished, and Mrs. William Asher and her sister, Katie Straham, who happened to be passing there at the time, were buried in its ruins and killed. Their bodies have been recovered. The destruction in the northeastern part of the city has also been great.

LIST OF CASUALTIES.

The following is a complete list of the killed as far as known: Frank D. Campbell, James Hastie, Leonard Adamson, Ida Jones, Mrs. Asher and sister, Kittie Strahan. Professor Mayer and Horton Upson are missing and are probably killed, Lieutenant W. French and Cadet Samms, of the Salvation Army; Mrs. Murphy and a child named Mattie Hodges are badly injured. Cas Stoner, Gus Colby, Dick Weaver, Carrie Mitchell and Ed Forsythe each received injuries more or less serious. The streets are impassable and nothing but ruin exists everywhere. At least twelve bodies have already been taken out of the ruins, and something less than seventy-five are injured. Men are working everywhere trying to rescue the imprisoned ones.

No one now can realize the extent of the catastrophe and daylight will alone reveal the saddest scene of the ruin and desolation ever witnessed in southern Kansas. The Cole and Robbinson block ruins took fire and strenuous efforts are being made to rescue the people known to be buried there. It is now believed that the list of the dead will number between twenty and thirty, and the injured about seventy.

The most appaling scene was that at the Phillips house, where a ball was in progress when the cyclone burst. The dancers were given little opportunity to escape from the toppling structure. As the building began swaying in the terrific gale, the people in the crowded ballroom made a frantic rush for the doors. The stairways and halls were immediately filled by crazed men and women, who tore at each other in their mad rush for the open air. With the crash of the walls about and over them, there arose a great wail of despair from the imprisoned and doomed multitude.

As the timbers crashed down upon the struggling merry-makers, their hoarse cries were throttled by the weight of the mass of timbers above them. Then came the silence of death and insensibility, only to be followed, a moment later, by the shrill blasts of the tempest, as it rushed on to other destructive work, and the agonized shrieks of the injured or dying who were pinned down in a mass of debris. Those who escaped from the building began immediately the work of rescue. Some of those who fled from the building left wives and sweethearts, husbands or brothers behind. These they sought in the pile of bricks and timbers. As fast as the bodies were taken out they were surrounded by a crowd of anxious people, who vainly tried to identify their mangled remains.

A meeting of the Salvation Army was in progress in a hall near the Robinson block. The falling walls of this building crushed the hall and it is known that two were killed. It is probable when the wreck is cleared away it will be found many more perished. It was past time for the army to adjourn, but the storm kept the meeting in. One of the members was engaged in prayer when the cyclone struck the Robinson block. Before any of the soldiers could rise from their knees the walls of the building gave way with a crash. How any of them escaped alive is a marvel.

Seven persons at the residence of Esquire Smith were badly injured as the whole number may at any time be added to the list of the dead.

Cholera Ravages.

Cable dispatches of Tuesday from Calcutta, India, report that, since May 7th, there have been 2,460 deaths from cholera at Serinagur, in the vale of Cashmere. All Europeans in the place became alarmed some time ago at the fearful ravages of the disease, and left the city.

Convicting Mexicans.

The United States court, in session at San Antonio, has so far secured twenty convictions of Mexicans who were guilty of violating the neutrality laws during the late Garza revolutionary affair on the border.

BUSINESS REVIEW

For Past Week as Reported by R. G. Dun & Co.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade for week ending May 27th says: Business failures occring during the week number for the United States 188, Canada 13; total 196 against 193 week before. Better weather has wrought a quick improvement in business at many points. The floods still make some trouble and threaten more. Country roads which nobody can travel prevent distribution and collections, and fears about the crop in many quarters still check purchasers. But the area over which these influences were felt was relatively narrow and is narrowing while more cheering weather throughout a greater part of the country has given a decided stimulus to the trade and greatly changed crop prospects. Other conditions are generally favorable. Labor is, on the whole, well employed with rather less interruptions from strikes, than is usual at this season.

The money markets are everywhere well supplied and easy, and at several points an increasing demand is noticed. At Baltimore southern trade holds out beyond expectations. At Philadelphia general improvement is seen. There is little new in the great industries though, other than standard brands of iron are much depressed. Farm implement makers have resumed. Their demands, with better weather, are greater, and the demand for structural iron is large. Heavy sales of steel cotton ties have been made at 2 cents delivered, the lowest price ever known. Cotton mills are doing more business than in any other year, and print cloths are firmer, for stocks are low. The shipments of boots and shoes continue to exceed last year's and are but 3 per cent below the highest ever known for the year thus far. Speculation in cotton has been active with a sixteenth advance and sales of 869,000 bales, floods and bad weather tending to lessen production.

Nothing disturbs the money market and the action in congress on silver is not expected to amount to anything. The treasury has paid out $500,000 more money than it has taken in during the week. Merchandise exports are large and for the week have exceeded last year $4,500,000 or 17½ per cent, while the increase in imports over last year is a trifle.

GERMAN SUGAR

Stored Up by the Ton Awaiting American Buyers.

A cable dispatch of Monday from Berlin, Germany, says: Last year $3,673,899 worth of sugar was exported to America from the consular jurisdiction of Berlin, including the two great sugar centers, Hamburg and Madgeburg. During the quarter of this year not one pound of sugar was exported. One hundred thousand tons of raw sugar are stored in Hamburg, and an equal amount is held at Lubeck, Stettin and in the manufacturing districts. The German merchants and producers wish to sell, but no buyer appears. It is very unusual situation, and many reasons have been given for its existence.

Are We Physically Advancing.

Edward Atkinson has examined the record of hundreds of ready-made clothing establishments to discover whether the white man of the United States is deteriorating in size and weight. As the general result it was found that the average height of the New Englander is five feet, eight and one-half inches, and of Southerners five feet, ten inches. The average weight of the American of to-day is between 155 and 160 pounds. Mr. Atkinson discovered that the average height and weight of men in this country has perceptibly increased since the war of 1861-5, and that we are slowly increasing rather than decreasing in size and strength.—[Chicago News.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

Industrial Development During the Week Ended May 28th.

The Chattanooga Tradesman, in its review of the situation in the south for the week ended May 28, 1892, states that the reports received from its correspondents throughout the southern states show that in the overflowed districts of the Mississippi valley the destruction of crops has been fully as great as anticipated. It is not believed, however, that the cotton area is materially reduced, and no reduction is expected in the amount to be raised. From Texas points complaints are made of a cold and backward season. The iron industry seems to show signs of reviving prosperity. Throughout the iron and coal districts of Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama there is reasonable activity, and new industries, such as iron and steel works, textile plants, etc., are reported as in contemplation. The interest before reported in new cotton mills continues, and several are mentioned as having been organized during the week, with others in progress. The lumber industry is unchanged. The general tenor of reports is fairly satisfactory, and warrants the belief that the south is steadily and surely emerging from the era of financial and industrial depression.

Sixty-one new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with fifteen enlargements of manufactories, and seventeen important new buildings. Among the new industries reported are brick works at Cartersville, Ga., and Greenville, S. C., canneries at Quincy, Fla., and Sharon, Tenn., a $50,000 cigar factory at Tampa, Fla., cotton compresses at Birmingham, Ala., Houston and Marlin, Tex., and a steam cotton gin at Robeline, La. An electric plant with $500,000 capital has been organized at Atlanta, Ga., one with $50,000 capital at Rome, Ga., and one with the same capital at Glendale, W. Va. A grain elevator will be built at Denton, Tex., a $100,000 fence company chartered at Savannah, Ga., and one with $10,000 capital at Clarendon, S. C., flour and grist mills are reported at Austin, Tex., capital $70,000, at Huntsville, Ala., Readyville, Tenn., and Waxahatchie, Tex., and ice factories established at Opelika, Ala., and Morrilton, Ark., a cotton tie factory at Birmingham, Ala., a $600,000 steel and iron furnace at Llano, Tex., a $50,000 engine and boiler works at Greenville, Texas, a $50,000 iron castings plant at Newport, Ky., a hardware company at Chattanooga, Tenn., and a wire plow line plant at Birmingham, Ala. A $50,000 coal mining company has been organized at Lynchburg, Va., one with the same capital at Elkhorn, W. Va., and one at Knoxville, Tenn., a vulcanizing plant at Alexandria, Va., nickel plating works at Pine Log, Ga., a phosphate mining company at Ocala, Fla., oil and gas companies at Hartford City and Middle Ferry, W. V., oil mills at Mobile, Ala., and a stamp mill at Eastland, Texas. A $100,000 cotton mill will be built at Magnolia, Miss., a $75,000 one at Etherton, Ga., and one at Bessemer, Ala.

Among new woodworking plants of the week are furniture factories at Little Rock and Pine Bluff, Ark., a lumber company at Bristol, Tenn., planing mills at Douglasville, Ga., and Atlanta, Texas, saw and shingle mills at Gurley, Ala., Poplar Grove, Ark., Plaquemine, La., Loudon and and Cookville, Tenn., and a wagon factory at Hickman, Ky.

Among enlargements of factories reported are: Coke works at Maybeury, W. Va., electric lighting plants at Mobile, Ala., and Charleston, S. C., each adding $50,000 to its capital, gas works at wheeling, W. Va., iron works at Salem, Va., powder works at Cottevah, Tenn., a $200,000 addition to a cotton mill at Fort Worth, Tex., and woodworking plants at Logangport, Ky., Florence, S. C., and Morganton, N. C.

The new buildings of the week include a bank building at Canton, Miss., tenant houses at Rome and Barnesville, Ga., Titusville, Fla., Lexington, Ky., and Harrison, Tex., a church at Plaquemine, La., hotels at Belcamp, Ky., and Richmond, Tenn., a $400,000 hotel at Shreveport, Tenn., and a sanitarium at Knoxville, Tenn., also worsted mills at Valdese, N. C., and cotton factories reported at Rockwood, Tenn., Greenville, Ala., Shreveport, La., Shreveport, Ala., and Cherryville, N. C.

French Public Schools.

Germany will have to look to her laurels respecting her position as the foremost country in the line of popular education. France has taken a vigorous start to overtake Germany, and made such progress in the education of her people that she is now only a little behind her great rival. Twenty-five years ago not 50 per cent of the recruits drafted into the French army were able to read; at present 90 per cent of them are able to read and write.

In 1872 there were 56,000 public schools; at present there are about 67,000, an increase of 20 per cent. In 1872 there were 78,000 teachers; at present there are above 106,000, an increase of 40 per cent. In 1872 there were 3,836,000 pupils attending public schools; at present there are 4,476,000, an increase of 21 per cent. Or, 11,000 new schools were built, nearly 600,000 more pupils are being taught and 30,000 more teachers are employed at present than there were twenty years ago.—Chicago Herald.

A Poor Performance.

Young Hopeful—"Mamma, did you tell papa I'd got to have a bicycle?"

"Mamma—"Yes, but he said he couldn't afford it."

"Course he said that; but what did you do?"

"I argued in favor of it, but he refused."

"Argued! Huh! If it had been anything you wanted for your own self, you'd a cried a little, an' then you'd got it."—Street & Smith's Good News.

Needed No Warning.

Mother—"My dear, always remember that it is not good taste to talk about yourself in company."

Miss Budd—"Oh, I never do. I always talk about the other girls."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

Cost of Steamship Working.

The cost of working a steamship is in comparison with many industries, expensive. During last year six of the steamships of a large company earned a gross profit of $350,000. Out of that sum there was first paid for the wages and provisions of the crew $60,000. Port charges came next in amount, and over $55,000 was so paid, while the cost of insurance was $45,000. The bunker coal cost $35,000, the cost of loading and discharging was $40,000, and the commissions paid to merchants and brokers, with dispatch money, aggregated $20,000.

When deck and engines stores, the cost of docking, painting, etc., and the cost of management is added, the total expenditures is brought up to $315,000, so that only about one-tenth of the original gross profit remains to be divided among the owners of the vessels.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Summary of Each Day's Proceedings Presented in Brief.

The national republican convention was called to order at Minneapolis at 12:24 p. m. Tuesday.

For days before the opening of the convention the city was crowded with delegates and visitors. From the time of the announcement of Blaine's resignation as Secretary of State, signalizing that he had fully entered the presidential contest against Harrison, the wildest excitement prevailed. It early developed that there would be a fight between the Blaine and Harrison factions. Following is the summary of the convention proceedings:

CALLED TO ORDER.

The convention was called to order at 12:24 p. m. After prayer the call of the convention was read by D. E. Young. Dr. William Brush, of Dakota university, led in prayer. Mr. Clarkson announced that the national committee had recommended Mr. Fassett, of New York, for temporary chairman. Fassett, who is a Blaine man, was elected temporary chairman by acclamation, the Harrison men not opposing him. There was great cheering, and a storm of applause greeted him as he stepped forward to read the names of the committee on credentials and call the convention to order. Tremendous applause greeted Fassett as he named the Republican leaders and said: "Harrison and Blaine." His remarks about a "free and honest" ballot took the crowd immensely. Mr. Fassett devoted a great deal of his speech to the injustice of the democratic denial of suffrage in the south. These references finally resulted in the audience calling for Reed to come forward. Reed finally rose and mounted the platform to speak. Reed's speech was frequently cheered. Then there were loud calls for McKinley. The audience rose to their feet and loudly cheered. At the conclusion of McKinley's speech, officers were announced as having been selected by the national committee. They included secretaries, assistant secretaries, reading clerks and official stenographers. These temporary officers were elected by acclamation, and it was ordered that until permanent organization should be effected the convention should be governed by the rules of the last preceding republican convention.

The call of the roll of states for members of the various committees was then begun. Each state, as it was called, announced, through its chairman, the members it had chosen for service on committees.

Immediately after the completion of the call of states and the announcement of the membership of the various committees the convention adjourned until 11 o'clock Wednesday morning.

SECOND DAY.

The second day of the convention opened gloomy. The heavy rain which fell almost all Tuesday night left the streets sloppy and unpleasant. At 9 o'clock not a shout was heard in the hotel corridor. A great deal of bitterness has been created in the last twenty-four hours. The leaders on both sides have used every effort to prevent ill feeling, but to no avail. The charges made against each other by the representatives of the candidates in the struggle to control the doubtful vote, has made much trouble. Some cooler men, high in the party council, say there is only one way to heal the breach, and that is by the selection of a compromise delegate. This feeling has been given strength.

The convention was called to order at 11:45 a. m. Wednesday. Minneapolis presented the convention with a gavel. The chairman of the committee on credentials stated they could not hope to report before Thursday. William McKinley, of Ohio, was selected as permanent chairman of the convention and Spooner and Mahone were appointed a committee to conduct McKinley to the chair. There was great cheering when the chairman of the committee on permanent organization introduced permanent Chairman McKinley and tremendous applause greeted him when he arose to speak. McKinley said this convention would present a platform and candidate that would meet with the approbation of the country and predicted success in November. He also spoke in great praise of the protective tariff and its results. He said the party's duty was to see that there was a free and honest ballot in all parts of the land.

Bingham, of Pennsylvania, submitted the report of the rules committee making the rules of the 51st congress the rules of the convention with necessary modifications. Chairman Foraker, of the committee on resolutions, asked for further time. Granted. Foraker was cheered by the convention. The rolls of states for the nomination of national committeemen were then called. The report of the committee on rules was adopted.

A number of memorials and resolutions were presented and referred to the various committees without being read. On motion the credentials committee adjourned till 11 o'clock Thursday.

The committee on credentials practically controls the political situation, as it is within its power, in case that power is exercised unscrupulously, to seat or unseat enough delegates to exercise the balance of power in the convention. It is very manifest that the proceedings of that convention are not to be characterized by that harmony which has been so strongly urged on all sides. The Blaine people have control of the committee, but the opposition has a very large and aggressive minority, and every vantage point is contested stubbornly and eloquently. It has generally been the custom that the committee on credentials appointed on the first day of the convention to be prepared to report on the opening of the second, but that will not be case this year.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Development in the Week Ending June 4th.

The Tradesman, Chattanooga, Tennessee, in its review of the industrial situation in the South for the week ending June 4th, says that its correspondents generally agree in saying that the prospects for a full crop have been a good deal affected by the continued high water and heavy rains. It seems more than probable that the production of cotton will be lessened even more than has been predicted, as it will not be possible to replant in the overflowed districts. Farmers have learned the lesson taught by the large crop and low prices of last season, and have planted more varieties than ever before. The result will be that the outside markets will not be called upon to such an extent as heretofore, to supply Southern needs, especially in grain and meat products.

Several new cotton mills are reported as in contemplation, and the enlargement of others indicates that the textile industry is attracting unusual attention. In the iron and coal districts there is no change of importance. The lumber business is somewhat affected by high water. The Northern demand for Southern lumber is increasing, and sales are readily made at a small advance. There is no complaint of want of money where suitable security can be given.

Fifty-seven new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with 11 enlargements of manufactories, and 20 important new buildings. Among the new industries reported are a $100,000 brick plant at Rome, Ga., canneries at Anniston and Decatur, Ala., Waynesboro, Ga., and Sardis, Miss., cement works at Cumberland, W. Va., a cotton compress and oil mill at Dermott, Ark., a $200,000 construction company at New Berne, N. C., a cotton oil plant with $500,000 capital at Savannah, Ga., a $100,000 electric lighting plant at El Paso, Tex., and a $1,000,000 fuel and gas company at Newport, Ky. Flouring mills are to be established at Belton, Tex., and Huntsville, Ala., glass works at Richland, Va., a $100,000 heat and power company at St. Augustine, Fla., a $40,000 water and light company at Orange, Tex., a foundry at Greenwood, S. C., and a $137,000 land company at Newport, Ky.; coal mine and coke works at Rolfe, W. Va., and iron mines to be opened at Cedartown, Ga., a $25,000 oil mill at Flatonia, Tex., and others at Demopolis, Ala., and Norfolk, Va., a shoe factory at Rome, Ga., $25,000 soap works at Dallas, Texas, projected steel works with large capital at Birmingham, Ala., and a tobacco factory at Winston, N. C. Cotton mills are reported at Athens and Piedmont, Ala., Madison, Ga., and Hard River, N. C., a bagging factory at Savannah, Ga., and a $100,000 wood alcohol plant at Grand Rivers, Ky. Among wood working plants newly established, are a barrel factory at Glen Ellen, Tenn., a furniture factory at Selma, Ala., a $50,000 lumber company at Petroleum, W. Va., and others at Jasper, Tenn., and Dallas, Texas, planing mills at Kirkland, Francisco and Bodentown, Ala., Monroe and Logansport, La., Bristol and Clinton, Tenn., and Georgetown, W. Va., a $30,000 spoke and hub factory at Greenwood, Miss., a shingle mill at Little Rock, Ark., and variety works at Dadesville, Ala. Water works are reported at Ludlow, Ky., Winston, N. C., and Martinsville, Va. Among enlargements of mechanical industries for the week are: An electric lighting plant at Meridian, Miss., flour and grist mills at Gadsden, Ala., and Falmouth, Ky., an oil mill at Wolfe City, Texas, cotton mills at Bookingham, N. C., and Greenwood and Newberry, S. C., and woodworking plants at Camden, Ark., Bagdad, Fla., Wilmington, N. C., Biloxi, Miss., and Tyler, Tex.

Among new buildings of the week are a $500,000 abbatoir at Dallas, Texas, a bank building at Lynchburg, Va., business houses at Little Rock, Ark., Memphis, Tenn., and Hillsboro, Texas. Churches at Statesville, N. C., and Newberry, S. C. College and school buildings at Dadeville and Roanoke, Ala., Hawkinsville and Macon, Ga., and Greenville, Tenn. A $50,000 hotel at Galveston, Texas, one costing $25,000 at Fulton, Ky. A $45,000 mill building at Little Rock, Ark., an opera house at Floresville, Tex., and warehouses at Winston, N. C., and Greenville, Tenn.

Commissioner of Agriculture.

It will be remembered that Judge Henderson filled this position acceptably for fourteen years up to November, 1890; and now, complying with the urgent requests of his friends, he has again entered the race and has become a candidate for the same position.

BLAINE RESIGNS

As Secretary of State and Will Stand for the Republican Nomination.

THE NEWS OF HIS RESIGNATION CREATES THE WILDEST EXCITEMENT BOTH AT WASHINGTON AND MINNEAPOLIS.

A Washington dispatch of Saturday says: Mr. Blaine has surprised all hands and created a great sensation by resigning. His resignation was curt and short. It contained none of the usual expressions of regret which generally bedower esignations. Mr. Harrison promptly accepted his resignation. His note is short and curt, and as devoid of regret as is he resignation itself. Between the inditing of the resignation and the acceptance thereof just fifty minutes elapsed.

Following is the correspondence in full:

Department of State, Washington, June 4, 1892, 12:45 p. m.—To the President: I respectfully beg leave to submit my resignation of the office of secretary of state of the United States, to which I was appointed by you on the 5th of March, 1889.

The condition of public business in the depaetment of state justifies me in requesting that my resignation may be accepted immediately. I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant, JAMES G. BLAINE.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY.

Executive Mansion, Washington, June 4, 1892.—The Secretary of State: Your letter of this date tendering your resignation of the office of secretary of state of the United States has been received. The terms in which you state your desires are such as to leave me no choice, but to accede to your wishes at once. Your resignation is, therefore, accepted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJAMIN HARRISON.

Hon. James G. Blaine.

So far as could be learned the resignation volunteered by Secretary Blaine had not been preceded by any notice or intimation to the president that it might be expected. Whatever may have been the genesis or immediately impelling cause of Blaine's resignation, there seems to be no doubt whatever among the friends in Washington city that by it he has placed himself in a position of readiness to accept the Republican nomination for president.

THE NEWS IN WASHINGTON CITY.

News of Blaine's resignation spread through the city like wild fire and was the sole topic of conversation in official and political circles. The white house was the objective point for the president's friends, who naturally were anxious to learn the facts in the case, and the president had already finished his luncheon when he was visited by Secretary Elkins, Attorney General Miller and Secretaries Noble and Foster. During an informal conference that followed, the president calmly told his cabinet what had happened and suggested in the interest of harmony and good taste that they make no public comments whatever on the situation. Therefore, cabinet officials refused positively to talk for publication on the subject.

During the afternoon the president sent word to the state department that he desired to see Assistant Secretary Wharton. That gentleman went to the white house at once and the president informed him briefly of Blaine's resignation and that he desired him to act as secretary of state for the present.

THE NEWS IN THE HOUSE.

News of the resignation of Secretary Blaine created a profound sensation at the capitol. The senate was not in session, but the house was in the throes of filibustering against the anti-option bill. The effect of the reception of the Associated Press bulletin announcing the event was magical. The telegram was read by the speaker and by Representative Dingley, and almost instantly the news spread over the hall like a wave of sound.

Within two minutes the space in front of the desk was filled by a throng of representatives struggling to get a glimpse of the bit of yellow paper which was snatched from one hand to another. The speaker left the chair, temporarily delegating his duties to Representative Johnstone, of South Carolina, and the latter soon found that he had assumed an almost impossible task in endeavoring to keep order in the house while it labored under the strain of excitement. The clerks were calling the roll on some motion to take a recess until some unreasonable hour in the evening; but their voices could scarcely be heard over and above the hum of consultation and tones of ejaculation. The effect was discouraging to pending business. Then came a comparison of views, democrats and republicans gathering in knots in the rear of the seats and putting their heads together in consultation.

"What does it mean?" was the question in every mouth. It did not take the democrats long to decide what view to take of the matter as to the initial stage. It means that Blaine is standing for nomination, said one and all. Nearly all of the democrats were of one mind on another point, and that was expressed by the speaker, who said that the resignation meant war to the knife between the administration and the anti-administration factions.

CONGRESSMEN INTERVIEWED.

The opinions expressed by congressmen were various. There were those who thought Blaine would sweep the field, while the more sober opinions seemed to be that Harrison would be successful. Among democratic congressmen the opinion seemed to prevail that it would be thfie fiht of 1884 over again, Blaine on one side and Cleveland on the other. The senators were wary when spoken to, and politely declined to be committed.

THE NEWS IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Dispatches of Saturday from Minneapolis state that the news of Secretary Blaine's resignation and its acceptance by the president created the wildest excitement. The Blaine men were wild with enthusiasm and cheer after cheer greeted the announcement in the West house. Clarkson, Platt, Fassett and a score of other Blaine boomers insisted that it meant Blaine's nomination on the first ballot and there was a Blaine stampede among the delegates and others. Cheers for Blaine re-echoed through the corridors and were taken up in the street. In a minute the streets were wild with excitement. Men marched in squads and marched up and down the streets yelling, "Blaine! Blaine! James G. Blaine!" The Harrison men were jeered by the wildest excited Blaine men and two or three personal encounters were narrowly averted. The Blaine fever never seemed to be infectious. Delegates who had been for Harrison were reported to be coming over to Blaine and in several instances this seemed to be the case. The Blaine men expect to sweep everything before them. Blaine badges, during the afternoon, were distributed indiscriminately by lavish hands to admirers of the Maine man at the "people's headquarters." Colonel W. A. Garratt, of Michigan, made a speech to a cheering multitude, saying that Blaine will accept. "The milleunium has come!" was the closing sentences of Colonel Garrett's speech, and three more cheers were given for James G. Blaine.

JOHN SHERMAN AS A COMPROMISE.

A later dispatch says: The feeling among the delegates at midnight seems to be that it would be suicidal to nominate either Blaine or Harrison. John Sherman is openly advocated by many delegates, even many those instructed for Harrison.

TRADE TALK.

Dunn & Co's. Report of Business for Past Week.

R. G. Dunn & Co.'s review of trade for week ending June 7th, says that the tone of commercial reports from various parts of the country indicate that business has, to some extent, improved. More favorable weather has helped both retail and wholesale trade in many quarters and has materially improved crop prospects at the west, while a little improvement in the price of cotton has operated as a stimulus to business at the south. There has been no difficulty or disturbance in the money market and the volume of currency in circulation has increased during the month of May about six million five hundred thousand dollars, amounting to $1,690,000 on June 1st.

Collections throughout the country are on the whole better than of late and fairly satisfactory, and excepting the speculative corner at Chicago, there has been no especial excitement in any kind of business. Wheat has declined half a cent, western receipts being unusually large, though export in cotton, in the belief that the acreage will be much diminished, has helped the speculators to advance the price one-fourth of a cent, and transactions have been moderately light. Nevertheless the stock of cotton in the country continued far beyond the record, of the previous years and there is every reason to believe that even a great reduction in the yield will scarcely reduce the aggregate supply for the year below the quantity usually required for consumption. The iron business shows considerable increase in transactions, though there is as much complaint as ever of low prices. Business is still retarded by bad weather at Little Rock and Memphis, improved a little at Nashville, but very dull at Savannah. Cotton strengthens at New Orleans and there is a better feeling in business generally, while sugar is in fair demand and rice steady.

Business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., number for the United States, (79; Canada, 20; total, 99; last week, 201; previous week, 189; corresponding week last year, 207.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Happenings of the Day Culled from Our Telegraphic and Cable Dispatches.

WHAT IS TRANSPIRING THROUGHOUT OUR OWN COUNTRY, AND NOTES OF INTEREST FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

At New York Saturday afternoon two thousand people assembled in Broadway at Main street to witness the start of Frank J. Lenz, an amateur bicyclist on his trip around the world on a pneumatic safety bicycle. The start was made from the city hall at precisely 3 o'clock.

Tuesday's dispatches from Titusville, Pa., state that bodies continue to be found along Oil creek, between that place and Oil City. Thirty or forty bodies are believed to have been carried down the stream. A conservative estimate of the loss of life at Titusville is 100. The city hall presented Monday scenes recalling war times and the Johnstown disaster.

In the democratic primaries in Cincinnati and Hamilton county, Monday night, the anti-Cleveland men carried everything, not more than four friends of the ex-president being elected out of sixty-five delegates to the state convention. This insures the election of four Hill or anti-Cleveland delegates to the national convention in the Cincinnati districts.

The Maryland democratic state committee assembled in Baltimore Wednesday. Representative men of the party from all parts of the state were present. United States Senator Gorman was on hand. The general sentiment was not to instruct the delegates to the national convention, but to charge them to pledge the fealty of the party to the candidate nominated at Chicago, whoever he may be.

A New York dispatch of Tuesday says: A special meeting of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company has been called for June 16th, in compliance with threats made by the stockholders to secure an injunction against the consolidation with the Debardeleben company if it was not again considered. The consolidation had already been ratified by the stockholders.

Advices of Saturday from Guthrie, Oklahoma, state that it is declared positively that the Dalton gang, which held up the Santa Fe express at Red Rock, I. T., last Wednesday, secured from the Wells-Fargo safe $50,000 which was being forwarded from the treasury department at Washington to the agent of the Sac and Fox Indians in part payment for lands recently purchased by the government.

A cablegram of Tuesday from Warsaw states that the police authorities have for some time past been making visits to the homes of persons in Poland suspected of being nihilists, in search of explosives or incriminating documents. Two thousand persons have been arrested in the different provinces of Poland. Most of these are men under thirty years of age. One hundred of them have been exiled to Siberia.

A Philadelphia dispatch says: Nearly a thousand men resumed work Monday morning at the large Spreckles sugar refineries here after a shut-down of nearly three months. General Manager Peterson said to a reporter: "By Wednesday morning we shall have over one thousand men at work, and on Thursday we shall put our sugar on the market again at such prices as we deem remunerative without any reference to such prices as any trust may be disposed to dictate."

A London cablegram says: The new Oriental bank applied to the Bank of England Wednesday for assistance to tide it over its troubles, but was refused. It accordingly suspended. It has branches at several points in India, Australia, Japan, New York and San Francisco. A circular issued by the directors gives the liabilities as £7,250,000 and uncalled capital as £6,000,000. The directors recommend the depositors to withdraw only 20 per cent of their deposits, in order to allow of the successful reconstruction of the bank.

A Railroad for Sale.

The Illinois Central has an option until June 18th on the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Pacific. President Fish has called his stockholders together to decide whether they shall buy. He says that the system can be bought on a basis of paying for all securities, $6,000,000 in money, $20,000,000 of Illinois Central 4 per cent bonds, being part of an issue by a pledge of the purchased securities. The remaining $6,000,000 of bonds to be retained by the Illinois Central.

GEORGIA CROPS.

Some Statements from Agricultural Department Reports.

The monthly crop report of the state agricultural department will be issued in a few days. It contains the monthly crop averages for the different sections of the state, from which we make a few extracts. These averages are based on reports from about a thousand correspondents of the department in different parts of the state, and the average for each county being found, the county averages are combined to make the district averages for north Georgia, middle Georgia, southwest Georgia and east Georgia. The figures all represent the condition of the crop as compared with an average crop, except in the case of cotton, where additional figures are given to show the stand as compared with a perfect stand. The district averages are as follows:

Comparing the district averages, the average for the state is as follows: Corn, 94 1-16; oats, 83 1-8; wheat, 96 1-3; cotton, stand, 88½; cotton, condition, 88¾.

The reports from the watermelon district show that the crop is somewhat below the average in condition, while the acreage, with the exception of some of the most southern shows a marked decrease. These reports indicate that the acreage is large in the lower counties that come into the market first, while the upper or late counties have heavily reduced their crop. This is clearly the result of last year's experience, which was uniformly disastrous to the late shippers, while the earlier ones in some cases did fairly well. Considering acreage and condition the crop is not likely to be as large as that of last year.

The notes accompanying the reports indicate that the drouth throughout the state has made crops backward. In southwest Georgia the spring oats have been almost a total failure. Cool nights have also contributed to the backwardness of crops. The bud worms have been injuring corn all over Georgia. In the southern part of the state cotton has been attacked by lice. Corn is very small, but generally in a healthy condition. The reports from all parts of the state indicate a fine peach crop. The report for apples is a little less favorable and that for pears is very discouraging. In the counties which produce the Le Conte pear largely it is reported that the crop will be almost a failure.

DECREASED ACREAGE

Was Shown in Secretary Rusk's April Cotton Report.

A Washington telegram of Wednesday says: In response to an inquiry as to the truth of the statement which has appeared in several papers to the effect that in the April crop report of the department of agriculture, it was stated that "the cotton crop of this year would exceed the world's demand over two millions of bales," Secretary Rusk replied as follows: "No such statement was ever made in the April crop report of the department of agriculture, or in any other report issued by this department. The only statement made authoritatively by this department in regard to the cotton crop for this year, is that based upon reports of our correspondents on cotton planting, the results of which are stated as showing a decrease in cotton acreage this year of from 18 to 19 per cent. That is all that has been said in any report of this department relating to the cotton crop for the present year."

MAINE DEMOCRATS

Send Uninstructed Delegates to the National Convention.

The democratic state convention of Maine, was called to order in Bangor at noon Wednesday. William H. Clifford, of Portland, was chosen temporary chairman and made a speech of an hour's duration mainly devoted to the tariff. The convention nominated Charles F. Johnson of Waterville, for governor, and elected delegates to the Chicago convention. The delegates are uninstructed, but the platform recommends the nomination of Cleveland.

The Debt Statement.

The debt statement for May shows a decrease in the cash balance in the treasury during the month of $5,512,378, the net cash balance being $36,005,880; aggregate of the debt, including certificates and treasury notes, $1,603,440,270; total cash in the treasury, $795,800,595; gold certificates outstanding, $171,765,729; silver certificates outstanding, $380,904,003; currency certificates outstanding, $34,020,000; treasury notes of 1890 outstanding, $97,891,908.

WHAT'S PARTICULAR, FOR THE WOODS OF THE SOUTH IT HAS NO EQUAL.

The patent by which this saw is protected consists of a depression of the face of the cutting teeth through the center from point to base, thus converting all friction points in two, giving strength and stiffness to the teeth and increasing three-fold the durability of the "cut." WE CHALLENGE THE WORLD to produce a saw equalling the ATKINS FAST CUTTING DEXTER.

NEW YORK CONTEST.

The Syracuse Convention Selects Delegates to the Chicago Meeting

THIS INDORSES A BITTER CONTEST—THE MID-WINTER MEETING DENOUNCED AND CLEVELAND INDORSED.

Pursuant to call the Cleveland Democrats met in convention in Syracuse, N. Y., Tuesday. The meeting was called to order at 2:30 o'clock by Charles S. Fairchild, chairman of the state committee, who made a brief speech. Hon. John D. Kernan was named as temporary chairman of the convention. Mr. Kernan then took the chair, and addressed the convention. At the conclusion of his remarks the roll of delegates was called, and the convention took a recess until 3:30 o'clock. During the recess delegations met by congressional districts to elect members to each of the committees that had been provided for before the intermission. At 4:15 o'clock the convention was again called to order by Mr. Kernan, who asked for reports of the committees. Jacob P. Miller, of New York, as chairman of the committee on permanent organization, reported for permanent officers the temporary organization. Mr. Kernan thanked the convention for its renewed courtesy, and called on Ellery Anderson, chairman of the committee on resolutions, for the report of that committee. Chairman Anderson then sent to Secretary Baldwin the platform as prepared and revised by the committee during the recess, and it was read.

THE PLATFORM ADOPTED.

The platform opens with the declaration that the democratic party alone is true to the people and can be trusted to administer the government in their interest; denounces the republican party and its billion dollar congress and its McKinley bill and the force bill, and contrasts with it the wise and prudent democratic administration of Grover Cleveland. It condemns, with much detail, the McKinley tariff act and says the democratic party has no more urgent mission than to destroy a system productive of so much evil and, in a spirit of moderation with due regard to the interest of capital now invested and labor now employed in protected industries, the paramount duty of the party is to continue its opposition to the tariff until all customs taxation is enacted for revenue only. It approves the use of both gold and silver as money and demands that all dollars, whether gold or silver, shall be equal in value to each other, in fact as well as by declaration of law. It demands the repeal of the Sherman silver law of 1880, as an obstruction of international bimetalism and because it is rapidly bringing this country to silver monometalism with all of its attending evils. It recognizes the necessity of an organization through which the party may direct its energies, but when such organization claims to be the party itself instead of its instrument, then it suppresses the voice and misrepresents the desire of the party. When it calls caucuses at unaccustomed seasons, and upon insufficient notice; when regardless of the votes it placed upon the convention roll, it admits to the convention only those who, without respect to to the voice and wishes of their constituents, will agree in advance to support the schemes and oligarchy it has established; when it gives notices in advance that they who will not agree to be subservient will not be admitted—then it ceases to be representative, creates discontent, rouses resentment and imperils the success of the party. In this emergency it becomes the duty of the original elements of the party to take such notice as will restore to it the just relations between its members and their agents. The platform closes as follows:

The democratic party retains unshaken confidence in the ability and lofty integrity of Grover Cleveland, and in his devotion to public duty. He is the choice of an overwhelming majority of the democrats of New York, and the country may rely with confidence on his ability to carry the state triumphantly in November. We believe that by nominating him to lead the party in the approaching contest for the presidency, the national convention will carry out almost the unanimous wish of the party and best consult the welfare of the country. We pledge ourselves to support the candidate nominated in Chicago. The delegation chosen by this convention is instructed to act as a unit according to the determination of a majority of its members.

The denouncement of the midwinter convention was greeted with tremendous applause. The reference to Grover Cleveland as being able to carry New York state also moved the convention to its feet and brought on a storm of applause, while the affirmation that this convention and its constituencies would support the nominee at Chicago, whoever he might be, was greeted by a burst of ringing cheers that left no doubt as to the purpose of the convention. At the close of the reading the throng was again upon its feet, and the applause was long and uproarious. Several enthusiastic and earnest speeches were made in seconding the motion for the adoption of the platform. The report of the resolutions committee was then adopted, the platform being thus endorsed. The following resolution supplementary to the platform was presented and adopted:

Resolved, That this convention approves, endorses and point with pride to the administration of Grover Cleveland, and we recommend him to the Chicago convention for nomination, and to the democratic party and patriotic people of the country for re-election again to the presidency.

Judge Sunderlin, of Schuyler county, then read a list of district delegates at large chosen by the districts and by the committee on delegates to the Chicago convention. The work of the committee was approved, and thus the question of a protest had been determined, and a course of a contest and demand at Chicago for the seventy-seats of New York York had been fixed upon.

INDORSED THE ELECTORS.

Before adjournment was had the following resolution was presented:

"Whereas, The object of this convention is to correct the wrong done to the democrats of New York by the convention held at Albany on the 22d of February last in the selection of a delegation to Chicago not representative of their will; and

Whereas, We realize that the action of the electoral college clearly registers the will of the party, as proposed at the national convention and expressed at the polls; now, therefore, better to assure the democratic party that we have no other wish than that the will of the party shall be fairly ascertained and registered by the electoral college, we hereby nominate as electors for president and vice president of the United States the following citizens of New York:

Mr. Fairchild then read the list of electors named at the Albany convention in February, and the resolution was adopted, and the nominations thus were endorsed. A resolution of thanks to the citizens of Syracuse was adopted, for their hospitable treatment of the convention, and at 5:30 o'clock p. m., the convention adjourned sine die.

SCENES OF DEVASTATION.

A dispatch of Sunday from Arkansas City brings news of fearful devastation by floods in the west. The telegram says: The river here is still rising and now the guage is 49.8 feet. All communication with the back country, except by skiff or dugout, is cut off. The water is cutting all kinds of capers. Bayous and sloughs that have heretofore run down stream during flood times are now rushing up stream at lightning rapidity regardless of all the laws of gravitation, taking not only farmers' fences, but actually taking his crops by the roots, soil and all, and carrying it no man knows where. Whole fields are reported from which every particle of loose soil has been swept away. While the back water of Arkansas City is eight-tenths below that of 1890, six miles west of here it is reported up to 1890, and up about the Amos Bayou country it is above 1890. Water from the Arkansas passing through Gum swamp and other places, is now pouring over the banks into Bayou Bartholomew in a number of places and overflowing that stream, damaging the planting community along its banks.

A trip through a portion of the submerged districts of the Arkansas and White rivers reveals the fact that the stories of suffering have not been half told. Without any attempt at exaggeration it can be said that the entire valley is in a condition bordering on a state of horror. In Desha county, Arkansas, one of the richest farming counties in the south, there are not one thousand acres of dry land to be seen outside of Laconi circles. Not a farm has escaped and of the entire population, with the exception of a few negroes, who are roosting in the second stories of houses, not a human being is to be seen. Hollindel, up the White river, has been swept off the face of the earth and the remnants of houses are lodged among the limbs of the trees along the banks of that mighty torrent. There is not an inhabitant there today, nor a soul living at Chicot City. The back water has come forty miles from the Arkansas river and is up to the second story of buildings.

Red Fork, a place of 400 people, is no more, and the same can be said of Pendleton. Relief boats have come in from that section, bringing surviving families. Large plantations, known as the Blackmore place, Allen Maples and Green place, are under water, and ruined, and tenants are camping around on high spots of ground, wet and hungry. All around Catfish point the waters come rushing in from the Arkansas river, sweeping through forty miles of plantation property.

AT GRANT'S TOMB.

A New York dispatch says: The fund for the Grant monument has been completed. That was the announcement made, amid the cheers of the multitude, at the Memorial Day exercises Monday afternoon in front of the tomb of General Grant. The crowd was a very large one. The program of exercises was very impressive and appropriate. The principal oration was delivered by Colonel Charles Marshall, who was chief of staff to General Lee, the confederate commander. Among other things, he said: "It is not easy to express the thoughts that the scene before me inspired in my mind—in the mind of every man who understands the full meaning of this occasion. Men who were arrayed against each other in deadly strife are now met together to do honor to the memory of one who led one part of this audience to complete and absolute victory over the other, yet in hearts of the victors there is no feeling of triumph, and in the hearts of the vanquished there is no bitterness; no humiliation."

After referring to the bitterness of the conflict and the fact that the combatants so quickly dispersed at the end of the war, he said:

"No such peace as our peace ever followed immediately upon such a war as our war. The exhausted south was completely at the mercy of the victorious north and yet the sound of the last gun had scarcely died away when, not only peace, but peace and good will, were re-established, and victors and vanquished both took up the work of repairing the damages of war and advancing the common welfare of the whole country, as if the old relations—social, commercial and political between the people of the two sections had never been disturbed."

CORN IN GEORGIA.

The Census Office Gives the Average Yield Per Acre.

The census office at Washington has just issued its report of the average yield of cereals per acre in Georgia and Alabama. Of corn in Georgia the yield is 11.33 per acre, while in Alabama it is 14.14. Of oats, in Georgia, 9.22; in Alabama, 9.37. Wheat, in Georgia, 5.58; in Alabama, 5.26. Of rye, in Georgia, 4.15; in Alabama, 5.67. The county in Georgia which produced the largest number of bushels of corn in 1889 was Burke, which produced 598,585, but that was produced on 64,480 acres, while Floyd produced 506,377 bushels on 30,087 acres, or over twice as many bushels per acre. Washington county produced 510,560 bushels on 57,631 acres. Bartow produced more wheat than any other county in Georgia. It grew 66,993 bushels on 2,906 acres. Gordon comes next with 57,164 bushels on 8,524 acres. There are twenty-six counties in Georgia which did not produce a bushel of wheat during that year. There are but three counties in the state that produced more than 100,000 bushels of oats. They are Brooks, Floyd and Wilkes. Brooks produced 122,775 bushels on 13,825 acres, Floyd 109,649 bushels on 9,759 acres and Wilkes, 134,491 on 12,697 acres.

Smallpox in West Virginia.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Parkersburg, W. Va., says: The reports of smallpox in a violent form in Pomeroy, Mason City and Setart have abundant foundation. It was reported Tuesday that there were twenty-six cases at Pomeroy, with four deaths, and a dozen cases at Mason City, with several deaths. The disease is spreading rapidly down the river.

A CYCLONE'S WORK.

Wellington, Kans., A Heap of Ruins and a Scene of Death and Disaster.

THE DEAD AND DYING UNDER HEAPS OF BRICK AND MORTAR—INCIDENTS OF THE CALAMITY.

A disastrous cyclone struck the town of Wellington, Kan., Friday night which plowed its devastating track through the business part of the town, killing and injuring hundreds of people and destroying an immense amount of property. A heavy storm of wind preceded the cyclone about half an hour. A few minutes after 9 o'clock the cyclone struck the city, coming from the northwest. There were no premonitory signs. Everybody was indoors and the cloud passed with its destructive rush and awful roar. Washington avenue, principal business street, is lined on both sides for blocks with ruins. To add to the horror, fire broke out among the debris of Colonel Robinson's block. A solid block of brick buildings containing half a dozen stores and the postoffice and printing offices lies a tumbled heap of bricks and mortar. No reports have been received from other points. Wellington is the county seat of Sumner county, and has a population of over ten thousand inhabitants. It is in the center of a thickly settled agricultural district. It is the most prominent town in southern Kansas.

FURTHER DETAILS.

A special dispatch of Saturday from Kansas City gives further details of the cyclone horror and says: The cyclone of last Saturday night was terribly destructive in its effects. Fifteen persons are known to have been killed, and an investigation of the wrecked buildings has only been barely commenced. The cyclone did not do much damage until it reached the center of the town. On Jefferson avenue it destroyed the Lutheran church, but only unroofed residences. Its most furious work was done within the compass of four squares bounded by Jefferson avenue, Avenue C and Seventh and Ninth streets. Every building in those four squares was demolished and wrecked. Fortunately, residences in that locality are not numerous, otherwise the loss of life would have been much greater than now appears to be. The Phillips house, a hotel, was demolished, and seven dead bodies have been taken from the ruins. The work of rescue there is just only begun. The house was well filled with guests, and the loss of life in the house is thought to be great. The offices of the four local newspapers—The Monitor, The Press, The Voice and The Mail—were destroyed. The Wellington foundry was demolished, and Mrs. William Asher and her sister, Katie Strahan, who happened to be passing there at the time, were buried in its ruins and killed. Their bodies have been recovered. The destruction in the northeastern part of the city has also been great.

LIST OF CASUALTIES.

The following is a complete list of the killed as far as known: Frank D. Campbell, James Hastie, Leonard Adamson, Ida Jones, Mrs. Asher and sister, Kittie Strahan. Professor Mayer and Horton Upson are missing and are probably killed, Lieutenant W. French and Cadet Samms, of the Salvation Army; Mrs. Murphy and a child named Mattie Hodges are badly injured. Cas Stoner, Gus Colby, Dick Weaver, Carrie Mitchell and Ed Forsythe each received injuries more or less serious. The streets are impassable and nothing but ruin exists everywhere. At least twelve bodies have already been taken out of the ruins, and something less than seventy-five are injured. Men are working everywhere trying to rescue the imprisoned ones.

No one now can realize the extent of the catastrophe and daylight will alone reveal the saddest scene of the ruin and desolation ever witnessed in southern Kansas. The Cole and Robbinson block ruins took fire and strenuous efforts are being made to rescue the people known to be buried there. It is now believed that the list of the dead will number between twenty and thirty, and the injured about seventy.

The most appaling scene was that at the Phillips house, where a ball was in progress when the cyclone burst. The dancers were given little opportunity to escape from the toppling structure. As the building began swaying in the terrific gale, the people in the crowded ballroom made a frantic rush for the doors. The stairways and halls were immediately filled by crazed men and women, who tore at each other in their mad rush for the open air. With the crash of the walls about and over them, there arose a great wall of despair from the imprisoned and doomed multitude.

As the timbers crashed down upon the struggling merry-makers, their hoarse cries were throttled by the weight of the mass of timbers above them. Then came the silence of death and insensibility, only to be followed, a moment later, by the shrill blasts of the tempest, as it rushed on to other destructive work, and the agonized shrieks of the injured or dying who were pinned down in a mass of debris. Those who escaped from the building began immediately the work of rescue. Some of those who fled from the building left wives and sweethearts, husbands or brothers behind. These they sought in the pile of bricks and timbers. As fast as the bodies were taken out they were surrounded by a crowd of anxious people, who vainly tried to identify their mangled remains.

A meeting of the Salvation Army was in progress in a hall near the Robinson block. The falling walls of this building crushed the hall and it is known that two were killed. It is probable when the wreck is cleared away it will be found many more perished. It was past time for the army to adjourn, but the storm kept the meeting in. One of the members was engaged in prayer when the cyclone struck the Robinson block. Before any of the soldiers could rise from their knees the walls of the building gave way with a crash. How any of them escaped alive is a marvel.

Seven persons at the residence of Esquire Smith were badly injured and the whole number may at any time be added to the list of the dead.

Cholera Ravages.

Cable dispatches of Tuesday from Calcutta, India, report that, since May 7th, there have been 2,460 deaths from cholera at Serinagur, in the vale of Cashmere. All Europeans in the place became alarmed some time ago at the fearful ravages of the disease, and left the city.

Convicting Mexicans.

The United States court, in session at San Antonio, has so far secured twenty convictions of Mexicans who were guilty of violating the neutrality laws during the late Garza revolutionary affair on the border.

BUSINESS REVIEW

For Past Week as Reported by R. G. Dun & Co.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade for week ending May 27th says: Business failures occuring during the week number for the United States 188, Canada 18; total 206 against 192 week before. Better weather has wrought a quick improvement in business at many points. The floods still make some trouble and threaten more. Country roads which nobody can travel prevent distribution and collections, and fears about the crop in many quarters still check purchasers. But the area over which these influences were felt was relatively narrow and is narrowing while more cheering weather throughout a greater part of the country has given a decided stimulus to the trade and greatly changed crop prospects. Other conditions are generally favorable. Labor is, on the whole, well employed with rather less interruptions from strikes, than is usual at this season.

The money markets are everywhere well supplied and easy, and at several points an increasing demand is noticed. At Baltimore southern trade holds out beyond expectations. At Philadelphia general improvement is seen. There is little new in the great industries though, other than standard brands of iron are much depressed. Farm implement makers have resumed. Their demands, with better weather, are greater, and the demand for structural iron is large. Heavy sales of steel cotton ties have been made at 2 cents delivered, the lowest price ever known. Cotton mills are doing more business than in any other year, and print cloths are firmer, for stocks are low. The shipments of boots and shoes continue to exceed last year's and are but 3 per cent below the highest ever known for the year thus far. Speculation in cotton has been active with a sixteenth advance and sales of 569,000 bales, floods and bad weather tending to lessen production.

Nothing disturbs the money market and the action in congress on silver is not expected to amount to anything. The treasury has paid out $500,000 more money than it has taken in during the week. Merchandise exports are large and for the week have exceeded last year $4,500,000 or 17½ per cent, while the increase in imports over last year is a trifle.

GERMAN SUGAR

Stored Up by the Ton Awaiting American Buyers.

A cable dispatch of Monday from Berlin, Germany, says: Last year $8,678,899 worth of sugar was exported to America from the consular jurisdiction of Berlin, including the two great sugar centers, Hamburg and Madgeburg. During the quarter of this year not one pound of sugar was exported. One hundred thousand tons of raw sugar are stored in Hamburg, and an equal amount is held at Lubeck, Stettin and in the manufacturing districts. The German merchants and producers wish to sell, but no buyer appears. It is very unusual situation, and many reasons have been given for its existence.

Are We Physically Advancing.

Edward Atkinson has examined the record of hundreds of ready-made clothing establishments to discover whether the white man of the United States is deteriorating in size and weight. As the general result it was found that the average height of the New Englander is five feet, eight and one-half inches, and of Southerners five feet, ten inches. The average weight of the American of to-day is between 155 and 160 pounds. Mr. Atkinson discovered that the average height and weight of men in this country has perceptibly increased since the war of 1861-5, and that we are slowly increasing rather than decreasing in size and strength.—(Chicago News.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

Industrial Development During the Week Ended May 28th.

The Chattanooga Tradesman, in its review of the situation in the south for the week ended May 28, 1892, states that the reports received from its correspondents throughout the southern states show that in the overflowed districts of the Mississippi valley the destruction of crops has been fully as great as anticipated. It is not believed, however, that the cotton area is materially reduced, and no reduction is expected in the amount to be raised. From Texas points complaints are made of a cold and backward season. The iron industry seems to show signs of reviving prosperity. Throughout the iron and coal districts of Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama there is reasonable activity, and new industries, such as iron and steel works, textile plants, etc., are reported as in contemplation. The interest before reported in new cotton mills continues, and several are mentioned as having been organized during the week, with others in progress. The lumber industry is unchanged. The general tenor of reports is fairly satisfactory, and warrants the belief that the south is steadily and surely emerging from the era of financial and industrial depression.

Sixty-one new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with fifteen enlargements of manufactories, and seventeen important new buildings. Among the new industries reported are brick works at Cartersville, Ga., and Greenville, S. C., canneries at Quincy, Fla., and Sharon, Tenn., a $50,000 cigar factory at Tampa, Fla., cotton compresses at Birmingham, Ala., Houston and Marlin, Tex., and a steam cotton gin at Robeline, La. An electric plant with $500,000 capital has been organized at Atlanta, Ga., one with $50,000 capital at Rome, Ga., and one with the same capital at Glendale, W. Va. A grain elevator will be built at Denton, Tex., a $100,000 fence company chartered at Savannah, Ga., and one with $10,000 capital at Clarendon, S. C., flour and grist mills are reported at Austin, Tex., capital $70,000, at Huntsville, Ala., Readyville, Tenn., and Waxahatchie, Tex., and ice factories established at Opelika, Ala., and Morrillton, Ark., a cotton tie factory at Birmingham, Ala., a $800,000 steel and iron furnace at Llano, Tex., a $50,000 engine and boiler works at Greenville, Texas, a $50,000 iron castings plant at Newport, Ky., a hardware company at Chattanooga, Tenn., and a wire plow line plant at Birmingham, Ala. A $50,000 coal mining company has been organized at Lynchburg, Va., one with the same capital at Elkhorn, W. Va., and one at Knoxville, Tenn., a vulcanizing plant at Alexandria, Va., nickel plating works at Pine Log, Ga., a phosphate mining company at Ocala, Fla., oil and gas companies at Hartford City and Middle Ferry, W. V., oil mills at Mobile, Ala., and a stamp mill at Eastland, Texas. A $100,000 cotton mill will be built at Magnolia, Miss., a $75,000 one at Elberton, Ga., and one at Bessemer, Ala.

Among new woodworking plants of the week are furniture factories at Little Rock and Pine Bluff, Ark., a lumber company at Bristol, Tenn., planing mills at Douglasville, Ga., and Atlanta, Texas, saw and shingle mills at Gurley, Ala., Poplar Grove, Ark., Plaquemine, La., London and and Cookeville, Tenn., and a wagon factory at Hickman, Ky.

Among enlargements of factories reported are: Coke works at Maybeury, W. Va., electric lighting plants at Mobile, Ala., and Charleston, S. C., each adding $50,000 to the capital, gas works at wheeling, W. Va., iron works at Salem, Va., powder works at Colliswab, Tenn., a $200,000 addition to a cotton mill at Fort Worth, Tex., and woodworking plants at Logansport, Ky., Florence, S. C., and Morganton, N. C.

The new buildings of the week include a bank building at Canton, Miss., business houses at Stone and Savannah, Ga., Titusville, Fla., Lexington, Ky., and Hartsville, Tenn., a church at Plymouth, Va., halls at Erlanger, Ky., and Bitterwood, Tenn., a $160,000 hotel at Morristown, Tenn., and a sanitarium at Knoxville, Tenn., and a warehouse at Unionton, Ga. Mail contracts are reported at Hopkinsville, Ky., Dunnellsville, La., Summerville, Ark., and Longwood, Miss.

French Public Schools.

Germany will have to look to her laurels respecting her position as the foremost country in the line of popular education. France has taken a vigorous start to overtake Germany, and made great progress in the education of her people that she is now only a little behind her great rival. Twenty-five years ago not 50 per cent of the recruits drafted into the French army were able to read; at present 90 per cent of them are able to read and write.

In 1872 there were 56,000 public schools; at present these are about 67,000, an increase of 20 per cent. In 1872 there were 78,000 teachers; at present there are above 106,000, an increase of 40 per cent. In 1872 there were 3,886,000 pupils attending public schools; at present there are 4,436,000, an increase of 21 per cent. Or, 11,000 new schools were built, nearly 800,000 more pupils are being taught and 30,000 more teachers are employed at present than there were twenty years ago.—Chicago Herald.

A Poor Performance.

Young Hopeful—"Mamma, did you tell papa I'd got to have a bicycle?"

"Mamma—"Yes, but he said he couldn't afford it."

"Course he said that; but what did you do?"

"I argued in favor of it, but he refused."

"Argued! Huh! If it ud been anything you wanted for your own self, you'd a cried a little, an' then you'd got it."—Street & Smith's Good News.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

Cost of Steamship Working.

The cost of working a steamship is in comparison with many industries, great. During last year six of the steamships of a large company earned a gross profit of $350,000. Out of that sum there was first paid for the wages and provisions of the crew $80,000. Port charges came next in amount, and over $55,000 was so paid, while the cost of insurance was $42,000. The bunker coal cost $85,000, the cost of loading and discharging was $40,000, and the commissions paid to merchants and brokers, with dispatch money, aggregated $20,000.

When deck and engine stores, the cost of docking, painting, etc., and the cost of management is added, the total expenditures is brought up to $315,000, so that only about one-tenth of the original gross profit remains to be divided among the owners of the vessels.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

I could catch at a straw. When I began taking it my face and hands were covered with sores, which are all gone. After I had been taking it a couple of weeks I could not deny that I felt better. I have now taken 3 bottles and as a result I weigh 150 lbs., am able to work again and feel a thousand times better. I am certain that in a short time by continuing the medicine I shall be completely cured as I am now so near it. My friends all express surprise to see such a change.

"August Flower"

"For two years I suffered terribly with stomach trouble, and was for all that time under treatment by a physician. He finally, after trying everything, said my stomach was worn out, and that I would have to cease eating solid food. On the recommendation of a friend I procured a bottle of August Flower. It seemed to do me good at once. I gained strength and flesh rapidly. I feel now like a new man, and consider that August Flower has cured me." Jas. E. Dederick, Saugerties, N.Y.

NEW YORK CONTEST.

The Syracuse Convention Selects Delegates to the Chicago Meeting

THUS INSURING A BITTER CONTEST—THE MID-WINTER MEETING DENOUNCED AND CLEVELAND INDORSED.

Pursuant to call the Cleveland Democrats met in convention in Syracuse, N. Y., Tuesday. The meeting was called to order at 2:30 o'clock by Charles S. Fairchild, chairman of the state committee, who made a brief speech. Hon. John D. Kernan was named as temporary chairman of the convention. Mr. Kernan then took the chair, and addressed the convention. At the conclusion of his remarks the roll of delegates was called, and the convention took a recess until 3:30 o'clock. During the recess delegations met by congressional districts to elect members to each of the committees that had been provided for before the intermission. At 4:15 o'clock the convention was again called to order by Mr. Kernan, who asked for reports of the committees. Jacob F. Miller, of New York, as chairman of the committee on permanent organization, reported for permanent officers the temporary organization. Mr. Kernan thanked the convention for its renewed courtesy, and called on Ellery Anderson, chairman of the committee on resolutions, for the report of that committee. Chairman Anderson then sent to Secretary Baldwin the platform as prepared and revised by the committee during the recess, and it was read.

THE PLATFORM ADOPTED.

The platform opens with the declaration that the democratic party alone is true to the people and can be trusted to administer the government in their interest; denounces the republican party and its billion dollar congress and its McKinley bill and the force bill, and contrasts with it the wise and prudent democratic administration of Grover Cleveland. It condemns, with much detail, the McKinley tariff act and says the democratic party has no more urgent mission than to destroy a system productive of so much evil and, in a spirit of moderation with due regard to the interest of capital now invested and labor now employed in protected industries, the paramount duty of the party is to continue its opposition to the tariff until all customs taxation is enacted for revenue only. It approves the use of both gold and silver as money and demands that all dollars, whether gold or silver, shall be equal in value to each other, in fact as well as by declaration of law. It demands the repeal of the Sherman silver law of 1890, as an obstruction of international bimetalism and because it is rapidly bringing this country to silver monometalism with all of its attending evils. It recognizes the necessity of an organization through which the party may direct its energies, but when such organization claims to be the party itself instead of its instrument, then it suppresses the voice and misrepresents the desire of the party. When it calls caucusses at unaccustomed seasons, and upon insufficient notice; when regardless of the votes it placed upon the convention roll, it admits to the convention only those who, without respect to the voice and wishes of their constituents, will agree in advance to support the schemes and oligarchy it has established; when it gives notices in advance that they who will not agree to be subservient will not be admitted—then it ceases to be representative, creates discontent, rouses resentment and imperils the success of the party. In this emergency it becomes the duty of the original elements of the party to take such notice as will restore to it the just relations between its members and their agents. The platform closes as follows:

The democratic party retains unshaken confidence in the ability and lofty integrity of Grover Cleveland, and in his devotion to public duty. He is the choice of an overwhelming majority of the democrats of New York, and the country may rely with confidence on his ability to carry the state triumphantly in November. We believe that by nominating him to lead the party in the approaching contest for the presidency, the national convention will carry out almost the unanimous wish of the party and best consult the welfare of the country. We pledge ourselves to support the candidate nominated in Chicago. The delegation chosen by this convention is instructed to act as a unit according to the determination of a majority of its members.

The denouncement of the midwinter convention was greeted with tremendous applause. The reference to Grover Cleveland as being able to carry New York state also moved the convention to its feet and brought on a storm of applause, while the affirmation that this convention and its constituencies would support the nominee at Chicago, whoever he might be, was greeted by a burst of ringing cheers that left no doubt as to the purpose of the convention. At the close of the reading the throng was again upon its feet, and the applause was long and uproarious. Several enthusiastic and earnest speeches were made in seconding the motion for the adoption of the platform. The report of the resolutions committee was then adopted, the platform being thus endorsed. The following resloution supplementary to the platform was presented and adopted:

Resolved, That this convention approve, endorse and point with pride to the administration of Grover Cleveland, and we recommend him to the Chicago convention for nomination, and to the democratic party and patriotic people of the country for re-election again to the presidency.

Judge Sunderlin, of Schuyler county, then read a list of district delegates at large chosen by the districts and by the committee on delegates to the Chicago convention. The work of the committee was approved, and thus the question of a protest had been determined, and a course of a contest and demand at Chicago for the seventy-seats of New York York had been fixed upon.

INDORSED THE ELECTORS.

Before adjournment was had the following resolution was presented:

"Whereas, The object of this convention is to correct the wrong done to the democrats of New York by the convention held at Albany on the 22d of February last in the selection of a delegation to Chicago not representative of their will; and

Whereas, We realize that the action of the electoral college clearly registers the will of the party, as proposed at the recent convention and expressed at the polls; now, therefore, better to secure the democratic party that we have no other wish than that the will of the party shall be fairly ascertained and registered by the electoral college, we hereby nominate as electors for president and vice president of the United States the following citizens of New York:

Mr. Fairchild then read the list of electors named at the Albany convention in February, and the resolution was adopted, and the nominations thus were endorsed. A resolution of thanks to the citizens of Syracuse was adopted, for their hospitable treatment of the convention, and at 5:50 o'clock p. m., the convention adjourned sine die.

SCENES OF DEVASTATION.

A dispatch of Sunday from Arkansas City brings news of fearful devastation by floods in the west. The telegram says: The river here is still rising and now the guage is 49.8 feet. All communication with the back country, except by skiff or dugout, is cut off. The water is cutting all kinds of capers. Bayous and sloughs that have heretofore run down stream during flood times are now rushing up stream at lightning rapidity regardless of all the laws of gravitation, taking not only farmers' fences, but actually taking his crops by the roots, soil and all, and carrying it no man knows where. Whole fields are reported from which every particle of loose soil has been swept away. While the back water of Arkansas City is eight-tenths below that of 1890, six miles west of here it is reported up to 1890, and up about the Amos Bayou country it is above 1890. Water from the Arkansas passing through Gum swamp and other places, is now pouring over the banks into Bayou Bartholomew in a number of places and overflowing that stream, damaging the planting community along its banks.

A trip through a portion of the submerged districts of the Arkansas and White rivers reveals the fact that the stories of suffering have not been half told. Without any attempt at exaggeration it can be said that the entire valley is in a condition bordering on a state of horror. In Desha county, Arkansas, one of the richest farming counties in the south, there are not one thousand acres of dry land to be seen outside of Laconi circles. Not a farm has escaped and of the entire population, with the exception of a few negroes, who are roosting in the second stories of houses, not a human being is to be seen. Hollindel, up the White river, has been swept off the face of the earth and the remnants of houses are lodged among the limbs of the trees along the banks of that mighty torrent. There is not an inhabitant there today, nor a soul living at Chicot City. The back water has come forty miles from the Arkansas river and is up to the second story of buildings.

Red Fork, a place of 400 people, is no more, and the same can be said of Pendleton. Relief boats have come in from that section, bringing surviving families. Large plantations, known as the Blackmore place, Allen Maples and Green place, are under water, and ruined, and tenants are camping around on high spots of ground, wet and hungry. All around Catfish point the waters come rushing in from the Arkansas river, sweeping through forty miles of plantation property.

AT GRANT'S TOMB.

A New York dispatch says: The fund for the Grant monument has been completed. That was the announcement made, amid the cheers of the multitude, at the Memorial Day exercises Monday afternoon in front of the tomb of General Grant. The crowd was a very large one. The program of exercises was very impressive and appropriate. The principal oration was delivered by Colonel Charles Marshall, who was chief of staff to General Lee, the confederate commander. Among other things, he said: "It is not easy to express the thoughts that the scene before me inspired in my mind—in the mind of every man who understands the full meaning of this occasion. Men who were arrayed against each other in deadly strife are now met together to do honor to the memory of one who led one part of this audience to complete and absolute victory over the other, yet in hearts of the victors there is no feeling of triumph, and in the hearts of the vanquished there is no bitterness; no humiliation."

After referring to the bitterness of the conflict and the fact that the combatants so quickly dispersed at the end of the war, he said:

"No such peace as our peace ever followed immediately upon such a war as our war. The exhausted south was completely at the mercy of the victorious north and yet the sound of the last gun had scarcely died away when, not only peace, but peace and good will, were reestablished, and victors and vanquished both took up the work of repairing the damages of war and advancing the common welfare of the whole country, as if the old relations—social, commercial and political between the people of the two sections had never been disturbed."

CORN IN GEORGIA.

The Census Office Gives the Average Yield Per Acre.

The census office at Washington has just issued its report of the average yield of cereals per acre in Georgia and Alabama. Of corn in Georgia the yield is 11.33 per acre, while in Alabama it is 14.14. Of oats, in Georgia, 9.29; in Alabama, 9.87. Wheat, in Georgia, 5.58; in Alabama, 5.26. Of rye, in Georgia, 4.15; in Alabama, 6.67. The county in Georgia which produced the largest number of bushels of corn in 1889 was Burke, which produced 592,583, but that was produced on 64,480 acres, while Floyd produced 506,377 bushels on 30,087 acres, or over twice as many bushels per acre. Washington county produced 510,560 bushels on 57,621 acres. Bartow produced more wheat than any other county in Georgia. It grew 66,933 bushels on 9,906 acres. Gordon comes next with 57,164 bushels on 8,524 acres. There are twenty-six counties in Georgia which did not produce a bushel of wheat during that year. There are but three counties in the state that produced more than 100,000 bushels of oats. They are Brooks, Floyd and Wilkes. Brooks produced 122,775 bushels on 13,225 acres, Floyd 102,642 bushels on 9,759 acres and Wilkes, 134,491 on 12,697 acres.

Smallpox in West Virginia.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Parkersburg, W. Va., says: The reports of smallpox in a violent form in Pomeroy, Mason City and Letart have abundant foundation. It was reported Tuesday that there were twenty-six cases at Pomeroy, with four deaths, and a dozen cases at Mason City, with several deaths. The disease is spreading rapidly down the river.

A CYCLONE'S WORK.

Wellington, Kansas, A Heap of Ruins and a Scene of Death and Disaster.

THE DEAD AND DYING UNDER MASSES OF BRICK AND MORTAR—INCIDENTS OF THE CALAMITY.

A disastrous cyclone struck the town of Wellington, Kan., Friday night which plowed its devastating track through the business part of the town, killing and injuring hundreds of people and destroying an immense amount of property. A heavy storm of wind preceded the cyclone about half an hour. A few minutes after 9 o'clock the cyclone struck the city, coming from the northwest. There were no premonitory signs. Everybody was indoors and the cloud passed with its destructive rush and awful roar. Washington avenue, principal business street, is lined on both sides for blocks with ruins. To add to the horror, fire broke out among the debris of Colonel Robinson's block. A solid block of brick buildings containing half a dozen stores and the postoffice and printing offices lies a tumbled heap of bricks and mortar. No reports have been received from other points. Wellington is the county seat of Sumner county, and has a population of over ten thousand inhabitants. It is in the center of a thickly settled agricultural district. It is the most prominent town in southern Kansas.

FURTHER DETAILS.

A special dispatch of Saturday from Kansas City given further details of the cyclone horror and says: The cyclone of last Saturday night was terribly destructive in its effects. Fifteen persons are known to have been killed, and an investigation of the wrecked buildings has only been barely commenced. The cyclone did not do much damage until it reached the center of the town. On Jefferson avenue it destroyed the Lutheran church, but only unroofed residences. Its most furious work was done within the compass of four squares bounded by Jefferson avenue, Avenue C and Seventh and Ninth streets. Every building in those four squares was demolished and wrecked. Fortunately, residences in that locality are not numerous, otherwise the loss of life would have been much greater than now appears to be. The Phillips house, a hotel, was demolished, and seven dead bodies have been taken from the ruins. The work of rescue there is just only begun. The house was well filled with guests, and the loss of life in the house is thought to be great. The offices of the four local newspapers—The Monitor, The Press, The Voice and The Mail—were destroyed. The Wellington foundry was demolished, and Mrs. William Asher and her sister, Katie Strahan, who happened to be passing there at the time, were buried in its ruins and killed. Their bodies have been recovered. The destruction in the northeastern part of the city has also been great.

LIST OF CASUALTIES.

The following is a complete list of the killed as far as known: Frank D. Campbell, James Hastie, Leonard Adamson, Ida Jones, Mrs. Asher and sister, Kittie Strahan. Professor Mayer and Horton Upson are missing and are probably killed, Lieutenant W. French and Cadet Samms, of the Salvation Army; Mrs. Murphy and a child named Mattie Hodges are badly injured. Cas Stoner, Gus Colby, Dick Weaver, Carrie Mitchell and Ed Forsythe each received injuries more or less serious. The streets are impassable and nothing but ruin exists everywhere. At least twelve bodies have already been taken out of the ruins, and something less than seventy-five are injured. Men are working everywhere trying to rescue the imprisoned ones.

No one now can realize the extent of the catastrophe and daylight will alone reveal the saddest scene of the ruin and desolation ever witnessed in southern Kansas. The Cole and Robbinson block ruins took fire and strenuous efforts are being made to rescue the people known to be buried there. It is now believed that the list of the dead will number between twenty and thirty, and the injured about seventy.

The most appaling scene was that at the Phillips house, where a ball was in progress when the cyclone burst. The dancers were given little opportunity to escape from the toppling structure. As the building began swaying in the terrific gale, the people in the crowded ballroom made a frantic rush for the doors. The stairways and halls were immediately filled by crazed men and women, who tore at each other in their mad rush for the open air. With the crash of the walls about and over them, there arose a great wail of despair from the imprisoned and doomed multitude.

As the timbers crashed down upon the struggling merry-makers, their hoarse cries were throttled by the weight of the mass of timbers above them. Then came the silence of death and insensibility, only to be followed, a moment later, by the shrill blasts of the tempest, as it rushed on to other destructive work, and the agonized shrieks of the injured or dying who were pinned down in a mass of debris. Those who escaped from the building began immediately the work of rescue. Some of those who fled from the building left wives and sweethearts, husbands or brothers behind. These they sought in the pile of bricks and timbers. As fast as the bodies were taken out they were surrounded by a crowd of anxious people, who vainly tried to identify their mangled remains.

A meeting of the Salvation Army was in progress in a hall near the Robinson block. The falling walls of this building crushed the hall and it is known that two were killed. It is probable when the wreck is cleared away it will be found many more perished. It was past time for the army to adjourn, but the storm kept the meeting in. One of the members was engaged in prayer when the cyclone struck the Robinson block. Before any of the soldiers could rise from their knees the walls of the building gave way with a crash. How any of them escaped alive is a marvel.

Seven persons at the residence of Esquire Smith were badly injured and the whole number may at any time be added to the list of the dead.

Cholera Ravages.

Cable dispatches of Tuesday from Calcutta, India, report that, since May 7th, there have been 2,460 deaths from cholera at Berhampur, in the vale of Cashmere. All Europeans in the place became alarmed some time ago at the fearful ravages of the disease, and left the city.

Convicting Mexicans.

The United States court, in session at San Antonio, has so far secured twenty convictions of Mexicans who were guilty of violating the neutrality laws during the late Garza revolutionary affair on the border.

BUSINESS REVIEW

For Past Week as Reported by R. G. Dun & Co.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade for week ending May 27th says: Business failures occurring during the week number for the United States 185, Canada 13; total 198 against 195 week before. Better weather has wrought a quick improvement in business at many points. The floods still make some trouble and threaten more. Country roads which nobody can travel prevent distribution and collections, and fears about the crop in many quarters still check purchasers. But the area over which these influences were felt was relatively narrow and is narrowing while more cheering weather throughout a greater part of the country has given a decided stimulus to the trade and greatly changed crop prospects. Other conditions are generally favorable. Labor is, on the whole, well employed with rather less interruptions from strikes than is usual at this season.

The money markets are everywhere well supplied and easy, and at several points an increasing demand is noticed. At Baltimore southern trade holds out beyond expectations. At Philadelphia general improvement is seen. There is little new in the great industries though, other than standard brands of iron are much depressed. Farm implement makers have resumed. Their demands, with better weather, are greater, and the demand for structural iron is large. Heavy sales of steel cotton ties have been made at 2 cents delivered, the lowest price ever known. Cotton mills are doing more business than in any other year, and print cloths are firmer, for stocks are low. The shipments of boots and shoes continue to exceed last year's and are but 3 per cent below the highest ever known for the year thus far. Speculation in cotton has been active with a sixteenth advance and sales of 560,000 bales, floods and bad weather tending to lessen production.

Nothing disturbs the money market and the action in congress on silver is not expected to amount to anything. The treasury has paid out $500,000 more money than it has taken in during the week. Merchandise exports are large and for the week have exceeded last year $4,500,000 or 17½ per cent, while the increase in imports over last year is a trifle.

GERMAN SUGAR

Stored Up by the Ton Awaiting American Buyers.

A cable dispatch of Monday from Berlin, Germany, says: Last year $3,673,899 worth of sugar was exported to America from the consular jurisdiction of Berlin, including the two great sugar centers, Hamburg and Madgeburg. During the quarter of this year not one pound of sugar was exported. One hundred thousand tons of raw sugar are stored in Hamburg, and an equal amount is held at Lubeck, Stetlin and in the manufacturing districts. The German merchants and producers wish to sell, but no buyer appears. It is very unusual situation, and many reasons have been given for its existence.

Are We Physically Advancing.

Edward Atkinson has examined the record of hundreds of ready-made clothing establishments to discover whether the white man of the United States is deteriorating in size and weight. As the general result it was found that the average height of the New Englander is five feet, eight and one-half inches, and of Southerners five feet, ten inches. The average weight of the American of to-day is between 155 and 160 pounds. Mr. Atkinson discovered that the average height and weight of men in this country has perceptibly increased since the war of 1861-5, and that we are slowly increasing rather than decreasing in size and strength.—[Chicago News.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

Industrial Development During the Week Ended May 28th.

The Chattanooga Tradesman, in its review of the situation in the south for the week ended May 28, 1892, states that the reports received from its correspondents throughout the southern states show that in the overflowed districts of the Mississippi valley the destruction of crops has been fully as great as anticipated. It is not believed, however, that the cotton area is materially reduced, and no reduction is expected in the amount to be raised. From Texas points complaints are made of a cold and backward season. The iron industry seems to show signs of reviving prosperity. Throughout the iron and coal districts of Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama there is reasonable activity, and new industries, such as iron and steel works, textile plants, etc., are reported as in contemplation. The interest before reported in new cotton mills continues, and several are mentioned as having been organized during the week, with others in progress. The lumber industry is unchanged. The general tenor of reports is fairly satisfactory, and warrants the belief that the south is steadily and surely emerging from the era of financial and industrial depression.

Sixty-one new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with fifteen enlargements of manufactories, and seventeen important new buildings. Among the new industries reported are brick works at Cartersville, Ga., and Greenville, S. C., canneries at Quincy, Fla., and Sharon, Tenn., a $50,000 cigar factory at Tampa, Fla., cotton compresses at Birmingham, Ala., Houston and Marlin, Tex., and a steam cotton gin at Robeline, La. An electric plant with $500,000 capital has been organized at Atlanta, Ga., one with $50,000 capital at Rome, Ga., and one with the same capital at Glendale, W. Va. A grain elevator will be built at Denton, Tex., a $100,000 fence company chartered at Savannah, Ga., and one with $10,000 capital at Clarendon, S. C., flour and grist mills are reported at Austin, Tex., capital $70,000, at Huntsville, Ala., Readyville, Tenn., and Waxahatchie, Tex., and ice factories established at Opelika, Ala., and Morrilton, Ark., a cotton tie factory at Birmingham, Ala., a $600,000 steel and iron furnace at Llano, Tex., a $50,000 engine and boiler works at Greenville, Texas, a $50,000 iron castings plant at Newport, Ky., a hardware company at Chattanooga, Tenn., and a wire plow line plant at Birmingham, Ala. A $50,000 coal mining company has been organized at Lynchburg, Va., one with the same capital at Elkhorn, W. Va., and one at Knoxville, Tenn., a vulcanizing plant at Alexandria, Va., nickel plating works at Pine Log, Ga., a phosphate mining company at Ocala, Fla., oil and gas companies at Hartford City and Middle Ferry, W. Va., oil mills at Mobile, Ala., and a stamp mill at Eastland, Texas. A $100,000 cotton mill will be built at Magnolia, Miss., a $75,000 one at Elberton, Ga., and one at Bessemer, Ala.

Among new woodworking plants of the week are furniture factories at Little Rock and Pine Bluff, Ark., a lumber company at Bristol, Tenn., planing mills at Douglasville, Ga., and Atlanta, Texas, saw and shingle mills at Gurley, Ala., Poplar Grove, Ark., Plaquemine, La., London and and Cookeville, Tenn., and a wagon factory at Hickman, Ky.

Among enlargements of factories reported are: Coke works at Maybeury, W. Va., electric lighting plants at Mobile, Ala., and Charleston, S. C., each adding $50,000 to its capital, gas works at Wheeling, W. Va., from works at Salem, Va., powder works at Ocklawah, Tenn., a $200,000 addition to a cotton mill at Fort Worth, Tex., and woodworking plants at Logansport, Ky., Florence, S. C., and Morganton, N. C.

The new buildings of the week include a bank building at Canton, Miss., business houses at Rome and Savannah, Ga., Tarpville, Fla., Lexington, Ky., and Hamilton, Tex., a church at Pittsville, Va., halls at Erlanger, Ky., and Gainesville, Texas, a $100,000 hotel at Hamilton, Texas, and a residence at Galveston, Texas, and a warehouse at Cuthbert, Ga. Among purchases reported at Hendersonville, N. C., Russellville, Ky., Opelika, Ala., and Denison, Texas.

French Public Schools.

Germany will have to look to her laurels respecting her position as the foremost country in the line of popular education. France has taken a vigorous start to overtake Germany, and made such progress in the education of her people that she is now only a little behind her great rival. Twenty-five years ago not 50 per cent of the recruits drafted into the French army were able to read; at present 90 per cent of them are able to read and write.

In 1878 there were 56,000 public schools; at present there are about 67,000, an increase of 19 per cent. In 1878 there were 76,000 teachers; at present there are above 106,000, an increase of 40 per cent. In 1878 there were 3,836,000 pupils attending public schools; at present there are 4,476,000, an increase of 21 per cent. Or, 11,000 new schools were built, nearly 600,000 more pupils are being taught and 30,000 more teachers are employed at present than there were twenty years ago.—Chicago Herald.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

Cost of Steamship Working.

The cost of working a steamship is in comparison with many industries, expensive. During last year six of the steamships of a large company earned a gross profit of $350,000. Out of that sum there was first paid for the wages and provisions of the crew $60,000. Port charges came next in amount, and over $55,000 was so paid, while the cost of insurance was $45,000. The bunker coal cost $35,000, the cost of loading and discharging was $40,000, and the commissions paid to merchants and brokers, with dispatch money, aggregated $20,000.

When deck and engines stores, the cost of docking, painting, etc., and the cost of management is added, the total expenditures is brought up to $315,000, so that only about one-tenth of the original gross profit remains to be divided among the owners of the vessels.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

In Session at Minneapolis to Name the Standard-Bearers of the Party.

A BITTER CONTEST BETWEEN THE HARRISON AND BLAINE MEN.

Summary of Each Day's Proceedings Presented in Brief.

For days before the opening of the convention the city was crowded with delegates and visitors. From the time of the announcement of Blaine's resignation as Secretary of State, signalizing that he had fully entered the presidential contest against Harrison, the wildest excitement prevailed. It early developed that there would be a fight between the Blaine and Harrison factions. Following is the summary of the convention proceedings:

CALLED TO ORDER.

The convention was called to order at 12:24 p. m. After prayer the call of the convention was read by D. E. Young. Dr. William Brush, of Dakota university, led in prayer. Mr. Clarkson announced that the national committee had recommended Mr. Fassett, of New York, for temporary chairman. Fassett, who is a Blaine man, was elected temporary chairman by acclamation, the Harrison men not opposing him. There was great cheering, and a storm of applause greeted him as he stepped forward to read the names of the committee on credentials and call the convention to order. Tremendous applause greeted Fassett as he named the Republican leaders and said: "Harrison and Blaine." His remarks about a "free and honest" ballot took the crowd immensely. Mr. Fassett devoted a great deal of his speech to the injustice of the democratic denial of suffrage in the south. These references finally resulted in the audience calling for Reed to come forward. Reed finally rose and mounted the platform to speak. Reed's speech was frequently cheered. Then there were loud calls for McKinley. The audience rose to their feet and loudly cheered. At the conclusion of McKinley's speech, officers were announced as having been selected by the national committee. They included secretaries, assistant secretaries, reading clerks and official stenographers. These temporary officers were elected by acclamation, and it was ordered that until permanent organization should be effected the convention should be governed by the rules of the last preceding republican convention.

The call of the roll of states for members of the various committees was then begun. Each state, as it was called, announced, through its chairman, the members it had chosen for service on committees.

Immediately after the completion of the call of states and the announcement of the membership of the various committees the convention adjourned until 11 o'clock Wednesday morning.

SECOND DAY.

The second day of the convention opened gloomy. The heavy rain which fell almost all Tuesday night left the streets sloppy and unpleasant. At 9 o'clock not a shout was heard in the hotel corridor. A great deal of bitterness has been created in the last twenty-four hours. The leaders on both sides have used every effort to prevent ill feeling, but to no avail. The charges made against each other by the representatives of the candidates in the struggle to control the doubtful vote, has made much trouble. Some cooler men, high in the party council, say there is only one way to heal the breach, and that is by the selection of a compromise delegate. This feeling has been given strength.

The convention was called to order at 11:45 a. m. Wednesday. Minneapolis presented the convention with a gavel. The chairman of the committee on credentials stated they could not hope to report before Thursday. William McKinley, of Ohio, was selected as permanent chairman of the convention and Spooner and Mahone were appointed a committee to conduct McKinley to the chair. There was great cheering when the chairman of the committee on permanent organization introduced permanent chairman McKinley and tremendous applause greeted him when he arose to speak. McKinley said this convention would present a platform and candidate that would meet with the approbation of the country and predicted success in November. He also spoke in great praise of the protective tariff and its results. He said the party's duty was to see that there was a free and honest ballot in all parts of the land.

Bingham, of Pennsylvania, submitted the report of the rules committee making the rules of the 51st congress the rules of the convention with necessary modifications. Chairman Foraker, of the committee on resolutions, asked for further time. Grant d. Foraker was cheered by the convention. The rolls of states for the nomination of national committeemen were then called. The report of the committee on rules was adopted.

A number of memorials and resolutions were presented and referred to the various committees without being read. On motion the credentials committee adjourned till 11 o'clock Thursday.

The committee on credentials practically controls the political situation, as it is within its power, in case that power is exercised unscrupulously, to seat or unseat enough delegates to exercise the balance of power in the convention. It is very manifest that the proceedings of that convention are not to be characterized by that harmony which has been so strongly urged on all sides. The Blaine people have control of the committee, but the opposition has a very large and agressive minority, and every vantage point is contested stubbornly and eloquently. It has generally been the custom that the committee on credentials appointed on the first day of the convention to be prepared to report on the opening of the second, but that will not be the case this year.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Development in the Week Ending June 4th.

The Tradesman, Chattanooga, Tennessee, in its review of the industrial situation in the South for the week ending June 4th, says that its correspondents generally agree in saying that the prospects for a full crop have been a good deal affected by the continued high water and heavy rains. It seems more than probable that the production of cotton will be lessened even more than has been predicted, as it will not be possible to replant in the overflowed districts. Farmers have learned the lesson taught by the large crop and low prices of last season, and have planted more varieties than ever before. The result will be that the outside markets will not be called upon to such an extent as heretofore, to supply Southern needs, especially in grain and meat products.

Several new cotton mills are reported as in contemplation, and the enlargement of others indicates that the textile industry is attracting unusual attention. In the iron and coal districts there is no change of importance. The lumber business is somewhat affected by high water. The Northern demand for Southern lumber is increasing, and sales are readily made at a small advance. There is no complaint of want of money where suitable security can be given.

Fifty-seven new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with 11 enlargements of manufactories, and 20 important new buildings. Among the new industries reported are a $100,000 brick plant at Rome, Ga., canneries at Anniston and Decatur, Ala., Waynesboro, Ga., and Sardis, Miss., cement works at Cumberland, W. Va., a cotton compress and oil mill at Dermott, Ark., a $200,000 construction company at New Berne, N. C., a cotton oil plant with $500,000 capital at Savannah, Ga., a $100,000 electric lighting plant at El Paso, Tex., and a $1,000,000 fuel and gas company at Newport, Ky. Flouring mills are to be established at Belton, Tex., and Huntsville, Ala., glass works at Richland, Va., a $100,000 heat and power company at St. Augustine, Fla., a $40,000 water and light company at Orange, Tex., a foundry at Greenwood, S. C., and a $137,000 land company at Newport, Ky.; coal mine and coke works at Bolfe, W. Va., and iron mines to be opened at Cedartown, Ga., a $25,000 oil mill at Flatonia, Tex., and others at Demopolis, Ala., and Norfolk, Va., a shoe factory at Rome, Ga., $25,000 soap works at Dallas, Texas, projected steel works with large capital at Birmingham, Ala., and a tobacco factory at Winston, N. C. Cotton mills are reported at Athens and Piedmont, Ala., Madison, Ga., and Hard River, N. C., a bagging factory at Savannah, Ga., and a $100,000 wood alcohol plant at Grand Rivers, Ky. Among wood working plants newly established are a barrel factory at Glen Ellen, Tenn., a furniture factory at Selma, Ala., a $50,000 lumber company at Petroleum, W. Va., and others at Jasper, Tenn., and Dallas, Texas, planing mills at Kirkland, Francisco and Bodentown, Ala., Monroe and Logansport, La., Bristol and Clinton, Tenn., and Georgetown, W. Va., a $80,000 spoke and hub factory at Greenwood, Miss., a shingle mill at Little Rock, Ark., and variety works at Dadeville, Ala. Water works are reported at Ludlow, Ky., Winston, N. C., and Martinsville, Va. Among enlargements of mechanical industries for the week are: An electric lightning plant at Meridian, Miss., flour and grist mills at Gadsden, Ala., and Falmouth, Ky., an oil mill at Wolfe City, Texas, cotton mills at Rockingham, N. C., and Greenwood and Newberry, S. C., and woodworking plants at Camden, Ark., Bagdad, Fla., Wilmington, N. C., Biloxi, Miss., and Tyler, Tex.

Among new buildings of the week are a $500,000 abbatoir at Dallas, Texas, a bank building at Lynchburg, Va., business houses at Little Rock, Ark., Memphis, Tenn., and Hillsboro, Texas, Churches at Statesville, N. C., and Newberry, S. C. College and school buildings at Dadeville and Roanoke, Ala., Hawkinsville and Macon, Ga., and Greenville, Tenn. A $50,000 hotel at Galveston, Texas, one costing $35,000 at Fulton, Ky. A $45,000 mill building at Little Rock, Ark., an opera house at Floresville, Tex., and warehouses at Winston, N. C., and Greenville, Tenn.

Commissioner of Agriculture.

It will be remembered that Judge Henderson filled this position acceptably for fourteen years up to November, 1890; and now, complying with the urgent requests of his friends, he has again entered the race and has become a candidate for the same position.

BLAINE RESIGNS

As Secretary of State and Will Stand for the Republican Nomination.

A Washington dispatch of Saturday says: Mr. Blaine has surprised all hands and created a great sensation by resigning. His resignation was curt and short. It contained none of the usual expressions of regret which generally beflower esignations. Mr. Harrison promptly accepted his resignation. His note is short and curt, and as devoid of regret as is he resignation itself. Between the inditing of the resignation and the acceptance thereof just fifty minutes elapsed.

Following is the correspondence in full:

Department of State, Washington, June 4, 1892, 12:45 p. m.—To the President: I respectfully beg leave to submit my resignation of the office of secretary of state of the United States, to which I was appointed by you on the 5th of March, 1889.

The condition of public business in the depeatment of state justifies me in requesting that my resignation may be accepted immediately. I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant, JAMES G. BLAINE.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY.

Executive Mansion, Washington, June 4, 1892.—The Secretary of State: Your letter of this date tendering your resignation of the office of secretary of state of the United States has been received. The terms in which you state your desires are such as to leave me no choice, but to accede to your wishes at once. Your resignation is, therefore, accepted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJAMIN HARRISON,

Hon. James G. Blaine.

So far as could be learned the resignation volunteered by Secretary Blaine had not been preceded by any notice or intimation to the president that it might be expected. Whatever may have been the genesis or immediately impelling cause of Blaine's resignation, there seems to be no doubt whatever among the friends in Washington city that by it he has placed himself in a position of readiness to accept the Republican nomination for president.

THE NEWS IN WASHINGTON CITY.

News of Blaine's resignation spread through the city like wild fire and was the sole topic of conversation in official and political circles. The white house was the objective point for the president's friends, who naturally were anxious to learn the facts in the case, and the president had already finished his luncheon when he was visited by Secretary Elkins, Attorney General Miller and Secretaries Noble and Foster. During an informal conference that followed, the president calmly told his cabinet what had happened and suggested in the interest of harmony and good taste that they make no public comments whatever on the situation. Therefore, cabinet officials refused positively to talk for publication on the subject.

During the afternoon the president sent word to the state department that he desired to see Assistant Secretary Wharton. That gentleman went to the white house at once and the president informed him briefly of Blaine's resignation and that he desired him to act as secretary of state for the present.

THE NEWS IN THE HOUSE.

News of the resignation of Secretary Blaine created a profound sensation at the capitol. The senate was not in session, but the house was in the throes of filibustering against the anti-option bill. The effect of the reception of the Associated Press bulletin announcing the event was magical. The telegram was read by the speaker and by Representative Dingley, and almost instantly the news spread over the hall like a wave of sound.

Within two minutes the space in front of the desk was filled by a throng of representatives struggling to get a glimpse of the bit of yellow paper which was snatched from one hand to another. The speaker left the chair, temporarily delegating his duties to Representative Johnstone, of South Carolina, and the latter soon found that he had assumed an almost impossible task in endeavoring to keep order in the house while it labored under the strain of excitement. The clerks were calling the roll on some motion to take a recess until some unreasonable hour in the evening; but their voices could scarcely be heard over and above the hum of consultation and tones of ejaculation. The effect was discouraging to pending business. Then came a comparison of views, democrats and republicans gathering in knots in the rear of the seats and putting their heads together in consultation.

"What does it mean?" was the question in every mouth. It did not take the democrats long to decide what view to take of the matter as to the initial stage. It means that Blaine is standing for nomination, said one and all. Nearly all of the democrats were of one mind on another point, and that was expressed by the speaker, who said that the resignation meant war to the knife between the administration and the anti-administration factions.

CONGRESSMEN INTERVIEWED.

The opinions expressed by congressmen were various. There were those who thought Blaine would sweep the field, while the more sober opinions seemed to be that Harrison would be successful. Among democratic congressmen the opinion seemed to prevail that it would be this fight of 1884 over again, Blaine on one side and Cleveland on the other. The senators were wary when spoken to, and politely declined to be committed.

THE NEWS IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Dispatches of Saturday from Minneapolis state that the news of Secretary Blaine's resignation and its acceptance by the president created the wildest excitement. The Blaine men were wild with enthusiasm and cheer after cheer greeted the announcement in the West house. Clarkson, Platt, Fassett and a score of other Blaine boomers insisted that it meant Blaine's nomination on the first ballot and there was a Blaine stampede among the delegates and others. Cheers for Blaine re-echoed through the corridors and were taken up in the street. In a minute the streets were wild with excitement. Men marched in squads and marched up and down the streets yelling, "Blaine! Blaine! James G. Blaine!" The Harrison men were jeered by the wildest excited Blaine men and two or three personal encounters were narrowly averted. The Blaine fever never seemed to be infectious. Delegates who had been for Harrison were reported to be coming over to Blaine and in several instances this seemed to be the case. The Blaine men expect to sweep everything before them. Blaine badges, during the afternoon, were distributed indiscriminately by lavish hands to admirers of the Maine man at the "people's headquarters." Colonel W. A. Garratt, of Michigan, made a speech to a cheering multitude, saying that Blaine will accept. "The milleunium has come!" was the closing sentences of Colonel Garrett's speech, and three more cheers were given for James G. Blaine.

JOHN SHERMAN AS A COMPROMISE.

A later dispatch says: The feeling among the delegates at midnight seems to be that it would be suicidal to nominate either Blaine or Harrison. John Sherman is openly advocated by many delegates, even many those instructed for Harrison.

TRADE TALK.

Dunn & Co's. Report of Business for Past Week.

R. G. Dunn & Co.'s review of trade for week ending June 7th, says that the tone of commercial reports from various parts of the country indicate that business has, to some extent, improved. More favorable weather has helped both retail and wholesale trade in many quarters and has materially improved crop prospects at the west, while a little improvement in the price of cotton has operated as a stimulus to business at the south. There has been no difficulty or disturbance in the money market and the volume of currency in circulation has increased during the month of May about six million five hundred thousand dollars, amounting to $1,680,000 on June 1st.

Collections throughout the country are on the whole better than of late and fairly satisfactory, and excepting the speculative corner at Chicago, there has been no especial excitement in any kind of business. Wheat has declined half a cent, western receipts being unusually large, though export in cotton, in the belief that the acreage will be much diminished, has helped the speculators to advance the price one-fourth of a cent, and transactions have been moderately light. Nevertheless the stock of cotton in the country continues far beyond the record of the previous years and there is every reason to believe that even a great reduction in the yield will scarcely reduce the aggregate supply for the year below the quantity usually required for consumption. The iron business shows considerable increase in transactions, though there is as much complaint as ever of low prices. Business is still retarded by bad weather at Little Rock and Memphis, improved a little at Nashville, but very dull at Savannah. Cotton, strengthener at New Orleans and there is a better feeling in business generally, while sugar is in fair demand and rises steadily.

Business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co., number for the United States, 218; Canada, 26.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Happenings of the Day Called from Our Telegraphic and Cable Dispatches.

WHAT IS TRANSPIRING THROUGHOUT OUR OWN COUNTRY, AND NOTES OF INTEREST FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

At New York Saturday afternoon two thousand people assembled in Broadway at Main street to witness the start of Frank J. Lenz, an amateur bicyclist on his trip around the world on a pneumatic safety bicycle. The start was made from the city hall at precisely 3 o'clock.

Tuesday's dispatches from Titusville, Pa., state that bodies continue to be found along Oil creek, between that place and Oil City. Thirty or forty bodies are believed to have been carried down the stream. A conservative estimate of the loss of life at Titusville is 100. The city hall presented Monday scenes recalling war times and the Johnstown disaster.

In the democratic primaries in Cincinnati and Hamilton county, Monday night, the anti-Cleveland men carried everything, not more than four friends of the ex-president being elected out of sixty-five delegates to the state convention. This insures the election of four Hill or anti-Cleveland delegates to the national convention in the Cincinnati districts.

The Maryland democratic state committee assembled in Baltimore Wednesday. Representative men of the party from all parts of the state were present. United States Senator Gorman was on hand. The general sentiment was not to instruct the delegates to the national convention, but to charge them to pledge the fealty of the party to the candidate nominated at Chicago, whoever he may be.

A New York dispatch of Tuesday says: A special meeting of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company has been called for June 16th, in compliance with threats made by the stockholders to secure an injunction against the consolidation with the Debardeleben company if it was not again considered. The consolidation had already been ratified by the stockholders.

Advices of Saturday from Guthrie, Oklahoma, state that it is declared positively that the Dalton gang, which held up the Santa Fe express at Red Rock, I. T., last Wednesday, secured from the Wells-Fargo safe $50,000 which was being forwarded from the treasury department at Washington to the agent of the Sac and Fox Indians in part payment for lands recently purchased by the government.

A cablegram of Tuesday from Warsaw states that the police authorities have for some time past been making visits to the homes of persons in Poland suspected of being nihilists, in search of explosives or incriminating documents. Two thousand persons have been arrested in the different provinces of Poland. Most of these are men under thirty years of age. One hundred of them have been exiled to Siberia.

A Philadelphia dispatch says: Nearly a thousand men resumed work Monday morning at the large Spreckles sugar refineries here after a shut-down of nearly three months. General Manager Peterson said to a reporter: "By Wednesday morning we shall have over one thousand men at work, and on Thursday we shall put our sugar on the market again at such prices as we deem remunerative without any reference to such prices as any trust may be disposed to dictate."

A London cablogram says: The new Oriental bank applied to the Bank of England Wednesday for assistance to tide it over its troubles, but was refused. It accordingly suspended. It has branches at several points in India, Australia, Japan, New York and San Francisco. A circular issued by the directors gives the liabilities as £7,360,000 and uncalled capital as £6,000,000. The directors recommend the depositors to withdraw only 20 per cent of their deposits, in order to allow of the successful reconstruction of the bank.

A Railroad for Sale.

The Illinois Central has an option until June 18th on the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Pacific. President Fish has called his stockholders together to decide whether they shall buy. He says that the system can be bought on a basis of paying for all securities, $2,000,000 in money, $30,000,000 of Illinois Central 4 per cent bonds, being part of an issue by a pledge of the purchased securities. The remaining $6,000,000 of bonds to be retained by the Illinois Central.

GEORGIA CROPS.

Some Statements from Agricultural Department Reports.

The monthly crop report of the state agricultural department will be issued in a few days. It contains the monthly crop averages for the different sections of the state, from which we make a few extracts. These averages are based on reports from about a thousand correspondents of the department in different parts of the state, and the average for each county being found, the county averages are combined to make the district averages for north Georgia, middle Georgia, southwest Georgia and east Georgia. The figures all represent the condition of the crop as compared with an average crop, except in the case of cotton, where additional figures are given to show the stand as compared with a perfect stand. The district averages are as follows:

Middle Georgia—Corn, 92½; oats, 75 4-5; wheat, 94 1-2; cotton, stand, 88 3-8; cotton, condition, 80 2-3.

The reports from the watermelon district show that the crop is somewhat below the average in condition, while the acreage, with the exception of some of the most southern shows a marked decrease. These reports indicate that the acreage is large in the lower counties that come into the market first, while the upper or late counties have heavily reduced their crop. This is clearly the result of last year's experience, which was uniformly disastrous to the late shippers, while the earlier ones in some cases did fairly well. Considering acreage and condition the crop is not likely to be as large as that of last year.

The notes accompanying the reports indicate that the drouth throughout the state has made crops backward. In southwest Georgia the spring oats have been almost a total failure. Cool nights have also contributed to the backwardness of crops. The bud worms have been injuring corn all over Georgia. In the southern part of the state cotton has been attacked by lice. Corn is very small, but generally in a healthy condition. The reports from all parts of the state indicate a fine peach crop. The report for apples is a little less favorable and that for pears is very discouraging. In the counties which produce the Le Conte pear largely it is reported that the crop will be almost a failure.

DECREASED ACREAGE

Was Shown in Secretary Rusk's April Cotton Report.

A Washington telegram of Wednesday says: In response to an inquiry as to the truth of the statement which has appeared in several papers to the effect that in the April crop report of the department of agriculture, it was stated that "the cotton crop of this year would exceed the world's demand over two millions of bales," Secretary Rusk replied as follows: "No such statement was ever made in the April crop report of the department of agriculture, or in any other report issued by this department. The only statement made authoritatively by this department in regard to the cotton crop for this year, is that based upon reports of our correspondents on cotton planting, the results of which are stated as showing a decrease in cotton acreage this year of from 18 to 19 per cent. That is all that has been said in any report of this department relating to the cotton crop for the present year."

MAINE DEMOCRATS

Send Uninstructed Delegates to the National Convention.

The democratic state convention of Maine, was called to order in Bangor at noon Wednesday. William H. Clifford, of Portland, was chosen temporary chairman and made a speech of an hour's duration mainly devoted to the tariff. The convention nominated Charles F. Johnson of Waterville, for governor, and elected delegates to the Chicago convention. The delegates are uninstructed, but the platform recommends the nomination of Cleveland.

The Debt Statement.

WHERE DO YOU STAND?

A Democratic Leader Writes for Information. The White Democracy Desire an Open and Prompt Response.

To THE CHILTON VIEW:

"That whenever any nominee of a regular Democratic Convention in this State shall refuse, or fail to support the nominee of this Convention, that all democrats are absolved from supporting him, and that the Executive Committees of the several counties of this State, in accord with this Convention, be and are hereby authorized to take such steps as may be necessary to nominate others, in lieu of those refusing."

In view of the peculiar condition of matters in our State, arising from the holding of two Conventions, each claiming to be Democratic, but antagonizing one another, and placing opposing tickets in the field, both claiming the support of the Democratic party, it is believed such an emergency has arisen, as was provided for by the above quoted resolution and it became necessary for the candidates for the various offices of this county, nominated by The County Democratic Convention, on the 12th of last April, to define their position, and whether they will support the ticket nominated by the Convention at the State Capitol, headed by Thos. G. Jones, or the one nominated at the "Opera House," and headed by Reuben F. Kolb?

This interrogatory is prompted by no improper spirit, and the gentlemen on our county ticket are respectfully requested to respond to it promptly, and candidly, as a general desire exists in this community, and as I presume throughout the county to know their sentiments on this important matter at the earliest practical day.

DEMOCRAT.

The Democratic Ticket.

Governor—Thos. G. Jones, of Montgomery.

Secretary of State—J. D. Barron, of Clay.

Attorney-General—Wm. L. Martin, of Jackson.

Auditor—John W. Purifoy, of Wilcox.

Treasurer—Craig Smith, of Dallas.

Superintendent of Education—J. G. Harris, of Sumter.

Commissioner of Agriculture—Hector D. Lane, of Limestone.

Associate Justices—T. W. Coleman, of Greene, T. N. McClellan, of Limestone, J. B. Head, of Jefferson, Jonathan Haralson, of Dallas.

Negro Rights.

Do Mr. Kolb and his few followers know that the legal rights of the negro are to sit on juries, to have equal accommodations with whites in hotels, steamboats and railroad cars, and that his legal rights give him every privilege that can be accorded to any other person, without distinction of race color or previous condition. These legal rights could not be legally enforced or maintained even in the northern states and the civil rights law was a dead letter from the start. Yet Mr. Kolb would revive the civil rights law, and make an open pledge to that effect in the effort to control the negro vote.

Mr. Kolb had some followers in Chilton, but they are not going with him on that platform.

The Kolb county ticket in Chilton will endorse the Jones State ticket and leave Mr. Kolb to his whippers.

Hon. N. D. Denson, of Chambers, is the Democratic nominee for circuit judge in the 6th circuit, and Hon. S. K. McSpadden, of Cherokee, is the nominee for Chancellor in the northwestern Chancery district.

Too much politics and too much prejudice is what is the matter with our country.

When the VIEW pokes fun at its esteemed contemporary, the Selma Mirror, the Mirror imagines that our "angry passions" have risen. Not so brother, only our risibilities. We could not but smile at the Mirror for trying to call the VIEW green with the word "gauze." The "greenness" having been located within the sanctum of the Mirror, all is forgiven and forgotten. The Mirror puts forth the meaning of the heavy original squib in the following:

We accept the advice of our esteemed contemporary, the CHILTON VIEW, and will hereafter give a little more attention to grammar and the meaning of words. Thank you. But will our esteemed contemporary permit us to say in plain English that in saying that the Ocala demands were "very dead," it proved to be "very green," and that in a short while the proof would be piled up so fast that it would feel "blue, very blue."

As to whether the future will show the VIEW to be either "green" or "blue" on account of the Ocala demands, we shall see what we shall see. And if in our day and generation the Ocala demands should become the law of the land this scribe will be prepared to go to Selma for no other purpose than to treat the editor of the Mirror to —— we mean soda water.

Fifth—That whenever any nominee of a regular Democratic Convention in this State shall refuse or fail to support the nominees of this Convention, that all Democrats are absolved from supporting him and that the Executive Committees of the several counties of the State in accord with this Convention be, and are hereby authorized to take such steps as may be necessary to nominate others in lieu of those refusing.

Should the Executive Committee of any county in this State fail or refuse to take such steps as may be necessary to carry into effect the foregoing resolution the Democrats of each county may re-organize upon the advice of the State Executive Committee after an application in writing signed by not less than twenty Democrats in such county. The State Executive Committee shall provide the mode and manner of effecting the organization.

Any person who fails or refuses to support the nomination of this Convention is not a loyal member of the Democratic Party and is not eligible to the nomination to any office of the party or to hold the position of committeeman of the same in this State.

The National Republican ticket is composed of Benjamin Harrison, of Indiana, for President, and Whitelaw Reid, of New York, for Vice President.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Rev. B. E. Feagin preached here Sunday.

Mr. Tom Gullahorn is at home on a visit.

Mrs. W. A. Collier is visiting her father at Pine Level.

Dr. Collier, of Fray, visited Mr. W. A. Collier's family last Thursday.

We notice occasionally large quantities of wool being brought to Clanton for sale.

Mrs. W. H. Foshee expects to leave for Arkansas this week to visit her parents.

Thanks to Mr. C. R. Bruce for bringing some nice peaches to the VIEW "devils."

Dr. A. J. Marlar reports several cases of typho-malarial fever in the vicinity of Lomax.

Mr. A. J. Gullahorn, of Gravella, has been visiting his relatives and friends in Clanton during the week.

Dr. Dawson, Mrs Dawson and Miss Lela, of Kincheon, visited the family of Mr. George Dawson the past week.

Mr. H. P. Tresslar, the Montgomery photographer is a superior artist, and all of his work speaks for itself. See his card.

Last Thursday Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dawson lost their baby which had been sick for several weeks with a complication of diseases. The little sufferer was about ten months old and a very bright child. The remains were taken to Providence last Friday for burial. The parents have the deepest sympathy of their friends.

Mr. E. M. Barrett, Clanton's handsome young "limb of the law," was married to Miss Sallie Bell in Montgomery on the 8th inst., and the happy couple are now domiciled in our city, which will be their future home, and where the VIEW hopes they will meet with much prosperity.

A little child at Lomax got hold of a bottle of carbolic acid one day last week and spilled the contents over the front part of its body. The nearest physician was Dr. Marlar, whose resis about half way between Clanton and Lomax. Dr. Marlar relieved the little one's suffering as soon as he could reach her, and she is now doing well.

The Harpersville correspondent of the Shelby Chronicle says of Prof. S. J. Strock and his school at that place.

Prof. S. J. Strock has taught us two splendid schools and we would be glad if the community would employ him again. In him we find a fine scholar, a splendid teacher and a christian gentleman. And he has the good wishes of all who know him.

A correspondent writing from Cox's Chapel neighborhood 4 miles north of Maplesville says the crops in that section are above the average, especially corn. The acreage in cotton is 25 per cent. less than last year and has been made up in corn and peanuts. This a good report and we would like to have many others as good.

The VIEW is in receipt of a copy of the catalogue of the Marion Military Institute for the past session. This flourishing college is presided over by that superior educator and cultured christian gentleman, Col. J. T. Murfee, and it is an institution that stands at the front in the adoption of advanced educational systems. Parents having sons to educate should correspond with Col. Murfee.

BARRETT-BELL.

A Pretty Wedding of Young Montgomerians Wednesday Evening.

On Wednesday evening at 9:30 o'clock at the bride's home on Bellinger's Hill, Mr. Eugene M. Barrett, of Clanton, and Miss Sallie Bell, of this city, were united in marriage. Rev. Nell Pike officiating.

Only relatives and immediate friends of the young couple were present.

Mr. Barrett is a Montgomery boy and a young lawyer of much promise. Both the bride and groom are of the oldest and most prominent families of this city, and each numbers their friends by hundreds.

An informal reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Barrett by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jones immediately after the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett left for Clanton, their future home, yesterday afternoon. —Advertiser, 10th inst.

Lily Dots.

Quite a number of our good people have been sick the past week.

Miss Eulah Rasberry is now at home to spend her summer months.

Mrs. Nancy Lenoir has been quite sick, but is now improving.

Died, on the evening of the 30th ult., Mr. R. P. Woolley's little baby.

Miss Inez Hammond paid a pleasant visit to friends in Clanton last week.

Mr. E. Clay Jones paid a visit to friends in Elmore and Coosa county recently.

Several of our citizens attended a public speaking and picnic near Randolph on the 4th inst.

Democratic Meeting.

The following circular has been issued:

The Democrats of Chilton County are hereby invited to meet at the courthouse in Clanton, on Monday, June 20th, 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m. to endorse the action of the late Democratic Convention of the State of Alabama, and to organize for the coming campaign.

The Kolb Ticket.

Governor—R. F. Kolb, of Barbour.

Secretary of State—L. C. Ramsey, of Montgomery.

Treasurer—Thos. K. Jones, of Tuskaloosa.

Commissioner of Agriculture—S. M. Adams, of Bibb.

Auditor—W. T. B. Lynch, of Macon.

Attorney General—B. K. Collier, of Jefferson.

Superintendent of Education—J. O. Turner, of St. Clair.

The Supreme Court Judges are to be selected by the executive committee.

Maj. Ramsey refuses to accept the nomination for Secretary of State.

The man who envies another of his success is rarely successful and would not be worthy of it, should fortune so favor him. To be moved to action by the achievment of one of your fellow men is commendable, for the "trophies of Miltiades would not let Pericles sleep." It is the spirit that would drag others down, that would rejoice at a brothers' defeat, that gets its inspiration from the devil and is itself as black as hades. Envy is the meanest and perhaps the least profitable of all the vices.—Exchange.

Happy are the parents of Master J. E. Evans, Jr., who arrived in this city on last Monday evening.

Mr. Weldon who lived about five miles northeast of Clanton, died at his home on last Friday evening. He was 78 years of age.

The regular State Democratic ticket headed by Gov. Jones is the strongest that could have been nominated and will be elected by an overwhelming majority.

It is announced that Frank W. Gist, editor of the Calera Journal, and Mrs. Minnie Hardy, of Calera, will shortly wed. May prosperity and happiness attend them.

The Shelby Democrats have nominated a good ticket, and the third partyites according to the People's Advocate "have took" a hustle on themselves.

A Wise Counsellor.

The following from the "The Brotherhood," a paper published in Adams county, Miss., and edited by a negro, is so full of the wisdom of common sense that we take pleasure in reproducing it:

The recent utterances of Hon. Fred Douglass at Chicago were neither creditable to that gentleman or calculated to benefit his race.

Such utterances do no good.

An attempt by the colored people to carry out the ideas expressed by this gentleman would meet a response by the utter extinction of those who would attempt such a diabolical and inhuman act.

Women and children must not be made to suffer for the acts of others.

Lynch law is horrible; it is to be deplored by all good people; yet it has been carried on from time immemorial, and it will be carried on as long as brutes in human form commit the crime of rape, whether the offender be white or black.

The recent lynchings of white men in Louisiana and Tennessee for crimes committed against colored females shows that Judge Lynch's court is open of all regardless of race or color.

If one race is sinned against and is silent the culprit may go unpunished; and if another race is sinned against in the same manner and complains and the guilty party is caught and summarily dealt with, while the law does not applaud the act, yet human nature is so constituted that it says to the ravisher, "thou must die."

Lynchings for this crime will cease when the ravisher ceases his hellish work; then and not until then.

The writer of the foregoing is a better friend to his race than those who, like Fred Douglass, give bloody instructions which will return to plague the inventor. The worst enemy of the colored people is he who inflames the dark passions of ignorant men and incites them to deeds of violence. Their best friend is he who gives fair and temperate counsel, coupled with wholesome warning that the negro must correct himself before he undertakes the correction of the white man. He who sincerely has the welfare of the negro at heart will indeed deplore the lawless lynchings which have been made the subject of so much campaign indignation; but he will be more deeply concerned because of the proneness of the negro to commit the atrocious crime which is fast creating a deep-seated and inextinguishable antipathy toward his race. The negro has had evidence enough that lynching for rape is not confined to the South. Negroes have been lynched in Ohio and one has just been lynched in New York for this crime. It is not worth while to hold mass-meetings and adopt Tourgean resolutions damning the whole south because a rapist is hanged without judge or jury. It is bad; it is against the statutes; but those who began the agitation for the abolition of negro slavery taught that there is a higher law than law, and they must not complain if others have bettered the instruction.—Memphis Commercial.

The Blount county News says:

There is nothing talked of now but politics. Our Alliance friends denounce the third party, and yet we must candidly tell many of them that if they continue to vilify democracy as they have been doing, it is wrong for them to remain in its ranks. Malcontents are a disadvantage in any and every organization whether it be political, religious or social. We like the doctrines and principles of the order, and if carried out faithfully they would be productive of great good; but Mr. Macune and his associates never intended that they should be. From the very beginning their aim and object was to knife the Democratic party, break up the solid south, and give the Republicans another further lease of power. How any Southern Democrat can be hoodwinked by them is to us a mystery.

Kolb and his handful of followers proclaiming, "We are the Democratic party of Alabama," brings to mind the "Three Tailors of Tooley Street," who imagined they were the people of England.—Birmingham News.

FIRE AND FLOOD.

Burning Oil and Raging Waters—Death and Destruction Everywhere.

THE JOHNSTOWN HORROR REPEATED IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA—TWO HUNDRED PEOPLE DEAD.

Dispatches of Sunday state that the city of Titusville, Penn., was visited during the past twenty-four hours by the most disastrous fires and floods in all the history of the region. Oil creek has overflowed its banks from the west and above the water and gas works to the city line below, and for hours assumed the proportions of an almost resistless flood, reaching almost up to the line of Spring street. The city is without fuel or street electric light, the waterworks and gasworks are surrounded by water and inundated. The Perry street and Franklin street iron bridges have been swept away. Scores of cheap dwelling houses in the lower part of the city have been destroyed, and scores of lives lost, some having been burned, but the majority perished by drowning.

RUIN AND DESOLATION.

The scene presented by the rushing waters, surging through the lower part of the city, as witnessed by thousands of citizens, was one of utter desolation. When the morning broke, hundreds of anxious people looked out of windows, or stood on the roofs of houses, awaiting the helping hand, and trembling for their fate. Strong and brave men, by means of boats and ropes, succeeded in reaching and saving those who held their positions till help arrived, or till the waters began to recede.

BURNING OIL.

To add to the horror of the scene, rain fell in torrents, fire broke out in the refineries at the different points, and the burning oil sweeping down the current was communicated to other manufacturing plants and establishments and the destruction increased a hundred fold.

Among the losses by fire are the International oil works, Hiram Blow copper shops, Rice & Robinson refineries, Titusville radiator works, the Western New York and Pennsylvania railway freight offices, the Casperson's furniture works, store and residence, Jack Cullen's hotel and the Crescent oil works of John Schwart & Co.

LIST OF THE DEAD.

Fifteen dead bodies have already been recovered and the search continues. The following is a list of the dead as far as ascertained: John Quinn, wife and two children; Jacob Bergenhammer, wife and nine children; Mrs. Mary Haynes and three daughters, Gertrude, Mary and Clara, and one son; Mrs. McKenzie; Mrs. John McFadden and sister; Mrs. Campbell and two children; Mrs. Casperson; Mr. Copple; Fred Reid, wife and child; John O'Mara and wife. Two Veigle boys and four more, names unknown.

The authorities of Titusville have issued an appeal to the public as follows: "Our suffering and destitution is terrible, and there has been great loss of life and destruction of property. A large portion of our manufacturing interests have been wiped out by flood and fire. Hundreds of families are homeless and destitute. In the absence of our mayor we appeal to the generous public for help in this, our time of distress."

DESTRUCTION AT OIL CITY.

Dispatches of Sunday from Oil City, Pa., state that never before in the history of Oil City and the oil country has there been such a disaster, excitement and turmoil as the city is now witnessing. At 11:45 o'clock Sunday morning the city and country for miles around was startled by two explosions occurring almost simultaneously. The Associated Press correspondent was standing on Centre street, directly in front of The Derrick office and on the approach to the Oil creek bridge. The creek was a raging torrent and Centre street for one square was a solid mass of humanity. Five hundred or one thousand people had approached this point watching the muddy waters rolling by. About 11:30 o'clock upon the opposite side of the stream a greenish fluid floating on the waters was noticeable. This increased rapidly in quantity and extent until at last it covered almost entirely the yellow muddy waters of the creek. A smell of gas and oil was perceptible. Suddenly and without warning a mass of flame was seen to shoot heavenward a short distance up the creek. The people on the banks turned like stampeded cattle and started for the hills. Hardly had they started when a terrific explosion rent the air and the entire creek for hundreds of feet on each side seemed a seething mass of flame and smoke.

The panic stricken crowd shrieked madly in their efforts to escape. Women and children were trampled under foot and about twenty severely bruised had to be picked up by a few of the cooler heads and carried out of the way.

CAUSED BY GASOLENE.

About a half mile northward from the city on the Western New York and Pennsylvania railroad was a tank filled with gasoline. Some young men noticed the tank leaking, and knowing its explosive nature and seeing a shifting engine approach ran up the side of the hill, where they turned, and looking down saw the engine pass. A mass of flame shot 100 feet in the air and the earth seemed to shake with awful tremor. The engineer and fireman were seen jumping from the cab and it is supposed were burned to death or killed by the force of the explosion. In an instant the entire upper part of the city, which was flooded by the oily waters of the creek, and men, women and children who were moving from their houses, were caught by the deadly flames and if not burned to death outright were drowned in the flood. Seven ghastly bodies have so far been taken from the flood and are lying on the railroad track unrecognized, waiting for their friends to come and claim them.

TWO HUNDRED LIVES LOST.

A later dispatch from Oil City says the loss of life there will probably reach 200. Emlenton, another oil town between Oil City and Titusville is also reported having suffered greatly from the flood.

FURTHER PARTICULARS

Later dispatches from Titusville state that never in the history of Titusville has such a scene of destruction presented itself as was unfolded to the gaze Monday morning on the principal thoroughfare. The first sight witnessed was four men carrying the dead body of a man on a stretcher. Within fifteen minutes the sight became so common that it ceased to occasion any surprise. At the present writing it is estimated that fully 100 persons were either drowned or burned to death.

The money loss will run from $150,000 to $2,000,000. An idea of the amount of the territory covered by the flood and fire can be obtained when it is stated that over two miles were destroyed. This includes railroads, factories, refineries, private dwellings, etc.

WIPE OUT THE WHOLE TOWN.

Another dispatch from Oil City says: At 2 a. m. forty-six bodies have been recovered, but it is impossible to give an accurate estimate of the total loss of life, although it is said to exceed 100.

THE PROPERTY LOSSES.

The property damaged will reach into the millions. Titusville's loss is estimated at $1,500,000; Oil City $1,500,000; Cory, Penn., and Meadville, $150,000 and the surrounding country probably a million more.

RECEIVER FOR THE R. & D.

Is Asked for By the Central of Georgia—Insolvency Claimed.

President Comer, of the Central, wants a receiver appointed for the Richmond and Danville. He has put in a claim for the Central against the Richmond and Danville for $3,500,000, in round figures, and asks Judge Pardee and Judge Speer to appoint a receiver.

The petition was presented to Judge Speer at Macon on Thursday. Saturday he granted an order requiring the Danville to show cause on June 17th why a receiver should not be appointed and an injunction granted, restraining the Danville from parting with its property and doing certain other things. Service was made on the Richmond and Danville's agent at Augusta, that being the only point in Judge Speer's district where the Danville has a representative.

The news of this step on the Central's part created considerable of a sensation in railroad circles and much speculation is indulged in as to the probable outcome of the matter. That there will be war to the knife between the two roads there is no doubt. As stated above, the Central's petition for an injunction and receiver is based on a claim against the Danville for a large sum, $2,459,670.27. This claim is made up of a number of items, money and material found by the Danville when it began operating the Central, an alleged excess of earnings over operating expenses and fixed charges, the payment by the Central of indebtedness contracted by the Danville and the alleged deterioration of the Central's equipment by the lessee company. The petition is a lengthy one and interesting reading.

DANVILLE'S BIG CLAIM.

Another special dispatch of Saturday from Macon says: Judge Emory Speer, recognizing that it was not necessary to appoint a receiver in the Central's application for one for the Danville, has postponed a hearing until the 17th of this month. But meanwhile the Richmond and Danville has not been idle. Captain Harry Jackson has already filed the answer of the Richmond and Danville to the petition of the receivers of the Central railroad asking that the stock of the New England and Savannah Steamship Company now held in escrow be turned over to them.

The answer of the Richmond and Danville sets out that the claim made by the directors of the Central railroad to the effect that the Richmond and Danville is indebted to the Central in a sum approximating $2,500,000 cannot be substantiated. The Richmond and Danville employed Mr. Stephen M. Williams, now second vice president of the Central railroad, of New Jersey and formerly auditor of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad. In his affidavit Mr. Williams says that he is well acquainted with all phases of railroad accounts and after a very thorough examination of the accounts of the Richmond and Danville and of the Central railroad he finds that the Central is indebted to the Richmond and Danville in the sum of $879,875.27 incurred on debts paid by the Richmond and Danville on accounts incurred prior to the lease of the Central. He also sets out that the Central is indebted further to the Richmond and Danville in the sum of $1,535,008.83 which is denied by the receivers.

STANDING BY HILL.

New York Delegates Renew Their Fidelity to Him.

Pursuant to call the delegates to the democratic national convention met in New York city Monday. Chairman Murphy called the meeting to order, and upon roll call seventy delegates, or in one or two instances alternates representing delegates, responded to their names. Senator Hill was the only conspicuous absentee. Secretary Charles R. Deforest read the following resolution offered by General Henry W. Slocum:

Resolved, That we, the regularly elected delegates to the democratic national convention, do reaffirm our pledge to present the name of Senator David B. Hill as our candidate for president; and be it

Resolved, That we will vote for him until he is nominated, or as long as he will permit his name to go before the convention.

The reading of the resolution was received with great applause, and the calling of the roll was begun. Governor Flower was the first name called, and he voted "aye." Only one "no" was recorded on the list, and the result was that the resolution was adopted by a vote of 96 to 1.

The members of the committees were appointed on resolutions, credentials and permanent organization. The situation was discussed in the most harmonious manner, and the meeting adjourned to meet at Chicago on Friday preceding the convention. The decided Hill atmosphere braced the spirits of hundreds of politicians who have been wavering in their confidence of the ability of Hill to hold the delegation.

BLAINE'S ANSWER

To the Charge that He Offered Money for Silence.

The New York World of Thursday prints this letter from ex-Secretary Blaine:

"BOSTON, Mass., Wednesday Evening, June 8.—To the Editor of the World: Will you please state in your columns that it is utterly false that I, or any one for me, or in my name, ever paid, or offered to pay, Mary Nevins-Blaine, or any one for her, one cent, or any other sum, for any alleged letters that she holds. I have never heard of the subject, directly or indirectly, except in the newspapers.

"Respectfully,

"JAMES G. BLAINE."

POLK DANGEROUSLY ILL.

Suffering from Blood Poisoning Caused by a Tumor.

A Washington dispatch of Wednesday states that Colonel L. L. Polk, of North Carolina, president of the National Farmers' Alliance, is dangerously ill at his residence in that city. Mr. Polk has been ill for about ten days, suffering from hemorrhages of the bladder, caused, probably, by a tumor. This has caused blood poisoning, and it is now thought that there is no hope for his recovery.

THE SOUTH IN BRIEF

The News of Her Progress Portrayed in Pithy and Pointed Paragraphs

AND A COMPLETE RECORD OF HAPPENINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST FROM DAY TO DAY WITHIN HER BORDERS.

The Mississippi democratic state convention in session at Jackson, Wednesday elected an uninstructed delegation to Chicago.

A Montgomery, Ala., dispatch says: State Auditor Heggie died Saturday morning at his home in Marion, Ala., after an illness which has extended over the past year. He was elected first in 1888, and was just finishing his second term.

Near South Carrollton, Ky., Monday, a regular north-bound passenger train on the Nashville and Owensboro railroad collided with an excursion train filled with negroes. Hugh Barely, fireman of the excursion train and three negroes were killed and twenty-five injured, several dangerously.

A telegram from Jackson, Miss., says: In the circuit court, Tuesday, the state got a judgment against Hamilton, Allen & Hoskins, ex-lessees of the penitentiary, for $52,230 for the rent of the penitentiary for 1886. This makes total judgments against them aggregating about $97,000.

The fourteenth annual session of the Woman's Board of Missions, Methodist Episcopal church, south, began at Lexington, Ky., Tuesday morning. The venerable president, Mrs. Julinus Hayes, of Baltimore, Md., presiding. Delegates were present from all the eastern, western and southern states. It is a fine body of women and matters of interest to the whole church will be legislated upon.

The Augusta, Ga., Cotton Seed Oil company has received an order for 100,000 tons of cotton seed meal to be shipped to Russia. This meal will be reground, so as to render it of a fine grade. The order is placed for this product to be used in supplying food for the people in the famine-stricken districts of Russia. The company will ship the stuff as rapidly as it is able to start it from the mill.

A Knoxville, Tenn., dispatch says: Frank J. Hoyle has been appointed receiver of the Morristown and Cumberland Gap road, through the orders of Judge Key, of the United States circuit court. A bill was filed Saturday by John Coleman, of Louisville versus the Morristown and Cumberland Gap road and Allison, Shaffer & Co., contractors, asking for the appointment of the receiver.

A special of Tuesday from Cleburne, Texas, says: On Sunday night a cyclone struck this place, demolishing forty-two houses. The wind was accompanied by a drenching rain. Dr. Prescott and his wife were fatally injured, being crushed by their falling house. Several other persons were injured. Crops of all kinds are badly damaged. Mineral Well and Lewisville were also visited by a storm and considerable damage was done.

A Macon, Ga., dispatch of Wednesday says: That New England and Savannah steamship stock will no longer remain in escrow with the Union Savings Bank and Trust company of Macon. Judge Emory Speer has decided that the receiver of the Central railroad is the proper person to take charge of that stock. In its place the receiver will deposit a certificate for the sum of $173,875.29 with the Savings Bank and Trust company.

Alliance President Polk has a leading editorial in the latest issue of the Progressive Farmer, accompanying his letter withdrawing that paper as the organ of the alliance. He says that he withdraws because the executive committee of the state alliance did not like his advocacy of the third party. He declares himself unreservedly for the third or people's party. He declares further that nine-tenths of the alliancemen in North Carolina will support the third party.

A Jackson, Miss., special of Saturday says: A glance at the list of delegates elected to the state democratic convention, to meet on the 18th, shows that the representative men of the party took a lively interest in the primaries to select delegates. The alliancemen as a rule took part in the primaries, and are steadfastly standing by the democracy. In only one county did the Ocalaites capture the meeting and vote down resolutions pledging the support of the meeting to the Chicago nominee.

SEVEN BILLIONS INCREASE

In Valuation of Property in the United States During Ten Years.

The census bureau on Friday issued a bulletin on the subject of assessed valuation of property in the United States in 1890. The bulletin shows that the assessed value of all property, excluding railroad property, excepting certain specified states, has increased from $10,902,998,543 in 1880 to $24,651,585,465 in 1890, an increase during the decade of $7,748,591,022, or 45.84 per cent. Should it be found upon the completion of the inquiry in relation to the true value of all property in the United States that the same relations exists in 1890 between the assessed valuation and true valuation as existed in 1880, the absolute wealth of the United States according to the eleventh census, may be estimated at $63,648,000,000 or more than $1,000 per capita, as against $514 per capita in 1860, $780 per capita in 1870, and $870 per capita in 1880. Owing, however, to the fact that in some states, property is assessed at its full value and in others at only a fraction of its value, comparisons of the wealth of states is quite impossible. Lists of all kinds of taxable property vary greatly in different states.

A SEA OF WATER

Caused by the Breaking of a Levee—A Fertile District Inundated.

A dispatch of Tuesday from Quincy, Ill., says: Hunt levee has given away under the enormous pressure of the flood, and what was a fertile district twenty miles long, by four wide, is now a sea of water from six to fifteen feet deep. The district extends from Warsaw south, where it connects with Indian Grave levee, eighteen miles north of Quincy, and most of it was under cultivation. The crevasse occurred at a point known as Otter bay, twenty-four miles north of Quincy and water is now pouring through the break in a solid volume 300 feet wide and twenty feet deep, carrying everything before it. The rush of water is heard for miles and the current is rapidly widening the crevasse. No loss of life has occurred so far as reported, as the people had been expecting a break for several days and were prepared to flee to the bluffs at a moment's warning.

Collected Curios.

Between 1880 and 1890 the mileage of southern railroads, with the exception of Arkansas, Louisiana, Maryland, Missouri and Texas, was increased from 19,238 miles to 34,956 miles.

During the year just closing the United States supreme court has disposed of nearly 500 cases, yet the number filed in a given period always exceeds the power of the judges to consider them.

The streets of London are cleaned between eight in the evening and eight in the morning. Many of the carriage ways are washed daily by means of a hose, and the courts and alleys inhabited by the poorer classes are cleaned once a day.

At Tucker, in Ripley county, Missouri, there is a curiosity in the peach tree line, which will be sent to the World's fair. The tree is 8 years old, about 1¼ inches in diameter at the butt, is 37 feet high and has no limb or branch on it.

In twenty-four days Handel wrote "The Messiah." Dr. Johnson wrote "Rasselas" in the nights of a single week. Shubert sometimes wrote four or five immortal songs in a single day. He was born in 1797 and died in 1828, yet he set to music 634 poems by 100 different authors, in addition to writting other musical works.

In the Julius tower of the fortress of Spandau, in Prussia, there is a treasure of 150,000,000 francs in gold. The other states have only their national banks to depend upon. The estimate gives 947,000,000 to the German empire, 547,000,000 for the Austro-Hungarian empire, and 200,000,000 to the kingdom of Italy.

At Shanghai, China, there is a European quarter, which contains handsome buildings for banks and public offices. In most of the streets colonnades are built, while the open spaces are utilized and made places of beauty by being filled with trees and flowers. The inevitable race course, which seems to follow as a necessary adjunct to western civilization, is a prominent feature outside the city boundaries.

A useful South American animal is the kinkajou, which, as the dictionary will tell you, is a procyoniform quadruped, with a protusile tongue and a prehensile tail. The chief reason for asserting that the kinkajou is useful is that, in addition to his fondness for fruit, he has a great liking for insects for lunch, and when tamed is a valuable assistance in southern homes, where fly paper is unknown and where a mosquito net is more expensive than a silk dress.

PROCEEDINGS FROM DAY TO DAY BRIEFLY TOLD—BILLS AND MEASURES UNDER CONSIDERATION—OTHER NOTES.

THE HOUSE.

FRIDAY.—After some morning business the house went into committee of the whole on the postoffice appropriation bill, Mr. Buchanan in the chair, the pending amendment being that offered by Mr. Blount, of Georgia, reducing by $3,349,000 the appropriation for transportation by railroad routes, and providing that the postmaster general be authorized to readjust the compensation to be paid after July 1, 1892, for the transportation of mail on railroad routes by reducing the compensation 10 per cent. from the rate established on a basis of an average weight fixed and allowed by the act of June, 1887. The amendment was rejected after a desultory debate of two hours' duration. Then Mr. Holman offered an amendment providing that no part of the money appropriated for the transportation of foreign mails shall be expended in carrying out any contract made hereafter under provision of the act to provide for ocean mail service between the United States and foreign ports. It was adopted after some debate. Mr. Scott of Illinois, offered an amendment providing that no part of the appropriation for stamped envelopes shall be used to pay for or furnish stamped envelopes having the names of any firm, corporation or advertising device printed thereon, and making it unlawful for the postmaster general to have report for return of letters printed on any envelopes sold by the postoffice department, provided, however, that the department may continue to furnish stamped envelopes containing the words: "If not delivered within ten days return to—." Agreed to. The committee arose and the house took a recess until 8 o'clock, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

SATURDAY.—The session of the house Saturday was occupied in fillibustering over the anti-options bill.

MONDAY.—An almost if not entirely unprecedented amount of work was done by the house Monday. The anti-option bill was passed. The river and harbor bill was taken from the calendar and sent to conference, which insures its passage. The bill taking the 10 per cent off of banks and other than national was voted upon and defeated. Bills admitting Arizona and New Mexico as states were passed. So was the bill appropriating $50,000 for a pedestal for a statue of General Sherman in Washington city. The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, one of the biggest of the whole lot of appropriation bills, was passed. All of the business was transacted under suspension of the rules.

TUESDAY.—Half a dozen leaves of absence were granted in the house Tuesday. The agricultural appropriation bill was reported and placed upon the calendar. Then the urgent deficiency bill, appropriating $7,674,333 for the payment of pensions and $14,000 for miscellaneous expenses of the house of representatives, was taken up and passed. Outside of this no other important business was transacted.

WEDNESDAY.—The agricultural appropriation bill took up the time of the house.

THE SENATE.

MONDAY.—The consular and diplomatic appropriation bill was laid before the senate, but was temporarily laid aside in order to permit Mr. Vest to address the senate on the resolution heretofore introduced by him to discharge the finance committee from the further consideration of the bill to place wool on the free list, and to bring it before the senate. Mr. Vest argued for over three hours to prove that the McKinley tariff act was a benefit of farmers, wool raisers or consumers of the United States, but for the sole benefit of manufacturers, who, by the system of trusts, prevented competition and kept up the prices of their goods. The first part of his speech was devoted to the silver question, the argument being that, although the free coinage of silver was bound to come, in accordance with the popular demand, and because it was right and proper it was not and should not be made an issue in the presidential campaign. The real issue, he said, was tariff reform. In discussing that question, Mr. Vest asserted that it was Blaine's reciprocity policy that had brought him to-day to the front of the republican party, and that would secure to him that party's nomination to the presidency. He announced that he favored no particular candidate for the democratic nomination, but that he would not support any man who was not absolutely opposed to the present system of taxation. No action was taken on Mr. Vest's resolution, and no other business was taken up.

TUESDAY.—The senate passed the diplomat c and consular appropriation bill. Not much else was done, so much interest is being taken in the Minneapolis convention. The session only lasted an hour and a half.

WEDNESDAY.—In the senate Wednesday the anti-option bill was received from the house, and laid upon the table. The pensions deficiency bill was also received.

NOTES.

The work of the house Monday insures an early adjournment of congress. That event can now be expected not later than the 1st of August. It may be as early as the middle of July.

The action of the house Tuesday in refusing to suspend the rules and pass the bill repealing the tax on state banks does not mean that there is no possibility of such a measure getting through. Mr. Richardson's bill, the one defeated, did not have the report of the banking and currency committee at its back, and there was no time to discuss it. There is before the banking and currency committee several bills having for their object the repeal of the objectionable tax.

Slaughter of Railroad Employes.

Out of 749,891 railway employes in the United States, 2,451 were killed last year in accidents and 22,396 were injured. One of every 306 was killed and one in every thirty was injured. Henry C. Adams, statistician of the interstate commerce commission, estimates that one in every 106 trainmen was killed and one in every twelve was injured. In no other employment, not even in mining, are the accidents so numerous. As to the chief causes of deaths and injuries, the total number killed in coupling and uncoupling cars was 383, and the number injured was 7,842, while the total number killed in falling from cars and engines was 561 and the total number injured was 2,863. Almost 38 per cent. of the deaths resulted from coupling and uncoupling. Out of the total 1,105,042 freight cars in service there are but 87,590 fitted with automatic couplers, and but 100,990 equipped with train brakes. Mr. Adams recommends the adoption by the government of uniform appliances for coupling.

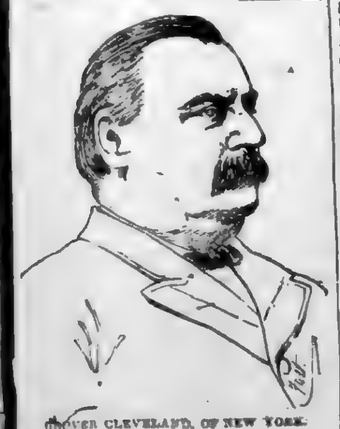
SCENES AND INCIDENTS OF THE CONVENTION.

Synopsis of Each Day's Proceedings Given in Brief.

DEMOCRATIC WIGWAM.



GROVER CLEVELAND, OF NEW YORK.

STEVENSON, OF ILLINOIS.

The national democratic convention was called to order at 11 o'clock, Tuesday June 21st in the city of Chicago.

The convention assembled in the mammoth wigwam built expressly for the occasion. The city was crowded with delegates and their friends, besides vast throngs of visitors were on hand to witness the convention proceedings. Many of the delegates had arrived upon the ground a week in advance, and from that time until the last delegation reached the city the wildest enthusiasm prevailed.

Notwithstanding considerable difference of opinion as to the most available presidential candidate prevailed, and the energy and activity displayed by the different delegations in booming the man of their choice, the skirmishes and caucuses indulged in before the opening day were entirely harmonious.

CALLED TO ORDER.

By half past 11 o'clock Tuesday morning the immense wigwam was fairly crowded and presented an imposing scene. The delegates were assigned their seats and when all was in readiness Chairman Price, of the national committee, arose and commanded silence, after which he presented Rev. John Rouse, who offered prayer. At 12:43 o'clock Secretary Simmons announced temporary organization: William C. Owens, of Kentucky, temporary chairman; Secretary S. P. Sheerin, principal reading clerk; Nicholas Abell, of Missouri, sergeant-at-arms. Richard J. Bright, of Indiana; Charles Jewett, of Indiana; Thomas Wilson, of Minnesota, and Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, were named to attend Mr. Owens to the speaker's chair.

After a greeting of applause Mr. Owens addressed the convention. The speaker's voice penetrated to the farthest recesses of the galleries and his remarks were cheered to the echo.

He began his remarks by saying: "Two great dangers menace the democratic party, one is external, the other internal. The first is the organized machinery of organized capital, supported by the whole power of the government; the second is the tendency among democrats to make issues among themselves. Two needs, therefore, stand before us indispensible to success—unity and harmony."

HORACE BOIES, OF IOWA.

At the close of Mr. Owen's speech, upon motion of Delegate White, of California, the roll was called for the constitution of the committees on credentials as on rules and order of business, on permanent organization and on resolutions; each state to name one member of each committee. All resolutions and communications to the convention were ordered referred to the resolutions committee.

W. H. English, of Indiana, moved a resolution providing that all ex union soldiers be admitted to vacant seats in the gallery. The matter was referred to the committee on resolutions. Delegate Cabell, of Illinois, then offered this:

Resolved, That this convention tender its profound sympathy to that distinguished American, James G. Blaine, in the heavy affliction which has befallen him.

Its reading was interrupted with the loudest applause up to that time, and when the reading was finished the resolution was adopted unanimously. Mr. Sweet, of the Maine delegation, in behalf of the democracy of Maine, thanked the delegations for the sympathy they had extended to the distinguished resident of their state. An invitation from President Baker, of the World's Columbian Exposition was read inviting delegates to visit the grounds of the exposition. On motion of Delegate Bragg, of Wisconsin, the convention then, at 2 o'clock p. m., adjourned till 11 o'clock Wednesday.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

At 11:30 a. m., Wednesday, the chairman called the convention to order. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Alfred H. Henry. When prayer was concluded Chairman Owen called for the report of the committee on credentials. It was announced that the committee on credentials would not be ready to report until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The chairman of the convention asked for its pleasure and recognized a delegate from Alaska. Mr. Bronson, of Kentucky, moved that a committee of two be appointed to wait on the credentials committee and ascertain when they would be ready to report.

ROBERT E. PATTISON, OF PENNSYLVANIA.

In the meantime there was a wait, and Roger Q. Mills entered the hall. Then there went up a shout. Then, on motion, Mr. Mills was invited to address the convention. But Mr. Mills was reported not well enough to speak. Senator Palmer, of Illinois, was called on to address the convention. A committee brought Mr. Palmer to the front, and, when the gray-haired senator was seen coming down the aisle to the desk, a cheer went up which soon grew to a roar. "Gentlemen," cried Chairman Owens, "it is not necessary for me to introduce to you this war horse of democracy." The Senator's speech was loudly cheered. Colonel John R. Fellows, of New York, in response to calls, stated that as a delegate he would speak at the proper time, but not at present.

CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The committee on credentials announced that they were ready to report, and that the report was unanimous. The committee's report favored the seating of the regular Alabama delegates, while the contestants were to be given seats on the floor; the same as to Pennsylvania; the same as to Ohio; the same as to Utah. The committee's report was unanimously adopted. Mr. Fordyce next read the report of the committee on permanent organization. Wm. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, was named as permanent chairman. The report of the committee on permanent organization was adopted.

On motion of Dickinson, of Michigan, a committee of five was appointed to notify Wilson and others of their election. Dickinson, Fellows and others of the committee went after Wilson, of West Virginia. While the committee was searching for Wilson, the band played popular melodies with great snap.

Wilson took the platform at 12:25 p. m., being escorted by Dickinson and Flower. Temporary Chairman Owen presented Permanent Chairman Wilson to the convention. Mr. Wilson was greeted warmly. He thanked the convention for the honor. "Much as we owe to our party," said he, "we owe more to our country." [Cheers.] Mr. Wilson's address abounded with points that pleased the convention. A severe arraignment of the republican party was for a time his theme. He said the republican party was a party of a section and a class and not of the people of the country as a whole. He said that the democrats should see that legislation was not in the interest of any section, but for the whole people. He denounced the force and tariff bills sought to be operated by the republicans. The most important of all questions, he said, was that of taxation and tariff reform, and they could only be regulated by the democratic party. He denounced the McKinley reciprocity bill as "one of the greatest absurdities of the age." Mr. Wilson appealed for harmony in the convention, no matter who should be its choice as a candidate to lead them. Mr. Wilson closed at 12:45 o'clock p. m. and William H. English, of Indiana, read the report of the committee on rules which establishes this order of business: The report of the credentials committee; permanent organization; committee on resolutions and platform committee reports; nomination of presidential and vice presidential candidates. The rules of the last national democratic convention were recommended by the committee. Upon motion of Mr. English the committee report and recommendations were adopted by the convention.

JOHN M. PALMER, OF ILLINOIS.

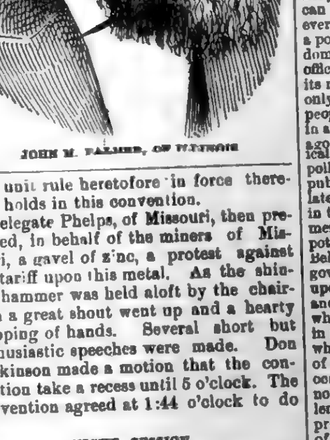
Delegate Phelps, of Missouri, then presented, in behalf of the miners of Missouri, a gavel of zinc, a protest against the tariff upon this metal. As the shining hammer was held aloft by the chairman a great shout went up and a hearty clapping of hands. Several short but enthusiastic speeches were made. Don Dickinson made a motion that the convention take a recess until 5 o'clock. The convention agreed at 1:44 o'clock to do so.

NIGHT SESSION.

The great hall was a surging mass of humanity when Chairman Wilson thumped for order. The throng subsided and the night session began. Prayer was offered by Rev. Thomas Reed, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and he was applauded when he closed. The temper of the audience was clearly one of quick demonstration. While the convention was awaiting the resolutions committee, the convention was regaled with stirring music. Mr. duBignon, of Georgia, moved to adjourn until 11 o'clock a. m. Thursday. The motion was scarcely put before the convention, by the chair before it, was buried in storm of "noes."

At 6:24 o'clock Charles Jones, of Missouri chairman of the resolutions committee, appeared upon the platform. Addressing the convention he said: "I am instructed by the committee on resolutions to present to you as the report of the committee, the following resolutions, and move their adoption. In order that you may more distinctly hear what the committee has prepared, I intend to ask a gentleman who is as familiar as myself with the phraseology of the platform, to read it for me. (Applause.) And, when it has been read, shall move the previous question upon adoption of the platform." (Cries of no, no, no.)



ROSWELL P. FLOWER, OF NEW YORK.

Mr. Patterson, of Colorado, advanced on the platform and said: "In view of the statement just made, I will say that I represent the minority of the committee on resolutions, and I desire to announce that that minority expects to be heard to present its report before the previous question shall be put." Quick cheers followed this announcement. Then ex-Secretary Vilas commenced to read the resolutions at 6:38 o'clock, but when he reached the phrase "From Madison to Cleveland," there was the quick shout of one voice near the platform. It was lost, however, in a flash, for it seemed that as though with one impulse the entire 20,000 people leaped upon their chairs, and with hats and handkerchiefs in the air 20,000 handkerchiefs, 20,000 throats let loose yells and screams that shook the heavy rocks quiver. The tempest ebbed and flowed until 6:47 o'clock p. m., when quiet was restored.

JOHN G. CARLISLE, OF KENTUCKY.

THE PLATFORM READ.

Finally at 6:48 o'clock Mr. Vilas again resumed reading the platform, which is as follows:

The report of the platform committee was as follows:

Section 1. The representatives of the democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, do reaffirm their allegiance to the principles of the party as formulated by Jefferson and exemplified by a long and illustrious line of his successors in democratic leadership from Madison to Cleveland. We believe the public welfare demands that these principles be applied to the conduct of the federal government, through the accession to power of the party that advocates them, and we solemnly declare that the need of a return to these fundamental principles of free popular government, based on home rule and individual liberty, was never more urgent than now when the tendency to centralize all the power at the federal capital has become a menace to the reserved rights of states, that strikes at the very root of our government's constitution as framed by the fathers of the republic.

Sec. 2. We warn the people of a common country, jealous for the preservation of their free institutions, that the policy of federal control of elections, to which the republican party has committed itself, is fraught with the gravest dangers, scarcely less momentous than would result from a revolution practically establishing monarchy on the ruins of the republic. It strikes at the north as well as at the south, and injures the colored citizens even more than the whites. It means a horde of deputy marshals at every polling place armed with federal power; returning boards appointed and controlled by federal authority; outrage of the electoral rights of the people in the several states; the subjugation of the colored people to the control of the party in power, and the reviving of race antagonism, now happily abated, of the utmost peril to the safety and happiness of all; a measure deliberately and justly described by a leading republican senator as "the most infamous bill that ever crossed the threshold of the senate." Such a policy, if sanctioned by law, would mean the dominance of a self-perpetuating oligarchy of office holders, and the party first entrusted with its machinery could be dislodged from power only by an appeal to the reserved rights of the people to resist oppression, which is inherent in all self-governing communities. Two years ago this revolutionary policy was emphatically condemned by the people at the polls, but in contempt of that verdict the republican party has defiantly declared, in its latest authoritative utterance, that its success in the coming elections will mean the enactment of a force bill and the usurpation of despotic control over elections in all the states. Believing that the preservation of republican government in the United States is dependent upon the defeat of this policy of legalized force and fraud, we invite the support of all citizens who desire to see the constitution maintained in its integrity, with the laws pursuant thereto, which have given our country a hundred years of unexampled prosperity. We pledge the democratic party, if it be entrusted with the power, not only to defeat the force bill, but also the relentless opposition to the republican policy of profligate expenditure which, in the short space of two years, has squandered an enormous surplus—emptied an overflowing treasury after piling new burdens of taxation upon the already over-taxed labor of the country.

Sec. 3. We reiterate the oft repeated doctrine of the democratic party that the necessity of government is the only justification for taxation, and whenever tax is unnecessary it is unjustifiable; that when custom house taxation is levied upon articles of any kind in this country the difference between the cost of labor here and labor abroad, when such difference exists, fully measure any possible benefits of labor and the enormous additional impositions of the existing tariff fall with crushing force upon our farmers and working men and for the mere advantages of a few whom it enriches, exact from labor a grossly unjust share of expenses of the government, and we demand such a revision of the tariff laws as will remove their iniquitous inequalities, lighten their opposition and put them on a constitutional and equitable basis. But in making a reduction in taxes it is not proposed to injure any domestic industries, but rather to promote their healthy growth. From the foundation of this government taxes collected at custom houses have been the chief source of federal revenue. Such they must continue to be. Moreover, many industries have come to rely upon legislation for successful continuance, so that any changes of law must be at every step regardful of labor and capital thus involved. The process of reform must be a subject in the execution of this plain dictation of justice. We denounce the McKinly tariff law enacted by the fifty-first congress as the culminating atrocity of class legislation; we endorse the efforts made by the democrats of the present congress to modify its most oppressive features in the direction of free raw materials and cheaper manufactured goods that enter into general consumption; and we promise its repeal as one of the beneficent results that will follow the action of the people in entrusting power to the democratic party. Since the McKinley tariff went into operation there have been ten reductions of wages of laboring men to one increase. We deny that there has been any increase of prosperity to the country since that tariff went into operation, and we point to the dullness and distress, wage reductions and strikes in the iron trade, as the best possible evidence that no such prosperity has resulted from the McKinley act. We call the attention of thoughtful Americans to the fact that after thirty years of restrictive taxes against the importation of foreign wealth, in exchange for our agricultural surplus, the homes and farms of the country have become burdened with a real estate mortgage debt of over two thousand, five hundred million dollars, exclusive of all other forms of indebtedness; that in one of the chief agricultural states of the west there appears a real estate mortgage debt averaging $165 per capita of the total population, and that similar conditions and tendencies are shown to exist in other agricultural exporting states. We denounce a policy which fosters no industry so much as it does that of the sheriff.

Sec. 4. Trade interchange on a basis of reciprocal advantages to countries participating is a time-honored doctrine of democratic faith, but we denounce the sham reciprocity which juggles with the people's desire for enlarged foreign markets and freer exchanges by pretending to establish closer trade relations for the country whose articles of export are almost exclusively agricultural products, with other countries that are also agricultural, while erecting the custom house barrier of prohibitive tariff taxes against the richest countries of the world, that stand ready to take our entire surplus of products and to exchange therefor commodities which are necessaries and comforts of life among our own people.

Sec. 5. We recognize in trusts and combinations which are designed to enable capital to secure more than its just share of the joint product of capital and labor, the natural consequence of prohibitive taxes which prevent free competition, which is the life of honest trade, but we believe the worst evils can be abated by law, and we demand a rigid enforcement of laws made to prevent and control them, together with such further legislation in response to experience may show to be necessary.

Sec. 6. The republican party while professing a policy of receiving public land for small holdings by actual settlers, has given away the people's heritage till now a few railroads and non-resident aliens, individuals and corporations possess a larger area than that of all our farms between the two seas. The last democratic administration reversed the improvident and unwise policy of the republican party touching the public domain and reclaimed from corporations and syndicates, alien and domestic, and restored to the people nearly one hundred million acres of valuable land to be sacredly held as homesteads for our citizens, and we pledge ourselves to continue this policy until every acre of land so unlawfully held shall be reclaimed and restored to the people.

Sec. 7. We denounce the Republican legislation known as the Sherman act of 1890 as a cowardly makeshift, fraught with possibilities of danger in the future which should make all its supporters as well as its author, anxious for its speedy repeal. We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discriminating against either metal or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value or be adjusted through international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of parity of the two metals. An equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts, and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin. We insist upon this policy as especially necessary for protection of the farmers and laboring classes, the first and most defenseless victims of unstable money and fluctuating currency.

Sec. 8. We recommend that the prohibitory 10 per cent tax on state bank issues be repealed.

Sec. 9. A public office is a public trust. We reaffirm the declaration of the democratic national convention of 1876 for the reform of the civil service and we call for the honest enforcement of all laws regulating the same. The nomination of president, as in the recent republican convention, by delegations composed largely of his appointees, holding office at his pleasure, is a scandalous satire upon free popular institutions and a startling illustration of the methods by which a president may gratify his ambition. We denounce the policy under which federal office holders usurp control of party conventions in the states, and pledge the democratic party to the reform of these and all other abuses which threaten individual liberty and local self-government.

Sec. 10. The democratic party is the only party that has ever given the country a foreign policy, consistent and vigorous, compelling respect abroad and inspiring confidence at home. While avoiding entangling alliances it has aimed to cultivate friendly relations with other nations, and especially with our neighbors on the American continent whose destiny is closely linked with our own and we view with alarm the tendency to a policy of irritation and bluster, which is liable at any time to confront us with the alternative of humiliation or war. We favor the maintenance of a navy strong enough for all national defense and to properly maintain the honor and dignity of the country abroad.

Sec. 11. This country has always been the refuge of the oppressed from every land—exiles for conscience sake—and in the spirit of the founders of our government we condemn the oppression practiced by the Russian government upon its Lutheran and Jewish subjects, and we call upon our national government in the interest of justice and humanity, by all just and proper means, to use its prompt and best efforts to bring about a cessation of these cruel persecutions of the czar, and to secure to the oppressed equal rights. We tender our profound and cordial sympathy to those struggling for freedom who are struggling for home rule and the great cause of self-government in Ireland.

Sec. 12. We heartily approve all legitimate efforts to prevent the United States from being used as the dumping-ground for known criminals and professional paupers of Europe, and we demand a rigid enforcement of the law against Chinese immigration or the importation of foreign workmen under contract to degrade American labor and lessen its wages; but we condemn and denounce any and all attempts to restrict the immigration of the industrious and worthy of foreign lands.

Sec. 13. This convention hereby renews its expression of appreciation of the patriotism of the soldiers and sailors of the union in the war for its preservation, and we favor just and liberal pensions for all disabled union soldiers, their widows and dependents, but we demand that the work of the pension office shall be done industriously, impartially and honestly. We denounce the present administration of that office as incompetent, corrupt, disgraceful and dishonest.

Sec. 14. The federal government should care for and improve the Mississippi river and other great waterways of the republic, so as to secure for the interior states easy and cheap transportation to tidewater. When any waterway of the public is of sufficient importance to demand the aid of the government that such aid should be extended to a definite plan of continuous work until permanent improvement is secured.

Sec. 15. For purposes of national defense, the promotion of commerce between the states, we recognize the early construction of the Nicaragua canal and its protection against foreign control as of great importance to the United States.

Sec. 16. Recognizing the World's Columbian Exposition as a national undertaking of vast importance, in which the general government has invited the co-operation of all the powers of the world, and appreciating the acceptance by many of such powers of the invitation extended, and the broadest liberal efforts being made by them to contribute to the grandeur of the undertaking, we are of the opinion that congress should make such necessary financial provision as shall be requisite to the maintenance of national honor and public faith.

Sec. 17. Popular education being the only safe basis of popular suffrage, we recommend to the several states the most liberal appropriations for public schools. Free common schools are the nursery of good government, and they have always received the fostering care care of the democratic party, which favors every means of increasing intelligence. The freedom of education, being an essential of civil and religious liberty as well as a necessity for the development of intelligence, must not be interfered with under any pretext whatever. We are opposed to state interference with parental rights and the rights of conscience in the education of children as an infringement of the fundamental democratic doctrine that the largest individual liberty consistent with the rights of others insures the highest type of American citizenship and best government.

Sec. 18. We approve the action of the present house of representatives in passing bills for the admission into the union as states of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona, and we favor the early admission of all territories having the necessary population and resources to admit them to statehood, and while they remain territories we hold that officials appointed to administer the government of any territory, together with the District of Columbia and Alaska, should be bona fide residents of the territory or district in which their duties are to be performed. The democratic party believes in home rule and the control of their own affairs by people of vicinage.

Sec. 19. We favor legislation by congress and state legislatures to protect the lives and limbs of railway employes and those of other hazardous companies, and demand the inactivity of the republican party, and particularly the republican senate, for causing the defeat of measures beneficial and protective to this class of wage earners.

Sec. 20. We are in favor of the enactment by states of laws for abolishing the notorious sweating system, for abolishing contract convict labor and for prohibiting the employment in factories of children under fifteen years of age.

Sec. 21. We are opposed to all sumptuary laws as an interference with the individual rights of citizens.

Sec. 22. Upon this statement of principles and policies the democratic party asks the intelligent judgment of the American people. It asks a change of administration and a change of parties and a change of methods, thus securing the maintenance unimpaired of the institution under which the republic has grown great and powerful.

THE PLANKS APPLAUDED.

Denunciation of sweaters, like the force bill, was loudly cheered. Applause also greeted the homestead plank and the portion of the silver plank denouncing the Sherman act. Reference to federal officers in a national convention elicited a terrible yell. The foreign policy plank, navy, Jews in Russia, and home rule of Ireland, were deliberately cheered. The school-law plank was carefully listened to, and was punctuated at the end of nearly every sentence by shouts of approval. The only features of the platform which seemed to call forth divided sentiments was the tariff and silver planks which were apparently not sufficiently radical to satisfy delegates with pronounced views. Mr. Jones moved the adoption of the platform. Mr. Neal, of Ohio, was recognized, and moved to strike from the tariff section all words preceding the denunciation of the McKinley act, and to substitute therefor the following:

"We denounce republican protection as a fraud on the labor of the great majority of American people for the benefit of the few. We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the democratic party that the federal government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenues only (applause and cheers) and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessaries of government when honestly and economically administered. (Cheers and applause.)

WILLIAM E. MORRISON, OF ILLINOIS.

A tremendous tumult followed. Neal, Vilas and Waterson took part in the debate. Mr. Jones retired in despair. Mr. Neal demanded a roll call on his motion to strike out and substitute. The roll was called and resulted: ayes, 564; nays, 342.

Mr. Patterson, of Colorado, then took the floor and presented the minority report with the majority plank except that it reads "through the free coinage of both gold and silver." Mr. Patterson moved the adoption of his substitute for the silver plank. The motion was put and declared lost.

"Mr. Chairman," continued Mr. Patterson, "the question is now on the adoption of the platform." This motion was voted on by the yeas and nays and carried.

Mr. Chairman—The next order of business, gentlemen, is a call of the roll of states for the nomination of candidates for the office of president of the United States. The clerk commenced to call the roll and got as far as Alabama, when he was interrupted.

Mr. Fenton, of Arkansas, attempted to have an adjournment but no attention was paid to it. Arkansas yielded her place to New Jersey and ex Governor Abbett, of that state, came forward to the platform, accompanied by enthusiastic cheers from the Cleveland wing of the convention, it being understood that Abbett was to nominate ex-President Cleveland. When order was restored Governor Abbett addressed the body, formally placing Grover Cleveland in nomination. He began by saying:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:—In presenting a name to this convention I speak for the united democratic principles, faithful services to the party and whose contributions to its success entitled it to the respectful consideration of the Democracy of the United States. We feel certain that every democratic state, though its preferences may be for some other distinguished democrat, will give its warm, enthusiastic and earnest support to the nominee of this convention."

Governor Abbett proceeded without receiving more than mild applause until he reached that portion of his address where he says, "If there was any doubt existing in my mind of the results of this national contest, I would not urge on behalf of my state the views of its democracy in favor of Grover Cleveland."

WILLIAM E. RUSSELL, OF MASSACHUSETTS.

The mention of the sage of Buzzard's Bay was a signal for a thunder of cheers. Men and women who thronged the great galleries waved fans, umbrellas and banners.

Mr. DeWitt, of New York, followed Abbett, and nominated Hill. DeWitt was followed by John R. Fellows, who eloquently and timid some enthusiasm seconded the nomination of Hill. Mr. Green, of Illinois, took the stand to second Cleveland's nomination, but the audience called for "time" upon him and he sat down. Mr. English, of Indiana, edged in a brief speech seconding Cleveland, and then Mr. Duncan, of Iowa, put Boies in nomination with an excellent speech, and although it was midnight there was a great show of enthusiasm.

SECONDING THE NOMINATIONS.

After many other speeches, seconding the nominations of the three candidates, amidst the greatest confusion and cries of "time, time," Senator Daniels, of Virginia, took the stand to second Hill's nomination. The immense audience immediately commenced crying "time." An hour, Bourke Cochran, of New York, declared in a tone of thunder above the din, that unless New York was given a respectful hearing, it would be best for its delegates to leave the hall. It was then 11:30 o'clock, and a perfect bedlam was reigning in the hall. Some delegate yelled if the chairman would use his gavel, there would be order. Finally the policemen and sergeant-at-arms were instructed to remove all persons from the hall who made confusion. A motion was also made to adjourn, but the chairman declined to recognize it. Order was at last secured, and the calling of states was continued.

SCENES AND INCIDENTS OF THE CONVENTION.

Synopsis of Each Day's Proceedings Given in Brief.

DEMOCRATIC WIGWAM.

GROVER CLEVELAND, OF NEW YORK.

ADLAI E. STEVENSON, OF ILLINOIS.

The national democratic convention was called to order at 11 o'clock, Tuesday June 21st in the city of Chicago.

The convention assembled in the mammoth wigwam built expressly for the occasion. The city was crowded with delegates and their friends, besides vast throngs of visitors were on hand to witness the convention proceedings. Many of the delegates had arrived upon the ground a week in advance, and from that time until the last delegation reached the city the wildest enthusiasm prevailed.

Notwithstanding considerable difference of opinion as to the most available presidential candidate prevailed, and the energy and activity displayed by the different delegations in booming the man of their choice, the skirmishes and caucuses indulged in before the opening day were entirely harmonious.

CALLED TO ORDER.

By half past 11 o'clock Tuesday morning the immense wigwam was fairly crowded and presented an imposing scene. The delegates were assigned their seats, and when all was in readiness Chairman Price, of the national committee, arose and commanded silence, after which he presented Rev. John Rouse, who offered prayer. At 12:45 o'clock Secretary Sherwin announced temporary organization: William C. Owens, of Kentucky, temporary chairman; Secretary S. P. Sherwin, principal reading clerk; Nicholas Abell, of Missouri, sergeant-at-arms. Richard J. Bright, of Indiana; Charles Jewett, of Indiana; Thomas Wilson, of Minnesota, and Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, were named to attend Mr. Owens to the speaker's chair.

After a greeting of applause Mr. Owens addressed the convention. The speaker's voice penetrated to the farthest recesses of the galleries and his remarks were cheered to the echo.

He began his remarks by saying: "Two great dangers menace the democratic party, one is external, the other internal. The first is the organized machinery of organized capital, supported by the whole power of the government; the second is the tendency among democrats to make issues among themselves. Two needs, therefore, stand before us indispensible to success—unity and harmony." At the close of Mr. Owen's speech, upon motion of Delegate White, of California, the roll was called for the constitution of the committee on credentials as on rules and order of business, on permanent organization and on resolutions; each state to name one member of each committee. All resolutions and communications to the convention were ordered referred to the resolutions committee.

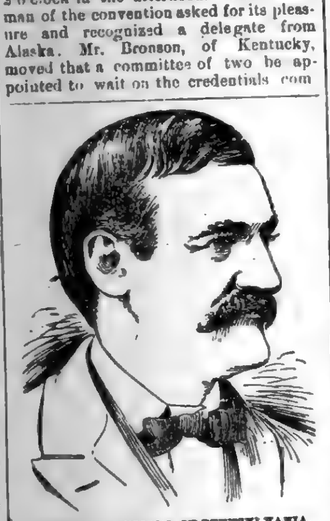
W. H. English, of Indiana, moved a resolution providing that all ex union soldiers be admitted to vacant seats in the gallery. The matter was referred to the committee on resolutions. Delegate Cabell, of Illinois, then offered this:

Resolved, That this convention tender its profound sympathy to that distinguished American, James G. Blaine, in the heavy affliction which has befallen him.

Its reading was interrupted with the loudest applause up to that time, and when the reading was finished the resolution was adopted unanimously. Mr. Sweet, of the Maine delegation, in behalf of the democracy of Maine, thanked the delegations for the sympathy they had extended to the distinguished resident of their state. An invitation from President Baker, of the World's Columbian Exposition was read inviting delegates to visit the grounds of the exposition. On motion of Delegate Bragg, of Wisconsin, the convention then, at 2 o'clock p. m., adjourned till 11 o'clock Wednesday.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

At 11:30 a. m., Wednesday, the chairman called the convention to order. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Alfred H. Henry. When prayer was concluded Chairman Owen called for the report of the committee on credentials. It was announced that the committee on credentials would not be ready to report until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The chairman of the convention asked for its pleasure and recognized a delegate from Alaska. Mr. Bronson, of Kentucky, moved that a committee of two be appointed to wait on the credentials committee and ascertain when they would be ready to report.



ROBERT E. PATTISON, OF PENNSYLVANIA.

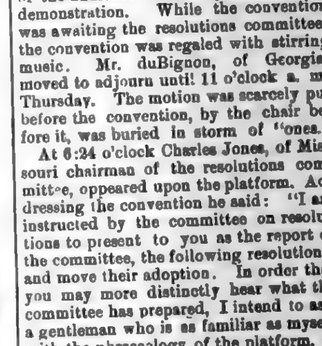
In the meantime there was a wait, and Roger Q. Mills entered the hall. Then there went up a shout. Then, on motion, Mr. Mills was invited to address the convention. But Mr. Mills was reported not well enough to speak. Senator Palmer, of Illinois, was called on to address the convention. A committee brought Mr. Palmer to the front, and, when the gray-haired senator was seen coming down the aisle to the desk, a cheer went up which soon grew to a roar. "Gentlemen," cried Chairman Owens, "it is not necessary for me to introduce to you this war horse of democracy." The Senator's speech was loudly cheered. Colonel John R. Fellows, of New York, in response to calls, stated that as a delegate he would speak at the proper time, but not at present.

CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The committee on credentials announced that they were ready to report, and that the report was unanimous. The committee's report favored the seating of the regular Alabama delegates, while the contestants were to be given seats on the floor; the same as to Pennsylvania; the same as to Ohio; the same as to Utah. The committee's report was unanimously adopted. Mr. Fordyce next read the report of the committee on permanent organization. Wm. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, was named as permanent chairman. The report of the committee on permanent organization was adopted.

On motion of Dickinson, of Michigan, a committee of five was appointed to notify Wilson and others of their election. Dickinson, Fellows and others of the committee went after Wilson, of West Virginia. While the committee was searching for Wilson, the band played popular melodies with great snap.

Wilson took the platform at 12:35 p. m., being escorted by Dickinson and Flower. Temporary Chairman Owen presented Permanent Chairman Wilson to the convention. Mr. Wilson was greeted warmly. He thanked the convention for the honor. "Much as we owe to our party," said he, "we owe more to our country," [Cheers.] Mr. Wilson's address abounded with points that pleased the convention. A severe arraignment of the republican party was for a time his theme. He said the republican party was a party of a section and a class and not of the people of the country as a whole. He said that the democrats should see that legislation was not in the interest of any section, but for the whole people. He denounced the force and tariff bills sought to be operated by the republicans. The most important of all questions, he said, was that of taxation and tariff reform, and they could only be regulated by the democratic party. He denounced the McKinley reciprocity bill as "one of the greatest absurdities of the age." Mr. Wilson appealed for harmony in the convention, no matter who should be its choice as a candidate to lead them. Mr. Wilson closed at 12:45 o'clock p. m. and William H. English, of Indiana, read the report of the committee on rules which establishes this order of business: The report of the credentials committee; permanent organization; committee on resolutions and platform committee reports; nomination of presidential and vice presidential candidates. The rules of the last national democratic convention were recommended by the committee. Upon motion of Mr. English the committee report and recommendations were adopted by the convention.



JOHN M. PALMER, OF ILLINOIS.

Delegate Phelps, of Missouri, then presented, in behalf of the miners of Missouri, a gavel of zinc, a protest against the tariff upon this metal. As the shining hammer was held aloft by the chairman a great shout went up and a hearty clapping of hands. Several short but enthusiastic speeches were made. Don Dickinson made a motion that the convention take a recess until 5 o'clock. The convention agreed at 1:44 o'clock to do so.

NIGHT SESSION.

The great hall was a surging mass of humanity when Chairman Wilson thumped for order. The throng subsided and the night session began. Prayer was offered by Rev. Thomas Reed, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and he was applauded when he closed. The temper of the audience was clearly one of quick demonstration. While the convention was awaiting the resolutions committee, the convention was regaled with stirring music. Mr. duBignon, of Georgia, moved to adjourn until 11 o'clock a. m. Thursday. The motion was scarcely put before the convention, by the chair before it, was buried in storm of "ones."

At 6:24 o'clock Charles Jones, of Missouri chairman of the resolutions committee, appeared upon the platform. Addressing the convention he said: "I am instructed by the committee on resolutions to present to you as the report of the committee, the following resolutions, and move their adoption. In order that you may more distinctly hear what the committee has prepared, I intend to ask a gentleman who is as familiar as myself with the phraseology of the platform, to read it for me. (Applause.) And, when it has been read, shall move the previous question upon adoption of the platform." (Cries of no, no, no.)

ROSWELL P. FLOWER, OF NEW YORK.

Mr. Patterson, of Colorado, advanced on the platform and said: "In view of the statement just made, I will say that I represent the minority of the committee on resolutions, and I desire to announce that that minority expects to be heard to present its report before the previous question shall be put." Quick cheers followed this announcement. Then ex-Secretary Vilas commenced to read the resolutions at 6:26 o'clock, but when he reached the phrase "From Madison to Cleveland," there was the quick shout of one voice near the platform. It was lost, however, in a flash, for it seemed that as though with one impulse the entire 20,000 people leaped upon their chairs, and with hats and handkerchiefs in the air 20,000 handkerchiefs, 20,000 throats let loose veils and screams that shook the heavy air and almost made the bar rocks quiver. The tempest ebbed and flowed until 6:47 o'clock p. m., when quiet was restored.

THE PLATFORM READ.

Finally at 6:48 o'clock Mr. Vilas again resumed reading the platform, which is as follows:

The report of the platform committee was as follows:

Section 1. The representatives of the democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, do reaffirm their allegiance to the principles of the party as formulated by Jefferson and exemplified by a long and illustrious line of his successors in democratic leadership from Madison to Cleveland. We believe the public welfare demands that these principles be applied to the conduct of the federal government, through the accession to power of the party that advocates them, and we solemnly declare that the need of a return to these fundamental principles of free popular government, based on home rule and individual liberty, was never more urgent than now when the tendency to centralize all the power at the federal capital has become a menace to the reserved rights of states, that strikes at the very root of our government's constitution as framed by the fathers of the republic.

Sec. 2. We warn the people of a common country, jealous for the preservation of their free institutions, that the policy of federal control of elections, to which the republican party has committed itself, is fraught with the gravest dangers, scarcely less momentous than would result from a revolution practically establishing monarchy on the ruins of the republic. It strikes at the north as well as at the south, and injures the colored citizens even more than the whites. It means a horde of deputy marshals at every polling place armed with federal power; returning boards appointed and controlled by federal authority; outrage of the electoral rights of the people in the several states; the subjugation of the colored people to the control of the party in power, and the reviving of race antagonism, now happily abated, of the utmost peril to the safety and happiness of all; a measure deliberately and justly described by a leading republican senator as "the most infamous bill that ever crossed the threshold of the senate." Such a policy, if sanctioned by law, would mean the dominance of a self-perpetuating oligarchy of office holders, and the party first entrusted with its machinery could be dislodged from power only by an appeal to the reserved rights of the people to resist oppression, which is inherent in all self-governing communities. Two years ago this revolutionary policy was emphatically condemned by the people at the polls, but in contempt of that verdict the republican party has defiantly declared, in its latest authoritative utterance, that its success in the coming elections will mean the enactment of a force bill and the usurpation of despotic control over elections in all the states. Believing that the preservation of republican government in the United States is dependent upon the defeat of this policy of legalized force and fraud, we invite the support of all citizens who desire to see the constitution maintained in its integrity, with the laws pursuant thereto, which have given our country a hundred years of unexampled prosperity. We pledge the democratic party, if it be entrusted with the power, not only to defeat the force bill, but also the relentless opposition to the republican policy of profligate expenditure which, in the short space of two years, has squandered an enormous surplus—emptied an overflowing treasury after piling new burdens of taxation upon the already over-taxed labor of the country.

Sec. 3. We reiterate the oft repeated doctrine of the democratic party that the necessity of government is the only justification for taxation, and whenever tax is unnecessary it is unjustifiable; that when custom house taxation is levied upon articles of any kind in this country the difference between the cost of labor here and labor abroad, when such difference exists, fully measure any possible benefits of labor and the enormous additional impositions of the existing tariff fall with crushing force upon our farmers and working men and for the mere advantages of a few whom it enriches, exact from labor a grossly unjust share of expenses of the government, and we demand such a revision of the tariff laws as will remove their iniquitous inequalities, lighten their opposition and put them on a constitutional and equitable basis. But in making a reduction in taxes it is not proposed to injure any domestic industries, but rather to promote their healthy growth. From the foundation of this government taxes collected at custom houses have been the chief source of federal revenue. Such they must continue to be. Moreover, many industries have come to rely upon legislation for successful continuance, so that any changes of law must be at every step regardful of labor and capital thus involved. The process of reform must be a subject in the execution of this plain dictation of justice. We denounce the McKinly tariff law enacted by the fifty-first congress as the culminating atrocity of class legislation; we endorse the efforts made by the democrats of the present congress to modify its most oppressive features in the direction of free raw materials and cheaper manufactured goods that enter into general consumption; and we promise its repeal as one of the beneficent results that will follow the action of the people in entrusting power to the democratic party. Since the McKinley tariff went into operation there have been ten reductions of wages of laboring men to one increase. We deny that there has been any increase of prosperity to the country since that tariff went into operation, and we point to the dullness and distress, wage reductions and strikes in the iron trade, as the best possible evidence that no such prosperity has resulted from the McKinley act. We call the attention of thoughtful Americans to the fact that after thirty years of restrictive taxes against the importation of foreign wealth, in exchange for our agricultural surplus, the homes and farms of the country have become burdened with a real estate mortgage debt of over two thousand, five hundred million dollars, exclusive of all other forms of indebtedness; that in one of the chief agricultural states of the west there appears a real estate mortgage debt averaging $165 per capita of the total population, and that similar conditions and tendencies are shown to exist in other agricultural exporting states. We denounce a policy which fosters no industry so much as it does that of the sheriff.

Sec. 4. Trade interchange on a basis of reciprocal advantages to countries participating is a time-honored doctrine of democratic faith, but we denounce the sham reciprocity which juggles with the people's desire for enlarged foreign markets and freer exchanges by pretending to establish closer trade relations for the country whose articles of export are almost exclusively agricultural products, with other countries that are also agricultural, while erecting the custom house barrier of prohibitive tariff taxes against the richest countries of the world, that stand ready to take our entire surplus of products and to exchange therefor commodities which are necessaries and comforts of life among our own people.

Sec. 5. We recognize in trusts and combinations which are designed to enable capital to secure more than its just share of the joint product of capital and order, the natural consequence of prohibitive taxes which prevent free competition, which is the life of honest trade, but we believe the worst evils can be abated by law, and we demand a rigid enforcement of laws made to prevent and control them, together with such further legislation as experience may show to be necessary.

Sec. 6. The republican party while professing a policy of receiving public land for small holdings by actual settlers, has given away the people's heritage till now a few railroads and non-resident aliens, individuals and corporations possess a larger area than that of all our farms between the two seas. The last democratic administration reversed the improvident and unwise policy of the republican party touching the public domain and reclaimed from corporations and syndicates, alien and domestic, and restored to the people nearly one hundred million acres of valuable land to be sacredly held as homesteads for our citizens, and we pledge ourselves to continue this policy until every foot of land so unlawfully held shall be reclaimed and restored to the people.

Sec. 7. We denounce the republican legislation known as the Sherman act of 1890 as a cowardly makeshift, fraught with possibilities of danger in the future which should make all its supporters as well as its author, anxious for its speedy repeal. We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discriminating against either metal or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value or be adjusted through international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of parity of the two metals. An equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts, and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin. We insist upon this policy as especially necessary for protection of the farmers and laboring classes, the first and most defenseless victims of unstable money and fluctuating currency.

Sec. 8. We recommend that the prohibitory 10 per cent tax on state bank issues be repealed.

Sec. 9. A public office is a public trust. We reaffirm the declaration of the democratic national convention of 1876 for the reform of the civil service and we call for the honest enforcement of all laws regulating the same. The nomination of president, as in the recent republican convention, by delegations composed largely of his appointees, holding office at his pleasure, is a scandalous satire upon free popular institutions and a startling illustration of the methods by which a president may gratify his ambition. We denounce the policy under which federal office holders usurp control of party conventions in the states, and pledge the democratic party to the reform of these and all other abuses which threaten individual liberty and local self-government.

Sec. 10. The democratic party is the only party that has ever given the country a foreign policy, consistent and vigorous, compelling respect abroad and inspiring confidence at home. While avoiding entangling alliances it has aimed to cultivate friendly relations with other nations, and especially with our neighbors on the American continent whose destiny is closely linked with our own and we view with alarm the tendency to a policy of irritation and bluster, which is liable at any time to confront us with the alternative of humiliation or war. We favor the maintenance of a navy strong enough for all national defense and to properly maintain the honor and dignity of the country abroad.

Sec. 11. This country has always been the refuge of the oppressed from every land—exiles for conscience sake—and in the spirit of the founders of our government we condemn the oppression practiced by the Russian government upon its Lutheran and Jewish subjects, and we call upon our national government in the interest of justice and humanity, by all just and proper means, to use its prompt and best efforts to bring about a cessation of these cruel persecutions of the czar, and to secure to the oppressed equal rights. We tender our profound sympathy and encouragement to those struggling for home rule and the great cause of self-government in Ireland.

Sec. 12. We heartily approve all legitimate efforts to prevent the United States from being used as the dumping-ground for known criminals and professional paupers of Europe, and we demand a rigid enforcement of the law against Chinese immigration or the importation of foreign workmen under contract to degrade American labor and lessen its wages; but we condemn and denounce any and all attempts to restrict the immigration of the industrious and worthy of foreign lands.

Sec. 13. This convention hereby renews its expression of appreciation of the patriotism of the soldiers and sailors of the union in the war for its preservation, and we favor just and liberal pensions for all disabled union soldiers, their widows and dependents, but we demand that the work of the pension office shall be done industriously, impartially and honestly. We denounce the present administration of that office as incompetent, corrupt, disgraceful and dishonest.

Sec. 14. The federal government should care for and improve the Mississippi river and other great waterways of the republic, so as to secure for the interior states easy and cheap transportation to tidewater. When any waterway of the public is of sufficient importance to demand the aid of the government that such aid should be extended to a definite plan of continuous work until permanent improvement is secured.

Sec. 15. For purposes of national defense, the promotion of commerce between the states, we recognize the early construction of the Nicaragua canal and its protection against foreign control as of great importance to the United States.

Sec. 16. Recognizing the World's Columbian Exposition as a national undertaking of vast importance, in which the general government has invited the co-operation of all the powers of the world, and appreciating the acceptance by many of such powers of the invitation extended, and the broadest liberal efforts being made by them to contribute to the grandeur of the undertaking, we are of the opinion that congress should make such necessary financial provision as shall be requisite to the maintenance of national honor and public faith.

Sec. 17. Popular education being the only safe basis of popular suffrage, we recommend to the several states the most liberal appropriations for public schools. Free common schools are the nursery of good government, and they have always received the fostering care of the democratic party, which favors every means of increasing intelligence. The freedom of education, being an essential of civil and religious liberty as well as a necessity for the development of intelligence, must not be interfered with under any pretext whatever. We are opposed to state interference with parental rights and the rights of conscience in the education of children as an infringement of the fundamental democratic doctrine that the largest individual liberty consistent with the rights of others insures the highest type of American citizenship and best government.

Sec. 18. We approve the action of the present house of representatives in passing bills for the admission into the union as states of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona, and we favor the early admission of all territories having the necessary population and resources to admit them to statehood, and while they remain territories we hold that officials appointed to administer the government of any territory, together with the District of Columbia and Alaska, should be bona fide residents of the territory or district in which their duties are to be performed. The democratic party believes in home rule and the control of their own affairs by people of vicinage.

Sec. 19. We favor legislation by congress and state legislatures to protect the lives and limbs of railway employes and those of other hazardous companies, and denounce the inactivity of the republican party, and particularly the republican senate, for causing the defeat of measures beneficial and protective to this class of wage earners.

Sec. 20. We are in favor of the enactment by states of laws for abolishing the notorious sweating system, for abolishing contract convict labor and for prohibiting the employment in factories of children under fifteen years of age.

Sec. 21. We are opposed to all sumptuary laws as an interference with the individual rights of citizens.

Sec. 22. Upon this statement of principles and policies the democratic party asks the intelligent judgment of the American people. It asks a change of administration and a change of party in order that there may be a change of system and a change of methods, these covering the maintenance unimpaired of the institution under which the republic has grown great and powerful.

THE PLANKS APPLAUDED.

Denunciation of measures, like the force bill, was loudly cheered. Applause also greeted the homestead plank and the portion of the silver plank denouncing the Sherman act. Reference to federal officers in a national convention elicited a terrible yell. The foreign policy plank, navy, Jews in Russia, and home rule of Ireland, were deliberately cheered. The school-law plank was carefully listened to, and was punctuated at the end of nearly every sentence by shouts of approval. The only features of the platform which seemed to call forth divided sentiments was the tariff and silver planks which were apparently not sufficiently radical to satisfy delegates with pronounced views. Mr. Jones moved the adoption of the platform. Mr. Neal, of Ohio, was recognized, and moved to strike from the tariff section all words preceding the denunciation of the McKinley act, and to substitute therefor the following:

"We denounce republican protection as a fraud on the labor of the great majority of American people for the benefit of the few. We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the democratic party that the federal government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only (applause and cheers) and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessaries of government when honestly and economically administered. (Cheers and applause.)

A tremendous tumult followed. Neal, Vilas and Waterson took part in the debate. Mr. Jones retired in despair. Mr. Neal demanded a roll call on his motion to strike out and substitute. The roll was called and resulted: ayes, 564; nays, 342.

Mr. Patterson, of Colorado, then took the floor and presented the minority report [illegible] with the majority plank except that it reads "through the free coinage of both gold and silver." Mr. Patterson moved the adoption of his substitute for the silver plank. The motion was put and declared lost.

"Mr. Chairman," continued Mr. Patterson, "the question is now on the adoption of the platform." This motion was voted on by the yeas and nays and carried.

Mr. Chairman—The next order of business, gentlemen, is a call of the roll of states for the nomination of candidates for the office of president of the United States. The clerk commenced to call the roll and got as far as Alabama, when he was interrupted.

Mr. Fenton, of Arkansas, attempted to have an adjournment but no attention was paid to it. Arkansas yielded her place to New Jersey and ex Governor Abbett, of that state, came forward to the platform, accompanied by enthusiastic cheers from the Cleveland wing of the convention, it being understood that Abbett was to nominate ex-President Cleveland. When order was restored Governor Abbett addressed the body, formally placing Grover Cleveland in nomination. He began by saying:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:—In presenting a name to this convention I speak for the united democratic principles, faithful services to the party and whose contributions to its success entitled it to the respectful considerations of the democracy of the United States. We feel certain that every democratic state, though its preferences may be for some other distinguished democrat, will give its warm, enthusiastic and earnest support to the nomines of this convention."

Governor Abbett proceeded without receiving more than mild applause until he reached that portion of his address where he says, "If there was any doubt existing in my mind of the results of this national contest, I would not urge on behalf of my state the views of its democracy in favor of Grover Cleveland."

WILLIAM E. RUSSELL, OF MASSACHUSETTS.

The mention of the sage of Buzzard's Bay was a signal for a thunder of cheers. Men and women who thronged the great galleries waved fans, umbrellas and banners.

Mr. DeWitt, of New York, followed Abbett, and nominated Hill. DeWitt was followed by John R. Fellows, who eloquently and amid some enthusiasm seconded the nomination of Hill. Mr. Green, of Illinois, took the stand to second Cleveland's nomination, but the audience called for "time" upon him and he sat down. Mr. English, of Indiana, edged in a brief speech seconding Cleveland, and then Mr. Duncan, of Iowa, put Boies in nomination with an excellent speech, and although it was midnight there was a great show of enthusiasm.

SECONDING THE NOMINATIONS.

After many other speeches, seconding the nominations of the three candidates, amidst the greatest confusion and cries of "time, time," Senator Daniels, of Virginia, took the stand to second Hill's nomination. The immense audience immediately commenced crying "time." [illegible] hour, Bourke Cochran, of New York, declared in a tone of thunder above the din, that unless New York was given a respectful hearing, it would be best for its delegates to leave the hall. It was then 11:30 o'clock, and a perfect bedlam was reigning in the hall. Some delegate yelled if the chairman would use his gavel, there would be order. Finally the policemen and sergeant-at-arms were instructed to remove all persons from the hall who made confusion. A motion was also made to adjourn, but the chairman declined to recognize it. Order was at last secured, and the calling of states was continued.

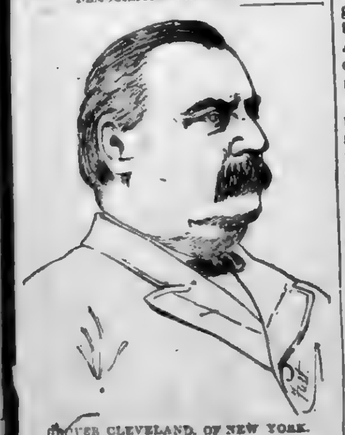
SCENES AND INCIDENTS OF THE CONVENTION.

Synopsis of Each Day's Proceedings Given in Brief.

DEMOCRATIC WIGWAM.



GROVER CLEVELAND, OF NEW YORK.

STEVENSON, OF ILLINOIS.

The national democratic convention was called to order at 11 o'clock, Tuesday June 21st in the city of Chicago.

The convention assembled in the mammoth wigwam built expressly for the occasion. The city was crowded with delegates and their friends, besides vast throngs of visitors were on hand to witness the convention proceedings. Many of the delegates had arrived upon the ground a week in advance, and from that time until the last delegation reached the city the wildest enthusiasm prevailed.

Notwithstanding considerable difference of opinion as to the most available presidential candidate prevailed, and the energy and activity displayed by the different delegations in booming the man of their choice, the skirmishes and caucuses indulged in before the opening day were entirely harmonious.

CALLED TO ORDER.

By half past 11 o'clock Tuesday morning the immense wigwam was fairly crowded and presented an imposing scene. The delegates were assigned their seats, and when all was in readiness Chairman Price, of the national committee, arose and commanded silence, after which he presented Rev. John Rouse, who offered prayer. At 12:45 o'clock Secretary Sherman announced temporary organization: William C. Owens, of Kentucky, temporary chairman; Secretary S. P. Sherlin, principal reading clerk; Nicholas Abell, of Missouri, sergeant-at-arms. Richard J. Bright, of Indiana; Charles Jewett, of Indiana; Thomas Wilson, of Minnesota, and Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, were named to attend Mr. Owens to the speaker's chair.

After a greeting of applause Mr. Owens addressed the convention. The speaker's voice penetrated to the farthest recesses of the galleries and his remarks were cheered to the echo.

He began his remarks by saying: "Two great dangers menace the democratic party, one is external, the other internal. The first is the organized machinery of organized capital, supported by the whole power of the government; the second is the tendency among democrats to make issues among themselves. Two needs, therefore, stand before us indispensible to success—unity and harmony." At the close of Mr. Owen's speech, upon motion of Delegate White, of California, the roll was called for the constitution of the committee on credentials as on rules and order of business, on permanent organization and on resolutions; each state to name one member of each committee. All resolutions and communications to the convention were ordered referred to the resolutions committee.

HORACE BOIES, OF IOWA.

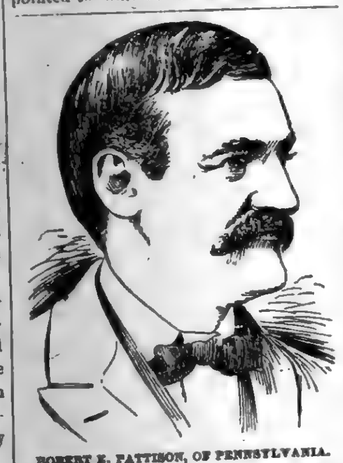
W. H. English, of Indiana, moved a resolution providing that all ex union soldiers be admitted to vacant seats in the gallery. The matter was referred to the committee on resolutions. Delegate Cabell, of Illinois, then offered this:

Resolved, That this convention tender its profound sympathy to that distinguished American, James G. Blaine, in the heavy affliction which has befallen him.

Its reading was interrupted with the loudest applause up to that time, and when the reading was finished the resolution was adopted unanimously. Mr. Sweet, of the Maine delegation, in behalf of the democracy of Maine, thanked the delegations for the sympathy they had extended to the distinguished resident of their state. An invitation from President Baker, of the World's Columbian Exposition was read inviting delegates to visit the grounds of the exposition. On motion of Delegate Bragg, of Wisconsin, the convention then, at 2 o'clock p. m., adjourned till 11 o'clock Wednesday.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

At 11:30 a. m., Wednesday, the chairman called the convention to order. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Alfred H. Henry. When prayer was concluded Chairman Owen called for the report of the committee on credentials. It was announced that the committee on credentials would not be ready to report until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The chairman of the convention asked for its pleasure and recognized a delegate from Alaska. Mr. Bronson, of Kentucky, moved that a committee of two be appointed to wait on the credentials committee and ascertain when they would be ready to report.



ROBERT E. PATTISON, OF PENNSYLVANIA.

In the meantime there was a wait, and Roger Q. Mills entered the hall. Then there went up a shout. Then, on motion, Mr. Mills was invited to address the convention. But Mr. Mills was reported not well enough to speak. Senator Palmer, of Illinois, was called on to address the convention. A committee brought Mr. Palmer to the front, and, when the gray-haired senator was seen coming down the aisle to the desk, a cheer went up which soon grew to a roar. "Gentlemen," cried Chairman Owens, "it is not necessary for me to introduce to you this war horse of democracy." The Senator's speech was loudly cheered. Colonel John R. Fellows, of New York, in response to calls, stated that as a delegate he would speak at the proper time, but not at present.

CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The committee on credentials announced that they were ready to report, and that the report was unanimous. The committee's report favored the seating of the regular Alabama delegates, while the contestants were to be given seats on the floor; the same as to Pennsylvania; the same as to Ohio; the same as to Utah. The committee's report was unanimously adopted. Mr. Fordyce next read the report of the committee on permanent organization. Wm. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, was named as permanent chairman. The report of the committee on permanent organization was adopted.

On motion of Dickinson, of Michigan, a committee of five was appointed to notify Wilson and others of their election. Dickinson, Fellows and others of the committee went after Wilson, of West Virginia. While the committee was searching for Wilson, the band played popular melodies with great snap.

Wilson took the platform at 12:26 p. m., being escorted by Dickinson and Flower. Temporary Chairman Owen presented Permanent Chairman Wilson to the convention. Mr. Wilson was greeted warmly. He thanked the convention for the honor. "Much as we owe to our party," said he, "we owe more to our country," [Cheers.] Mr. Wilson's address abounded with points that pleased the convention. A severe arraignment of the republican party was for a time his theme. He said the republican party was a party of a section and a class and not of the people of the country as a whole. He said that the democrats should see that legislation was not in the interest of any section, but for the whole people. He denounced the force and tariff bills sought to be operated by the republicans. The most important of all questions, he said, was that of taxation and tariff reform, and they could only be regulated by the democratic party. He denounced the McKinley reciprocity bill as "one of the greatest absurdities of the age." Mr. Wilson appealed for harmony in the convention, no matter who should be its choice as a candidate to lead them. Mr. Wilson closed at 12:45 o'clock p. m. and William H. English, of Indiana, read the report of the committee on rules which establishes this order of business: The report of the credentials committee; permanent organization; committee on resolutions and platform committee reports; nomination of presidential and vice presidential candidates. The rules of the last national democratic convention were recommended by the committee. Upon motion of Mr. English the committee report and recommendations were adopted by the convention.

JOHN M. PALMER, OF ILLINOIS.

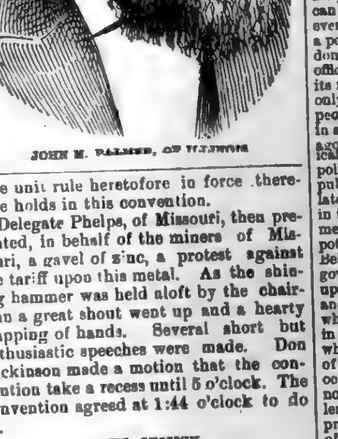
Delegate Phelps, of Missouri, then presented, in behalf of the miners of Missouri, a gavel of zinc, a protest against the tariff upon this metal. As the shining hammer was held aloft by the chairman a great shout went up and a hearty clapping of hands. Several short but enthusiastic speeches were made. Don Dickinson made a motion that the convention take a recess until 5 o'clock. The convention agreed at 1:44 o'clock to do so.

NIGHT SESSION.

The great hall was a surging mass of humanity when Chairman Wilson thumped for order. The throng subsided and the night session began. Prayer was offered by Rev. Thomas Reed, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and he was applauded when he closed. The temper of the audience was clearly one of quick demonstration. While the convention was awaiting the resolutions committee, the convention was regaled with stirring music. Mr. duBignon, of Georgia, moved to adjourn until 11 o'clock a. m. Thursday. The motion was scarcely put before the convention, by the chair before it, was buried in storm of "ones."

At 6:24 o'clock Charles Jones, of Missouri chairman of the resolutions committee, appeared upon the platform. Addressing the convention he said: "I am instructed by the committee on resolutions to present to you as the report of the committee, the following resolutions, and move their adoption. In order that you may more distinctly hear what the committee has prepared, I intend to ask a gentleman who is as familiar as myself with the phraseology of the platform, to read it for me. (Applause.) And, when it has been read, shall move the previous question upon adoption of the platform." (Cries of no, no, no.)



ROSWELL P. FLOWER, OF NEW YORK.

Mr. Patterson, of Colorado, advanced on the platform and said: "In view of the statement just made, I will say that I represent the minority of the committee on resolutions, and I desire to announce that that minority expects to be heard to present its report before the previous question shall be put." Quick cheers followed this announcement. Then ex-Secretary Vilas commenced to read the resolutions at 6:28 o'clock, but when he reached the phrase "From Madison to Cleveland," there was the quick shout of one voice near the platform. It was lost, however, in a flash, for it seemed that as though with one impulse the entire 20,000 people leaped upon their chairs, and with hats and handkerchiefs in the air 20,000 handkerchiefs, 20,000 throats let loose yells and screams that shook the heavy air and almost made the bar racks quiver. The tempest ebbed and flowed until 6:47 o'clock p. m., when quiet was restored.

THE PLATFORM READ.

Finally at 6:48 o'clock Mr. Vilas again resumed reading the platform, which is as follows:

The report of the platform committee was as follows:

Section 1. The representatives of the democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, do reaffirm their allegiance to the principles of the party as formulated by Jefferson and exemplified by a long and illustrious line of his successors in democratic leadership from Madison to Cleveland. We believe the public welfare demands that these principles be applied to the conduct of the federal government, through the accession to power of the party that advocates them, and we solemnly declare that the need of a return to these fundamental principles of free popular government, based on home rule and individual liberty, was never more urgent than now when the tendency to centralize all the power at the federal capital has become a menace to the reserved rights of states, that strikes at the very root of our government's constitution as framed by the fathers of the republic.

Sec. 2. We warn the people of a common country, jealous for the preservation of their free institutions, that the policy of federal control of elections, to which the republican party has committed itself, is fraught with the gravest dangers, scarcely less momentous than would result from a revolution practically establishing monarchy on the ruins of the republic. It strikes at the north as well as at the south, and injures the colored citizens even more than the whites. It means a horde of deputy marshals at every polling place armed with federal power; returning boards appointed and controlled by federal authority; outrage of the electoral rights of the people in the several states; the subjugation of the colored people to the control of the party in power, and the reviving of race antagonism, now happily abated, of the utmost peril to the safety and happiness of all; a measure deliberately and justly described by a leading republican senator as "the most infamous bill that ever crossed the threshold of the senate." Such a policy, if sanctioned by law, would mean the dominance of a self-perpetuating oligarchy of office holders, and the party first entrusted with its machinery could be dislodged from power only by an appeal to the reserved rights of the people to resist oppression, which is inherent in all self-governing communities. Two years ago this revolutionary policy was emphatically condemned by the people at the polls, but in contempt of that verdict the republican party has defiantly declared, in its latest authoritative utterance, that its success in the coming elections will mean the enactment of a force bill and the usurpation of despotic control over elections in all the states. Believing that the preservation of republican government in the United States is dependent upon the defeat of this policy of legalized force and fraud, we invite the support of all citizens who desire to see the constitution maintained in its integrity, with the laws pursuant thereto, which have given our country a hundred years of unexampled prosperity. We pledge the democratic party, if it be entrusted with the power, not only to defeat the force bill, but also the relentless opposition to the republican policy of profligate expenditure which, in the short space of two years, has squandered an enormous surplus—emptied an overflowing treasury after piling new burdens of taxation upon the already over-taxed labor of the country.

Sec. 3. We reiterate the oft repeated doctrine of the democratic party that the necessity of government is the only justification for taxation, and whenever tax is unnecessary it is unjustifiable; that when custom house taxation is levied upon articles of any kind in this country the difference between the cost of labor here and labor abroad, when such difference exists, fully measure any possible benefits of labor and the enormous additional impositions of the existing tariff fall with crushing force upon our farmers and working men and for the mere advantages of a few whom it enriches, exact from labor a grossly unjust share of expenses of the government, and we demand such a revision of the tariff laws as will remove their iniquitous inequalities, lighten their opposition and put them on a constitutional and equitable basis. But in making a reduction in taxes it is not proposed to injure any domestic industries, but rather to promote their healthy growth. From the foundation of this government taxes collected at custom houses have been the chief source of federal revenue. Such they must continue to be. Moreover, many industries have come to rely upon legislation for successful continuance, so that any changes of law must be at every step regardful of labor and capital thus involved. The process of reform must be a subject in the execution of this plain dictation of justice. We denounce the McKinly tariff law enacted by the fifty-first congress as the culminating atrocity of class legislation; we endorse the efforts made by the democrats of the present congress to modify its most oppressive features in the direction of free raw materials and cheaper manufactured goods that enter into general consumption; and we promise its repeal as one of the beneficent results that will follow the action of the people in entrusting power to the democratic party. Since the McKinley tariff went into operation there have been ten reductions of wages of laboring men to one increase. We deny that there has been any increase of prosperity to the country since that tariff went into operation, and we point to the dullness and distress, wage reductions and strikes in the iron trade, as the best possible evidence that no such prosperity has resulted from the McKinley act. We call the attention of thoughtful Americans to the fact that after thirty years of restrictive taxes against the importation of foreign wealth, in exchange for our agricultural surplus, the homes and farms of the country have become burdened with a real estate mortgage debt of over two thousand, five hundred million dollars, exclusive of all other forms of indebtedness; that in one of the chief agricultural states of the west there appears a real estate mortgage debt averaging $165 per capita of the total population, and that similar conditions and tendencies are shown to exist in other agricultural exporting states. We denounce a policy which fosters no industry so much as it does that of the sheriff.

Sec. 4. Trade interchange on a basis of reciprocal advantages to countries participating is a time-honored doctrine of democratic faith, but we denounce the sham reciprocity which juggles with the people's desire for enlarged foreign markets and freer exchanges by pretending to establish closer trade relations for the country whose articles of export are almost exclusively agricultural products, with other countries that are also agricultural, while erecting the custom house barrier of prohibitive tariff taxes against the richest countries of the world, that stand ready to take our entire surplus of products and to exchange therefor commodities which are necessaries and comforts of life among our own people.

Sec. 5. We recognize in trusts and combinations which are designed to enable capital to secure more than its just share of the joint product of capital and labor, the natural consequence of prohibitive taxes which prevent free competition, which is the life of honest trade, but we believe the surest cure can be effected by law, and we demand a rigid enforcement of laws made to prevent and control them, together with such further legislation as may be necessary to protect the people from the dangers and abuses of combinations of capital.

Sec. 6. The republican party while professing a policy of receiving public land for small holdings by actual settlers, has given away the people's heritage till now a few railroads and non-resident aliens, individuals and corporations possess a larger area than that of all our farms between the two seas. The last democratic administration reversed the improvident and unwise policy of the republican party touching the public domain and reclaimed from corporations and syndicates, alien and domestic, and restored to the people nearly one hundred million acres of valuable land to be sacredly held as homesteads for our citizens, and we pledge ourselves to continue this policy until every acre of land so unlawfully held shall be reclaimed and restored to the people.

Sec. 7. We denounce the republican legislation known as the Sherman act of 1890 as a cowardly makeshift, fraught with possibilities of danger in the future which should make all its supporters as well as its authors, ashamed for its speedy repeal. We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discriminating against either metal or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value or be adjusted through international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of parity of the two metals. An equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts, and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin. We insist upon this policy as especially necessary for protection of the farmers and laboring classes, the first and most defenseless victims of unstable money and fluctuating currency.

Sec. 8. We recommend that the prohibitory 10 per cent tax on state bank issues be repealed.

Sec. 9. A public office is a public trust. We reaffirm the declaration of the democratic national convention of 1876 for the reform of the civil service and we call for the honest enforcement of all laws regulating the same. The nomination of president, as in the recent republican convention, by delegations composed largely of his appointees, holding office at his pleasure, is a scandalous satire upon free popular institutions and a startling illustration of the methods by which a president may gratify his ambition. We denounce the policy under which federal office holders usurp control of party conventions in the states, and pledge the democratic party to the reform of these and all other abuses which threaten individual liberty and local self-government.

Sec. 10. The democratic party is the only party that has ever given the country a foreign policy, consistent and vigorous, compelling respect abroad and inspiring confidence at home. While avoiding entangling alliances it has aimed to cultivate friendly relations with other nations, and especially with our neighbors on the American continent whose destiny is closely linked with our own and we view with alarm the tendency to a policy of irritation and bluster, which is liable at any time to confront us with the alternative of humiliation or war. We favor the maintenance of a navy strong enough for all national defense and to properly maintain the honor and dignity of the country abroad.

Sec. 11. This country has always been the refuge of the oppressed from every land—exiles for conscience sake—and in the spirit of the founders of our government we condemn the oppression practiced by the Russian government upon its Lutheran and Jewish subjects, and we call upon our national government in the interest of justice and humanity, by all just and proper means, to use its prompt and best efforts to bring about a cessation of these cruel persecutions of the czar, and to secure to the oppressed equal rights. We tender our profound sympathy to the [illegible] freedom who are struggling for home rule and the great cause of self-government in Ireland.

Sec. 12. We heartily approve all legitimate efforts to prevent the United States from being used as the dumping-ground for known criminals and professional paupers of Europe, and we demand a rigid enforcement of the law against Chinese immigration or the importation of foreign workmen under contract to degrade American labor and lessen its wages; but we condemn and denounce any and all attempts to restrict the immigration of the industrious and worthy of foreign lands.

Sec. 13. This convention hereby renews its expression of appreciation of the patriotism of the soldiers and sailors of the union in the war for its preservation, and we favor just and liberal pensions for all disabled union soldiers, their widows and dependents, but we demand that the work of the pension office shall be done industriously, impartially and honestly. We denounce the present administration of that office as incompetent, corrupt, disgraceful and dishonest.

Sec. 14. The federal government should care for and improve the Mississippi river and other great waterways of the republic, so as to secure for the interior states easy and cheap transportation to tidewater. When any waterway of the public is of sufficient importance to demand the aid of the government that such aid should be extended to a definite plan of continuous work until permanent improvement is secured.

Sec. 15. For purposes of national defense, the promotion of commerce between the states, we recognize the early construction of the Nicaragua canal and its protection against foreign control as of great importance to the United States.

Sec. 16. Recognizing the World's Columbian Exposition as a national undertaking of vast importance, in which the general government has invited the co-operation of all the powers of the world, and appreciating the acceptance by many of such powers of the invitation extended, and the broadest liberal efforts being made by them to contribute to the grandeur of the undertaking, we are of the opinion that congress should make such necessary financial provision as shall be requisite to the maintenance of national honor and public faith.

Sec. 17. Popular education being the only safe basis of popular suffrage, we recommend to the several states the most liberal appropriations for public schools. Free common schools are the nursery of good government, and they have always received the fostering care care of the democratic party, which favors every means of increasing intelligence. The freedom of education, being an essential of civil and religious liberty as well as a necessity for the development of intelligence, must not be interfered with under any pretext whatever. We are opposed to state interference with parental rights and the rights of conscience in the education of children as an infringement of the fundamental democratic doctrine that the largest individual liberty consistent with the rights of others insures the highest type of American citizenship and best government.

Sec. 18. We approve the action of the present house of representatives in passing bills for the admission into the union as states of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona, and we favor the early admission of all territories having the necessary population and resources to admit them to statehood, and while they remain territories we hold that officials appointed to administer the government of any territory, together with the District of Columbia and Alaska, should be bona fide residents of the territory or district in which their duties are to be performed. The democratic party believes in home rule and the control of their own affairs by people of vicinage.

Sec. 19. We favor legislation by congress and state legislatures to protect the lives and limbs of railway employes and those of other hazardous companies, and denounce the inactivity of the republican senate, for causing the defeat of measures beneficial and protective to this class of wage earners.

Sec. 20. We are in favor of the enactment by states of laws for abolishing the notorious sweating system, for abolishing contract convict labor and for prohibiting the employment in factories of children under fifteen years of age.

Sec. 21. We are opposed to all sumptuary laws as an interference with the individual rights of citizens.

Sec. 22. Upon this statement of principles and policies the democratic party asks the intelligent judgment of the American people. It asks a change of administration and a change of party in order that there may be a change of system and a change of methods, thus ensuring the maintenance unimpaired of the institutions under which the republic has grown great and powerful.

THE STATES ATTACHMENT.

Denunciation of measures, like the force bill, was loudly cheered. Applause also greeted the homestead plank and the portion of the silver plank denouncing the Sherman act. Reference to federal officers in a national convention elicited a terrible yell. The foreign policy plank, navy, Jews in Russia, and home rule of Ireland, were deliberately cheered. The school-law plank was carefully listened to, and was punctuated at the end of nearly every sentence by shouts of approval. The only features of the platform which seemed to call forth divided sentiments was the tariff and silver planks which were apparently not sufficiently radical to satisfy delegates with pronounced views. Mr. Jones moved the adoption of the platform. Mr. Neal, of Ohio, was recognized, and moved to strike from the tariff section all words preceding the denunciation of the McKinley act, and to substitute therefor the following:

"We denounce republican protection as a fraud on the labor of the great majority of American people for the benefit of the few. We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the democratic party that the federal government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenues only (applause and cheers) and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessaries of government when honestly and economically administered. (Cheers and applause.)

A tremendous tumult followed. Neal, Vilas and Waterson took part in the debate. Mr. Jones retired in despair. Mr. Neal demanded a roll call on his motion to strike out and substitute. The roll was called and resulted: ayes, 564; nays, 342.

Mr. Patterson, of Colorado, then took the floor and presented the minority report [illegible] with the majority plank except that it reads "through the free coinage of both gold and silver." Mr. Patterson moved the adoption of his substitute for the silver plank. The motion was put and declared lost.

"Mr. Chairman," continued Mr. Patterson, "the question is now on the adoption of the platform." This motion was voted on by the yeas and nays and carried.

Mr. Chairman—The next order of business, gentlemen, is a call of the roll of states for the nomination of candidates for the office of president of the United States. The clerk commenced to call the roll and got as far as Alabama, when he was interrupted.

Mr. Fenton, of Arkansas, attempted to have an adjournment but no attention was paid to it. Arkansas yielded her place to New Jersey and ex Governor Abbett, of that state, came forward to the platform, accompanied by enthusiastic cheers from the Cleveland wing of the convention, it being understood that Abbett was to nominate ex-President Cleveland. When order was restored Governor Abbett addressed the body, formally placing Grover Cleveland in nomination. He began by saying:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:—In presenting a name to this convention I speak for the united democratic principles, faithful services to the party and whose contributions to its success entitled it to the support of all considerations of the discussion of any

United States. We feel certain that every democratic state, though its preference may be for some other distinguished democrat, will give its warm, enthusiastic and earnest support to the nominee of this convention."

Governor Abbett proceeded without receiving more than mild applause until he reached that portion of his address where he says, "If there was any doubt existing in my mind of the results of this national contest, I would not urge on behalf of my state the views of its democracy in favor of Grover Cleveland."

WILLIAM E. RUSSELL, OF MASSACHUSETTS.

The mention of the sage of Buzzard's Bay was a signal for a thunder of cheers. Men and women who thronged the great galleries waved fans, umbrellas and banners.

Mr. DeWitt, of New York, followed Abbett, and nominated Hill. DeWitt was followed by John R. Fellows, who eloquently and amid some enthusiasm seconded the nomination of Hill. Mr. Green, of Illinois, took the stand to second Cleveland's nomination, but the audience called for "time" upon him and he sat down. Mr. English, of Indiana, edged in a brief speech seconding Cleveland, and then Mr. Duncan, of Iowa, put Boies in nomination with an excellent speech, and although it was midnight there was a great show of enthusiasm.

SECONDING THE NOMINATIONS.

After many other speeches, seconding the nominations of the three candidates, amidst the greatest confusion and cries of "time, time," Senator Daniels, of Virginia, took the stand to second Hill's nomination. The immense audience immediately commenced crying "time." [illegible] hour, Bourke Cochran, of New York, declared in a tone of thunder above the din, that unless New York was given a respectful hearing, it would be best for its delegates to leave the hall. It was then 11:30 o'clock, and a perfect bedlam was reigning in the hall. Some delegate yelled if the chairman would use his gavel, there would be order. Finally the policemen and sergeant-at-arms were instructed to remove all persons from the hall who made confusion. A motion was also made to adjourn, but the chairman declined to recognize it. Order was at last secured, and the calling of states was continued.

Cleveland and Stevenson is the national Democratic ticket with which the people can put down the high tariff and the force bill.

Grover Cleveland, of New York, and Gen. A. E. Stevenson, of Illinois, were nominated by the national Democracy at Chicago last week for President and Vice President respectively.

The committee of sixteen of the Jones Democracy which met at Clanton Saturday sent a petition to the State Democratic Executive Committee praying for a re-organization of the party in Chilton, and the petition was granted.

Any man who looks more to his own aggrandizement than to the peace of the people whom he would have to elevate him, is not the man to give counsel to an intelligent people.—Hayneville Citizen.

Judge H. M. Caffey of Lowndes county, who has been a lively Kolb man, now says: "With all due respect to those who continue to follow Captain Kolb, in my opinion Captain Kolb now occupies a position upon which no true Democrat can afford to place himself."

The VIEW has endeavored to look at the ludicrous side of the political campaign, knowing that newspaper articles would have been powerless to combat the tide of hate and prejudice which prevails in politics. We may have been too conservative, but prefer to lean that way to being a fomenter of strife.

A Guthrie (Okla.) despatch to the New York World, says, the white settlers of the territory, Democrats and Republicans, have arrived at the conclusion that negro rule must and shall end at once. These transplanted Northerners and Westerners appear to have had enough of it very soon. The South has had to submit to it for years.

Mr. J. H. Bostwick and several of the present county Democratic executive committee turned up for Jones Saturday. Several others of the committee are with the ticket nominated on April 12th and will fight for Kolb and glory, which made a re-organization necessary under the new party law, and the necessary steps were taken to carry out that design.

The Athens Courier takes the only proper view of the situation when it says: "We have heretofore earnestly supported Captain Kolb for the nomination of Governor of Alabama. We believe he made a faithful Confederate soldier, had a cloudless Democratic record and was an honest man; and we have nothing to take back nor any apology to make.

Now that the dreadful split in the party has come, we feel it our duty to the party to do what we can for the ticket, as a whole, headed by Governor Jones. In doing this we will treat with respect and kindness those who differ with us and endeavor to eliminate abuse and bitterness from the campaign.

There are honest and good men in large numbers on both sides, and if they get together again, it must be through the policy we have suggested."

Another negro has been lynched for committing an atrocious assault upon a white girl. The lynching appears to have been done with the sanction of the entire community in which it occured, including the "best citizens."

It is important to observe that this event occurred not in any Southern State, but in Port Jervis, New York. It is not, therefore, a manifestation of race prejudice peculiar to the South. There is no touch of solid politics in it. It signifies nothing of Southern indifference to the rights of negroes as men.

The case is not a solitary one. Many such lynchings have taken place in Northern communities, enough to show that the sentiment which leads to them is as prevalent at the North as at the South, though the occasions for its manifestation are much rarer in the one section than in the other.

A Hopeless Minority.

Capt. Kolb alluded on the stump to the Age-Herald, as the "fairest daily in Alabama." He did this several times. Here is what the Age-Herald, whose editor was in the convention, has to say on the subject of Kolb's rights in that convention.

Here are some cold facts. The only contest about which reasonable and fair men of either faction differed, in committee or convention, were those from Bibb, Marshall, Dale, Crenshaw, Coosa, Fayette, Cherokee and Butler. Of these the Kolb delegates were seated from Bibb, Marshall, Fayette, Dale and Coosa, and the Jones delegations from Fayette and Marshall walked out of their own accord, leaving the credentials committee with nothing to do, even had it desired to decide otherwise, except to seat the Jones delegates in their places. But if every contest in the above list had been decided in Capt. Kolb's favor, he would have been in a hopeless minority.

Senatorial Convention.

The Democratic Senatorial Convention for the 15th Senatorial District of Alabama, is hereby called to convene in the city of Wetumpka, Ala., on Thursday, the 7th day of July, 1892, to nominate a candidate for Senator.

It is the opinion of a few Georgia leaders, that the third party may yet exist. As there is not standing room for three parties, we take it that the third party may supplant the second party, but while time lasts, it can never stand in the shoes of the Democratic party, for it is the first party, the last party, and the all time party.—Huntsville Mercury.

Why, She Hated French.

There is at the Hotel Metropole a native American girl who, accompanied by her parents, is on her way home from an extended continental tour. In conversation with a number of her compatriots the other evening she frankly confessed that she liked no language but her native language "As for French" she declared "I hate it, because I always have to think before I speak.

KOLB MEN

Going Over to the Jones Ranks in Droves.

UNIONTOWN, June 24.—Your correspondent in an interview with some of the most influential citizens of Dayton and McKinley in reference to the Kolb ticket in those beats, was surprised at changes that had come over the most prominent Kolb men living there. These districts contain some of the most prominent leaders, the men who made the most fuss at the convention, and these men have taken down the Kolb signs and are praising Governor Jones.

Still Another.

Col. Robert McKee declined to accept a position on the Kolb ticket as Auditor. Upon the subject the Anniston Hot Blast says:

"The Hot Blast is glad that he declined. As Dick Long remarked, 'Col. McKee could not afford to be Auditor after having been Governor for eight years,' but be that as it may his friends in Calhoun and all over the State will be glad to know that he refused the use of his name on a ticket to disrupt the democratic party. Col. McKee is a good man, but has some rather erratic notions, like a great many other great men we could mention, but "with all his faults we love him still."

Tourgee's Mouth.

Mr. Tourgee has done more prophesying of evil to the square inch since he was driven out of North Carolina politics than any other man among us, and the failure of his prophesies to connect, as it were with the train of actual events does not deter him from further vaticination or in the least diminish the cocksurety of his outgivings.

Mr. Tourgee now tells the country that Southern lynching of negroes have gone so far that within a few years to come the negroes will rise and perpetrate the greatest massacre in history. Almost at the same moment when he was saying this, and a fortnight after a negro lynching in New York State, the good people of a southern city were rising in their might to quell a mob and prevent the lynching of a negro, as something abhorrent to their minds and shameful to their civilization.

But the facts count for nothing with Tourgee's mouth. It is engaged in making a more or less precarious livelihood by intemperate outgivings which would be hurtful if the man's intelligence or something else about him had not long ago been discredited by his antics.—N. Y. World.

Capt. John Lusk, of Marshall county, is a wheel horse, and evidently means business. He publishes a card in the Guntersville Democrat, in which he says:

I will address the people of Marshall county on the political issues of the day at the court house in Guntersville on Monday, June 20th, at 1 oclock.

If every leading democrat would get down to work after the fashion of John Lusk, there would not be a Kolb man left in the State in two weeks.—Huntsville Mercury.

God give us more Lon Grants. He opposed the Anniston city court bill, giving concurrent and co-extensive jurisdiction with the circuit courts in Calhoun because it would have drafted farmers as jurymen and witnesses at the busiest season of the year, and Anniston not understanding him fully, went against him for Congress, while solid for Jones for Governor. Lon. Grant will never go back upon the principles taught him by the veteran editor of Alabama Democracy whose successor he is, nor those of Forney and his predecessors whose escutcheons are untarnished by any blot that disgraces their record. — Cherokee County Free Press.

Resolutions of Thanks.

Whereas, Dr. J. S. Johnson and wife have donated a valuable building lot to our church suitable for the erection of a new building, and we as a church desire to let our gratification at the gift be known, therefore, be it Resolved:

1. That we consider this gift as giving us the needed start for our enterprise and we hope to begin work on the building in a few months.

2. That we thus publicly express our thanks for their liberal gift and hope their generosity may be the means of causing others to be equally as liberal in their contributions.

3. That these resolution be spread upon the minutes and a copy furnished the CHILTON VIEW for publication.

The Birmingham Age-Herald dare Hon. Jno. L. Cobbs of Montgomery a grave wrong in intimating that Mr. Cobbs is sore or chagrined over his defeat. This is not true. Mr Cobbs and all his friends here and throughout the state regret his defeat, and have expressed regrets; but Mr. Cobbs is too true a man, high minded, honorable and chivalric to quit in his tent or to do otherwise than to take his defeat like a man and like others no less true and worthy, Judge Dowdell, Judge Walker and many others who could be mentioned.—Montgomery Journal.

Dr. Myles J. Green, grand secretary of the Masonic Fraternity of Alabama, died at his home in Montgomery on Monday morning last of heart disease. Dr. Green was widely known over the state. He was a brother-in-law of Messrs. Phillips and Mrs. Hannon, of Clanton.

Cleveland and Stevenson is the national Democratic ticket with which the people can put down the high tariff and the force bill.

Grover Cleveland, of New York, and Gen. A. E. Stevenson, of Illinois, were nominated by the national Democracy at Chicago last week for President and Vice President respectively.

The committee of sixteen of the Jones Democracy which met at Clanton Saturday sent a petition to the State Democratic Executive Committee praying for a re-organization of the party in Chilton, and the petition was granted.

Any man who looks more to his own aggrandizement than to the peace of the people whom he would have to elevate him, is not the man to give counsel to an intelligent people.—Hayneville Citizen.

Judge H. M. Caffey of Lowndes county, who has been a lively Kolb man, now says: "With all due respect to those who continue to follow Captain Kolb, in my opinion Captain Kolb now occupies a position upon which no true Democrat can afford to place himself."

The VIEW has endeavored to look at the ludicrous side of the political campaign, knowing that newspaper articles would have been powerless to combat the tide of hate and prejudice which prevails in politics. We may have been too conservative, but prefer to lean that way to being a fomenter of strife.

A Guthrie (Okla.) despatch to the New York World, says, the white settlers of the territory, Democrats and Republicans, have arrived at the conclusion that negro rule must and shall end at once. These transplanted Northerners and Westerners appear to have had enough of it very soon. The South has had to stand it for years.

Mr. J. H. Bostwick and several of the present county Democratic executive committee turned up for Jones Saturday. Several others of the committee are with the ticket nominated on April 12th and will fight for Kolb and glory, which made a re-organization necessary under the new party law, and the necessary steps were taken to carry out that design.

The Athens Courier takes the only proper view of the situation when it says: "We have heretofore earnestly supported Captain Kolb for the nomination of Governor of Alabama. We believe he made a faithful Confederate soldier, had a cloudless Democratic record and was an honest man; and we have nothing to take back nor any apology to make.

Now that the dreadful split in the party has come, we feel it our duty to the party to do what we can for the ticket, as a whole, headed by Governor Jones. In doing this we will treat with respect and kindness those who differ with us and endeavor to eliminate abuse and bitterness from the campaign.

There are honest and good men in large numbers on both sides, and if they get together again, it must be through the policy we have suggested."

Another negro has been lynched for committing an atrocious assault upon a white girl. The lynching appears to have been done with the sanction of the entire community in which it occured, including the "best citizens."

It is important to observe that this event occurred not in any Southern State, but in Port Jervis, New York. It is not, therefore, a manifestation of race prejudice peculiar to the South. There is no touch of solid politics in it. It signifies nothing of Southern indifference to the rights of negroes as men.

The case is not a solitary one. Many such lynchings have taken place in Northern communities, enough to show that the sentiment which leads to them is as prevalent at the North as at the South, though the occasions for its manifestation are much rarer in the one section than in the other.

A Hopeless Minority.

Capt. Kolb alluded on the stump to the Age-Herald, as the "fairest daily in Alabama." He did this several times. Here is what the Age-Herald, whose editor was in the convention, has to say on the subject of Kolb's rights in that convention.

Here are some cold facts. The only contest about which reasonable and fair men of either faction differed, in committee or convention, were those from Bibb, Marshall, Dale, Crenshaw, Coosa, Fayette, Cherokee and Butler. Of these the Kolb delegates were seated from Bibb, Marshall, Fayette, Dale and Coosa, and the Jones delegations from Fayette and Marshall walked out of their own accord, leaving the credentials committee with nothing to do, even had it desired to decide otherwise, except to seat the Jones delegates in their places. But if every contest in the above list had been decided in Capt. Kolb's favor, he would have been in a hopeless minority.

Senatorial Convention.

The Democratic Senatorial Convention for the 15th Senatorial District of Alabama, is hereby called to convene in the city of Wetumpka, Ala., on Thursday, the 7th day of July, 1892, to nominate a candidate for Senator.

Johnnie Goodgame last week got hold of a small can of powder in a field where his father was blowing up stumps. He lighted a paper over the powder and an explosion occurred which has left him almost blind. We hope he will recover.

It is the opinion of a few Georgia leaders, that the third party may yet exist. As there is not standing room for three parties, we take it that the third party may supplant the second party, but while time lasts, it can never stand in the shoes of the Democratic party, for it is the first party, the last party, and the all time party.—Huntsville Mercury.

Why, She Hated French.

There is at the Hotel Metropole a native American girl who, accompanied by her parents, is on her way home from an extended continental tour. In conversation with a number of her compatriots the other evening she frankly confessed that she liked no language but her native language "As for French" she declared "I hate it, because I always have to think before I speak."

Just Arrived!

I am pleased to announce to the public that I have just received a large lot of the celebrated Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company's shoes for men, women and children with big feet, medium feet and little feet; and they are for sale at prices to suit the times. Bring your money with you when you come to see these shoes for you are sure to be pleased.

Hopleyville Dots.

All the young folks are having a good time, and are either going or planning pleasure trips all the time. The many old maids, bachelors and widowers are determined not to let leap year slip by without some effort to bend Cupid's bow.

Miss Daisy Bacchus was visiting here last week.

Mr. J. W. King, of East Lake, and also Miss Annie King, of Dayton, visited relatives here last week.

Mrs. Goodwin's popular boarding house is as usual overflowing with guests.

Your correspondent hasn't had the opportunity to get in the latest arrivals.

Miss Marion Kelly has been attending the Judson commencement.

The grim monster, death, has again visited our town and slain the oldest citizen, Mr. James Griffin.

Verbena Views.

Mr. Claude Boykin, of Birmingham, visited our city recently.

Mrs. Bethea, Miss Mamie, and Mr. Theodore Bethea, of the capital city, are stopping at the Clifton House.

Mr. John Northington, of Montgomery, has been visiting relatives in Verbena.

Mrs. J. D. Beale and children, of Montgomery, are stopping at the Clifton House.

Miss Mamie and Maggie Norris, of Deatsville, have been visiting Mr. J. R. Beard's family.

There is about twenty-five per cent less cotton in this section than last year.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Northington, have been visiting relatives in Autauga.

Messrs. John Parker, Will Pitts, Clifton Williamson and Frank Merriwether, of the Capital city, have been visiting here.

Miss Lucas Brooks, one of our most charming young ladies, is visiting relatives in North Alabama.

Mr. Charlie Moody and Miss Kate Owen, of Montgomery county, have been visiting the family of Mr. John Moody.

We have had good rains and the crops are looking well.

The Verbena and Cooper's base ball nines joined bats on last Thursday. Cooper's wasn't in it. Score stood Verbena 31, Cooper's 5.

The subject of our debate Friday evening will be "Nigger in the Wood Pile." All are cordially invited to attend.

Miss Fannie Nix, one of our most lovely young ladies has returned from a delightful visit to Montgomery.

Lily Dots.

We are having fine growing weather.

KOLB MEN

Going Over to the Jones Ranks in Drove.

UNIONTOWN, June 24.—Your correspondent, in an interview with some of the most influential citizens of Dayton and McKinley in reference to the Kolb ticket in those beats, was surprised at changes that had come over the most prominent Kolb men living there. These districts contain some of the most prominent leaders, the men who made the most fuss at the convention, and these men have taken down the Kolb signs and are praising Governor Jones.

Still Another.

Col. Robert McKee declined to accept a position on the Kolb ticket as Auditor. Upon the subject the Anniston Hot Blast says:

"The Hot Blast is glad that he declined. As Dick Long remarked, 'Col. McKee could not afford to be Auditor after having been Governor for eight years,' but be that as it may his friends in Calhoun and all over the State will be glad to know that he refused the use of his name on a ticket to disrupt the democratic party. Col. McKee is a good man, but has some rather erratic notions, like a great many other great men we could mention, but "with all his faults we love him still."

Tourgee's Mouth.

Mr. Tourgee has done more prophesying of evil to the square inch since he was driven out of North Carolina politics than any other man among us, and the failure of his prophesies to connect, as it were with the train of actual events does not deter him from further vaticination or in the least diminish the cocksurety of his outgivings.

Mr. Tourgee now tells the country that Southern lynchings of negroes have gone so far that within a few years to come the negroes will rise and perpetrate the greatest massacre in history. Almost at the same moment when he was saying this, and a fortnight after a negro lynching in New York State, the good people of a southern city were rising in their might to quell a mob and prevent the lynching of a negro, as something abhorrent to their minds and shameful to their civilization.

But the facts count for nothing with Tourgee's mouth. It is engaged in making a more or less precarious livelihood by intemperate outgivings which would be hurtful if the man's intelligence or something else about him had not long ago been discredited by his antics.—N. Y. World.

Capt. John Lusk, of Marshall county, is a wheel horse, and evidently means business. He publishes a card in the Guntersville Democrat, in which he says:

I will address the people of Marshall county on the political issues of the day at the court house in Guntersville on Monday, June 20th, at 1 o'clock.

If every leading democrat would get down to work after the fashion of John Lusk, there would not be a Kolb man left in the State in two weeks.—Huntsville Mercury.

God give us more Lon Grants. He opposed the Anniston city court bill, giving concurrent and co-extensive jurisdiction with the circiut courts in Calhoun because it would have drafted farmers as jurymen and witnesses at the busiest season of the year, and Anniston not understanding him fully, went against him for Congress, while solid for Jones for Governor. Lon. Grant will never go back upon the principles taught him by the veteran editor of Alabama Democracy whose successor he is, nor those of Forney and his predecessors whose escutcheons are untarnished by any blot that disgraces their record. — Cherokee County Free Press.

Resolutions of Thanks.

Whereas Dr. J. S. Johnson and wife have donated a valuable building lot in our church suitable for the erection of a new building, and we as a church desire to let our gratification at the gift be known, therefore, be it Resolved:

1. That we consider this gift as giving us the needed start for our enterprise and we hope to begin work on the building in a few months.

2. That we thus publicly express our thanks for their liberal gift and hope their generosity may be the means of causing others to be equally as liberal in their contributions.

3. That these resolution be spread upon the minutes and a copy furnished the CHILTON VIEW for publication.

The Birmingham Age-Herald does Hon. Jno. L. Cobbs of Montgomery a grave wrong in intimating that Mr. Cobbs is sore or chagrined over his defeat. This is not true. Mr. Cobbs and all his friends here and throughout the state regret his defeat, and have expressed regrets; but Mr. Cobbs is too true a man, high minded, honorable and chivalric to sulk in his tent or to do otherwise than to take his defeat like a man and like others no less true and worthy, Judge Dowdell, Judge Walker and many others who could be mentioned.—Montgomery Journal.

Dr. Myles J. Green, grand secretary of the Masonic Fraternity of Alabama, died at his home in Montgomery on Monday morning last of heart disease. Dr. Green was widely known over the state. He was a brother-in-law of Messrs. Phillips and Mrs. Hannon, of Clanton.

Cleveland and Stevenson is the national Democratic ticket with which the people can put down the high tariff and the force bill.

Grover Cleveland, of New York, and Gen. A. E. Stevenson, of Illinois, were nominated by the national Democracy at Chicago last week for President and Vice President respectively.

The committee of sixteen of the Jones Democracy which met at Clanton Saturday sent a petition to the State Democratic Executive Committee praying for a re-organization of the party in Chilton, and the petition was granted.

Any man who looks more to his own aggrandizement than to the peace of the people whom he would have to elevate him, is not the man to give counsel to an intelligent people.—Hayneville Citizen.

Judge H. M. Caffey of Lowndes county, who has been a lively Kolb man, now says: "With all due respect to those who continue to follow Captain Kolb, in my opinion Captain Kolb now occupies a position upon which no true Democrat can afford to place himself."

The VIEW has endeavored to look at the ludicrous side of the political campaign, knowing that newspaper articles would have been powerless to combat the tide of hate and prejudice which prevails in politics. We may have been too conservative, but prefer to lean that way to being a fomenter of strife.

A Guthrie (Okla.) despatch to the New York World, says, the white settlers of the territory, Democrats and Republicans, have arrived at the conclusion that negro rule must and shall end at once. These transplanted Northerners and Westerners appear to have had enough of it very soon. The South has had to stand it for years.

Mr. J. H. Bostwick and several of the present county Democratic executive committee turned up for Jones Saturday. Several others of the committee are with the ticket nominated on April 12th and will fight for Kolb and glory, which made a re-organization necessary under the new party law, and the necessary steps were taken to carry out that design.

The Athens Courier takes the only proper view of the situation when it says: "We have heretofore earnestly supported Captain Kolb for the nomination of Governor of Alabama. We believe he made a faithful Confederate soldier, had a cloudless Democratic record and was an honest man; and we have nothing to take back nor any apology to make.

Now that the dreadful split in the party has come, we feel it our duty to the party to do what we can for the ticket, as a whole, headed by Governor Jones. In doing this we will treat with respect and kindness those who differ with us and endeavor to eliminate abuse and bitterness from the campaign.

There are honest and good men in large numbers on both sides, and if they get together again, it must be through the policy we have suggested."

Another negro has been lynched for committing an atrocious assault upon a white girl. The lynching appears to have been done with the sanction of the entire community in which it occured, including the "best citizens."

It is important to observe that this event occurred not in any Southern State, but in Port Jervis, New York. It is not, therefore, a manifestation of race prejudice peculiar to the South. There is no touch of solid politics in it. It signifies nothing of Southern indifference to the rights of negroes as men.

The case is not a solitary one. Many such lynchings have taked place in Northern communities, enough to show that the sentiment which leads to them is as prevalent at the North as at the South, though the occasions for its manifestation are much rarer in the one section than in the other.

A Hopeless Minority.

Capt. Kolb alluded on the stump to the Age-Herald, as the "fairest daily in Alabama." He did this several times. Here is what the Age-Herald, whose editor was in the convention, has to say on the subject of Kolb's rights in that convention.

Here are some cold facts. The only contest about which reasonable and fair men of either faction differed, in committee or convention, were those from Bibb, Marshall, Dale, Crenshaw, Coosa, Fayette, Cherokee and Butler. Of these the Kolb delegates were seated from Bibb, Marshall, Fayette, Dale and Coosa, and the Jones delegations from Fayette and Marshall walked out of their own accord, leaving the credentials committee with nothing to do, even had it desired to decide otherwise, except to seat the Jones delegates in their places. But if every contest in the above list had been decided in Capt. Kolb's favor, he would have been in a hopeless minority.

Senatorial Convention.

The Democratic Senatorial Convention for the 15th Senatorial District of Alabama, is hereby called to convene in the city of Wetumpka, Ala., on Thursday, the 7th day of July, 1892, to nominate a candidate for Senator.

It is the opinion of a few Georgia leaders, that the third party may yet exist. As there is not standing room for three parties, we take it that the third party may supplant the second party, but while time lasts, it can never stand in the shoes of the Democratic party, for it is the first party, the last party, and the all time party.—Huntsville Mercury.

Why, She Hated French.

There is at the Hotel Metropole a native American girl who, accompanied by her parents, is on her way home from an extended continental tour. In conversation with a number of her compatriots the other evening she frankly confessed that she liked no language but her native language "As for French" she declared "I hate it, because I always have to think before I speak.

KOLB MEN

Going Over to the Jones Ranks in Droves.

UNIONTOWN, June 24.—Your correspondent, in an interview with some of the most influential citizens of Dayton and McKinley in reference to the Kolb ticket in those beats, was surprised at changes that had come over the most prominent Kolb men living there. These districts contain some of the most prominent leaders, the men who made the most fuss at the convention, and these men have taken down the Kolb signs and are praising Governor Jones.

Still Another.

Col. Robert McKee declined to accept a position on the Kolb ticket as Auditor. Upon the subject the Anniston Hot Blast says:

"The Hot Blast is glad that he declined. As Dick Long remarked, 'Col. McKee could not afford to be Auditor after having been Governor for eight years,' but be that as it may his friends in Calhoun and all over the State will be glad to know that he refused the use of his name on a ticket to disrupt the democratic party. Col. McKee is a good man, but has some rather erratic notions, like a great many other great men we could mention, but "with all his faults we love him still."

Tourgee's Mouth.

Mr. Tourgee has done more prophesying of evil to the square inch since he was driven out of North Carolina politics than any other man among us, and the failure of his prophesies to connect, as it were with the train of actual events does not deter him from further vaticination or in the least diminish the cocksurety of his outgivings.

Mr. Tourgee now tells the country that Southern lynchings of negroes have gone so far that within a few years to come the negroes will rise and perpetrate the greatest massacre in history. Almost at the same moment when he was saying this, and a fortnight after a negro lynching in New York State, the good people of a southern city were rising in their might to quell a mob and prevent the lynching of a negro, as something abhorrent to their minds and shameful to their civilization.

But the facts count for nothing with Tourgee's mouth. It is engaged in making a more or less precarious livelihood by intemperate outgivings which would be hurtful if the man's intelligence or something else about him had not long ago been discredited by his antics.—N. Y. World.

Capt. John Lusk, of Marshall county, is a wheel horse, and evidently means business. He publishes a card in the Guntersville Democrat, in which he says:

I will address the people of Marshall county on the political issues of the day at the court house in Guntersville on Monday, June 20th, at 1 oclock.

If every leading democrat would get down to work after the fashion of John Lusk, there would not be a Kolb man left in the State in two weeks.—Huntsville Mercury.

God give us more Lon Grants. He opposed the Anniston city court bill, giving concurrent and co-extensive jurisdiction with the circuit courts in Calhoun because it would have drafted farmers as jurymen and witnesses at the busiest season of the year, and Anniston not understanding him fully, went against him for Congress, while solid for Jones for Governor. Lon. Grant will never go back upon the principles taught him by the veteran editor of Alabama Democracy whose successor he is, nor those of Forney and his predecessors whose escutcheons are untarnished by any blot that disgraces their record. — Cherokee County Free Press.

Resolutions of Thanks.

Whereas, Dr. J. S. Johnson and wife have donated a valuable building lot to our church suitable for the erection of a new building, and we as a church desire to let our gratification at the gift be known, therefore, be it Resolved:

1. That we consider this gift as giving us the needed start for our enterprise and we hope to begin work on the building in a few months.

2. That we thus publicly express our thanks for their liberal gift and hope their generosity may be the means of causing others to be equally as liberal in their contributions.

3. That these resolution be spread upon the minutes and a copy furnished the CHILTON VIEW for publication.

The Birmingham Age-Herald says Hon. Jno. L. Cobbs of Montgomery a grave wrong in intimating that Mr. Cobbs is sore or chagrined over his defeat. This is not true. Mr Cobbs and all his friends here and throughout the state regret his defeat, and have expressed regrets; but Mr. Cobbs is too true a man, high minded, honorable and chivalric to sulk in his tent or to do otherwise than to take his defeat like a man and like others no less true and worthy, Judge Dowdell, Judge Walker and many others who could be mentioned.—Montgomery Journal.

Have you written me yet? If you haven't, whether a subscription agent or not, write to-day. I am prepared to give you my special, personal attention. I undertake to help teach any fellow-man who can read and write, and who is of industrious, will work independently, how to earn Three Thousand Dollars a year in their own locality, whether they live in Texas or Maine. I will also help them to the situation of employment, or, if they prefer, I will teach them how to engage in a profitable, honorable business of their own. Nothing difficult to learn, or which requires much capital to start. I desire but one person from each district in each county. I have more applications than I can supply, and a large number who have been with me for years are now making over Three Thousand Dollars a year, each. All is new, and will be explained free. After you know all, if you decide to go no further, why, no harm is done. Address, at once, C. ALLEN, Box 420, Augusta, Maine.

Total vote cast.....909 1-2

Ohio moves the rules be suspended and Cleveland be made the nominee by acclamation.

Mr. Daniel, of Virginia, seconds the motion of Ohio to make the nomination unanimous.

The motion was carried.

Governor Flower seconded the motion to make the nomination unanimous. Motion to adjourn at 2 o'clock p. m. Thursday was carried.

NAMING THE VICE-PRESIDENT.

THIRD DAY—THURSDAY.

The third and closing session of the national democratic convention was called to order at 2:45 p. m. Thursday. The convention got promptly down to the only business left for it to transact—the nomination of a vice president. Gray, of Indiana; Stevenson, of Illinois; Morse, of Wisconsin, were presented. Stevenson was nominated on the first ballot.

HOW IT WAS DONE.

Chairman Wilson hammered the convention to order at 2:45 o'clock, and Rev. Thomas Green, of Iowa, offered prayer in opening the convention. The roll call for speeches nominating a candidate for vice president was begun at 3 o'clock p. m. Arkansas yielded to Indiana, and Hon. John E. Lamb took the floor and placed in nomination Governor Gray. Colorado, next in the roll of states, was called and gave way to Illinois, which state sent to the platform ex-Congressman Worthington, who presented the name of Hon. A. E. Stevenson, of Illinois, in a stirring speech.

Connecticut sent up Delegate Vance to second the nomination of Gray, of Indiana, and Idaho spoke for the Hoosier. Iowa was called, when her chairman arose and said: "Iowa, gentlemen, has no candidate for the second place. It is the wish of Gov. Boies and this delegation that his name shall not be presented for the vice presidency." Delegate Scott, of Kansas, in a fifteen-seconds sentence, declared that practical politics demanded Gray in the second place. Young John S. Rhea, of Kentucky, was sent up to second Mr. Stevenson's nomination in behalf of a part of the delegation. His speech was roundly cheered. Edwin Fuhl went up to the platform to speak for Michigan. He presented the name of Chief Justice B. Morse, of the Peninsula State.

WILLIAM C. WHITNEY, OF NEW YORK.

New York being called, Gov. Flower arose and announced that New York had no candidate to present. North Carolina seconded the name of Stevenson, and then there was a skip along the states in the roll until Texas was reached, and its voice was lifted for Gray. John Goode, of Virginia, got on his chair and sent up his indorsement of Stevenson. Washington announced for Gray. Then came up Delegate Bragg, of Wisconsin, to put up the name of John L. Mitchell, of that state. Oklahoma came under the Stevenson umbrella, and Alabama, which had passed at the end of the roll, came up with a second for Morse, of Michigan.

CALLING THE STATES.

Then, the nominations being concluded, roll call was begun. Alabama led off with a skip for Morse. Arkansas came in with her sixteen for Gray. California split squarely in the middle—nine each for Gray and Stevenson. Illinois' forty-eight plumped into the Stevenson basket, but Iowa first stirred the crowd.

"We cast our solid vote for Henry Watterson," said the Chairman, and there were cheers. The biggest breeze of the roll call swept the convention when Governor Flower stood on his feet and stated that New York was solid for Stevenson—seventy-two votes. The breeze grew to a gale of applause. It subsided only to rise again when North Carolina stepped into the Stevenson column. When Ohio shot out thirty-eight of her forty-six votes for Stevenson the excitement grew, and when the Keystone State dropped sixty-four votes into the hat of Gray, a counter current of cheering caused a cloudburst of confusion over the convention floor. Wisconsin cast her twenty-three votes for John L. Mitchell. When the roll was finished the figures showed for Stevenson 402 and Gray 242—no choice.

GOING TO STEVENSON.

Then began changes. Iowa first came into the Stevenson camp, Montana next, followed by Nebraska. Ohio got into line amid great cheers. Missouri climbed over the wall, Georgia was clean behind, and Kentucky came next. It became only a question of time, and when a two-thirds vote for Stevenson had been obtained the nomination was announced.

CLOSING SCENES.

The usual resolutions of thanks to the officers were passed, and the national committee nomination were made; General Patrick Collins, of Massachusetts, then took the platform and moved "that the democratic committee should, at the next national convention, provide accommodations only for delegates, alternates, the press, national committee, but for no others. This was demanded in view of the gallery interruptions that are possible and have been demonstrated. The resolution was referred to the executive committee of the new national committee, with an affirmative recommendation.

At 5:30 o'clock the convention adjourned sine die.

VICE-PRESIDENT STEVENSON.

Sketch of His Life—His Public Services.

The nomination by the Chicago democratic convention of Adlai E. Stevenson as the candidate of the party for vice-president was received in Washington with every manifestation of popular approval by the democrats.

Mr. Stevenson was born in 1835, in Christian county, Kentucky, near the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln. His parents removed from North Carolina to Kentucky, one of his ancestors being a signer of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence. At twenty years of age Mr. Stevenson graduated from Centre college, Kentucky, and married Miss Lottie Green, daughter of the president of that institution. Among his classmates were Senator Blackburn, Senator Davidson, of Florida; ex-Governor McCreary and many other distinguished men. Soon after graduating Mr. Stevenson removed to Illinois, where he studied law with the late David Davis, and was admitted to the bar at Bloomington. He rose rapidly in his profession, and was elected prosecuting attorney of McLean county. He was a presidential elector in 1884, and was twice elected to the house of representatives as a democrat from a district largely republican. He was appointed first assistant postmaster general by Cleveland July 6, 1885. One of the last official acts of President Cleveland was to nominate Mr. Stevenson for justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, but the republican senate failed to act upon his nomination. Since his retirement from the postoffice department, he has been engaged in the practice of law at Bloomington, Ill.

MR. CLEVELAND TALKS.

He Issues a Statement to the Press of the Country.

At 4:30 o'clock Thursday morning, Mr. Cleveland, through Governor Russell, sent from Gray Gables the following statement to the press:

"I should certainly be chargeable with dense insincerity if I was not profoundly touched by this new proof of confidence and trust of the great party to which I belong and whose mandates claim my loyal obedience.

"I am confident that our fellow countrymen are ready to receive with approval the principles of true democracy, and I cannot rid myself of the belief that to win success it is only necessary to persistently and honestly advocate these principles. Differences of opinion and judgment in democratic conventions are by no means unwholesome indications, but it is hardly conceivable in view of the importance of our success to the country and to the party that there should be anywhere among democrats any lack of harmonious and active effort to win in the campaign which opens before us. I have, therefore, no concern on that subject.

"It will certainly be my constant endeavor to deserve the support of every democrat."

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

Meets and Closes the Business of the Convention.

A Chicago dispatch says: The democratic national committee met Thursday afternoon and closed the business connected with the holding of the national convention in Chicago and adjourned to meet in New York with the notification committee when it assembles there to officially inform Mr. Cleveland of the action of the convention. This date will be fixed to suit Mr. Cleveland's wishes. The retiring members of the national committee gave way to their successors. Chairman Brice, Secretary Sheerin and Treasurer Canda, of the old committee, were re-elected to the same offices in the temporary organization of the new committee pending permanent organization. Resolutions of sympathy with the families of Messrs. Broadwater, of Montana, and Barbour, of Virginia, who died while members of the national committee, were passed, and also resolutions of thanks to various persons.

BLAINE'S SORROWS.

His Son Emmons Dies Suddenly at Chicago.

Emmons Blaine, son of ex-Secretary of State James G. Blaine, died at his residence in Chicago at 11:15 Saturday morning from blood poisoning originating from a disorder of the bowels.

The fact of Mr. Blaine's death was kept concealed for some time after he had passed away, the object being to reach the father first with some general intimation of the sad news. The ex-secretary and his wife were at Bar Harbor, Me., and efforts to get telegraphic communication with them failed, however, and about 12:15 o'clock the news of the death leaked out. It was not until about a quarter of an hour prior to the fatal moment that the least intimation that Blaine was in a dangerous condition became known, and then it was only to a few. When the sad intelligence finally reached Mr. and Mrs. Blaine, they were prostrated by the terrible blow.

During the convention young Blaine seemed in perfect health, and no one who heard of his sudden passing away was more shocked than those who saw him participating in the caucuses, early and late, night and day, in his father's interest. It is thought possible by many that the strain of excitement at Minneapolis, followed by keen disappointment of the outcome, had not a little to do with the physical prostration ensuing.

ARTHUR P. GORMAN, OF MARYLAND.

AN EX-CONGRESSMAN KILLED

While on His way to the Chicago Convention.

A Memphis, Tenn., dispatch says: Ex-Congressman Morgan was shot and killed in a crowded train Saturday morning by Henry Forster, an attorney of Memphis. Morgan beat Forster with his cane some time ago. Saturday they met for the first time since that occasion. Both at once pulled pistols and began firing, with the result that Morgan was killed. Pandemonium reigned in the car. Many of the passengers jumped from the car, some through the windows, others through the doors. Forster escaped.

Company to Tea.

Little Boy—"Mamma, may I invite Jack an' Joe an' Jim to stay to supper?"

Mamma—"Horrors! We haven't a thing for supper, but some scraps left over from dinner."

Little Boy—"Yes'm, that's wot I noticed."

Mamma—"Then why do you want them to stay?"

Little Boy—"Why, you see, I can go home with them after supper, an' they'll tell their mother they didn't have much to eat, an' then she'll give 'em a lot of nice cakes an' things, an' I'll get some, too."

It's trying to the face of Nature to take the ordinary pill. Just consider how it acts. There's too much bulk and bustle, and not enough real good. And think how it leaves you when it's all over!

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets act naturally. They help Nature to do her own work. They cleanse and renovate, mildly but thoroughly, the whole system. Regulate it, too. The help that they give, lasts.

They're purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, the smallest, easiest, and best to take. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured. One tiny, sugar-coated Pellet for a gentle laxative—three for a cathartic.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

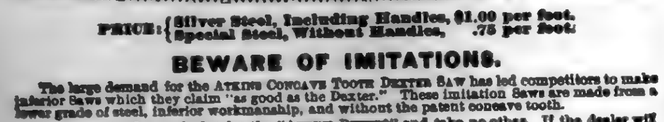
Atkins' Patent Concave Tooth Dexter.

DIXIE'S FAVORITE. FOR THE WOODS OF THE SOUTH IT HAS NO EQUAL.

The patent by which this Saw is protected consists of a depression of the face of the cutting teeth through the center from point to base, thus removing all friction while in use, giving strength and stiffness to the teeth and increasing three-fold the durability of the "set." WE CHALLENGE THE WORLD to produce a Saw equaling the ATKINS FAST CUTTING DEXTER.



PRICE: {Silver Steel, Including Handles, $1.00 per foot. Special Steel, Without Handles, .75 per foot.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The large demand for the ATKINS CONCAVE TOOTH DEXTER SAW has led competitors to make inferior Saws which they claim "as good as the Dexter." These imitation Saws are made from a lower grade of steel, inferior workmanship, and without the patent concave tooth.

Ask your hardware dealer for the "ATKINS DEXTER" and take no other. If the dealer will not order it for you, remit amount with order direct to us.

BILL ARP'S LETTER.

The Philosopher Celebrates His Sixty-Sixth Anniversary.

HE IS BEGINNING TO LEARN SOMETHING—MRS. ARP'S BRILLIANT FINANCIERING REGARDING A PRESENT.

Copyrighted by the Author.

There was another birthday in the family recently. Most everybody has a birthday I believe. It is the paternal this time, just two weeks behind the maternal. I am always behind and it looks like I will never catch up in this sublunary world. Of course, I didn't expect anything, nothing but a kiss or two from he children and a smile all round. They used to give me many kisses as there were years, but they had to quit that long ago with me; it would take all day. I found a note on my plate at breakfast and on the outside it said: "Lines to My Husband on His Sixty-sixth Birthday." I looked and wondered, for I knew it wasn't poetry. She never writes poetry, but she speaks a good deal of prose sometimes. When I opened the letter there was the identical check on the bank that I had given her just two weeks ago for her birthday present. She had saved it to give back to me. The rightful woman! Wasn't that splendid? Drexel & Co. couldn't beat it for financiering. Each of us got $20 and nobody out of pocket a cent. I'll try that again next year. Sixty-six years old! Just beginning to learn something, beginning to think, to reflect, to ponder. It is a fact that when a man gets wise enough to live he is about ready to die, and that is right. When we wear out the old clothes we want new ones. Death has no terrors to those who live right. There is a beautiful sentiment from a Persian song which says:

> On parent knees a naked, new-born child
> Weeping did play, while those around it smiled.
> So live that sinking in thy last long sleep,
> Calm, thou may'st smile while those around thee weep.

A wise Indian friend of mine who died in heavy trouble said to me he should for no warrant, but would like to go all at once, like the schoolboy that we read about. He loved to quote from Mrs. Barbauld's verses—

> Let's have been long together—
> Through pleasant and through cloudy weather.
> * * * * * * *
> Say not "good-night," but in some brighter clime
> Bid me "good-morning."

Wouldn't that be delightful? For one's own self to wake up in the spirit land with new clothes and the old ones buried three feet in the ground buried with all the aches and pains and sorrows buried and coffined and sealed so that they can't follow you. Poor old carcass—couldn't run nor jump nor dance nor prance around. Poor old eyes, nearly blind, ain't ears that couldn't hear! Poor old bald head and toothless gums and skinny fingers! Liked to have left me long, didn't you? What a glorious time to wake up with your mind and soul and spiritual eyes unfettered and free, and suddenly to know it and feel it! Who wouldn't say "Good morning, sir," to his new self, his new clothes, his new existence? Who wouldn't look with pity upon his mortal remains and say, "Good bye, old friend; good-bye old torpid liver; farewell, old aching kidneys; farewell, rheumatism and bile and spleen and all internal commotions; farewell, Dr. Kirk and Dr. Green and the drug stores; good-bye, Warner and cod liver oil and S. S. S. and B.-B. B. and the Royal Germetuer and Tutt's pills and all your kindred!"

But I am not that far along yet. Sixty-six is not so awful old. I don't compare myself with the young but with the older men, like Gladstone, and with some of the patriarchs, like Moses. We have a grandson who has my name and my birthday. He was twenty yesterday—just a boy, nothing more—and I am not much older than he is. Fifty years ago I was ten times as old, but now I am only three times and a fraction. I'm gaining on him, or maybe he is gaining on me, but in either case we are coming nearer together as the years roll on. His father has almost caught up with me, and strangers take him for my brother. No, I'm not so old. I am fond of company and jokes and candy and children and flowers and pretty girls. I still love to go fishing, and to see Nature's processes, and climb the mountains and look down upon the distant prospect and thank my Maker for this beautiful world. We have to climb for a vision worth having, and I am willing to climb a little longer.

The trouble is I keep getting older every day. If one could stop and take a halt and rest awhile under the shade it wouldn't be so bad but there is no rest for the wicked. These forty-three years have been years that mark the journey of life—my cares and responsibility grow heavier and heavier as the journey goes on. Every day's work makes me more nervous. When I was twenty it seemed a long way back to childhood, and still longer to old age, but the last forty-six years have flown faster than those that were before. I am no longer a father to the children now. I can sit on the fence and hear a telephone, hear my grandsons hollo at bat, "Hello, my boy!" "Hello, grandpa!" I hear him faintly, but I hear him and see him coming on. Poor fellow, he has a hard row to hoe and something great when he gets there. I am afraid he won't. Here, I'm just what I have found—much care, much trouble, much disappointment, and a little pleasure. Life is mixed, baby mixed, but a mixture is good for it. If a man breeds a mixture he can't hatch it sure. Burns tells about the old woman who "nursed her wrath to keep it warm." Just so we can brood over our troubles until they swell up and burst and a whole gang of little devils come out of them. The good book warns us not to fret. It says "fret not thyself," which means that it is not for anybody else who does it, but it is ourself, and it means that we can keep from it if we try. Fretting is a bad business and fret is a bad word, for it means to eat away, to gnaw, and it does look like a very foolish thing for a man to gnaw on himself. Good gracious, what hills and mountains of trouble we have all conjured up and brooded over that never materialized. Here I am sixty-six years old—too old to be worried about some things, too old to be alarmed at the newspapers say, too old to fear that the nation will fall to pieces if a democrat is not elected, too old to get scared when Albion Tourgee predicts a horrible massacre in the south within ten years. That viperous old blood-letter, he has been pegging away at us for twenty-five years and will die in the harness, I reckon. Then the old devil will snatch him before he gets cold and make him a trusty over those brutes and fiends he says we murdered. He keeps a tally sheet and says the average is one a day. Suppose we deduct half for guessing and lying. That leaves 180 a year for all the twelve Southern States. That's not so bad—only fifteen to the State. We will compromise on that. New York State averages a hundred and fifty, so the last census says, and they were all white but two or three. I thought maybe that Port Jervis affair would stop old Albion's mouth, but it didn't. That was the funniest concern. The coroner a ring leader in the lynching and then sat upon the body, and when asked about it and he didn't get anything for killing him, but would get $25 for sitting on him. His verdict was that the negro came to his death at the hands of persons unknown, and yet the State's attorney was there pretending to hunt for the murderers. He and the coroner played blindfold, they say. What is Albion going to do about it?

I am too old to believe that legislation will do anything for a lazy man or a bad manager or for one who sits down and broods over his misfortunes. I know some who won't mend the front gate, nor put a pane of glass in the window, nor chop the stovewood nor bring the water, but they go tramping around talking politics, while their wives and children are supporting the family by raising chickens and eggs and picking berries to take to town. And there are politicians mean enough to fool these people, and to make them believe that somebody is ring slung on them and has gobbled up their share of the money. Heard a man say not long ago that labor was too high and cotton ought to bring a dollar a bushel. He is worth $50,000, and now he is slipping around as a third party man, and wants to go to congress. A pauper who would vote for him is clean gone to ruin.

But there have always been such people and always will. I reckon, and I'm too old to fret about what I cannot help. Nevertheless, I love all my fellowmen, except some, and all my fellowwomen. May they live long and prosper.

—BILL ARP in Sunny South.

A FEARFUL CRASH.

A Rear End Collision in which Many People Are Killed.

Dispatches from Harrisburg, Pa., bring news of a terrible disaster on the Pennsylvania railroad in that city. The western express on the Pennsylvania railroad, leaving New York at 6:30 o'clock p. m. and Philadelphia at 9:20 o'clock, is due in Harrisburg at 12:15 o'clock a. m. Saturday morning, however, it was several minutes late leaving Philadelphia, and had not made up lost time when it reached Harrisburg. It was made up of one baggage car, one express car, three day coaches and the private car of George Westinghouse, the Pittsburg inventor of the airbrake. As the train rolled into Harrisburg it stopped a few minutes at Dock street, east of the station, to allow some shifting in the yard, a flagman being sent back to signal the second section, which was following close behind. He was soon called in and the train had but started when the second section dashed around a sharp curve a few yards away.

Then came horrible grinding and crushing sounds and immediately after the groans and shrieks of injured and dying passengers were heard. It was an awful moment and the wonder is that so many escaped from the terrible wreck. It was but a few minutes until the industrial establishments in South Harrisburg supplied an army of willing men and who did all in their power to rescue the imprisoned men, women and children and alleviate their sufferings. The firemen and police force, under Mayor Fritchey's direction, also did excellent service and assisted in getting the injured to the city hospital as soon as possible. Physicians and surgeons were also summoned and labored throughout the night to relieve the pain of the bruised and lacerated passengers.

LIST OF THE KILLED.

The total number of dead thus far is eleven, as follows: Robert S Raymond, Columbus, O; E. M. Whitlock, 133 Arlington street, Cleveland, O; Daniel Mason, Hagerstown, Md.; Rev. D. D Costa Pomeren, 3611 Hamilton street, Philadelphia; Mrs. Uriah Hebner, Norristown; Winfield Hebner, her son, aged 17; Prof. G. L. Smith, of Baltimore; Charles E. L. Fee, of Alleghany City; Richard Adams, Harrisburg and Miss Lizzie Blair of Philadelphia.

An unidentified body was found, supposed to be that of a telegraph operator named Clark, of Altoona.

The railroad authorities have issued the following statement: "The cause of the accident has not been fully investigated, but indications are that the engineer of the second section approached the block at Dock street, Harrisburg, without having his train under proper control under the rule."

Christopher's Cannons.

The two identical cannon which at one time were mounted on board Christopher Columbus's flag ship were received at Chicago Wednesday. Nothing but the guns remain, the wood work having rotted away centuries ago. The guns are almost worn to pieces, and are not much more than huge chunks of rust. The relics were found by naval officers on one of the West Indies Islands.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Happenings of the Day Culled from Our Telegraphic and Cable Dispatches.

WHAT IS TRANSPIRING THROUGHOUT OUR OWN COUNTRY, AND NOTES OF INTEREST FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

The First National bank, of Erie, Kas., was closed Saturday by the bank examiner.

The eleventh international convention of Christian Endeavor will be held in Madison square garden, New York city, July 7th to 10th.

A cablegram of Sunday from St. Petersburg, Russia, says: A total of 164 cases of cholera are reported at Baku during one week, with seventy deaths from the disease.

Dispatches from the City of Mexico state that the first series of elections for the presidency was held Saturday. Quiet prevailed throughout the country. There was no opposition to the Diaz ticket. The final decision will be given July 3d.

George M. Breidner was arrested Tuesday charged with embezzling $34,000 from the firm of Wetz, Beidler & Co., dry goods merchants at Baltimore. Breidner was the head bookkeeper for the firm when his accounts showed a shortage.

The republican state committee was in session in New York Tuesday and re-elected Wm. Brookfield chairman of the state committee, and elected Charles W. Hackett, of Utica, chairman of the executive committee in place of Gen. James W. Husted.

News comes from Elreno, Oklahoma, that the influx of negroes has so incensed the white portion of Cleveland county, which is principally made up of citizens of Texas, that they have commenced the old "kuklux" methods of driving the black settlers out.

At Boston, Mass., Sunday night, the passengers of two electric cars in different sections of the city became panic stricken by the cars taking fire and jumped into the street while the cars were running at high speed. Thirteen persons were injured, three of them seriously.

A cablegram of Tuesday says: The recall by the United States government of Captain Borup has had a good effect at Paris. M. Ribot has written a note to M. Naguet saying that all is settled in such a manner that it is not necessary to ask any questions in the chamber of deputies.

A telegram from Seattle, Wash., says: The entire stock and building of Schwabacher Bros. & Co., one of the largest merchandise dealers on Puget Sound, were destroyed by fire Tuesday night. The loss on the building is $80.000. The firm carried a stock worth $320,000, of which nothing was saved.

A special cable dispatch of Saturday to the New York Herald from Valpara so announces the death of Senior Don Manuel Antonio Matta from appoplexy. President Montt has decreed him a public funeral in the full honors, since Matta was minister of foreign affairs at the time of the Baltimore embroglio.

A Pittsburg, Pa., dispatch of Tuesday says: The Amalgamated Association has abolished the rule requiring two weeks' shut down in July for repairs. This action is favorable to the manufacturers, and, it is expected, will result in the immediate signing of the scale at Joliet, Irondale, St. Louis and Kansas City.

Advices of Tuesday from Ottawa, Ont., state that at Saturday's meeting of the Dominion cabinet, the threatened retaliation by the United States government in the matter of canal tolls was discussed and a proposal forwarded to the United States government offering to concede much of President Harrison's claims.

A Paris cablegram of Wednesday states that public feeling regarding the charges against Captain Borup, late military attache of the American legation, is beginning to quiet down. There is a general disposition to accept as true his statement that whatever information he procured was for the war department at Washington.

A Washington dispatch of Tuesday says: Captain James L. Taylor, ex-general passenger agent of the Richmond and Danville, has been appointed honorary commissioner of the world's fair in Europe. Colonel Taylor's residence in the future will be in London. He will likewise be the general European agent of the great Pennsylvania Central railroad system.

Dispatches of Tuesday from Oklahoma City state that an organized effort is being made by the white residents of the town of Norman to drive all of the negroes out of that place. Warnings have been sent to the negroes advising them to leave in the next ten days or to suffer the consequences. It is feared serious trouble will result.

Dispatches of Tuesday from Burlington, Ia., state that the Mississippi river is rising steadily at the rate of half an inch an hour. Mills have been compelled to close and piles of lumber, as well as buildings, have had to be anchored. The river about the city is twenty miles wide, having spread out over the lowlands of Iowa and Illinois to that extent.

The Indiana republican state convention met at Fort Wayne Tuesday. Gov. Chase was renominated on the first ballot. The platform embraces thirteen planks. The only reference to tariff or silver is found in the first sentence, which says: "The republicans of Indiana hereby approve the declaration adopted by the republican national convention at Minneapolis." The liquor question is entirely ignored.

A Baltimore dispatch says an order was signed by Judge Bond Tuesday authorizing the receivers of the Richmond and Danville company to issue receivers' certificates to an amount not exceeding $100,000. The money will be used to pay the operating expenses of the Richmond and Danville prior to the appointment of the receivers, and car rentals and interest obligations of the leased lines. The receivers expect to pay out about seven hundred thousand dollars during July.

A cablegram of Sunday states that detectives have started from Paris for London to arrest the anarchists, Francial and Meunnier. It is now proved that these men were the perpetrators of the explosion at Very's restaurant, in Paris, April 25th last, Very having delivered Ravachol up to the police. Both men were arrested at the time of the explosion, but were subsequently released from a lack of proof. An anarchist named Bricon, who is now in jail, furnished proof of their complicity in the explosion.

EARTHQUAKE AND VOLCANO

Cause a Reign of Terror Among the Mexicans.

Dispatches of Monday from Guadalajara, Mexico, state that the people of that place and surrounding country have been in a state of terror for the past two days on account of repeated shocks of earthquakes. The first shock occurred on Friday night, lasting eighteen seconds, the vibrations running from southwest to northeast. At daylight Saturday morning a second shock occurred, causing great disaster. No less than 100 buildings were completely wrecked. Several persons were seriously injured, but none killed. Since then several shocks have been felt. The Colima volcano, south of Guadalajara, is in active eruption and throwing out great volumes of sulpuurous smoke and lava.

POPULAR BURGLARS.

The Escapades of two Well Known Citizens of Cedar Bluff, Ala.

Cedar Bluff, Cherokee county, Ala., has been afflicted with many burglaries. Monday night Burnett Brothers were on guard at their store when a burglar came up, pulled off his shoes and began to enter. A load from a shot-gun laid him out, and the other burglar opened fire on them. He was secured before doing any damage and the two burglars turned out to be well known and popular citizens by the name of Joe and John Wilson. Joe, who fell mortally wounded, belonged to the same Masonic lodge with Burnett Brothers, whose store he had robbed three times before.

A Coal Combine.

A Knoxville, Tenn., dispatch says: The Southern Jellico Coal company, which recently went to pieces, was reorganized Tuesday. The following companies are in the combination: Standard Coal and Coke company, Wooldridge; Jellico Coal company, Falls Branch; Jellico Coal company, East Tennessee Coal company, Main Jellico Mountain Coal company. The manager states that the combination is made to minimize the cost of the product of coal, and to best serve the public. As the mines are all in the Jellico district, it will affect the product which goes to Kentucky particularly.

BLAINE'S SUCCESSOR.

President Harrison Appoints John W. Foster as Secretary of State.

A Washington dispatch says: The president, on Wednesday, gave another Indiana man a good berth. He put him in his cabinet to succeed James G. Blaine as secretary of state. He is John W. Foster of Indiana.

Mr. Foster has represented the government in the arrangement of many foreign treaties, and is an accomplished diplomat. This places two Indianians in the cabinet.

World's Fair Commission Bankrupt.

A Chicago dispatch of Wednesday says: Bankruptcy has at last reached the World's Columbian exposition. Every cent of the appropriation has been expended, and Secretary Dickinson has not enough money left to buy postage stamps unless he draws on his own resources.

ALABAMA COLUMN.

News Notes and Items Gathered at Random from Over the State.

The city council of Attalla has appropriated $1,000 towards equipping its fire department.

* * *

* * *

News comes from Sheffield that work has been commenced on the new bridge across the Tennessee river between that place and Florence. The Memphis and Charleston Railroad company, which owns the old bridge, have decided to build a new one and work has been commenced.

* * *

Saturday night, at a large and enthusiastic mass meeting of the citizens of Fort Payne plans were adopted looking to the starting of the industries there. Prominent New York capitalists have been in the city looking into the coal, iron, fire clay and kaolin mines, and from their report says that shortly all of the industries will be started again.

* * *

A most important railroad meeting was held at Huntsville recently, and no doubt the question of a railroad south is at last favorably settled in so far as she is concerned. President Thomas submitted the very favorable proposition of asking only the right of way from Huntsville over the old Tennessee and Coosa route. This will cost the people about $2,000.

The Alabama Educational association needs a permanent home. A committee consisting of Dr. N. T. Lupton of Auburn and Dr. J. H. Phillips of Birmingham, has been appointed to receive propositions from different localities. The association will require several acres of land, upon which it will erect suitable buildings, and will establish an educational resort that will be a credit to the city selected as well as to the state.

* * *

The building of the union passenger depot at Sheffield by the Louisville and Nashville, Memphis and Charleston and Birmingham, Sheffield and Tennessee River railroads, will be commenced very soon. This is the result of a recent visit of the officials of the Memphis and Charleston railroad, the other roads having been waiting on the action of the officials of the Memphis and Charleston.

The United States Car Works, lessees of the immense plant of the United States Rolling Stock Company, Anniston, will begin making cars inside of thirty days. A letter from David Cornfoot, president of the United States Car Company, in a letter to the Anniston stockholders, gives out this information, and it can, therefore, be relied upon as true. These works employ over a thousand men when running on full time.

Dr. Miles J. Greene, secretary of the Masonic Grand lodge, who died suddenly at his home in Montgomery of neuralgia of the heart, was one of the most prominent Masons of this state, having been an active member of the Masonic fraternity since 1849, when he was initiated into Auburn lodge No. 76. He was grand master of the grand lodge of Alabama in 1887, and in 1888 he was elected grand secretary of the grand lodge to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Daniel Thayer, and was filling that position at the time of his death.

* * *

A far reaching and novel decision in the case of William E. Boyd vs. the city of Selma was decided by the supreme court at Montgomery a few days ago. The court held that money loaned by the appellant in the city of Birmingham on notes and mortgages is liable to taxation by the city of Selma, where the appellant resides, notwithstanding the notes and mortgages are kept by him in the hands of his agent in Birmingham, where the debtors reside, and where the notes by their terms are payable. That the domicile of the owner, and not the signers of the notes and mortgages, determines the liability for taxation. Justice Thorington delivered the opinion.

* * *

The first annual meeting of the Book Sellers' association of Alabama, was held in Selma a few days ago. The attendance was large from all over the state. They passed a resolution to request our congressmen to introduce a bill and use their influence for its passage, to put educational works at second class postage rates in order to place them on equality with the flash literature and paper backs so widely distributed all over the country. They elected J. Q. Burton of Opelika, president; W. C. Holt of Montgomery, vice-president; L. N. Woodruff of Montgomery, secretary and treasurer, and an executive committee. A plan has been formulated to reduce the price of school books all over the state.

* * *

The State Sheriffs' Association held a two days' session in Anniston last week. The attendance was rather small and but little business was transacted. Sheriff L. T. Grant, the Shelby defaulter, was expelled for embezzlement of the association funds. Resolutions were passed expressing their confidence in the innocence of Sheriff Smith and Deputy Sheriff Lockhart in regards to their recent trouble in Tennessee. They elected J. J. Hawthorne of Wilcox president; A. T. Wood of Talladega and J. S. Blair of Cherokee, vice presidents; J. W. Fall of Butler, secretary; E. R. King of Tuscaloosa, treasurer. The next meeting of the association will be held in Montgomery during the first week of the legislature.

Catherine Conspiracy Cases.

The trial of what are termed the "Catherine conspiracy cases" was concluded in the United States court at Mobile some days ago. In September, 1890, Grinville Burnett, colored, was appointed postmaster at Catherine, Ala. The white citizens objected to him and urged him not to take the office, but he was qualified in December, 1890. On the 30th of that month he resigned, and it is alleged that his resignation was caused by force on the part of twenty or thirty white men. Ed Taylor, Watt Gambett, and others were indicted on the charge of conspiracy to prevent an officer of the United States from holding office. The jury in the case disagreed, standing eight for conviction and four for acquittal.

Weather Report.

Director Merriam's report says: The mean temperature for the past week was [illegible] while there was a small amount of sunshine, because of frequent cloudy days. Although the weather was warm, the heat has not been oppressive. Precipitation has occurred almost daily and the average for the state was about one inch above normal. At Auburn on the 25th two inches fell within two hours. The rains have been beneficial to corn, but rather late for early planted corn. In west Alabama the corn crop is looking well. In portions of Alabama the amount of moisture was too great for the best results in cotton culture. The crops are becoming grassy and the wet weather is interfering with farming operations. The weather, however, has been excellent for planting sweet potatoes, and sugar cane is looking well.

An Important Case.

Among the decisions recently announced by the supreme court at Montgomery there was one having reference to the charter of an electric light company, which will be of general interest throughout the state, in view of the rapid development of electricity as a motive power. The question presented to the court was whether an electric light company, organized under the general laws of this state, was a manufacturing corporation and could, therefore, be consolidated with another electric light company under the authority given by section 1565 of the code. The decision was announced by Chief Justice Stone, and after a very lucid discussion of the question by him the court concluded: "When we take into consideration that the electricity now used and applied in the ordinary business of life is essentially the product of skill and labor, we can find no difficulty in reaching the conclusion that a corporation engaged in generating, transmitting and selling such electricity to be used for lighting purposes is a manufacturing corporation."

GLADSTONE PELTED.

Struck in the Eye by a Woman Who Threw "For Luck."

A London cablegram says: Mr. Gladstone, in a speech at Chester Saturday night declared that his opponents were fighting with weapons of intimidation, invention and religious bigotry, and that for the first time in our history the prime minister was a firebrand in the land. On his way to the meeting Gladstone was struck in the eye by something thrown at him. It was subsequently revealed that his assailant was a woman. At the conclusion of his speech he was forced to consult an oculist and went back to Hawarden with his eye bandaged. It is reported that the woman who threw the missile at him said she threw it "for luck."

THE large marble slab which was recently found in the Potomac, and which was supposed to be the original stone sent by the Pope in 1853 to be placed in the Washington Monument, has been stolen. When the stone was found and the divers had heard of its history, they decided that it might prove of some value, and accordingly they placed it in an old shanty in which was stored their materials. Some one entered the shanty and carried off the relic.

Atkins' Patent Concave Tooth Dexter.

DIXIE'S FAVORITE. FOR THE WOODS OF THE SOUTH IT HAS NO EQUAL.

The patent by which this saw is protected consists of a depression of the face of the cutting teeth through the center from point to base, thus removing all friction while in use, giving strength and stiffness to the teeth and increasing three-fold the durability of the "set." WE CHALLENGE THE WORLD to produce a saw equalling the ATKINS FAST CUTTING DEXTER.

PRICES: {Silver Steel, Including Hamilton, $1.60 per foot. Special Steel, Without Hamilton, .75 per foot.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The large demand for the Atkins Concave Tooth Dexter Saw has led competitors to offer inferior saws which they claim "as good as the Dexter." These imitation saws are made from lower grade of steel, inferior workmanship, and without the patent concave teeth.

MR. DIXON ROASTS TAMMANY.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Rev. Thos. Dixon, Jr., the young minister, preached to a crowded house in Association Hall this morning. Before beginning his sermon he referred to a libel suit recently brought against him by Joseph Koch. After stating that he wished the plain facts to be known to his congregation and their friends, he said:

Then Mr. Dixon told how Justice Grady, "Koch's pal," had kept him in his "dirty court," and finally how a Tammany grand jury had indicted him. Then the preacher remarked that the good work might go on. He had been advised to employ a shrewd Tammany-Hall lawyer who has a pull to defend him. But he would not. He would rather serve a term in prison at the hands of Tammany than shake hands with this dastardly tyranny in the dark. He was not here to pull with the devil, but to fight him. He further attended to Tammany Hall's case, as follows:

"Tammany Hall, with its greed and cunning power, is a deadly octopus that is poisoning the social and political life of this city, and through this the metropolis of the nation. It is the most powerful coterie that ever dominated the life of any civilized community. Like a festering cancer it is literally eating the heart out of the honor of our ambitious young manhood. For one, I defy the beast. I know I stand single-handed and against a trained host with limitless resources. But one man in the right is a majority over the million scullions of hell, though led by the devil himself. By birth and tradition and association as a Southern man I am a Democrat, and I voted that national ticket at the last election. But the Democracy I learned in my own native State meant honest, and integrity and decency.

"A Southern Democrat cannot affiliate with Tammany Hall without first lowering the standard of his manhood and selling his soul to the devil. I take the occasion to warn the national Democracy that Tammany is a load it cannot carry any longer. Before the party comes before this nation to win another victory it will have first to kick Tammany out of the back door, wash with sapolio and turn on the hose pipe. After trying to destroy the State of New York, they came sneaking back from Chicago saying they will support the ticket. They lie."

He closed: "They came back from Chicago with honey on their lips, treachery in their hearts and knives in their boots. They will do in November what they have done before and spend another four years trying to lie out of it."

"Green Goods."

This office is in receipt of another "green goods" circular. This time the address is "W. E. Graham, 172 Hudson street, New York"; and with this clue to work upon, it does seem to us the authorities of that city might easily clean out such frauds. This is the second circular of the kind we have received—the first one being placed in the hand of the police. Now, if a telegram can find "W. E. Graham" at the address above named, why can't a police officer? It does seem strange to us, with the many exposures made by the press, this traffic is still carried on. Who is to blame? We have no sympathy for the victims. They richly deserve all they get. But, in a great growing, intellectual and moral country, like this, such an indication of festering disease ought to be purged away.—New Decatur Advertiser.

These circulars are being sent broadcast. One found its way into this office recently. They are all efforts to defrad.

White Men Stop and Consider.

A few days ago a white man in Perry county, went to the house of Edmond Towns, a respectable and representative colored man, and spent nearly all the afternoon and all night, and used every argument at his command to get said Towns to use his influence to get the negroes to vote for R. F. Kolb for Governor. Stating that the time had come when the poor white men of the State had now decided to vote with the negroes in order to elect a man who would do all in his power for the interest of the poor white man and the negroes of Alabama. The name of the said white man is known to the editor of this paper and will be given if any one denies this statement. By whose authority did this white man visit and spend the night with Edmond Towns?—Marion Standard.

SLAY SLOP OVER.

He Joins the Third Party and Predicts War.

MERIDIAN, Miss., June 27.—Hon. J. L. Slay, who has been a leading figure in the Democratic politics of Clarke county, Miss., for the past quarter of a century, having been repeatedly honored with lucrative positions, has left the Democratic fold to join the third party. In his letter of withdrawal he says:

"A new party must arise and sweep the rottenness and corruption of the old parties from the face of the earth. That is the way wisdom would suggest for the salvation of the republic, whose corner-stone is labor; but there is another way, and one we fear will be the choice of many—war! war! the mad fury of the enraged people; and when that comes, millionaires will be strung up to lamp-posts like carrion, their places will be burned to the ground, their wealth seized and scattered to the winds, while a carnival of blood reigns supreme."

Rewards of Industry.

If all the property of the world was divided up equally and all debt wiped out it wouldn't be six months until a large number of the people would be in debt again, while others would be accumulating property. The history of mankind shows that those who manage well, those who save their earnings, those who plan and look ahead and those who are diligent, are the ones who most prosper. On the other hand, those who are shiftless and wasteful, and those who dissipate and neglect their opportunities, must, in the very nature of things, be left behind in the race. "Seest thou a man diligent in business? He shall stand before kings." That is, he shall prove of importance in the world. It was so two thousand years ago, and it is true to-day. All these modern schemes to insure exactly the same amount of prosperity to each and every individual must fail so long as there are differences in men. If not then, there would be no incentive to industry, no reward for intelligence, no encouragement for honest effort and no advantage for energy and pluck. Such a state of affairs would stifle all progress and soon return the world to a state of indolence and barbarism.—Gadsden Times-News.

The hour has come for every Democrat in whose veins the royal blue blood flows to put aside personal feelings and enter the arena stripped and ready for the fray. The ground will be hotly contested and there is work for every soldier. Personal abuse has no place in politics and will only make matters worse, but good sound argument will tell. If your neighbor has followed Mr. Kolb that makes him none the less a good man, but he is on the wrong track, is helping to break up organized Democracy and it is your duty to show him the error of his way.—Ex.

The Things That are Lovely and Lovable.

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your neighbor's faults. Forget the slander your have heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault-finding and give a little thought to the cause which provoked it. Forget the pecularities of your friends and only remember the good points which make you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or histories that you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated would seem a thousand times worse than they are. Blot out as far as possible all the disagreeables of life—they will come, but they will grow larger when you remember them, and the constant thought of the acts of meanness, or worse still, malice, will only tend to make you more familiar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday, start out with a clean sheet for to-day, and write upon it for sweet memory's sake only those things that are lovely and lovable.—Lutheran Observer.

STATE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

1. That the assumption and exercise by the Federal Government of other powers than those specifically granted in the Constitution is usurpation and oppression; that a strict construction of the powers of the Federal Government is essential to the protection of the people in the several States in their domestic affairs, of life, liberty and property, and the preservation of our republican system of government.

2. That in the administration of the Federal Government the reserved rights of the States must not be impaired; and that Force Bills by Congres to regulate elections of members of Congress or electors for President or Vice-President will be destructive of the rights and liberties of the people of the several States and of the harmony which should always subsist between the people and their servants; and we, therefore, denounce as unconstitutional and revolutionary the recent attempt of the Republican party to pass what is known as the Force Bill.

3. We declare as a fundamental principle of Democratic faith that no more revenue shall be raised by the Federal Government than is necessary for the payment of the national debt and for the support of the Government, honestly and economically administered and that in laying duties on imports, any discrimination in favor of one interest, or business or of one section of the union to the detriment of others, finds no support in the Constitution and none from a just regard of the rights of the people. That equal justice to all and special privileges to none is the bed rock principle of the Democratic party—the party of the people. We are, therefore, opposed to all manner of bounties, subsides and paternalism in the government, and we demand that the McKinley bill be repealed, and that the tariff be so reduced in rate, and so reformed as to subjects, that necessaries and such articles as the masses consume shall be as lightly taxed as possible.

4. That the Democratic party of Alabama expresses its condemnation of the Republican party for their administration of the finances of the country, under which the demand of the people for a sufficient circulation medium has been ignored, and silver has been driven from its time-honored and rightful place and useless under the constitution of the United States, where it was maintained so long as our party had control of the national legislation. And we demand that such laws be enacted as will secure the issue of safe, sound and elastic currency sufficient to meet all the demands of the people. And we demand the repeal of the Federal taxation on the circulation of the State banks.

5. We demand that Congress repeal all laws authorizing national banks to issue notes to circulate as money based upon the credit of the government.

6. We demand that all money appropriated by the Federal Government for the payment of pensions shall be raised by a gradual income tax.

7. We are opposed to the ownership of railroad and telegraph lines by the Federal Government, and to the multiplication of offices, but we favor the control and regulation of lines of transportation and communication so that only a fair and reasonable rate shall be exacted of the people.

8. That public office is a public trust to be administered for the good of the whole people, and not spoils to be distributed as rewards to unscrupulous partisan favorites.

9. We indorse the administration of Grover Cleveland and recognize in him one of the ablest living exponents of the true principles of the Democratic party.

10. We demand that free labor shall be relieved of competition with convicts and all necessary law shall be enacted to forever prevent such competition.

11. We favor legislation that will vide a more efficient system of public schools.

12. We favor such further legislation as will better regulate corporations chartered by the State.

13. We favor the passage of such election laws as will better secure the government of the State in the hands of the intelligent and the virtuous, and that will enable every elector to cast his ballot secretly and without fear or constraint.

14. We favor the election of Railroad Commissioners by the people.

15. We indorse the wise and able administration, of Thomas G. Jones, who has followed in the footsteps of his Democratic predecessors in redeeming every pledge made to the people to give them an honest, economical and just administration of the affairs of the State.

THE PARTY LAW.

Resolved, That it is the duty of the the State Executive Committee to preserve the integrity of the party organization, and to this end they shall have power and authority,

1. To prescribe the qualification of voters at the primaries of the party.

2. To prescribe such rules in respect to the primaries as will insure a fair and free expression of the will of every Democrat, and give to each one his due and proper influence in the selection of delegates and candidates.

3. To consider, and if they deem wise to petition the Legislature to pass laws regulating the primaries of the party, and punishing any fraud or wrongful conduct therein.

4. To provide so that the primaries for the selection of delegates to State and Congressional Conventions shall be held in every precinct on the same day

5. That wherever any nominee of a regular Democratic Convention in this State shall refuse or fail to support the nominees of this Convention, all Democrats are absolved from supporting him, and that the Executive Committees of the several counties of this State in accord with this convention, be and are hereby authorized to take such steps as may be necessary to nominate others in lieu of those thus refusing. If a Committeeman refuses to support the nominee of the party, then, the Democrats of such county may reorganize, upon the advice of the State Executive Committee, after an application in writing signed by not less than twenty Democrats of such county. The State Executive Committee shall provide the mode and manner of effecting the reorganization; that whoever refuses to support the nominees of this Convention is not a loyal member of the Democratic party, and is not eligible to the nomination for any office at the hands of the party nor to membership in any committe of the party.

6. To settle and determine the prima facie right of delegates claiming seats in the State Convention.

7. Whenever any contest as to any nomination shall arise after the adjournment of the nominating convention or after the result of any primary has been declared, the committee of the party in the territory affected, or if there be no such, the State Executive Committee shall have authority to settle such contest, and to declare who is the regular nominee.

Stanton Notes.

Mr. Frank Roebuck, a young man of seventeen summers, and only son of W. F. Roebuck, our famous barbecue citizen, was united in marriage to Miss Allice McKinney, who is in her 15th year. The wedding took place at residence of the groom's father on the 21st ult., just as the clock was in the act of striking midday hour. Shortly after the knot that makes two one had been properly tied by the Rev. W. J. Ruddick, dinner was announced and the witnesses to the graud occasion were invited to take a place at the table, which was so heavily laden with eatables it fairly groaned under its weight. The newly married pair who were arrayed in most becoming attire looked happier than the writer can describe. May peace and prosperity follow them through life.

Willie Ramsey, a lad of sixteen, and oldest son of Mrs. M. A. Ramsey, a widow lady, living near this place was instantly killed on the 27th ult., by a log rolling over him. Will set into work that morning with one of Welch & Bros.' log men, and was engaged in in making a log on a hill side and in some way he lost his footing and fell and the large log passed over his body. Will was a hard worker and a good boy and his mother's chief help, and when his mangled remains were brought to her the sight was too sad to describe. The entire community sympathizes deeply with Mrs. Ramsey in this her great bereavement.

No Knowing How a Boy will Turn Out.

Ex-Gov. Crittenden and Senator George G. Vest were sitting in front of the Midland Hotel, Kansas City, on Sunday night, talking over old days at Centre College, Danville, Ky., from which institution both of them were graduated. They spoke of the many young men who had gone forth from that university and had grown famous and the most of them in politics.

"I was back at Danville a few years ago," said the Governor, "and had a talk with old Prof. Beatty. I asked him who was the most remarkable boy he ever had under him in school. 'There were two remarkable boys,' he said. 'One of these was remarkable in his school life. I thought him a marvel, and expected that boy to reach the highest position in the land. The other was a very ordinary boy in school, and I did not look for much from him. The other boy was John C. Breckinridge, senator, vice-president, and at one time candidate for the presidency. The marvel is now teaching in a deaf and dumb asylum. In your class of twenty-five boys, Governor, I did not think a man in the class would rise very high, and now fifteen of them are occupying prominent positions. I have given it up; I can't tell a thing about boys—they're a mystery.

Saved by His Coolness.

Some years ago the Duke of Wellington was sitting at his library table when the library door opened and without any announcement in stalked a figure of singularly ill omen.

"Who are you?" asked the Duke in his short dry manner, looking up without the slightest change of countenance upon the intruder.

"I am Apollyon. I am sent here to kill you."

"Kill me. Very odd."

"I am Apollyon, and you must be put to death."

"Bliged to do it to-day?"

"I am not told the day or the hour; but I must do my mission.

"Very inconvenient; very busy; great many letters to write. Call again, or write me word. I'll be ready for you."

The duke then went on with his correspondence. The maniac appalled, probably by the stern, immovable old gentleman, backed out of the room and in half an hour was in the asylum.—London Tid Bits.

PROCEEDINGS FROM DAY TO DAY BRIEFLY TOLD—BILLS AND MEASURES UNDER CONSIDERATION—OTHER NOTES.

THE HOUSE.

SATURDAY.—The house met and adjourned, no quorum being present. The session lasted only a minute and a half.

MONDAY.—Until the democrats are able to muster a quorum in their ranks, they may meet with many stumbling blocks in their way to final adjournment. The republicans are not in the path, but they are not over zealous in removing obstacles, which the third party may see fit to place there. And the third party is rather incensed over the refusal of the democrats to allow them time to discuss—they don't demand a vote—on the sub-treasury bill. It is not strong enough in itself to obstruct business, but it is strong enough, seconded by republican indifference and democratic absenteeism to delay legislation until it is permitted time to discuss the measure, which is the keystone of its political arch. Monday, under the lead of Messrs. Watson, of Georgia, and Davis, of Kansas, it practically stopped the wheels of legislation. Telegrams sent out by the sergeant-at-arms demanding the return of absentees seem to be productive of some little fruit, but still when the house met at 11 o'clock there was no quorum present. Before the reading of Friday's journal, Mr. Davis, of Kansas, raised the point of no quorum. Mr. Belknap, of Michigan, moved a call of the house, which was ordered—73 to 17.

TUESDAY.—Mr. McMillin of Tennessee, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution setting apart Tuesday, after the morning hour, for the consideration of bills reported by the committee—invalid pensions bills; Wednesday and Thursday for bills reported by the committee on presidential elections, and Friday and Saturday for the bills reported by the committee on labor. This order is not to interfere with the appropriation or revenue bills or the conference reports. The resolution was agreed to. Pursuant to the order, after a few unimportant committee reports, the floor was accorded to the committee on invalid pensions. In committee of the whole Mr. Martin of Indiana called up the senate bill amendatory of the dependent pension bill, with an amendment in the nature of a substitute. The substitute was intended to extend the provisions of the dependent pension act to widows and dependent relatives of soldiers. This is the proposed change: "Without honorable discharge, died in line of duty; whether absent or on furlough; in hospital, except when they were under arrest as deserters." On the question of reporting the bill favorably to the house, no quorum present, but it vanished before another vote could be reached, and Mr. Martin withdrew the bill. Mr. Martin then called up the bill granting a pension of $12 per month to army nurses. Mr. Oates of Alabama said that at the first reading of the bill he had been inclined to oppose it. But he had thought of the noble women of the south who had cared for the wounded soldiers. Had the confederacy been successful in the struggle, those women would have been gratefully remembered and pensioned. The bill was laid aside with favorable recommendation. The next bill called up was the senate bill amending the pension laws so as to remove the disability of those who had participated in the rebellion, enlisted in the army of the United States and became disabled. The bill extends the same privilege to persons who have enlisted in the navy. On motion of Mr. Oats an amendment was adopted providing that nothing in any act of congress shall hereafter prevent any person from being commissioned in the army or navy by reason of having served in the army or navy of the confederate states. The bill being laid aside with a favorable recommendation, the committee rose and both bills were passed—the army nurse bill by a vote of 122 to 25, and the amendatory act without division. A bill, framed by Mr. Seerley of Iowa, was also passed, forbidding any discrimination against the evidence of witnesses on account of want of official rank, in applications for pensions. Also a bill, introduced by Mr. Pickler, of South Dakota, to expedite the prosecution of pension claims. Mr. Outhwaite submitted a conference report on the army appropriation bill. The committee reports an agreement on all but one amendment, which strikes out the house proviso prohibiting the use of any money in payment for the transportation of troops or supplies over non-bonded lines owned, controlled or operated by the Union pacific or Southern Pacific railroad companies. The report was agreed to. A motion to recede from the point of disagreement was lost. Mr. Outhwaite moved an insistance on the disagreement. No quorum voting, the house adjourned, notice having been previously served on the democratic members that the tin plate bill would come up Wednesday.

WEDNESDAY.—Mr. Hatch, the chairman of the committee on agriculture, reported back the agricultural appropriation bill with the senate amendments thereto, and asked that the senate amendments be non-concurred in and a conference ordered. Mr. Holman thought some statement should be made as to the effect of the senate amendents. Mr. Hatch replied that they all increased the appropriation. Mr. Hatch's request was agreed to and Mr. Hatch, Mr. Caminet i and Mr. Funston were appointed conferees. Mr. Outhwaite then called up the conference reports on the army appropriation bill and moved that the house insist on its disagreement to the senate amendments striking out the proviso prohibiting the use of any money appropriated for the payment of the transportation of troops and army supplies over any non-bonded lines owned, controlled or operated by the Union Pacific or Southern Pacific. The motion was agreed to—yeas 167; nays, 96. A further conference was ordered, and Messrs. Outhwaite, Mitchell, and Belknap were appointed as conferees.

THE SENATE.

MONDAY.—The house bill amendatory of the census act (as to general and special schedules of industries) was reported in the senate Monday by Hale from the committee on the eleventh census and passed. The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was reported by Mr. Allison, who gave notice that he would call it up at the close of the morning business. The house amendments to the sneath bill as the circuit court of appeals were not concurred in and a conference was asked. Mr. Hale offered the following preamble and resolution, and said that he would call it up Tuesday:

"Whereas, At no time has so large a proportion of the American people been employed at so high wages, and the purchasing of the necessities and comforts of life at so low prices as in the year 1892, and; whereas, The balance of trade has never been so large in favor of the United States as in the last year; and, Whereas, These conditions exist and are largely due to the republican policy of protection;" therefore, Resolved, That the committee on finance be and hereby is directed to inquire into the effect of the policy of 'tariff for revenue only' upon the labor and industries of the United States and to report on the same to the senate."

Mr. Cockerell suggested that the resolution should be called up Tuesday for the purpose of allowing Mr. Hale to make some remarks on it and not for action, and the suggestion was tacitly assented to. Mr. Stewart offered a substitute for his free silver coinage bill, one providing that the owner of silver bullion may deposit the same at any mint of the United States to be coined for his benefit. The coins are to be legal tender for all debts and dues, public and private. Foreign silver coin and bullion derived from it by melting are excluded, and the silver act of 1890 is repealed. The substitute was laid on the table and ordered to be printed. The senate then proceeded to the consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. All committee amendments were agreed to without question, except that reinstating the Utah commission, abolished by the house bill, which was reserved for action. It was then open to general amendment. Mr. Platt moved to insert an item for nine marshals at $2,500 each for the circuit court of appeals. After a lengthy discussion a vote was take on Mr. Platt's amendment and resulted—yeas, 24; nays, 14. As there was no quorum voting the roll was called and forty-five senators, a quorum, responded. On the vote being again taken the result was yeas, 26; nays, 15—still no quorum. As no progress could be made the matter went over till Tuesday. The president's message in reply to the resolution of April 6th, with copies of commercial agreements made with other countries and with a statement that the negotiations with Mexico were a reciprocal commercial agreement, was laid before the senate and ordered to be printed. A further conference was ordered on the military academy bill and Messrs. Cullom, Stewart and Call were continued as conferees. After a short executive session the senate at 5:30 o'clock adjourned.

TUESDAY.—The presidential campaign was fairly started in the senate Tuesday on a basis of Mr. Hale's resolution asserting the great benefits resulting to the people of the United States from the republican policy of protection, and questioning the possible effect of the democratic policy of "tariff for revenue only." Mr. Hale gave a history, from his point of view, of the recent Chicago convention, so far as the tariff plank of the platform is concerned; stating that it was framed so as to suit the candidates, and declaring the issue between the two parties had thus been made up, and the fight would be waged on that issue until decided by the suffrages of the people next November. Mr. Vest, on the part of democracy, accepted the challenge and had much to say as to the operation of the McKinley act in increasing the cost of dry goods and hardware, in reducing wages and in causing strikes and labor troubles. He also commented upon the choice of the new chairman of the republican national committee as being in line with the policy of encouraging monopolies. After that the resolution was laid aside till Wednesday without action, the conference reports on the Indian and army appropriation bills were presented and agreed to. The latter bill has still, however, one question open and undisposed of. It is as to the payment for government transportation on non-bonded portions of the Union and Southern Pacific railroads. The agricultural appropriation bill was passed and consideration of the legislative appropriation bill resumed. The abolition or continuance of the Utah commission was a subject of discussion on the legislative bill; and that question went over without being decided.

WEDNESDAY.—Mr. Davis, from the committee on foreign relations, reported back a bill introduced by him on the 22d to secure certain reciprocal advantages to citizens, ports and vessels of the United States, and it was placed on the calendar. The conference report on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill was presented and agreed to. The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was then taken up, the question being on the amendment as to the Utah commission. Senator Hunton introduced bills appropriating $5,000 for the benefit of the legal heirs of the late Senator John S. Barbour and the widow of Representative William H. F. Lee, of Virginia. The senate confirmed the nomination of John W. Foster as secretary of state.

NOTES.

General Gordon succeeded in having the agricultural appropriation bill amended in the senate on Friday so that the sum of $5,000 was added to the appropriation for experimenting in grasses for the southern states.

The house appropriation committee Tuesday ordered a favorable report on the joint resolution extending the appropriations for the support of the government until July 15, made necessary by the probable failure of any of the annual appropriation bills to become a law by the beginning of the fiscal year. The committee also directed all the members of the committee having charge of the appropriation bills to ask the house for nonconcurrence and a conference on all such bills as soon as they came from the senate. An adverse report was ordered by the committee on all joint resolutions and petitions for the relief of Mississippi and Alabama flood sufferers.

The Anti-Option Bill Again.

The senate judiciary committee failed to make the expected report on the anti-option bill Monday. A majority of the committee is opposed to the bill as it passed the house, but a substitute is pending before the committee which modifies the house bill in several particulars, and which it is probable will be reported to the senate. The advocates of the bill claim that the senate will pass it, but the leaders of the lobby against it claim to have made a careful canvass of the senate, and that the opponents are in the majority. Much interest is manifested in the contest on account of the effect its defeat or passage will have upon the grain and cotton markets. The farmers of the country are sending in petitions by the thousand in favor of its adoption, while the exchanges are protesting.

No Lotteries.

A New Orleans dispatch of Tuesday says: The general assembly has passed a bill whereby the lotteries will not be allowed in the state after December 31, 1893.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Review of Trade for the Past Week by Dun & Co.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: In wheat so great a change of condition appears that men begin to question whether the yield this year will not closely approximate the unprecedented crop of 1891. For other grain and cotton the outlook is decidedly better, and there is reason now to hope for a highly satisfactory result from the year's agriculture. In consequence there is a stronger trade throughout the country, especially at the western centers of distribution. Improvement is less marked at the south, owing to the very low price of cotton and continued high water in cane regions. One point of anxiety in regard to the wage dispute in iron manufacture operates for the present to cause increased trade, while in other great industries the situation is clearly more favorable than usual.

Iron manufacturers desire a revision of the wage scale on the ground that improved machinery has enabled labor to produce 60 per cent. more than in former years, and has reduced prices so far that the two-cent basis is no longer just. There is a little more ground for the hope that a prolonged strike may be avoided and meanwhile, demand for all forms of manufactured iron and steel distinctly improves.

Boot and shoe manufacture is entering upon a season expected to be one of unprecedented activity, but the year's shipments are already within 2 per cent of the greatest ever known and gaining every week. There is a fairly large business in low grade woolens, and sales of wool are better than usual for the season.

REPORTS FROM TRADE CENTERS.

At Pittsburg there are better prospects of a wage settlement, but finished iron is moving fairly. At Louisville trade is satisfactory and improving, but business at Memphis is inactive, and at New Orleans dull on account of high water. At Savannah trade is above the average in all branches and prospects are favorable.

In cotton no change in price appears, though transactions have been quite large—590,000 bales for the week, and the week's receipts have been larger than a year ago. Last week's exports of gold have caused neither trouble nor alarm, and shipments this week are smaller than most expected.

Gold exports were quite independent of merchandise balances, for the enormous produce exports in May are followed by an increase of 25 per cent in exports from New York in June thus far, indicating an aggregate for the fiscal year not far from $1,030,000,000. Confidence in the monetary future has been much strengthened by political events, and silver has declined to 40 1-8d per ounce. In every part of the country money is in abundant supply, and the demand at nearly all points is only moderate, collections being generally quite satisfactory for the season.

Business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., number 176. For the corresponding week of last year there were 203 failures in the United States.

THE COMPANY SAYS "NO."

Drexel & Morgan Refuse to Take Hold of Richmond Terminal Affairs.

A New York telegram of Tuesday states that Drexel, Morgan & Co. have declined the invitation to undertake the reorganization of the Richmond Terminal in a letter to W. C. Strong, chairman of the Richmond Terminal stockholders' committee. They give their reasons for so doing in the following letter:

Dear Sir—Referring to our previous correspondence regarding the affairs of the Richmond Terminal system, we beg to say that we have made a careful investigation of the affairs of the Richmond Terminal system. We have reached the conclusion that a reorganization is feasible on the basis of equity to all concerned, one that we should be prepared to undertake, and one which in our opinion would place your property on a sound financial basis.

The complication and difficulties which must be met in this connection, make it necessary, we need scarcely add, that we should as your representative and as far as possible be protected against any single interest which might for personal or other reason desire to thwart the successful carrying out of such a reorganization.

With this in mind, we deem it essential before any action on our part that a majority of the stock and bonds of the Richmond and West Point Terminal Railway and Warehouse company be deposited with us for purpose of reorganization and that all litigation should be put under our control and the persons of our selection substituted for the receivers now in possession of the property.

Therefore upon learning of the appointment of receivers of the Richmond and Danville property by the United States court, we applied to Mr. W. P. Clyde to know whether in case we undertook the reorganization, the suit under his control would be transferred to us and the present receivers resign in favor of Mr. Spencer, stating to him that, in our opinion, such course was essential.

He declines to give us any such assurance, and our conversation with him leads us to doubt his loyalty to any organization plan whatever, although he, as one of your committee, signed a request to us to undertake the same.

As, in our opinion, it is essential to the success of any plan that during the reorganization the properties involved should be under our control, as already mentioned, and as the position taken by Mr. Clyde makes this impossible, we are obliged, reluctantly, to decline the invitation to undertake the reorganization.

Thanking you for your confidence, we remain, dear sirs, yours very truly,

A BANK CLOSED.

The Cashier's Mind as Well as the Books in an Unsatisfactory Condition.

The Goshen National bank at Middletown, N. Y., did not open Monday morning. Cashier William M. Murray has manifested mental disturbances for some weeks and had absented himself from home since Wednesday. The national bank examiner at a recent examination directed the officers' attention to the unsatisfactory condition of the books and that many loans were bad. Murray is county treasurer of Orange county. It is said that the public funds are in a trust company in New York. It is hard to get at the facts, as the directors met in secret session. It is supposed that the surplus is gone and that the capital is impaired.

SOUTHERN PROGRESS.

New Enterprises Reported for the Past Week.

The industrial situation in the South for the past week, according to the Chattanooga Tradesman, has been generally favorable. The judicial settlements of railroad difficulties which are now in progress will have a good effect in preventing unhealthy competition, and bringing into manageable shape the various interests which for some time past have been in need of adjournment. The iron producers in the Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee district are looking for an early advance in prices, because of great reduction in stocks. Arrangements are being made, and are nearly perfected, which will considerably increase the demand, and extend the markets for Southern coal. The exportation of large quantities at regular intervals, will be of permanent benefit to the producers and those engaged in transportation and shipment. The lumber market shows an advancing tendency, influenced by increasing shipments and a steady demand.

Forty-nine new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with 8 enlargements of manufactories and 21 important new buildings. Among the new industries are a brewery with $360,000 capital at Louisville, Ky., brick works at Danville, Va., canneries at Atlanta and Madison, Ga., and a cigar factory at Sanford, Fla. A $50,000 cotton compress will be built at Van Buren, Ark. A development company with $50,000 capital has been organized and is in operation at Bridgeport, Ala., a $25,000 electric company at Louisville, Ky., and others at Chattanooga, Tenn., and Stanford, Ky., a fence company chartered at Manning, S. C., and a $35,000 fertilizer company at Orlando, Fla. Flouring mills are to be built at Salisbury and Roxboro, N. C., Gracey, Ky., and Keyser, W. V., an ice factory established at Newman, Ga., a $100,000 gas company at Mannington, W. Va., and a $25,000 irrigation company at Orlando, Fla. A machine shop will be established at Kilgore, Tex., a land company with $100,000 capital at Huntsville, Ala., coal mines opened at Jasper, Ala., iron mines at Laney's, Ala., and a quarry at Braiden Town, Florida. A cotton oil company with $100,000 capital has been chartered at Marlin, Tex., one with $50,000 capital at Macon, Ga., and a $30,000 one at Ladonia, Tex., a pho-phate mining company with $3,000,000 capital chartered at Ocala, Fla., a steel plant is reported at Middleborough, Ky., sugar refineries at New Iberia, La., and Savannah, Ga., a tannery at Louisville, Ky., and cotton mills at Sanford and Salisbury, N. C. A chair factory will be built at Fort Smith, Ark., a handle factory at Huntsville, Ala., a $30,000 lumber company at Warnell, Fla., and one at Little Rock, Ark., saw and planing mills at Texarkana, Ark., Lawrenceville, Ga., and South Boston, Va., and a stave and heading factory at Jonesboro, Ark.

The enlargements reported for the week include coke ovens at Fire Creek, W. Va., an electrical plant at Morristown, Tenn., flouring mills at Paducah, Ky., and Santa Anna, Tex., iron works at Chattanooga, Tenn., cotton mills at Salisbury, N. C., and woodworking plants at Luverne, Ala., and Palestine, Tex.

Among the new buildings are bank buildings at Harriman, Tenn., St. Charles, La., and Newport, Ky.; business houses at Birmingham and Fort Payne, Ala.; churches at Richmond, Va.; a cotton compress at Thomasville, Ga.; schools at Bessemer, Ala., and Maryville, Tenn.; a $30,000 hotel at Hamilton, Ky.; a refinery at Louisville, Ky., and warehouses at Cordele, Ga., Harriman, Tenn., and Louisville, Ky.

TO HELP IRISHMEN

In Securing Home Rule an Address is Issued to American People.

A New York dispatch of Sunday says: The National Federation of America, organized to aid in the home rule movement in Ireland, has issued the following appeal to the American people:

"The dissolution of the British parliament is announced, and the general election is to be held immediately.

The struggle of Ireland for life or death is at hand. Now is the time to help her, if you wish her to live—that is, to be free! We speak for the majority of the Irish national party, presided over by Justin McCarthy, and your subscription will be devoted to its support. Help to any faction opposed to that majority is help to disunion, dishonor and disaster.

We ask you to assist the party on whose side are found the best and purest of the Irish people, the law-abiding, wise and patriotic sons of Ireland in America, and the Irish hierarchy and clergy, the faithful friends of the national cause. Funds are needed to carry eighty-five seats in parliament, all the legitimate, legal expenses will be $150,000. The legal fees must be deposited before the candidates are eligible for election. But two weeks remain to procure this money. Will you help? Checks or drafts should be made payable to Eugene Kelly, treasurer, Cooper Union.

POLITICIANS IN STRIPES.

Jersey City Election Inspectors Sent to the Penitentiary.

A dispatch from Jersey City, N. J., says: The Hudson county courtroom was crowded Tuesday morning with politicians, officials and convicted election inspectors who had been ordered to appear in the court, their convictions having been affirmed by the court of errors. When Judge Lippincott opened court twenty prisoners answered to their names. Twelve of them have eighteen months to serve in the state prison and eight got nine months in the peniten iary. Four failed to appear. Judge Lippincott told the prisoners that as their conviction had been affirmed by the higher court there was no alternative but for the sheriff to convey them forthwith to prison, to which they had been sentenced. The court also announced that if the convicted inspectors who were absent did not appear in court at once a bench warrant would be issued for their arrest. The sheriff then took charge of the party. Some of the prisoners have been for years active ward politicians in Hudson county and their final commitment as convicts to serve out their terms is a severe blow to their friends. Many of the prisoners are married and have respectable families. Every effort was made to save them from being forced to don the convict's garb.

A NEGRO NATIONAL PARTY

Organized in Texas—Will Put Out Candidates for Every Office.

A dispatch of Tuesday from San Antonio, Texas, says: Gualoupe county today saw the birth of a new party opposed to all the old parties. Under a call issued by B. Berry, a large number of negroes assembled in mass meeting and perfected a permanent organization, with Berry as chairman, and adopted a platform calling for negro nominations for every office in the gift of the American people from president down to constable. It recites that democracy is inherently opposed to the African; that republicanism is false to him and that there is no hope for him in the people's party. He is the rational balance of power. Delegates in every voting precinct were duly appointed and a convention called for the 22nd of July.

Flood Sufferers in Mississippi.

A Vicksburg, Miss., dispatch of Wednesday says: A district ten miles broad and thirty to forty long in Catahoula and Concordia parishes, has been inundated for weeks, and large numbers of the comparatively dense population are in great want. Persons who have visited the section to scatter scanty contributions to the suffering people have returned and say the destitution there cannot be exaggerated. Very little relief has so far been afforded the sufferers.

Do Animals Commit Suicide?

There is a story of a poor cat, deprived of her kittens, who hanged herself in the fork of a branch. But this may have been an accident; we should have given the cat the benefit of the doubt. News comes of a dog who committed suicide. His master declined to take him out to shoot rabbits, and the dog went and drowned himself in a pond. The story is true, but Australian, and the dog may have merely exhibited an extreme form of colonial sensitiveness. If we once admit that a dog may reason on life and death (not being a mad dog), and exercise a hasty but rational choice, it is plain that the whole system of ethics will have to be altered.

The poor Indian may be right about the equal sky, which is a poor prospect for people who are not fond of dogs. The ghosts of dogs have been seen, and are as well vouched for as any others; so, on the whole, the poor Indian may be less untutored than the poet imagined.—Andrew Lang in Longman's Magazine.

He and His Wife.

Wife—"I need a little more money."

Husband—"It is only two days since ——."

Wife—"Now, see here! I want you to understand that I wouldn't ask for money if I didn't need it, and I don't intend to be reminded that it's only two days since you gave me some. I am not a child, nor a menial, nor a slave, to be treated like an irresponsible being, and I just want you to know that I won't stand it either, so there now! I've got just as much right to your money as you have, so there now, you——"

Husband—"My dear, I was merely going to remark that it is only two days since I drew my salary, and you could have all you wanted."—New York Weekly.

Ancient Rules for Carving.

Our ancestors fully recognized the value of good carving, and many were the rules by which a carver was expected to be governed. The ancient "Boke of Kervyng," among other things, admonishes him to touch venison only with his knife and to "set never on fynche, flesch, beeste ner fowle more than two fyngers and a thumbe." Fingers he was naturally obliged to use, since forks were a luxury of later date, and were not in private use until James I's reign. Piers Gaveston, the favorite of Edward II, had three silver forks for eating pears with, but this was regarded, no doubt, as a great and special luxury.—Kansas City Star.

Writing on Wood.

Some persons are of the opinion that the first writing was upon thin pieces of wood. From their convenience this seems probable. Such boards were used at an early period by the Greeks and Romans, and were frequently covered with wax, which was, of course, more easily written upon than the bare wood. Where wax was used errors were readily erased by rubbing with the blunt end of the piece of metal which served for a pen. To make the writing more visible it appears that some black substance was smeared over the surface of the white wax and remained in the scratched marks.—New York World.

In Confidence.

Old Friend—"You should always take your wife into your confidence. Women appreciate that sort of thing."

De Broker—"Oh, I do that; that is in part."

Old Friend—"You tell her of your gains and losses, I presume?"

A Precious Ornament.

Mary (during a moving)—"The missus is very particular about this brickybic mantel clock, an' says we'd have to carry it. I'll take it."

Jane—"No, you take th' baby an' I'll carry th' clock. You might let the clock fall wid your awkwardness."—Street & Smith's Good News.

Amulets on Watch Guards.

It is upon watchguards nowadays that amulets are mostly worn. They are supposed to possess all sorts of virtues supernatural. It is astonishing how many people, even in this enlightened nineteenth century, have faith in them. Although belief in ghosts and witches no longer prevails, yet dread of the mysterious unknown in nature retains more or less influence over every human mind. Individuals are often heard to say that they "have no superstitions," but in reality there is no one who does not cherish a few secretly. The form in which this weakness is most commonly exhibited is an unreasoning faith that luck inheres in certain objects. You pick up a copper cent in the street and put it in your pocketbook for a "luck penny." It is an amulet pure and simple.—Washington Star.

Which do you want, when you're buying medicine?

If you're satisfied with words, you get them with every blood-purifier but one. That one is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. With that, you get a guarantee. If it doesn't help you, you have your money back. On this plan, a medicine that promises help is pretty sure to give it.

But it's because the medicine is different, that it's sold differently. It's not like the sarsaparillas, which are said to be good for the blood in March, April, and May. At all seasons and in all cases, it cures permanently, as nothing else can, all the diseases arising from a torpid liver or from impure blood.

It's the best blood-purifier, and it's the cheapest, no matter how many doses are offered for a dollar.

With this, you pay only for the good you get.

EN WORKMEN AND NINE PINKERTON DEPUTIES KILLED.

ttsburg, Pa., had another experience labor riots, and this time, as during erful scenes which were witnessed g the railroad riots of 1877, blood een shed, life jeopardized and valu property placed in danger. This there was no destruction of prop- but the mob was thoroughly well nized, well disciplined and had effi- officers at their head to conduct ations. The force embraced all the employed in the extensive plant of Carnegie Iron and Steel company, at estead, some eight miles east of burg. And a battle, which, for dithirstiness and boldness of execu- has not been excelled in actual war- was waged from 4 o'clock in the ing of Tuesday until 5 o'clock nesday afternoon, and only ceased the force of Pinkertons brought to place to suppress the strike unconditionally surrendered, leaving their arms e barges in which they had been ported to the works.

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE.

he riot was the culmination of oles which have been brewing at estead for the past month. The egie company submitted a scale to rn their workmen in the steel plants announced that it was their ultima- The scale made a sweeping re- ion in the wages of skilled men and s officially announced that unless terms were complied with before 1st the places of the workmen would lled by others. This was followed he peremptory refusal on the part of company to recognize the Amalgaed Association of Steel and Iron kers as such, or to confer with any mittee of workmen short of an ac- ance of the terms offered. The men d that they would never submit to proposed reduction and announced determination to resist any effort on part of the Carnegies to start up plant with non-union men. As sides were determined, both pro- ed to prepare for the contest which inated in the deeds of violence and dshed that were witnessed Wednes- in that big hive of industry on the ongahela.

LOCKOUT OF THE MEN.

he contest was precipitated by the kmen at Homestead by hanging in y, H. C. Frick, president of the pany, and in retaliation the company ered an immediate shut-down of the works two days before the time pro- d by the contract under which the were working. The employes at proceeded to organize for defense, the company erected a high board e around the entire works, giving n the appearance of an immense kade, the sides being pierced with holes, and the top protected with e strands of barbed wire ready to be rged with a deadly current of elec- ity.

uesday morning the Carnegie com- announced their intention to pro- d to get ready to make repairs and officials asked the sheriff to appoint nties to protect their property. The iff sent a small squad of men up to works but the strikers assembled in e and notified them to get out of n, as no disorder was intended and no damage would be done to any perty. They even offered to be rn in as deputies and to give bonds the faithful performance of their ies as conservators of the peace. en this offer was declin- the advisory committee which been directing the action of the kmen, and which had held turbulent its among the workmen in check, immediately dissolved and all records the committee promptly destroyed.

The developments of Wednesday showed that the application made for the assistance of the sheriff was merely for the purpose of covering what was intended to be a coup de main on the part of the Carnegie company in clandestinely introducing a body of Pinkerton detectives into the mill enclosure. The detectives, too, had been in rendezvous some five or six miles below the city on the Ohio river, at which point two model barges had been prepared for them. These barges were of the best build, and were used in shipping iron rails down the river from the Carnegie mills at Braddock. The holds were fitted up with bunks, cooking arrangements and other accommodations and as an extra precaution, as in preparation for the siege which was expected, were lined with heavy steel plates on the inside, while the whole back deck was protected in a similar manner. It was the intention that the men should reach the works about 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, but the guards who were on duty along the river got word of the threatened invasion of the hated Pinkerton men and prepared to receive them. The barges were towed up the river by a tow-boat, but long before the Pinkerton men reached Homestead thousands of strikers had gathered on the banks of the river ready to give them a warm welcome.

THE FIRST BATTLE.

When the boats attempted to land the workmen broke through the fence surrounding the mill, and entrenching themselves behind piles of steel billets, prepared to resist the landing of the detectives. By 4 o'clock in the morning an effort was made to land the detectives, but the strikers met them and a fierce battle was precipitated, both sides exchanging a heavy volley of shots. The detectives were all armed with Winchester rifles, but at the point where the attempt to land was made was a steep embankment and they were compelled to go in single file and were soon driven back to the boats by the steady fire from the shore. The noise of the battle spread about the borough like wild fire, and thousands of men, women and children thronged to the river bank to witness the fight in progress. The Pinkerton men were determined to land and fired volley after volley into the ranks of the strikers, many of whom were stricken down by bullets, some of them being fatally injured and others killed outright.

BEHIND THE BREASTWORKS.

As the battle progressed the strikers took up a position behind the breastworks hastily constructed of steel rails and billets and from this place of safe refuge were able to pick off the detectives as soon as they appeared on the decks of the boats. Meanwhile Captain Hynd and Superintendent Kline, of the Pinkerton men, were disabled and the fire was so fierce that the crew of the towboat hastily cut loose from the barge and steamed up the river, carrying as many of the wounded as they could reach to Braddock, from which point they were sent down to hospitals for treatment at Pittsburg. Seven of the force were thus cared for, while the strikers that fell wounded were carried to their homes at Homestead, the dead being taken to the morgue and undertaking rooms in town.

When it was found that little impression could be made by cannon on the boats, an effort was made to fire the barges, and thus compel the detectives to leave the vessels or suffer the terrible fate of being burned alive. Hose was procured and oil was spouted on the sides and decks of the barges, and while this was being done barrel after barrel of it was being emptied into the river above the mooring place, the object being to allow it to float against the boats and ignite it. This terrible deed was attempted several times, but the boats did not burn, and then the mob became infuriated and hurled dynamite bombs at the vessels with great effect.

A FLAG OF TRUCE.

The situation of the detectives was such as to appall the stoutest heart. The men had been left cooped up in the barges at the mercy of the infuriated mob. The towboats had left them, and they were so encompassed by the maddened army of strikers that no succor could reach them. Three times they ran up a flag of truce, but as many times it was stricken down by bullets fired by the strikers. Then it became evident that the ammunition of the besieged detectives was either exhausted or they were too much worn out to continue the fight, and for nearly two hours before the end of the struggle was reached not a shot was fired from the barges. Toward dusk efforts were again made to burn the boats with their living freight, and they would doubtless have succeeded had it not been for the interposition of leading officers of the Amalgamated Association, who went to the scene of war in the afternoon. Through their efforts it was agreed to allow the detectives to surrender, but this was not secured without the greatest objection on the part of the men, many of whom had lost friends and acquaintances during the day.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR THE MEN.

News of the riot reached Pittsburg as early as 6 o'clock in the morning and thousands of mill hands, all of whom are now idle, pending conference on the scale, congregated in the streets, while hundreds of others, armed with guns and revolvers and well supplied with ammunition, took up the line of march to reinforce the strikers. As soon as day broke the strikers secured a small brass ten-pounder cannon and planted it within the steel billet embrasure so as to command the barges, which were moored at the bank of the river. At the same time a force of more than a thousand men took up a position on the opposite side of the river and also planted a cannon, which they protected with a breastwork of railroad iron. A fire from both sides was kept up, the barges having been pierced alongsides. Shortly before 9 o'clock the cannon was trained on the boats and for several hours an awful bombardment was kept up. The stout oaken timbers forming the sides of the boat were splintered, but steel plates on the inside prevented balls from penetrating the interior. Many of the strikers, however, were expert marksmen and they sent shot after shot into portholes in the bows and inflicted terrible injury to the imprisoned men.

SURRENDER OF THE PINKERTONS.

At 6 o'clock in the afternoon the Pinkerton men hung out another white flag, and this time it was respected and a committee of the strikers went aboard to propose terms of capitulation. They guaranteed safe conduct for the Pinkertons provided they left their arms and ammunition behind and agreed to leave the place under guard. The detectives had no alternative and promptly accepted the terms, some of the men saying that it was the first time that they had ever submitted to such a humiliating surrender. When an inspection of the boats was made it was found that seven of the Pinkerton men had been killed and twenty or thirty wounded, many of them so badly that they will die. As they were brought from the boat they presented a terrible appearance. Many were besmeared with blood, while all of them showed signs of exhaustion from the long confinement in close quarters between the decks.

BEATING THE PRISONERS.

While the prisoners were being escorted through the streets by the escort of guards appointed by the strikers an angry mob lined the streets on both sides. As the men passed by, each in charge of two deputies, the mill men and their friends kicked them and threw some of them down. The unfortunate detectives begged for mercy. Some of them had pistol shot wounds in their heads and three were seen that had their eyes shot out. Several were shot in the shoulders, arms and legs and could scarcely limp along. Blood was running in streams down their shirts and they fairly yelled with pain. Fully thirty injured men were taken to the town hall. One of them had his eye punched out by an umbrella in the hands of a woman. Sand were thrown into their eyes and they were struck with clubs and other missiles. Many were knocked down with clubs and trampled upon, and some were too weak to walk when they were started for the town hall. The mill men used the stocks of their rifles and struck the detectives over the head and shoulders, inflicting serious, and in some cases, perhaps, fatal injuries.

As the procession reached the Amalgamated Association building the detectives had to remove their hats and salute the flag. When they removed their hats men and women hit them with umbrellas and sticks and abused them in every way imaginable. There seemed to be a determination to kill the prisoners, and it was with the greatest difficulty that the crowd could be restrained. The men were finally lodged in the opera house, where they were to be kept for the night. Thousands, however, gathered around the building and the wounded men were kept in a constant state of terror, and it was long before their wounds could be dressed.

BURNING THE BOATS.

After the prisoners had been removed from the barges the rioters had their revenge. They carried oil into the holds, poured it over the bedding and furniture and then set it on fire, first securing the barges so that they could not float down the river and cause damage at points below. When the flames broke through the decks the cheers which rent the air were deafening, and the noise could be heard miles away. The hills on the other side of the river were literally crowded with people who could witness from this high point all that was transpiring on the battlefield and be out of range of the deadly bullets.

THE KILLED AND WOUNDED.

The list of killed and injured as near as could be ascertained at midnight Wednesday night is as follows: Killed, Martin Foy, John Morris, Jules Markeskey, Henry Streigel, Peter Heise, David Davis, Robert Foster, William Johnston, J. H. Klein, two unknown Hungarians and nine Pinkertown deputies, whose names have not been learned, as most of them were known by numbers.

Wounded—David Lester, a detective, shot in the head; Fred H. Hind, chief of detectives; Russell Wells, a detective; J. G. Housman, a detective; George W. Rutter, a Homestead steel worker, dangerously wounded; Lawrence Laughlin, a steel worker; an unknown Pole, shot in the knee, unconscious from loss of blood; John McCurry, watchman of the steamer Little Bill, shot in the groin, dangerously; Andrew Sutler; Joseph Zoldo; Wallace Michael Murray; John Kane and Andrew Scuyler.

The imprisoned Pinkertons say seven of their men were killed outright and eleven wounded. They believe several of their men were thrown off the Little Bell into the river. The number of Pinkertons now in the lockup and rink is 284.

One of the most noticeable features of the trouble so far has been that not a dollar's worth of the property of the company has been destroyed by the strikers, and no attempt has been made to do so.

RAILROADS DEFAULT.

The Central of Georgia One of the Unfortunates.

A New York dispatch says: The Memphis and Charleston defaulted on its interest Friday and the coupons were bought at par by the Gallatin bank for Adrian Iselin and others. The officers of the company say it has neither cash nor collateral with which to provide for the interest.

The Georgia Central interest was also defaulted on, and so was the interest on the Mobile and Birmingham bonds, part of the East Tennessee system.

Steps are being taken by the security holders to induce Drexel, Morgan & Co. to reconsider their decision not to undertake the reorganization of the Terminal company.

The Washington Post, referring to the affairs of the Georgia Central railroad, says: "The Georgia Central railroad, which was placed in a receiver's hands some time ago, defaulted in the interest on its tripartite bonds and the Georgia Banking company certificates of indebtedness, amounting in all to $312,000.

THE EAST TENNESSEE LINES.

Regarding East Tennessee matters, the Post remarks: "All the East Tennessee coupons were paid on presentation at the Chase National bank. Certain coupons of the Mobile and Birmingham, which is part of the East Tennessee system, were not paid and the coupons of the Memphis and Charleston bonds were also not paid, but the holders of them got the money for them on presentation at the Gallatin National bank. Mr. Tappen, president of the bank, explained that the bank was not paying the coupons, but was buying them for a third party. The person buying coupons will be entitled to 6 per cent. interest on them from July 1st, and of course they are held as a first lien on the road.

KANSAS DEMOCRATS

Seriously Considering a Fusion With the People's Party.

The question of paramount importance to the democrats of Kansas and which confronts the democratic state convention which met at Topeka, Wednesday was "Shall we fuse with the people's party?" A resolution was unanimously adopted denouncing the employment of Pinkerton detectives by capitalists as a heinous crime for the purpose of destroying organized labor, and expressing sympathy with the widows and orphans of those who fell in the riot at Homestead, in defense of what they believed to be the rights of American laborers. The platform endorses the work of the Chicago convention; declared prohibition to be a fraud and failure, and deals with many state issues. The fusion question came up on a motion to endorse the electoral ticket nominated by the people's party. The motion was debated at great length, and was finally adopted. Another motion to endorse the state ticket produced another debate.

TAILORS WALK OUT.

One Thousand of Them Dissatisfied with "Task" Work.

One thousand coat tailors in Baltimore went on a strike Thursday morning in an effort to free themselves from "task" work. Heretofore each tailor has been allotted a certain amount of work by the contractors to be done in a day. Sometimes to finish this, it is claimed, they had to work fourteen to sixteen hours. The men want to work ten hours a day with reasonable wages and weekly pay day.

Rankin, of Indiana.

Having won their suit against New York parties who offered a forty years old reprint of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary as premium for subscribers to a paper, G. & C. Merriam Co. are pushing other suits of a like nature—a Kansas concern being one of the latest. They will prosecute in every case where misleading announcements are made, and claim they are taking such action in justice alike to themselves and the public.

Dispatches from Cheyenne, Wyo., states that the forty-five stockmen and hired Texans who raided Johnson county in April were, on Wednesday, taken from Fort Russell, where they have been in charge of United States troops, and turned over to the civil authorities of Johnson county at Laramie. They immediately went before Judge Blake, of Laramie, and applied for a change of venue, asking that their cases be tried at Cheyenne. No decision was reached in the application.

A cablegram of Tuesday from St. Petersburg, Russia, states that the Caspian steamship company has been ordered to suspend its service because of the prevalence of cholera at ports on the Caspian sea, and the government has converted the company's vessels into hospitals for the reception of cholera patients. Newspapers of St. Petersburg and Moscow have been forbidden to publish news concerning cholera that is not obtained from a verified report by the government officials.

A letter from Grover Cleveland was received Monday by Norman E. Mack, chairman of the sub-committee appointed by Hon. A. L. Wilson, chairman of the committee to notify Cleveland and Stevenson of their nomination, stating that the 20th instant would be a good day. Mr. Mack will call his committee together a day or two before that date in New York for the purpose of conferring with William C. Whitney and Mayor Hugh Grant, in whose hands the matter of making arrangements for the notification has been placed.

Dispatches of Tuesday from Lima, Ohio, state that reports from last Saturday night's storm, which have been delayed by prostrated wires, show that it was cyclonic in force. The dead are: Nancy Glearings, killed near Van Wert; Mrs. John Gloam, Otterville, Ohio, and John Wilkly, Allen county. Fifty-one houses and barns were destroyed. For miles within the belt there is neither tree, fence, house, barn nor crop standing. The total list of injured is large. There are several in and towns in the path of the cyclone that have not yet been heard from.

THE PRESIDENT DISTURBED

Over the Situation at Pittsburg—General Schofield Talks.

A Washington dispatch of Wednesday says: The president has received frequent press bulletins during the day over the white house wire from Pittsburg about the riot. He feels considerable interest in the state of affairs, and it is said is seriously concerned at the grave turn which the situation has assumed.

General Schofield states that no appeal has been made to the military authorities to aid in suppressing the riots at Homestead, and he did not think it would become necessary. He said that the militia of Pennsylvania was a most efficient organization, and that it would be an easy matter to concentrate at least 8,000 thoroughly reliable and well disciplined state troops at Pittsburg or any other given point at short notice. He said that the government could not interfere in the matter unless the governor of the state should inform the president that the case was beyond the control of the state and municipal authorities.

AN IRISH STEW.

Dr. Tanner is Mobbed While Attempting to Make a Speech.

Advices from Dublin, Ireland, state that on Thursday, Dr. Tanner, protected by 100 policemen, attempted to address a political meeting at Trim. The Parnellites seized the speaker's platform before the arrival of the Tannerites. Dr. Tanner made determined efforts to get on the platform, but each time was knocked down. Finally the platform was pulled down and Tanner was caught beneath. Then a free fight, and fun waxed fast and furious. The situation became so dangerous that the police were compelled to charge the mob with drawn swords. This had the desired effect and the mob dispersed.

ENDORSED BY TAMMANY.

Earnest and Untiring Support Pledged to the Chicago Nominees.

A New York dispatch says: Tammany's committee of twenty-four met Tuesday afternoon and endorsed the platform of principles announced by the Chicago convention and pledged its earnest and untiring support to the nominees of the convention, Cleveland and Stevenson.

THE SOUTH IN BRIEF

The News of Her Progress Portrayed in Pithy and Pointed Paragraphs

AND A COMPLETE EPITOME OF HAPPENINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST FROM DAY TO DAY WITHIN HER BORDERS.

Fire broke out in Pocomoke City, Md., last after midnight Wednesday night in the business portion of the town, which destroyed thirty-eight business houses and one dwelling. The total loss is about $300,000.

The June crop report from the Alabama state department of agriculture has 198 reports from 68 counties, giving the following average as compared with last year: Corn 98½, cotton 92½ wheat 106, oats 15, Irish potatoes 94, hay 102, sugar cane 97, tobacco 103, hogs 97, beef 81, sheep 97 and horses 103.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Birmingham, Ala., says: A well authenticated story comes from Cherokee county that a prominent republican is ordering all postmasters to fall in line for Kolb on pain of dismissal. He has letters from the department at Washington, giving him credentials to that effect.

The sales of loose leaf tobacco on the Danville, Va., market for June were 4,377,420 pounds, an increase of more than one million pounds over the same month last year. For the nine months of this tobacco year the sales were 33,078,509 pounds, a decrease of half a million pounds as compared with the same time last year.

Fire broke out at 3 o'clock Friday night in the wholesale department of Goetter, Weil & Co., the largest wholesale dry goods and notions dealers in Montgomery, Ala. The four-story building was destroyed. At one time the whole block was threatened. The loss to the stock is $100,000, fully covered by insurance. The loss on the building is about twenty thousand dollars.

A New Orleans dispatch of Wednesday says: The Illinois Central road between Manchac and Kenner, two stations out on the road from here, is covered by ten to twenty inches of water, and trains are run over the overflowed portion with greatest difficulty. A Chicago train due Monday arrived Tuesday night twenty-four hours late, and other trains are running in proportionate time. The Illinois Central will be compelled to use the tracks of the Northeastern road, as even with high fire boxes they cannot run through two feet of water.

Col. James L. Sheffield, one of the most prominent politicians in Alabama died suddenly at Montgomery Saturday. He commanded a Confederate regiment during the war which he spent his entire fortune equipping, and he served with signal bravery until 1864. He was noted as one of the most effective stump speakers in the state, and in 1884 was an independent candidate for governor. He was interested in the Kolb movement in current Alabama politics, and was ranked as one of the most influential speakers on that side in the present campaign. He was seventy-three years old.

A Nashville dispatch says: On Wednesday Gov. Buchanan and the prison inspectors, representing the state, entered suit against the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company for $147,000. They are the lessees of the penitentiary and refused to pay the amount of the lease money due for the time 500 convicts were not allowed to work by the East Tennessee mines, amounting to $90,000, although they had the use of the other 1,100 convicts. They also decline to pay $12,000 expenses for the recapturing of the released convicts and $45,000 for maintaining guards and militia. Hence the suit.

Atkins' Patent Concave Tooth Dexter.

BLUE'S FAVORITE. FOR THE WOODS OF THE SOUTH IT HAS NO EQUAL.

The patent by which this saw is protected consists of a depression of the face of the cutting teeth through the center from point to base, thus removing all friction while in use, giving strength and stiffness to the teeth and increasing threefold the durability of the "set." The Congressional executive Committee of this district met at Anniston last week and fixed Calera as the place and the 25th of August as the time for holding the Democratic convention to select a nominee.

Few young men apparently appreciate the ruinous effect of tobacco on their systems. The weed is most deleterious in its effect on the system, and its moral effect is also demoralizing, being but a step toward more serious vices. It is said that six out of seven applicants for cadetships at West Point are rejected because tobacco has undermined the systems of the young men, producing heart weakness known as "Tobacco heart."

According to the Journal of Agriculture Japan is really one of the poorest farming countries, taken as a whole, to be met with anywhere. The country has 18,000,000 acres of land, a large portion of which is too mountainous to be cultivated at all. Only about two and a half million can be farmed, and yet Japan supports a population of 41,000,000 two-thirds that of the United States. This country including Alaska has over two billion of acres, and only sixty-five million of people. If we farmed as the Japanese do, we could produce enough to feed the entire world. Farms in Japan average from one to three acres, and a ten acre farm entitles its possessor to rank as a sort of Japanese "land baron." The methods of cultivation, the machinery with which it is performed and the rotation of crops have been practically unchanged for nearly two thousand years. How so many people manage to live on an area so limited is a mystery to the Western world, and yet they do live, and prosper and have a fairly easy time of it.

Whether our next Governor's name be Jones or Kolb, Smith or Brown, the great majority of us will have to continue our usual "root hog or die" business at the same old stand, and the VIEW is unable to fathom the great expectations of Mr. Kolb's followers. The plea of fighting for principles is not strong when it is considered that not one of the three Alliance Governor's, Northern, Buchannan or Tillman, have devoted themselves to carrying into effect any principle or purpose of the order, nor have they been able to accomplish anything of material advantage to the laboring classes. Here is what Capt. Jos. F. Johnston says on the subject:

If you can't point out some one good thing that is to be accomplished for the good of the people by revolt or revolution it is without excuse or justification, and certainly the mere election of a man to office is not a good excuse. Is the Democratic party, the representative of white supremacy, to be divided into factions, its harmony destroyed and its usefulness paralyzed to avenge the real or imaginary wrongs of an individual?

We sympathize sincerely with the apparently desperate condition of the farming class, and the most sincere sympathy for that class exists with the Democratic party as a whole. The party has done much good that it gets no credit for from its enemies, and it is still doing much for you and for the country. Look back upon its record, and you cannot fail to discover where you as an individual citizen have been benefitted by its wise and wholesome administration of affairs. And while sympathizing with the unfortunate at home, race pride, and social and family instincts, should impel you to bear in mind that a barbarous horde of ignorance, superstition and brutality thrives not many miles to the south that could and would swarm over this entire State with rapine and pillage, should division and strife among the whites result in affording the opportunity. Our strongest sympathies should therefore be with the brave men of the black belt who stand by the Democratic party and a white man's government. The talk of conceding the vote of the black belt even before it is counted, is the talk of men who are enemies of the white race, and is on a par with the ravings of the barbarian and the savage.

THOS. G. JONES.

He Shows the Intrigue as Well as Sophistry of Kolb's Recent Communication to Him.

His Reliance in The People.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., July 2, '92.

Capt. B. F. Kolb, Montgomery, Ala.

SIR: Your last letter, addressed to me here and published before I could receive it or reply to it, while professedly a criticism of me, is in reality an assault upon the good people of Alabama. I avail myself of the earliest opportunity on my return from Tuskaloosa to reply to it.

The Governor's rights, duties and privileges regarding the execution of the laws by the other officers are prescribed by the Constitution and laws and he can have none other. These rights and duties are one and the same in whatever capacity he professes to act. Whatever he ought to do in that behalf as a citizen it is his duty to do as Governor. He cannot enlarge his rights or escape responsibility as an official by professing to speak or act only as a private citizen. No man can maintain that the Governor as a candidate or citizen, may rightly judge upon an officer a course of conduct in the execution of laws which it would be improper for the Governor to insist upon officially. No law-abiding man will contend that it would not be illegal for the governor to urge other officers to abandon duties and discretion which the law commits solely to them, and forbids them to trust to others. When you asked me to join you in requesting election boards, in effect, to allow our respective partisans to elect inspectors, you asked me to urge that which the law forbade them to do.

In addition to this, compliance with your request, in view of the tone and statements of the "open letter," involved not only approval of your assumptions of the unfaithfulness of those officers, but intermeddling with the exclusive functions of the other departments of the Government, a course from which fidelity to the constitution, which enforces the seperation and independence of the departments, compels me to refrain, whether acting officially or unofficially.

It seems strange in view of all this, how it escaped you that official significance would invariably be attached to my act, if I joined in your "open letter." If, as you would seem impliedly to admit from your last letter, it would be improper for me sign your "open letter" officially, it would seem equally improper for me to join in it as a candidate.

Those who read the statements in your last letter must be impressed with the belief that the people of Alabama have lost their civilization and are now bordering upon a state of savagerey which threatens to destroy our hopes and institutions by indulging in anarchy and civil war over a State election. Already like utterances have taken the bread out of the mouth of labor, whose fields of employment have been closed or narrowed thereby; increased the distress of poor debtors by causing home capital to hoard and foreign loans to withdraw; crushed progress and development by inspiring fears as to the maintenance of good will and reign of law, and turned away many from our borders whom we would gladly welcome to our citizenship.

Declarations which tend to such harmful results, no matter what the source whence they emanate, are to be deplored, and their evil tendencies are greatly increased when they find support in the utterances of a candidate for high office. I cannot, therefore, pass without comment and protest, many of the statements in your letter.

That there have been some foolish vaporings on both sides is not denied. They are inevitable incidents of long and heated campaigns. I cannot learn, however, of any very numerous threats by anybody to do any of the things you specify. You made the broad statement that my "friends and supporters have publicly boasted that they would win success in the August election by false counts and frauds." If you had said that some of my friends, and some of your friends, here and there, had made some such declarations, I could understand it, and it would perhaps be the truth, for there are always hot headed and passionate men who make such declarations, most generally without any purpose to carry them into effect; but the general charge you make is wholly untrue. On what theory do you impute the dishonor to one side in this contest and all the honor to the other?

It is true that I have heard a few threats "that shotguns would be carried to the polls to have a fair count or bleed." These declarations invariably came from supporters of yours, not mine, who sought thereby to ingratiate themselves with negro voters, and thus to prove their devotion to "white supremacy." I confess these threats have not greatly disturbed me; for the bravado behind them is aware they involve flagrant violation of our laws, which the civil authorities have both the will and power to prevent.

These isolated threats here and there, are, however, no index to the sober judgment of the masses of our people. They are not organizing bands for mutual massacre around the polls; they are not thirsting for each other's blood; they have no purpose to overthrow the popular will by violence, fraud, intimidation, or any kind of law, as your letter would lead the world to believe. The people who rule Alabama, are of the same race and blood, speak the same language and worship the same God, and are proud inheritors of joint memories, hopes and destiny. Their manhood and womanhood, their wisdom and patriotism, will surely see that all their differences are settled in a manner becoming the dignity and civilization of free men rather than by methods which would disgrace the savage.

In view of your statement that I have made myself "responsible for all the troubles which may occur," because I refuse to join you in improper interference with election officers, truth compels me to reply that whatever of "wide-spread anxiety and general solicitude" exists in Alabama, are due almost wholly to your action and methods in this campaign. You really commenced your canvass nearly two years ago, and since then have constantly repeated the charge that the highest representative body in the party had swindled you, after you had solemnly congratulated it upon its action, promised to espouse the cause of its nominee and professed to have stumped the state in its behalf. Since then, base charges against the honor of the people have been your constant answer to political defeat—alike when the political machinery was in your hands, as when it was against you and whether delegates were selected by conventions or elected by a direct vote of the people; and whenever the testimony of your friends has been cited to disprove your assertions, the only further answer vouchsafed has been that to fraud they have added treachery. The people of your home county, for no other offense than a refusal to endorse your aspirations, have been paraded by you upon the stump as enemies of honest elections and highway men of ballots, that you might inflame local prejudices against them among their own race in other sections, over a basis of representation which you favored until the people ceased to favor you.

You arraigned me on the stump for pardoning, at the request of the chief officer of the county, a decrepid old negro charged with misdemeanor, and condemned me for affording negros the protection the law commands me to give against lawless violence, in order to incite the prejudice of my own race against me. And now you stand upon a platform, one of whose planks, however correct in principle, can have no purpose or motive in this campaign except to inculcate the belief in the minds of the black race that this and the other democratic administration have not afforded them protection under the law, in order to incite their race prejudice against me and those who support me.

These are some of your teachings, to say nothing of those of your followers, which have had the inevitable effect of producing disquietude and anxiety; which are heightened rather than removed by the declaration in your letter that "dangers that threaten, which will be brought into exercise," because I would not join you in an interference with election officers and causeless admonition to the people to be honest and peaceful.

If the public mind has reached the condition you assert, and all that patriotic men hold dear will not refrain them from deeds of violence written remonstrances from you and me would be entirely futile. It is worse than puerile to hope to still such passions by "open letters" from candidates. I have not appealed to prejudice or passion, or slurred at the honor of the men who opposed me, and can say to my country men, with a clear conscience, that by no word or deed of mine in this long campaign have I contributed to the state of feeling, the responsibility for which you now seek, upon the most transparent pretext, to transfer from your shoulders to mine.

A desire for the maintenance of the law and purity of elections is better proved by a man's record and practices than by elaborate professions on the eve of elections in which he is a candidate. If my past record and the manner in which I have discharged the duty to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed" do not convince the people that I desire a fair and peaceful election, no "open letters" or verbal professions on my part would reassure or influence them. If declarations to that effect were called for, and important, as you suggest, the answer in my letter to you was earnest, plain and direct. My words were too plain for any to affect to misunderstand them, and pledged not only my personal, but official influence, in favor of fairness, peace and law.

It has never been my misfortune to be disbelieved by my countrymen, and I am not concerned lest they be led to doubt my sincerity by false logic, which pretends to find unwillingness to "accord my influence to an earnest effort to enforce a fair and honest election," in my refusal to sanction a publication on which would have been an improper interference with a co-ordinate branch of the Government, and interpreted, alike by friend and opponent, as an impugnment of their honor and an official invitation to them to violate the law.

THOMAS G. JONES.

The Kolb people of Chilton who seem to believe sincerely that Kolb will be their next Governor should not forget that few counties in the State are so completely overrun with this Kolb sentiment as is Chilton. Yet it is generally believed that if Kolb is defeated by 50,000 majority, he will sub up with some sort of contest and the Republican party stands ready to help with men and money in such a contest. The visit of P. G. Bowman, chairman of the Kolb executive committee, to Washington, is taken to mean that preparations are now going on at Republican headquarters in anticipation of just such a termination of the campaign in Alabama. The Republicans are seeking evidence upon which to push the force bill through Congress next winter, and they are counting on the coming election in this State to furnish that evidence.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

STATE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

1. That the assumption and exercise by the Federal Government of other powers than those specifically granted in the Constitution is usurpation and oppression; that a strict construction of the powers of the Federal Government is essential to the protection of the people in the several States in their domestic affairs, of life, liberty and property, and the preservation of our republican system of government.

2. That in the administration of the Federal Government the reserved rights of the States must not be impaired; and that Force Bills by Congres to regulate elections of members of Congress or electors for President or Vice-President will be destructive of the rights and liberties of the people of the several States and of the harmony which should always subsist between the people and their servants; and we, therefore, denounce as unconstitutional and revolutionary the recent attempt of the Republican party to pass what is known as the Force Bill.

3. We declare as a fundamental principle of Democratic faith that no more revenue shall be raised by the Federal Government than is necessary for the payment of the national debt and for the support of the Government, honestly and economically administered and that in laying duties on imports, any discrimination in favor of one interest, or business or of one section of the union to the detriment of others, finds no support in the Constitution and none from a just regard of the rights of the people. That equal justice to all and special privileges to none is the bed rock principle of the Democratic party—the party of the people. We are, therefore, opposed to all manner of bounties, subsidies and paternalism in the government, and we demand that the McKinley bill be repealed, and that the tariff be so reduced in rate, and so reformed as to subjects, that necessaries and such articles as the masses consume shall be as lightly taxed as possible.

4. That the Democratic party of Alabama expresses its condemnation of the Republican party for their administration of the finances of the country, under which the demand of the people for a sufficient circulation medium has been ignored, and silver has been driven from its time-honored and rightful place and useless under the constitution of the United States, where it was maintained so long as our party had control of the national legislation. And we demand that such laws be enacted as will secure the issue of safe, sound and elastic currency sufficient to meet all the demands of the people. And we demand the repeal of the Federal taxation on the circulation of the State banks.

5. We demand that Congress repeal all laws authorizing national banks to issue notes to circulate as money based upon the credit of the government.

6. We demand that all money appropriated by the Federal Government for the payment of pensions shall be raised by a graduil income tax.

7. We are opposed to the ownership of railroad and telegraph lines by the Federal Government, and to the multiplication of offices, but we favor the control and regulation of lines of transportation and communication so that only a fair and reasonable rate shall be exacted of the people.

8. That public office is a public trust to be administered for the good of the whole people, and not spoils to be distributed as rewards to unscrupulous partisan favorites.

9. We indorse the administration of Grover Cleveland and recognise in him one of the ablest living exponents of the true principles of the Democratic party.

10. We demand that free labor shall be relieved of competition with convicts and all necessary law shall be enacted to forever prevent such competition.

11. We favor legislation that will vide a more efficient system of public schools.

12. We favor such further legislation as will better regulate corporations chartered by the State.

13. We favor the passage of such election laws as will better secure the government of the State in the hands of the intelligent and the virtuous, and that will enable every elector to cast his ballot secretly and without fear or constraint.

14. We favor the election of Railroad Commissioners by the people.

15. We indorse the wise and able administration of Thomas G. Jones, who has followed in the footsteps of his Democratic predecessors in redeeming every pledge made to the people to give them an honest, economical and just administration of the affairs of the State.

THE PARTY LAW.

Resolved, That it is the duty of the the State Executive Committee to preserve the integrity of the party organization, and to this end they shall have power and authority,

1. To prescribe the qualification of voters at the primaries of the party.

2. To prescribe such rules in respect to the primaries as will insure a fair and free expression of the will of every Democrat, and give to each one his due and proper influence in the selection of delegates and candidates.

3. To consider, and if they deem wise to petition the Legislature to pass laws regulating the primaries of the party, and punishing any fraud or wrongful conduct therein.

4. To provide so that the primaries for the selection of delegates to State and Congressional Conventions shall be held in every precinct on the same day

5. That wherever any nominee of a regular Democratic Convention in this State shall refuse or fail to support the nominees of this Convention, all Democrats are absolved from supporting him, and that the Executive Committees of the several counties of this State in accord with this convention, be and are hereby authorised to take such steps as may be necessary to nominate others in lieu of those thus refusing. If a Committeeman refuses to support the nominee of the party, then, the Democrats of such county may reorganize, upon the advice of the State Executive Committee, after an application in writing signed by not less than twenty Democrats of such county. The State Executive Committee shall provide the mode and manner of effecting the reorganization; that whoever refuses to support the nominees of this Convention is not a loyal member of the Democratic party, and is not eligible to the nomination for any office at the hands of the party nor to membership in any committe of the party.

6. To settle and determine the prima facie right of delegates claiming seats in the State Convention.

7. Whenever any contest as to any nomination shall arise after the adjournment of the nominating convention or after the result of any primary has been declared, the committee of the party in the territory affected, or if there be no such, the State Executive Committee shall have authority to settle such contest, and to declare who is the regular nominee.

REVOLO.

Story of an Editor.

An editor died and slowly wended his way to hell. The devil saw him and said, "For many years thou hast borne thy blame for the many errors thy printers made in thy paper. Thy paper has failed, alas! subscriptions were never paid. Thy printers have devilled thee on Saturday eve for wages when thou hadst not a red to thy name. Men have taken thy paper without paying a cent, yea, verily cursed thee for not printing a better one. All these things hast thou borne in silence. Thou canst not come in. There will be a continual dunning of delinquent subscribers (for hell is full of them) and discord will be created in our kingdom. Begone! Heaven is thy home."—Exchange.

The hired girl question is one of the serious trials of housekeeping. Experiences without number might be mentioned, but that of a well known professional gentleman exceeds anything recounted in fiction. In one year he employed thirty-six different domestics, and the short time record was three different girls in one day, the longest period without a change, nine weeks. It took his wife some time to learn that the servant is "the lady of the house" and entitled to due homage as such. The girls held levees in the kitchen, in which sealskin sacques and silks predominated. Meanwhile Annie the 1st, Mary the 2d, and Bridget the 3d, continued to rule the house. One of the girls was given to absent-mindedness, and during an attack of that nature she packed away a beaded sacque and a parasol belonging to her mistress, and decamped with her belongings. She was brought back by a policeman. The professional man and his family can now be found at a boarding house.—Ex.

Political Catechism.

Who was it that for 15,000,000, purchased from France every acre of land north of old Mexico, from the Missippi river to the Pacific ocean?

Answer.—It was President Thos. Jefferson and the Democratic party.

Who purchased Florida from Spain?

Answer.—President Monroe and the Democratic party,

Who, by conquest and purchase acquired from old Mexico, California, Arizona and New Mexico?

Who gave away to railroad corporations the best portion of those lands, in all enough to make eight states as big as Ohio?

Answer.—A Republican Congress and three Republican Presidents.

Who allowed the ranchmen to enclose by wire fences many million acres of public land in the new States and Territories?

Answer.— Former Republican administrations. It was done under the eyes of Republican surveyors, receivers in all the land district, whereby many Republican land office holders in the new States and Territories were suddenly made rich.

Who informed on the ranchers and compelled them to remove their wire fences from the public lands?

Answer.—President Cleveland's Democratic surveyors gave the information, and the President compelled the ranchmen to move their fences.

Are the railroad land grants open to settlers?

Answer.—Yes, if the settler has money to pay from $5 to $20 an an acre for them.

Can soldiers lay their claims on any of those lands and hold them?

Answer.—No, not unless they pay the regular price for them

How much of these railroad lands has President Cleveland recovered under the law passed by the last Democratic Congress?

Answer.—Over 21,000,000 acres as shown by the official statement of the Commissioner of the general land office.

Is that land opened to settlement under the homestead laws?

Answer.—IT IS.—Ex.

A People's Party Candidate.

The people's party Senatorial convention met at Calera Saturday, the 2nd inst., and nominated A. T. Goodwyn, of Elmore, as its candidate for Senator in this district. The Columbiana Advocate contains only the following brief mention of the Convention proceedings:

The senatorial convention of the 15th district met at Calera last Saturday, each county presenting a man. Shelby put in nomination G. M. Lowery, Elmore, Hon. A. T. Goodwyn, and Chilton, L. H. Reynolds. After several ballots, Mr. Lowery's name was withdrawn and Hon. A. T. Goodwyn was nominated, the vote standing, Goodwyn, 9; Reynolds, 8. Mr. Goodwyn is one of the best men in the district, stands square on the people's platform, and will make an able and faithful senator.

Mr. Goodwyn attended the convention held in Clanton on April 12th, and made very earnest professions of Democracy. Having come to the conclusion that he was not a Democrat, the next step very naturally caused him to join some other party.

IT WILL DEFEAT HARRISON.

The Homestead Riot Insures the Election of Cleveland and Stevenson.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Of course the possible political bearing of the Homestead riot has not escaped attention here. The prevailing opinion among both Democrats and Republicans is that it will cost Harrison thousands of votes. There is even talk of carrying Pennsylvania for Cleveland as a result of the stirring up of the inboring element sure to follow in the wake of this outbreak. It is already pointed out Gov. Pattison and his shrewd advisers, Messrs. Henzel and Harrity, are moving with great caution so far as the use of state troops are concerned. While leading Democrats at Washington greatly deplore the loss of life at Carnegie's works they welcome the vivid object lesson in the working of the Republican tariff which the affair affords, and say there should hereafter be no doubt whatever of the election of Cleveland.

The People of Eastern Peru.

Eastern Peru, though changing its political title at various periods, has been called the Montana, or wooded country, since the first colony was planted there 356 years ago. The experiences of the early settlers were an endless succession of romantic adventures. Towns were built and destroyed many times, and there is scarcely a single site which has not been bathed with the blood of white and Indian through centuries of conflict. Spanish and Peruvian possession of this territory has consequently been more nominal than real until within the last twenty years, during which time several of the old mission stations have flourished forth into cities of from 2,000 to 6,000 inhabitants under the commercial stimulus given by the opening of the Amazon to the flags of all nations in 1866.

Accordingly the majority of the pure whites now living in the Montana are either Peruvians originally from the west coast, or Germans, French and English, with two or three Americans, who have been allured into this remote corner of the globe by the prospect of speedily amassing a fortune in the rubber trade. These new comers are often noble examples of manhood, full of that courage and determination which are needful in establishing government and commercial prosperity in the midst of a somnolent and sometimes treacherous native population. Women of apparently equal rank are, however, conspicuously absent.—Courtenay DeKalb in Harper's.

WEAVER AND FIELD

NOMINATED BY THE THIRD PARTY CONVENTION

For President and Vice-President of the United States.

Proceedings of People's Party Convention at Omaha.

The national convention of the peoples' party was convened in Omaha, Nebraska, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, July 2d. Long before the hour of gathering the vast convention hall was crowded with visitors. The scenes presented characteristics of the great national convention. There was one significant difference between the gathering of the national conclaves of the democratic and republican parties held a few days ago. In this convention the politician was conspicuously absent. Tactics and subterfuge gave place to open declarations and all that there was of politics, and this convention was on the surface and plainly manifested in every demonstration.

There was a slight lull as Chairman Taubeneck, of the national committee, announced that the first national convention of the people's party was now convened in regular session. There was a burst of applause. After prayer Mayor Barnes welcomed the convention to Omaha, to which Mr. Terrell, of Texas, responded. Chairman Taubeneck then announced the list of temporary officers selected by the national committee and these officers were elected by acclamation. C. H. Ellington, of Georgia, was introduced as temporary chairman. On taking the chair he thanked the convention for the honor. He paid a fitting tribute to the late Col. Polk. His reference to the deceased president of the great farmers' organization was received with cheers, and when a picture of President Polk was handed to him by Chairman Wilson, of the North Carolina delegation, and hoisted into view, the vast convention with one accord, arose and the scene was one of befitting reverence to the memory of their great leader. At the conclusion of the chairman's speech Mrs Todd, of Michigan, stepped to the front of the platform to present Chairman Ellington with a gavel to which, she explained in words of fervor, a history was attached. The gavel was carved she said, by the wife of Ben Terrell. It was carved from a tree planted by Washington at Mt. Vernon, an announcement which was received with enthusiastic cheers. Chairman Ellington appropriately replied. After the preliminary exercises, the convention adjourned until 3 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the opening of the afternoon session messages of congratulation were read from various party leaders. The committees were slow in reporting, but time did not hang heavy, because may orators kept enthusiasm at a high pitch. A resolution was adopted to the effect that when the convention at the close of the afternoon session adjourned, it to be meet again at 8:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon to participate in a memorial service for the late Colonel L. L. Polk, of North Carolina, and the late Rev. Gilbert Delamater, of Cincinnati, and that the doors be thrown open to the general public. The members of the committee on resolutions were finally announced with Branch, of Georgia, chairman. The committee on credentials presented its report, showing that there were no contests, and that there were 1,366 delegates present. The report was adopted amid applause, and the sitting delegates declared entitled to their seats. More waiting and more speaking followed. Finally a motion was adopted that when the convention adjourned it would be till 8 o'clock Monday morning. At half past 6 o'clock the convention adjourned with a whoop till 8 o'clock Monday morning.

A reunion of the blue and the gray took place Saturday night.

MONDAY'S SESSION.

At 8 o'clock, the early hour set for the opening of the convention, the delegations were scattered around among the seats within the rail enclosure, and as many spectators were in the audience seats. Temporary Chairman Ellington, however, pursued the directions to the letter, and sharply on the minute called the convention to order. After prayer, owing to much confusion in the hall, a motion was carried that each state appoint a sergeant-at-arms to keep quiet in its own state. After a brief delay the chairman of the credentials committee reported that the committee had found no contests. The committee on permanent organization then made its report as follows: "Your committee on permanent organization beg leave to submit the following report: For permanent chairman, H. L. Loucks, of South Dakota [prolonged applause]; for permanent secretary, J. W. Haynes, of New Jersey [applause]; for assistant secretaries, S. S. King, of Kansas; George Wilson, of Michigan; G. W. Denmark, of South Carolina, and D. W. Monroe." Following this was a long list of vice presidents, each state being represented in the distribution of this honor. The report was unanimously adopted amid applause, and Temporary Chairman Ellington at once introduced his successor. It was a picturesque spectacle when Permanent Chairman Loucks, standing firmly on his one leg, and swinging a crutch at arm's length, waived the great assemblage to order. Chairman Loucks's speech, as it progressed was a surprise and a disagreeable one perhaps to a majority of the convention, but its impetuosity and fire, if not its hit for and against the candidates, elicited cheers at every few words. The new gavel, announced as coming by permission of the owner from timber on the first homestead entry in the United States, was at this moment presented to the chairman. He rapped it vigorously on the desk amid laughter caused by the declaration that this gavel, unlike the one used at the recent republican national convention, had not been stolen and that an independent party did not require to steal either its thunder or its noise.

The time waiting for reports from the committee was again filled in with speeches. The committee on rules made their report. Vociferous signs of disapproval greeted the reading of the paragraph governing the proposed new system of balloting. The paragraph was as follows:

Each state delegation shall appoint its own tellers and collectors and count its own ballots, and its chairman shall announce the result to the convention. In case no nominee shall receive a majority on the first ballot, a second shall be in order, taken wherein each delegate must write on his ballot the name of his first choice and his second choice, placing the names in the order of his choice. First choice, first, second choice, second, the first choice being counted as one vote and the second choice as half a vote. The two receiving the largest number of votes shall be voted on a third ballot, the votes for other persons not being counted.

It was moved that the report of the committee be received, and its recommendations be adopted, but so much objection was raised to the above paragraph that it was finally amended, by an overwhelming majority, so as to make the rules for balloting in accordance with customary rules in national conventions on this matter.

A recess of twenty minutes was then taken to witness the fourth of July parade. There was some protest from delegates who wished to rush business, but the motion for a recess was carried, when it was stated that courtesy due the citizens of Omaha required it. There was a good deal of disorder in the re-assembling of the convention after the parade intermission, and the twenty minutes recess proved nearly an hour long. The convention finally got to work, and the roll of states was called for.

A storm was precipitated by Chairman Branch, of the resolutions committee, offering a resolution calling attention to the fact that "probably through some oversight the ticket agents on the line of the Union Pacific railway did not receive instructions to allow delegates to the convention the usual reduction in fares, and appointing a committee of three to communicate with the railway officials to have the mistake rectified." A delegate moved that the Northern Pacific and Great Northern roads be included in the resolution. Instantly Marion Cannon, of California, rose to protest against the resolution as exhibiting a want of independent spirit in the convention. His vehement denunciation of the roads brought the audience to its feet several times, and led to the liveliest scene of the day. In the course of his speech he swung his hat the air and declared in tones that rang from end to end of the hall that "We can tell those railroad companies that the people will own and operate those roads yet." The enthusiasm and passion of the speaker extended to the audience. Every member rose and cheers rent the air, handkerchiefs were waved and it was several moments before the speaker could conclude. A motion was made that the resolution be brought before the interstate commission to see whether the law permitted the railroads to discriminate in favor of one national political convention against another. The motion to make complaint to the commission was carried.

As the committee on resolutions was still at work with the platform, and on the statement that it would be two hours before it would report, a recess was taken until 2 o'clock p. m.

MONDAY AFTERNOON'S SESSION.

Some lively songs and music greeted the delegates as they re-assembled for the afternoon session. These songs served the double purpose of keeping the audience in a good humor and in the semblance of order. It was 3 o'clock when Chairman Loucks called the convention to order, but it was after 3 o'clock p. m. before all the delegates and visitors had secured seats and the raps of the chairman had resulted in even the beginning of business.

A motion was carried that the resolution committee report such parts of the platform as were ready, and that these be considered while other parts of the platform were being prepared. The motion was carried, but the committee reported that it was not prepared just yet to make a partial report. Then an effort was made to proceed at once to nominations, and another to adopt the St. Louis platform without further delay. These movements becoming known to the resolutions committee, they soon filed upon the stage with a platform hastily concluded, and it was read as follows:

THE PLATFORM.

Assembled upon the 116 h anniversary of the declaration of independence, the people's party of America, in their first national convention, invoking upon their action the blessing of the Almighty God, puts forth, in the name and on behalf of the people of this country, the following preamble and declaration of principles:

The conditions which surround us best justify our co-operation; we meet in the midst of a nation brought to the verge of moral, political and material ruin. Corruption dominates the ballot box, legislatures, congress, and touches even the ermine of the bench.

The people are demoralized; most of the states have been compelled to isolate voters at polling places to prevent universal intimidation or bribery. Newspapers are largely subsidized or muzzled; public opinion silenced; business prostrated; our homes covered with mortgages; labor impoverished; and the land concentrating in the hands of capitalists. The urban workmen are denied the right of organization for self-protection; imported pauperized labor beats down their wages; a hireling standing army, unrecognized by our laws, is established to shoot them down, and they are rapidly degenerating into European conditions. The fruits of the toil of millions are boldly stolen to build up colossal fortunes for a few, unprecedented in the history of mankind; and the possessors of these in turn despise the republic and endanger liberty. From the same prolific womb of governmental injustice, we breed two great classes—tramps and millionaires. National power to create money is appropriated to enrich bondholders; a vast public debt payable in legal tender currency has been funded into gold bearing bonds, thereby adding millions to the burdens of the people. Silver, which has been accepted as coin since the dawn of history, has been demonetized to add to the purchasing power of gold by decreasing the value of all forms of property as well as human labor, and the supply of currency is purposely abridged to fatten usurers, bankrupt enterprise and enslave industry. A vast conspiracy against mankind has been organized on the two continents and it is rapidly taking possession of the world. If not met and overthrown at once it forebodes terrible social convulsions, the destruction of civilization or the establishment of an absolute despotism.

We have witnessed for more than a quarter of a century the struggles of two great political parties for power and plunder, while grievous wrongs have been inflicted upon the suffering people. We charge that the controlling influence dominating both these parties has permitted the existing dreadful conditions to develop without serious effort to prevent or restrain them. Neither do they now promise us any substantial reform. They have agreed together to ignore in the coming campaign every issue but one. They propose to drown out the cries of the plundered people with the uproar of a sham battle over the tariff, so that capitalists, corporations, national banks, rings, trusts, watered stock, demonetization of silver and the oppression of the usurers may all be lost sight of. They propose to sacrifice our homes, lives and children on the alter of mammon; to destroy the multitude in order to secure corruption funds from millionaires.

Assembled on the anniversary of the birthday of the nation and filled with the spirit of the grand general-in-chief who established our independence, we seek to restore the government of the republic to the hands of "the plain people," with whose class it originated.

We assert our purposes to be identical with the purposes of the national constitution—to form a more perfect union and establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty for ourselves and our posterity. We declare that this republic can only endure as a free government while built upon the love of the whole people for each other, and for the nation; that it cannot be pinned together by bayonets; that the civil war is over and that every passion and resentment which grew out of it must die with it, and that we must be in fact, as we are in name, one united brotherhood.

Our country finds itself confronted by conditions for which there are no precedents in the history of the world. Our annual agricultural productions amount to billions of dollars in value, which must, within a few weeks or months, be exchanged for billions of dollars of the commodities consumed in their production.

The currency supply is wholly inadequate to make the exchange. The results are falling prices; formations of combines and rings; and the impoverishment of the producing class.

We pledge ourselves that if given power we will labor to correct these evils by wise and reasonable legislation in accordance with the terms of our platform. We believe that the powers of government—in other words of the people, should be expanded, as in the case of the postal service, as rapidly and as far as the good sense of an intelligent people and the teachings of experience shall justify, to the end that oppression, injustice and poverty shall eventually cease in the land. While our sympathies, as a party of reform, are naturally upon the side of every proposition which will tend to make men intelligent, virtuous and temperate, we nevertheless regard these questions, important as they are, as secondary to the great issues now pressing for solution and upon which not only our individual property but the very existence of free institutions depend, and we ask all men to first help us to determine whether we are to have a republic to administer, before we differ as to the conditions upon which it is to be administered, believing that the forces of reform this day organized will never cease to move forward until every wrong is righted and equal rights and equal privileges securely established for all the men and women of this country.

We declare, therefore:

1. That the union of the labor forces of the United States this day consummated shall be permanent and perpetual. May its spirit enter into all hearts for the salvation of the republic and the uplifting of mankind.

2. Wealth belongs to him who creates it, and every dollar taken from industry without an equivalent is robbery. "If any will not work, neither shall he eat." The interests of rural and civic labor are the same; their enemies are identical.

3. We believe that the time has come when railroad corporations will either own the people or the people must own the railroads; and should the government enter upon the work of owning and managing all railroads, we should favor an amendment to the constitution by which all persons engaged in the government service shall be placed under a civil service regulation of the most rigid character, so as to prevent an increase of the power of the national administration by the use of such additional government employes.

We demand a national currency, safe, sound and flexible, issued by the general government only; a full legal tender for all debts, public and private, and that without the use of banking corporations; a just, equitable and efficient means of distribution direct to the people at a tax not to exceed 2 per cent per annum to be provided as set forth in the sub-treasury plan of the Farmers' Alliance, or a better system; also by payment in discharge of its obligations for public improvement.

(a.) We demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ration of 16 to 1.

(b.) We demand that the amount of circulating medium be speedily increased to not less than $50 per capita.

(c.) We demand a graduated income tax.

(d.) We believe that the money of the country should be kept as much as possible in the hands of the people, and hence we demand that all state and national revenues shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the government, economically and honestly administered.

(e.) We demand that postal savings banks be established by the government for the safe deposit of the earnings of the people and to facilitate exchange.

Transportation being a means of exchange and a public necessity, the government should own and operate railroads in the interest of the people.

(a.) The telegraph, telephone, like the post-office system, being a necessity for the transmission of news, should be owned and operated by the government in the interest of the people.

Land, including all natural sources of wealth, is the heritage of the people and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes, and alien ownership of land should be prohibited. All land now held by the railroads and other corporations, in excess of their actual needs, and all lands now owned by aliens should be reclaimed by the government and held for actual settlers only.

Mr. Branch, of Georgia, read the platform proposed. The strong sentences, picturing graphically the ruin of the country unless there was reform, were well received and met approbation, but when the sentences relating to the government ownership of transportation in the people's interest was reached there was a demonstration which interrupted progress. The reading of nearly every plank of the platform proper met with some applause. The free silver plank was enthusiastically greeted with cheers and the waving of hats, and the government ownership of railroads plank again got tumultuous greeting, in which it was noticeable that Nebraska, Georgia, Kansas and Texas led. The applause and cries of "amen" from all parts of the house was the reception accorded the paragraph favoring government control of telephons and telegraph lines.

A regular hallelujah chorus greeted the land plank. The conclusion of the reading of the platform was warmly greeted. Its adoption was instantly moved, it was put through by unanimous consent, the whole convention rising in advance of the chair and adopting the platform almost before he could put the motion for its adoption.

NIGHT SESSION.

By unanimous consent the rules were suspended and a motion to adjourn till 8 o'clock p. m. prevailed. Delegates were prompt in arriving for the night session and they were all nervous and expectant owing to a lack of positive and final information as to the possibility of an acceptance of the nomination of Judge Gresham. The audience was a large one. The first actual business was the reading, by Chairman Branch, of the resolutions committee of a supplement to the platform as follows:

"Whereas, Other questions have been presented for our consideration, we hereby submit the following, not as a part of the platform of the people's party, but as resolutions expressive of the sentiment of this convention:

"That we demand a free ballot and a fair count in all elections and pledge ourselves to secure it to every legal voter without federal intervention through the adoption by the states of the unperverted Australian secret ballot system.

"2. That the revenue derived from the graduated income tax should be applied to the reduction of the burden of taxation now levied upon the domestic industries of this country.

"3. That we pledge our support to fair and liberal pensions to ex-union soldiers and sailors.

"4. That we condemn the fallacy of protecting American labor under the present system which opens our ports to the pauper and criminal classes of the world and crowds out our wage earners, and we denounce the present ineffective laws against contract labor and demand further the restriction of undesirable immigration.

"5. That we cordially sympathize with the effort of organized workingmen to shorten the hours of labor and demand a rigid enforcement of the existing eight hour law on the government work and ask that a penalty clause be added to said law.

"6. That we regard the maintenance of a large standing army of mercenaries, known as the Pinkerton system, as a menace to our liberty and we demand its abolition and we condemn the recent invasion of the territory of Wyoming by the hired assassins of plutocracy, assisted by federal officers.

"7. That we commend to the thoughtful consideration of the people and reform press the legislative system known as initiative and referendum.

"8. We favor a constitutional provision limiting the office of president and vice president to one term, and providing for the election of the senators by the direct vote of the people.

"9. That we oppose any subsidy or national aid to any private corporation for any purpose."

The immigration plank and anti-Pinkerton plank were loudly cheered. When the first paragraph—that alluding to the force bill and Australian ballot—was read, a delegate moved to lay it on the table, nearly the whole convention voting nay. The immigration plank and anti-Pinkerton plank were applauded loudly. Mr. Branch introduced Hugh Gravenaugh, of Ohio, who read the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted by the committee:

"Resolved, That this convention sympathizes with the Knights of Labor, with their right one contest with the tyrannical combine of clothing manufacturers of Rochester, and declares it to be the duty of all who hate tyranny and oppression to refuse to purchase goods made by said manufacturers or to patronize any branch who sells such goods."

Mr. Perth, of Texas, moved to table the resolution, and Mr. Dean, of New York, to divide it. The first part, expressing sympathy, he wanted to vote for, but not for the boycott. "Cyclone" Davis, of Texas, was for the boycott. Ignatius Donnelly declared that the resolution was in keeping with the spirit of the principles of the platform adopted with so much unanimity earlier in the day. A Kansas delegate moved the previous question, and on a rising vote the motion to strike out the boycott was overwhelmingly defeated. The resolution was then adopted by acclamation.

WEAVER NOMINATED.

Then came the roll of states for the presentation of candidates for president. The first state—Alabama—was scarcely shouted by the secretary when J. H. Manning arose and placed in nomination General James B. Weaver, of Iowa, amid prolonged applause. An enthusiastic delegate from California said his state was divided on the presidency, but that he would vote for Weaver. The place of Colorado was yielded to S. E. Northen, of Illinois, who placed Senator Kyle, of South Dakota, in nomination. A Connecticut delegate said he would present one who came from the state which gave us Washington and Jefferson—General Field, of Virginia. Stephen H. Belchelor, of Illinois, pastor of the Progressive church, said that the People's party was founded on principle, not men, and it demanded as leaders the biggest, brainiest and squarest men in the party fold. That was Senator VanWyck, of Nebraska. [Cheers.]

The principal speech for Weaver was made by Morris L. Wheat, of Iowa. Mrs. Lease, of Kansas seconded Weaver's nomination. Delegate Brown, of Massachusetts, nominated Mann Page, of Virginia. At this juncture, Indiana, which had asked to be passed on the first call, declared for Weaver. The Virginia delegation also withdrew the name of its favorite son and declared unanimously in favor of General Weaver.

From the very beginning of the roll call, Weaver led all of his competitors and so overwhelmingly was the vote cast for him that his nomination was practically assured before the ballot was half completed. The Weaver infection seemed to spread as state after state cast its vote unanimously for the Iowan. The Weaver people grew wildly enthusiastic, the culmination coming when the result was announced, the cheering being loud and long continued.

Alabama—Weaver, 43; Arkansas—Weaver, 18; Kyle, 20. California—Weaver, 25. Colorado—Weaver, 6; Kyle, 10. Connecticut—Weaver, 8; Kyle, 12; Delaware—Weaver, 1. Florida—Weaver, 18. Georgia—Weaver, 18; Kyle, 89. Idaho—Weaver, 12. Illinois—Weaver, 41; Kyle, 43. Indiana—Weaver, 54; Kyle, 5; Norton, 1. Iowa—Weaver, 52. Kansas—Weaver, 40. Kentucky—Weaver, 40; Kyle, 2. Louisiana—Weaver, 33; Maine—Weaver, 6. Massachusetts—Weaver, 9; Kyle, 18; Page, 1. Michigan—Weaver, 56. Minnesota—Weaver, 27; Kyle, 9. Mississippi—Weaver, 27. Missouri—Weaver, 61; Kyle, 7. Montana—Kyle, 12. Nebraska—Weaver, 23; Kyle, 8. Nevada—Kyle, 7. New Jersey—Weaver, 4. New York—Weaver, 59. North Carolina—Weaver, 30; Kyle, 5. North Dakota—Weaver, 11; Kyle, 1; Ohio—Weaver, 30; Kyle, 22. Oregon—Weaver, 10. Pennsylvania—Weaver, 39; Stanford, 1. South Dakota—Weaver, 1; Kyle, 15. Tennessee—Weaver, 45. Texas—Weaver, 60. Virginia—Weaver, 48. Washington—Weaver, 16. West Virginia—Weaver, 19. Wisconsin—Weaver, 7; Kyle, 41. Wyoming—Weaver, 9. District of Columbia—Weaver, 8.

It was after midnight when the vote was announced. After some changes the total vote stood: Weaver, 995; Kyle, 275; Page, 1; and Norton, 1.

FIELD FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

In the race for the vice presidential nomination, Ben Terrell, of Texas, received 554, and General James Field, the one-legged confederate veteran of Virginia, received 578 votes, giving the nomination to General Field. The convention then adjourned.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Happenings of the Day Culled from Our Telegraphic and Cable Dispatches.

WHAT IS TRANSPIRING THROUGHOUT OUR OWN COUNTRY, AND NOTES OF INTEREST FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

McConnell & Shaw, sole leather commission merchants, Boston, Mass., failed Monday. Liabilities, $300,000.

Fire at Minneapolis Saturday night destroyed McMillan & Co.'s saw mill. Loss, $90,000; insurance, $50,000.

A cablegram from Hamburg, Germany, says: The Langes granaries were destroyed by fire Saturday to the extent of $350,000.

A St. Paul dispatch says: The Minnesota state convention of the people's party, on Wednesday, nominated Ignatius Donnelly for governor.

A London cablegram says: Baron Winmarleigh (John Wilson Patten) died Monday, aged 90 years. He was chief secretary for Ireland in 1868.

The citizens committee of St Johns, N. F., which suffered so severely by fire, has sent an appeal to the mayors of the provinces. Fifteen thousand people are homeless.

A dispatch of Monday from Vienna states that the Austrian government has dissolved sixteen German students' clubs on the ground that they had become political associations, contrary to law.

At Ouchy, canton of Vaud, on the Lake of Geneva, the boiler of one of the steamers plying on the lake exploded while lying at her pier Saturday. Twenty-two people were killed outright and forty injured.

The national executive committee of the people's party met at St. Louis Tuesday and decided to open the campaign on the 20th inst. at Vincennes, Ind., at which meeting both Weaver and Field will be present.

An attempt at Cincinnati to form a leaf tobacco trust with a capital of two millions proved to be a failure. The stumbling block was the adjustment of the values of the various plants concerned.

Cablegrams of Wednesday from St. Petersburg, Russia, state that Astrakhan has become the chief center of cholera on this side of the Caucasian range. The epidemic advances rapidly there, and not elsewhere.

Advices from Paris state that at a cabinet council held at the palace of Elysee, Monday, President Carnot signed a decree providing for the holding of a universal exhibition in Paris in 1900. The exhibition will open May 5th and close October 31st.

The three-masted schooner Henry B. Tilden, bound to Philadelphia from New York, in ballast, was sunk two miles off Sandy Hook Saturday afternoon by a projectile containing twenty-five pounds of powder from the United States proving gun at Sandy Hook.

An Indianapolis dispatch of Wednesday says: George W. Stoll, secretary of the state committee of the people's party, has resigned. Dr. Hauser, candidate for lieutenant governor on the independent ticket, has also sent in his resignation. Each was a strong advocate of having Judge Gresham nominated for president.

Peoria lake at Peoria, Ill., was the the scene of a horrible catastrophe, Tuesday afternoon. A cyclone struck the lake and capsized Frankie Folsom, an excursion steamer, with a party from Pekin. There were about forty on board. All but fifteen of them have been accounted for and it is believed that these are dead.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Catania says that a new crater has formed in Mount Etna and that loud and continuous rumblings are heard. Streams of lava are rapidly advancing along the mountain side and doing great damage. An earthquake has been felt in the southern Tunis. It is supposed to have been connected with the activity now being shown by Mount Etna.

The congressional committee sent from Washington to investigate the Homestead affair met at Pittsburg Tuesday night and listened to the testimony of Manager Frick. After giving a history of the events that led up to the disagreement between the steel company and its workmen, Mr. Frick read his interview given to George M. McCain the day following the Homestead riot, which was admitted as evidence.

A dispatch of Wednesday says: The affairs of the Vincennes National bank have been in a deplorable state of insolvency ever since the suicide of President Wilson M. Tyler. From developments that have been made it is no wonder Tyler sought a suicide's grave. He was responsible for the loss of over $630,000. There is nothing to do but to appoint a receiver, and the comptroller at Washington has already ordered that done.

A dispatch of Wednesday to the London Times from Hamburg, Germany, says: An association of capitalists, with backers in London and New Orleans and New York, intend to found a cotton exchange in Hamburg. Operations will be mainly directed against Bremen and Liverpool, and toward this end advantage will be taken of the direct lines of shipping between Hamburg and America. It is reported that arrangements for immediate shipments have been made.

Dispatches from Springfield, O., state that the most destructive tornado which ever visited that section of the country struck the southeastern portion Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock and completely demolished about thirty residences and partially ruined over a hundred more. But two persons are possibly fatally injured, but the loss of property is appalling. A conservative estimate places the loss at between one hundred and fifty and two hundred thousand dollars.

A cablegram of Tuesday from Paris, says: A terrible accident has occurred at St. Gervais Les Baines, in Savoy, resulting in the death of at least thirty persons. A heavy land slip occurred in the mountains that almost overhangs the village and without a moment's warning a number of houses were buried beneath immense masses of rock and earth. Already thirty dead have been taken out of the ruins. A number of persons who have been badly injured were rescued, while some were taken out unhurt. It is thought more bodies are under the ruins.

BLOWN TO ATOMS.

Powder Works Explode—Over One Hundred Lives Lost.

Dispatches from San Francisco state that an explosion occurred at the Giant and Judson powder works, near West Berkley, Cal., shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday morning, destroying the works and much property for several miles around. Five shocks were felt in San Francisco within a few minutes, the last four being of terrific force, shaking buildings, cracking a number of walls and breaking plate glass in buildings. The scene of the explosion is twelve miles from San Francisco. The Giant Powder works were completely destroyed. One hundred and eighty men, principally Chinese, were employed there. It is now believed 104 persons were killed, including three white men. The explosion set the adjoining buildings on fire, and owing to the danger of additional explosions, no one ventured near the works to stop the progress of the flames.

Among the white men known to have been killed are Wallace Dickenson, Charles Canburdy and John Bow. The body of a Chinaman was found on the railroad track half a mile from the works. The remains of a boy frightfully mangled were found near the scene. Every window in the county jail at Oakland was broken by the explosion. All windows in the residences in the town of West Berkley were broken, and several buildings are reported destroyed.

The Giant powder works are located at Point Isabelle and Highland, near Stege, and comprise five buildings and the magazines. Of these buildings the acid and nitroglycerine works were destroyed, and at least one magazine blown up. Other buildings not immediately destroyed took fire. The loss on the property will be great.

ITS TERRIFIC FORCE.

The explosion shattered windows all over San Francisco, blew in skylights, broke plate glass and caused people to rush into the streets as though an earthquake convulsion was about to tumble the buildings about their ears. Consternation was still at its height when there followed two more shocks, a little less severe than the terrific one which had just been felt. Glass rattled into the streets all over the city, and not a few buildings, according to their inmates, came near collapsing. Men in the tower of the fire alarm station were sure that the structure was going to collapse. The intensity of the shock can be appreciated when it is known that it was distinctly felt at Sacramento, eighty miles distant, and that the windows are cracked at Napa and other points along the bay shore twenty-five miles from the scene of the explosion.

No Vacancies.

A Washington dispatch of Monday says: Secretary Tracy desires to have it understood that there are no vacancies in the list of cadet appointments for 1893 at the naval academy. He is somewhat annoyed at the report emanating from Annapolis that there are a great many vacancies. All the congressional appointments that can now be made within the law have been filled, leaving the secretary but six vacancies to provide for. The names to fill these vacancies have been selected and their names will be announced in a few days.

ALABAMA COLUMN.

News Notes and Items Gathered at Random from Over the State.

According the weather crop bulletin the crops generally have been greatly revived by the recent frequent showers, and farming interests everywhere are looking well. In many sections of middle Alabama corn is beginning to silk and is generally looking healthy and vigorous. The season has been excellent for sugar cane, potatoes and peas, and cotton has been growing very well also, but there is some complaint of a slight shedding of the lower leaves in west Alabama.

Northern vs. Southern Iron.

The following from the New York Times is of interest in Alabama: In speaking of a cut in prices by a northern iron-making firm and stating that the cut is in the nature of a movement to stamp out weak competition, the paper says: The northern pig iron market since 1890 has shown a steady decline yearly. The average in 1890 was $18.52 and $17.52 for Nos. 1 and 2, respectively. In 1891 the figures were $17.62 and $16.66, respectively. Southern irons have been selling for some time past at about the following figures: Birmingham delivery -No. 1 foundry, $11; No. 2, $10.02; No. 3, $9.50; No. 4, $9. To be added to these is $4 freight to New York. Thus the totals at New York are only slightly under the rates just established. Owing to the cheapness of raw material, the southern furnaces are able to produce iron for the northern markets as cheaply as northern furnaces can.

Oil Development.

There is a great deal of local excitement in Morgan county over the find of oil in the Young well, although this is not the first find of oil in north Alabama. In 1887 Messrs. Boggs & Curtis bored for gas near Hartselle, and, to their surprise, they struck between a ten and fifteen-barrel oil producer, and, from some unknown cause, it was immediately plugged, and in 1891 R. L. Goyer & Co. struck oil, and, if it had been properly handled, it would have been good for a twenty-five-barrel well. The company has continued to bore ever since their first find, and today they have six wells to their credit. But, as to their productiveness, no one knows except the Goyer company, and they are making preparations to add two more to their immortal six. As to when they will discontinue boring no one knows, only that it can be truthfully said that they are proving their faith by their work. While the Goyer company is developing it must be understood that the North Alabama Standard Oil and Gas company are by no means asleep, for preparations are being made to at once commence operations. They would have commenced operations long before but for the fact that Mr. Young, on his own responsibility, undertook the task himself, backed by only 100 acres, while these companies held warrantee mineral deeds to the lands lying adjacent with few exceptions, and they knew a development of his 100 acres would be practically a development of theirs and demonstrate to the public that oil existed in their territory. As this development has been made, it certainly gives the public the golden opportunity of making big money on small investments.

An Appeal for Aid.

A few days ago Governor Jones' mail brought two letters from Gainesville, Sumter county, stating that a number of people had been rendered destitute by the overflow, and asking him to appeal to congress for an appropriation for their relief. One of these letters says "the people are without the means of subsistence for even twenty-four hours." Another letter says "a large population along the creeks and living in the Bigbee bottoms are now in a destitute condition, and their sufferings will increase with every hour. The merchants would be willing to aid them, but they have not the means." Gainesville could not be reached by telegraph, and the governor thereupon wired Judge DeLoach, at Livingston, as follows:

"Hon. W. R. DeLoach, Livingston, Ala.: Letters from S. T. Jones and John A. Rogers at Gainesville state that the overflow of the Bigbee and Noxubee rivers places numbers of your people in immediate danger of starvation and asking me to appeal to congress. According to the letters the urgency is so great that something must be done at once, even if federal aid could be had. Congress, however, at its present session, has denied all such applications as the states must take care of their destitute. The state laws do not permit me to touch a dollar of money in the treasury for such a purpose. The commissioners' court is the only authority to provide for the emergency. If the burden is too great for the county to bear, I will not hesitate to recommend the legislature to refund the expenditures. Please wire me the number of destitute and the time for which aid will be needed. If you think it advisable, I will issue a proclamation requesting our people to make contributions to help you out and do anything else in my power to aid you. Wire answer. "Thos. G. Jones."

EDUCATORS MEET.

Georgia Teachers' and Southern Educational Associations in Convention.

The Georgia Teachers' Association met in state convention at Atlanta on the 4th inst. It was a notable gathering of intellectual men and women engaged in the culture and training of Georgia's youth and in building up the educational interests of the state.

The meeting continued for three days and during its sessions much important business pertaining to the school system of the state was transacted. Interesting discussions by brainy and prominent educators occupied much of the time of the convention. The many subjects were ably handled and the general information adduced therefrom will prove of incalculable benefit to the school teachers of Georgia. President Euler B. Smith, of LaGrange, was re-elected president. Secretary T. W. Frederick, of Marshallville, was also re-elected. Mr. Merry was elected treasurer, and Dr. Boggs and Commissioner Brad ell were made vice-presidents.

THE SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION.

Immediately on the adjournment of the Georgia Teachers, the Southern Association was convened. Fully two thousand teachers from Maine to Texas were in attendance. The deliberations of this body were of the most interesting character. Important questions in regard to the general educational interests of the country were ably discussed, and papers read by some of the most prominent educators of the country and much valuable information elicited therefrom.

Major W. F. Slaton, superintendent of the public schools of Atlanta, was elected president of the association. Mr. Frank Goodman was elected secretary, and Treasurer Harrell was re-elected to his old position. Among the resolutions adopted by the Southern association was one recommending that a great college for women be established at some suitable place at a cost of not less than a million dollars. It suggested that an address be issued to the southern people on this subject, and that all things being equal the place offering 300 acres of land and $100,000 in cash secures the college. It recommended that a committee of five be appointed to look into this matter and report at the next meeting.

The favor of the federal government was invoked in increasing the appropriations of the bureau of education.

All measures looking to rendering the common schools of the country more useful were favored, and it was demanded of all publishers of school books to grant southern purchasers and dealers the same terms and advantages accorded in other parts of the country. All railroad authorities were appealed to to reduce the present high rates of freight on the transportation of school books, and representatives in congress were asked to favor such revisions of the postal laws as shall effect the cheaper transmission of books by mail.

The selection of a place for the next meeting was left with the executive committee.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

Selected as the Place to Notify Cleveland and Stevenson.

The subcommittee of the reception committee appointed to receive the notification committee of the democratic national committee had a conference in New York Wednesday with the subcommittee of the notification committee. The members of the notification committee not only approved of the proposition to have the notification given in a public place, but heartily endorsed it. After the adjournment of the subcommittee the local subcommittee held a meeting. It was announced that they had secured the refusal of Madison Square garden in which to make the notification. It was decided to accept the garden and to hold the meeting at night.

Yellow Fever in Mexico.

Dispatches of Monday from the City of Mexico state that yellow fever is raging in Vera Cruz, and many deaths from the dread scourge occur daily. It is feared that this year, owing to the exceptional heat and dryness of the season, the disease will be unusually fatal. Many of the native families, who, as a rule, are not subject to the infection, have moved to the City of Mexico and other places.

The English Elections.

A cable dispatch from London, says: At 2 o'clock Monday afternoon the total returns received showed the election of 194 conservatives, 190 Illionds, 87 liberal unionists, 26 anti Parnellites, 5 labor men and 4 Parnellites.

THE SOUTH IN BRIEF

The News of Her Progress Portrayed in Pithy and Pointed Paragraphs

AND A COMPLETE EPITOME OF HAPPENINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST FROM DAY TO DAY WITHIN HER BORDERS.

A Montgomery, Ala., dispatch says: In the circuit court of the United States Tuesday, before Judge Bruce, H. M. Comer was appointed sole receiver of the Central Railroad and Banking Company of Georgia, at the suit of the Central Railroad vs. the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of New York.

A fierce fire raged in Louisville, Ky., for several hours Sunday morning in the tannery of Wedding & Bros., involving a loss of $200,000. Three men fell from the fourth story window, overcome by heat and smoke, just as a rescue was at hand, and were seriously injured. Fifty thousand dollars was the insurance.

On account of Georgia having one more representative in congress since the state has been redistricted, Georgia will get more money for her soldiers this year from the general government than ever before. Governor Northen, on Monday, received a circular from the war department saying that Georgia would this year receive $11,331.07 instead of $11,057.16 which she received last year.

A Birmingham, Ala., dispatch of Monday says: The present flood in the Bigbee and Warrior rivers following so closely on the floods of May, is causing great destitution and suffering. The citizens have called on Governor Jones for aid and asked him to invoke help from congress. The governor's reply urges it as the duty of the commissioners' courts in the several counties to act in such emergencies, but offers to issue a general proclamation calling on the people of the whole state. He declines to call on congress.

The monthly crop report of North Carolina was made up by the department of agriculture Friday, based on returns from nearly one thousand three hundred correspondents, and shows the percentage of condition of crops to be as follows: Wheat 99, oats 95, corn 99, cotton 94, Irish potatoes 103, peanuts 85, tobacco 91, sweet potatoes 90, sorghum 91, rye 93, grapes 90, hay 94. There is improvement in all crops. The report on fruit gives the percentage as follows: Apples 56, peaches 52, and that on stock shows cattle to be 95, sheep 91, swine 100, horses and mules 97. The condition and supply of labor is put down as 88.

Suit has been filed at West Point, Miss., against the Georgia Pacific division of the Richmond and Danville for $75,000 for being taxes for the years 1886, 1887, 1888, 1889. The petition asks for taxes for the state of Mississippi and for the counties of Lowndes, Clay, Webster, Montgomery, Oktibbeha, Carroll, Leflore, Sunflower, Washington and Tallahatchie, the total amount being $75,560, 1890, 1891 and 1892. When the road was first proposed all the counties subscribed sums ranging from $30,000 to $150,000, with the understanding that the road should pay taxes when operation commenced. It is understood that the road will deny this and claim that it was to be exempt from taxes for a certain number of years.

GEORGIA'S POPULATION.

As Shown by the Latest Census Office Bulletin.

The census office has just issued a bulletin showing that of the total population of Georgia 919,935 are males and 917,438 are females. There are 979,997 whites and 856,926 colored in the state.

Here is an interesting table showing the total population of the cities in Georgia containing more than eight thousand people, the numbers of whites and blacks and the males and females:

	Total population.	Males.	Females.	Aggregate Total. whites.	colored.

TROOPS FOR HOMESTEAD.

Gov. Pattison Details Eight Thousand Militia to Assist the Sheriff.

A dispatch of Sunday from Harrisburg, Pa., says: The entire division of National Guard of Pennsylvania, about eight thousand men, has been ordered to Homestead to support Sheriff McCleary in suppressing the trouble at that place. This action of the governor was taken on receipt of the following dispatch:

PITTSBURG, July 10.—To Robert E. Pattison, Governor, Harrisburg: The situation at Homestead has not improved and while all is quiet the strikers are in control and openly express to me and to the public the determination that the works shall not be operated unless by themselves. After making all efforts in my power, I have failed to secure a posse large enough to accomplish anything, and I am satisfied that no posse raised by the civil authority can do anything to change the condition of affairs and that any attempt by so inadequate force to restore the right of law, will only result in further armed resistance and a consequent loss of life. Only a large military force will enable me to control matters. I believe if such a force is sent the disorderly element will be overawed and order will be restored. I, therefore, call upon you to furnish me such assistance. WILLIAM H. M'CLEARY, Sheriff.

Governor Pattison, as commander-in-chief of the National Guard, at once issued the following order:

George R. Snowden, major general commanding National Guard of Pennsylvania: Put the division under arms and move at once, with ammunition, to the support of the sheriff of Allegheny county at Homestead. Maintain the peace and protect all persons in their rights under the constitution of the state. Communicate with me. ROBERT E. PATTISON, Governor.

To Sheriff McCleary the following telegram was sent:

William H. McCleary, Sheriff of Allegheny county, Pittsburg: Have ordered Major General George R. Snowden, with a division of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, to your support at once. Put yourself in communication with him. Communicate with me further particulars. ROBERT E. PATTISON, Governor.

General Snowden, with the adjutant general and quartermaster general, at once proceeded to formulate orders for the mobilization of the Guard.

THE NEWS AT HOMESTEAD.

Intense excitement was created at Homestead late Sunday night by the announcement that the Pennsylvania militia, 8,000 strong, had been ordered out and would arrive in Homestead. The news flashed over the wires to the city at 11 o'clock p. m., and a few minutes later it had come to the ears of the strikers. At first the report was received with incredulity, but a few inquiries among press representatives convinced them that it was right. Some of the strikers were at first disposed to be a little defiant, and there were occasional declarations that even the militia would be opposed, but when it was learned that the division ordered out numbered 8,000 men, these declarations promptly gave way to "Oh, well, we have been Pinkertoned, anyway;" "They did not dare to come," and thus consolation is found in the reflection that the most hated enemy of organized labor, the Pinkerton guards, had been obliged to confess defeat and give me the battle.

WILL WELCOME THE MILITIA.

Monday's dispatches from Homstead state that hostilities are over. At a mass meeting of the strikers in the afternoon it was decided by a unanimous vote, and amid great enthusiasm, that the militia should be welcomed to the city by brass bands and other ceremonies appropriate to the occasion. It was also resolved that any striker who should hoot the militia, or otherwise fail in proper respect to the state's representatives should be ducked in the river, and a committee was appointed for that purpose. The burgess was requested to invite all citizens having no business in Homestead to depart, as it was feared some unwise and anarchistic sympathizers with the strikers might seek to precipitate trouble. All the leaders made speeches, and three brass bands of the city tendered their services in the welcoming ceremonies to the militia. No one doubts that all will be peaceful henceforth.

THE DREADED CHOLERA

Is Spreading in Russia Despite Heroic Efforts to Check It.

Dispatches of Saturday from St. Petersburg say: Despite the efforts made to prevent it, the cholera has reached Moscow, where the total absence of sewerage renders the situation most dangerous. Several passengers on board the steamer Orsnoca, bound from Astrakhan for Rybinsk, died from cholera on the steamer. Owing to the prevalence of cholera at Saka, the government officers have been transferred to Kostrof. THE INDUSTRIAL SOUTH.

Splendid Showing in Advancement During the Past Week.

In its review of the industrial situation in the south for the past week, the Chattanooga Tradesman states that the general feeling among producers of iron is that the lowest prices have now been reached, and that an advance may be looked for, on account of the labor situation in the north. The demand for southern lumber is increasing, and prices are very steady. If producers could be induced to agree together as to making and maintaining quotations, the mills could now be operated at a good profit. The building season at the north being now at its height, the better grades of pine and cypress find ready sale, and the quality of the stock is very generally approved. In mercantile business no particular change is reported, nor is it to be expected until the crops begin to move. The grain harvest is now going in, and reports are to the effect that the quantity is large and of excellent grade.

Forty new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with 10 enlargements of manufactories, and 24 important new buildings. Among the new industries are brick works at Covington, Ky., capital $35,000, and at Alexandria, Va., a cigar factory at Thomasville, Ga., a coke company at Knoxville, Tenn., cotton compresses at Cuthbert, Ga., and Velasco, Tex., and a large cotton gin at Abilene, Tex. An electric lighting plant is to be built at Knoxville, Tenn., electrical works at Winchester, Ky., flouring mills at Hot Springs, Ark., and Salisbury, N. C., gas works at Owensboro, Ky., and a gun factory at Chattanooga, Tenn. Foundries and machine shops are reported at Barlow, Ky., Princeton, Ky., and Sulphur Springs, Tex., and tool works at Wheeling, W. Va. A $100,000 light and water company has been chartered at Cleburne, Tex., coal mines are to be opened at Attalla and Birmingham, Ala., a cotton mill with $100,000 capital is to be built at Gaffney City, S. C., a $25,000 oil and gas company organized at New Martinsville, W. Va., and a $150,000 tobacco factory reported at Henderson, N. C. The woodworking plants include barrel factories at Quincy, Ala., and Berkley, Va., a box factory at Statesville, N. C., cart works at Charleston, W. Va., a furniture factory at Conway, Ark., a $300,000 lumber company at Jefferson, Tex., and one with $200,000 capital at Sunbury, N. C., a $25,000 saw mill at London, Tenn., and one at Hollywood, Miss., a circular saw mill at Black Rock, Ark., a $30,000 shingle mill at Jefferson, Tex., and a stave factory at Orange, Tex.

Water works are to be built at Quitman, Ga., and Mauer, Tex. The enlargements for the week include brick works at Lynchburg, Va., iron works at Chattanooga, Tenn., Harriman, Tenn., and Benwood, W. Va., cotton mills at Harrietta, N. C., a tobacco factory at Durham, N. C., and Wood working plants at Chapman and Decatur, Ala., Meridian, Miss., and Austin, Tex. The new buildings of the week include a bank building at Wichita Falls, Texas, business houses at Florence, Ala., Hope and Little Rock, Ark., and Nashville, Tenn., a church at Norfolk, Va., schools and colleges at Florence, Ala., Nashville and Philadelphia, Tenn., and St. Matthews, S. C., court houses and jails at Atmore, Albany and Macon, Ga., and Hindman, Ky., a $50,000 factory building at Wheeling, W. Va., and $30,000 one at Nashville, Tenn., a $100,000 opera house at Chattanooga, Tenn., and a $15,000 hotel at Sutton, W. Va., and one at Guyton, Ga.

TRADE REVIEW.

Dun & Co.'s Report of Business for the Past Week.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade for week ending July 8 says: Business failures occurring throughout the country during the week number for the United States 156. Crops are further improved and grain and cotton are weaker. Manufactures of all kinds are active, except iron works as are stopped by the dispute about wages, and trade is unusually active for midsummer.

Sales of 10,000 tons of steel rails have been made by eastern works, and the aggregate for half a year has been 360,000 with 500,000 tons actually delivered. The prospects are that the new mileage for the year will be only about 3,000 miles.

Bar iron is in heavy demand and structural also, with an advance of about one point. Nearly all the iron mills at Pittsburg are closed, and pig iron is weaker, while the glass works have stopped for the summer.

At the south business is reasonably dull, but steadily improving at Nashville, and shows brighter prospects at Savannah, but very little improvement is seen at New Orleans. Speculation has been inactive, though 459,000 bales of cotton have been sold with a decline of 1-16c. Receipts are still exceeding last year's, while the exports are fully maintained.

The treasury has been taking in more money by $3,000,000 this month than it has paid out, but large remittances of notes have occurred in order to obtain gold for export. The volume of currency is now $1,602,000,000 against $1,494,000,000 in June.

In general, the cessation of labor troubles and sensible action by congress would leave the situation exceptionally favorable for the season.

It was a bad day for the Democracy when free silver was defeated.

The Senatorial convention was composed of 55 delegates divided as follows: Elmore 21, Shelby 20, Chilton 14.

The Kolb county executive committee met here Monday and appointed committees to act as challengers at each of the polling places in the county on election day.

Any fraud or unfairness in an election in the white counties should not be attempted and we believe if practiced it could not be upheld. Let every vote be counted as cast.

The Jones men will make a mistake in interfering with any of the meetings of the Kolb men, or taking part therein. If a campaign of discord is to be had intelligent men will hesitate about being the aggressors.

With all due charity for the views of those who differed with it this paper has all along been in line with the work of the Democratic State Convention and its executive committee, and that authority will always be its guide.

Messrs. Hobson and Bowman's blood-thirsty campaign speeches may be a part of the program to intimidate and hold to their side the weak minded. But that faithful old messenger of peace, the Montgomery Advertiser, refuses to see it this way.

The campaign correspondents are getting in some lively work. In regard to the Kolb rally in Opelika the Age-Herald correspondent estimated the audience at 350, the Advertiser correspondent put it at 1,000 and the Alliance Herald man got it at 7,000.

The VIEW thinks there are some good men on the Kolb county ticket in Chilton, and yet it cannot but feel that they are in the wrong in adhering to Mr. Kolb's cause. Peace at home would have been better attained by dividing the bad medicine more equally.

The Eufaula Times gets the idea down right when it says: "The Times insists that we shall have nothing but good natured politics. Nothing provoking or ugly should be said on either side. It is not necessary." The Times is endeavoring to be a good paper like the VIEW.

The VIEW has not permitted its temper to be ruffled by the beautiful political row now going on in the State, notwithstanding that it continues to receive occasional communications from "Old Democrat" and "Young Democrat," and so on, regarding the somewhat complicated situation. All of its correspondents these days are very wise men in requesting that their names be withheld. They are bully fellows, but so very particular (especially about their names) that we can only make a trash pile of their communications.

If you have been reading nothing but the Alliance Herald for the past year or more you are sure to be feeling badly over politics just now especially if your temperament is such that you have not been able to see the humor in the Herald. In such case you are in a worse frame of mind than the man who takes a drink of Stump Hills whiskey and then wants to go out in the road to find a brick to hit some body. Now the VIEW is always a good humored paper and is not disposed to ridicule but will suggest that you can never get over your trouble until you read or hear both sides of the question.

Kolb and Bowman continue to preach hate and shot gun politics. It would not be surprising to hear that they had landed in an insane hospital. The subject of blood seems to be preying on their minds. It has not been heard of in Alabama politics before since the scalawags and carpet-baggers were preaching to the negroes in the sixties, and will prove poor politics now as it did then. It is in striking contrast to the campaign oratory on the Jones side, which preaches the peace and brotherhood of the white race, and it is well just now to note that no blood-thirsty talk comes from the Jones speakers.

We Need Peace, Rest.

We are in an ugly fix. Times are very hard. Money is scarce and growing scarcer. It is regarded by people who are scared to let it out in these unsettled and troublous times. They believe that legislation is threatened that will injure collections and bankrupt the country. They have drawn in their money and will keep it until the storm blows over.

The Times is with the people in their demand for more money, lower taxes and final relief, but doesn't follow and can't follow the wild financial cranks. That cotton is low and every branch of business depressed to the lowest possible condition grows largely out of the wild and unsettled condition of things. That money should shrink from venturing out in this political storm is very natural, and the duty of the hour is to allay the apprehension that has taken possession of prudent people that unwise and savage legislation may be attempted if some extremists shall get into power.

We need a government which shall spend less of the country's hard earned dollars, and other reforms, but almost as much as this, we need peace at home.

Let's have peace at home and an end of the wild talk of impossible and ridiculous legislation. When that time comes our products will be worth more money than now and dollars will be easier got.—Eufaula Times.

While the VIEW is often amused at the absurd perplexities and ridiculous inconsistences of local politics and politicians, it is nevertheless an earnest and an honest press, and when it gave its endorsement to the nominees of the April convention it did so in the line of duty and good faith for there was no other course to pursue, since the ticket had been regularly nominated by the party as then constituted. Furthermore, it was hoped by so doing some of them might the more easily be redeemed from Kolbism when the test should come. But the nominees of that convention insist on dosing the Jones Democracy to all the bad pills, and holding back when their turn to show good faith comes. With them this may be good politics, but that is doubtful if the future is to be considered, and their action in paying no attention to the invitation sent them to attend the regular Jones convention forced the party under the ruling of the State Convention, to place another ticket in the field, and the same power absolved all Democrats from supporting the April ticket. Under that ruling this ticket had the opportunity offered it to again tie the hands of the Jones Democracy. The opportunity was passed by almost with contempt and the result is a lively race for the offices.

The men who were nominated at our April convention are going to make a tip top race and it is not worth while to try to fool any other notion into your head.

A Washington correspondent gives the following gratifiying information relating to the improvment of the Alabama rivers.

The River and Harbor bill having successfully run the gauntlet of conference committees and disagreeing houses now only awaits the approval of the President to become a law. This it is very sure to receive. He is at present out of the city, having accompanied Mrs. Harrison who is still very feeble from a long illness, to the Adirondack Mountains in New York. He will be back by Monday or Tuesday, when the measure, of so much importance to Alabama will become a law. It puts the Mobile harbor work on the contract plan, takes it out of the yearly struggle for an appropriation, and ensures a wider and deeper channel, sufficient for the largest vessels, in less than five years. It also inaugurates the work for a six foot channel all the year around from Wetumpka to Mobile. It authorises the construction of the largest size locks for the work on the Coosa and making certain water navigation from the coal field above Tuskaloosa to Mobile and the placing of coal on ship-board at a cost not exceeding $1.25 per ton, which will be cheaper than at any other port in the world. All the American delegation in both houses worked for the success of this bill, but to Mr. Clark, Alabama's member of the Committee in the House is due the largest share of the credit.

How the Carnegies Look at It.

Secretary Lovejoy, of the Carnegie Steel Company, says: "These are our works. It is our right to operate them as we please." Even so, Mr. Lovejoy. But remember this: Your company is a beneficiary of tariff protection, which has made Andrew Carnegie forty times a millionaire. That protection was asked for and given for the benefit of your workingmen. You said when you asked for the protection that it was to enable you to pay higher wages. The workingmen by their votes gave it to you for that purpose and upon that promise. After you have got it you reduce their wages. You are differently situated from the class of non-protected employers who get no special favors from the government. The government has given you a bounty or enabled you to collect it from the people under promise to pay it over to your employers. You have given no bond, and there is no law to compel you to keep your promise. You have "a right to operate the the works as you please"—to get the cheapest men you can find, to beat wages down to the lowest point, to gobble for yourself all the advantages of "protection of American labor," and you do it. Not only will the law not force you to give up the profits taxed into your pockets as a trust fund for labor but it will protect you in keeping it all yourself. That's because tariff protection, so far as labor is concerned, is a fraud, a delusion and a snare. It was intended solely for your benefit. There is nothing in the law, as there was in the promise which secured its passage, which gives the workingman any right to believe that he was intended to be a beneficiary. The strikers must learn that the false pretense of a protected monopolist is not law. They have no right to interfere with Carnegie's non-union men. He has a right to refuse to pay the wages asked by his old employes and get new men who will work for less. They are in the wrong when they attempt by violence to resist it; the law is against them and the whole power of the State is against them. They must yield, sooner or later. What they can do is to overthrow a vicious system which they have supported in the belief that it is conferring special favors upon them, when in fact it is only enriching millionaires, who claim and possess the legal, though not the moral right, to pay such wages as they choose and operate their works as they please.—Memphis Commercial.

The Newspapers in the Campaign.

The Abbeville Times forsakes Kolb and comes over, a little hesitatingly it is true, but it comes over. Every newspaper now in Henry, Dale, Barbour, Bullock, Russell, Lee and Coffee, and every paper in this district except one in Geneva county is for Jones. A rampant Kolb man will answer this condition by saying they are bought up by Wall street or by Jones "plutocrats." Any person with capacity sufficient to make him a success at minding a calf will understand that Wall street hasn't got any money in Alabama for any purpose and that the Jones "plutocrats" are, for the most part, as poor as the Kolb "working" people.

The newspapers are for Jones because they have been in a position to know something of the campaign and they know who the nominee is. They are for Jones because, too, they want the blessings of a democratic government handed down to their children and grandchildren and they know that to vote and work otherwise is a step in the way of disruption.

They are for Jones because his election offers us peace and safety. It is to their eternal credit that in this evil hour of about one hundred and seventy-five newspapers, possibly not a half a dozen are for Kolb and disruption and disaster. These papers are not venal and corrupt for if they were some would find it more profitable to take a position in favor of the so-called farmers' cause.—Eufaula Times.

Wealth is not acquired, as many persons suppose, by fortunate speculations and splendid enterprises, but by daily practice of industry, frugality and economy. He who relies upon these means will rarely be found destitute, and he who relies on any other will generally become bankrupt.

The Nominees.

Chilton county at last has a straight Jones ticket in the field for county offices as published in our last issue. The men who compose the ticket are one and all what they are in the race to win. And while our friends—the enemy—are making comical faces at the way the ticket will get left in August, we are reminded that "he laughs best who laughs last." It is a strong ticket throughout, and is composed of popular, big-hearted, generous men whom every body knows it is unnecessary to commend to the voters of Chilton county.

Huntsville Argus: The poor laborers of the Carnegie Iron and steel factories of Pennsylvania, who voted for Harrison and protection at the last National election with some enthusiasm, under the delusion that high tariff would give them constant employment at good wages, are thinking different now. The bloody battle they have waged with the Pinkerton hirelings convinces the workmen of Republican Pennsylvania that protection doesn't protect the wage-earner.

STATE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

1. That the assumption and exercise by the Federal Government of other powers than those specifically granted in the Constitution is usurpation and oppression; that a strict construction of the powers of the Federal Government is essential to the protection of the people in the several States in their domestic affairs, of life, liberty and property, and the preservation of our republican system of government.

2. That in the administration of the Federal Government the reserved rights of the States must not be impaired; and that Force Bills by Congress to regulate elections of members of Congress or electors for President or Vice-President will be destructive of the rights and liberties of the people of the several States and of the harmony which should always subsist between the people and their servants; and we, therefore, denounce as unconstitutional and revolutionary the recent attempt of the Republican party to pass what is known as the Force Bill.

3. We declare as a fundamental principle of Democratic faith that no more revenue shall be raised by the Federal Government than is necessary for the payment of the national debt and for the support of the Government, honestly and economically administered and that in laying duties on imports, any discrimination in favor of one interest, or business or of one section of the union to the detriment of others, finds no support in the Constitution and none from a just regard of the rights of the people. That equal justice to all and special privileges to none is the bed rock principle of the Democratic party—the party of the people. We are, therefore, opposed to all manner of bounties, subsidies and paternalism in the government, and we demand that the McKinley bill be repealed, and that the tariff be so reduced in rate, and so reformed as to subjects, that necessaries and such articles as the masses consume shall be as lightly taxed as possible.

4. That the Democratic party of Alabama expresses its condemnation of the Republican party for their administration of the finances of the country, under which the demand of the people for a sufficient circulation medium has been ignored, and silver has been driven from its time-honored and rightful place and useless under the constitution of the United States, where it was maintained so long as our party had control of the national legislation. And we demand that such laws be enacted as will secure the issue of safe, sound and elastic currency sufficient to meet all the demands of the people. And we demand the repeal of the Federal taxation on the circulation of the State banks.

5. We demand that Congress repeal all laws authorizing national banks to issue notes to circulate as money based upon the credit of the government.

6. We demand that all money appropriated by the Federal Government for the payment of pensions shall be raised by a gradual income tax.

7. We are opposed to the ownership of railroad and telegraph lines by the Federal Government, and to the multiplication of offices, but we favor the control and regulation of lines of transportation and communication so that only a fair and reasonable rate shall be exacted of the people.

8. That public office is a public trust to be administered for the good of the whole people, and not spoils to be distributed as rewards to unscrupulous partisan favorites.

9. We indorse the administration of Grover Cleveland and recognize in him one of the ablest living exponents of the true principles of the Democratic party.

10. We demand that free labor shall be relieved of competition with convicts and all necessary law shall be enacted to forever prevent such competition.

11. We favor legislation that will provide a more efficient system of public schools.

12. We favor such further legislation as will better regulate corporations chartered by the State.

13. We favor the passage of such election laws as will better secure the government of the State in the hands of the intelligent and the virtuous, and that will enable every citizen to cast his ballot secretly and without fear or constraint.

14. We favor the election of Railroad Commissioners by the people.

15. We indorse the wise and able administration of Thomas G. Jones, who has followed in the footsteps of his Democratic predecessors in redeeming every pledge made to the people to give them an honest, economical and just administration of the affairs of the State.

THE PARTY LAW.

Resolved, That it is the duty of the the State Executive Committee to preserve the integrity of the party organization, and to this end they shall have power and authority,

1. To prescribe the qualification of voters at the primaries of the party.

2. To prescribe such rules in respect to the primaries as will insure a fair and free expression of the will of every Democrat, and give to each one his due and proper influence in the selection of delegates and candidates.

3. To consider, and if they deem wise to petition the Legislature to pass laws regulating the primaries of the party, and punishing any fraud or wrongful conduct therein.

4. To provide so that the primaries for the selection of delegates to State and Congressional Conventions shall be held in every precinct on the same day.

5. That wherever any nominee of a regular Democratic Convention in this State shall refuse or fail to support the nominees of the Convention, all Democrats are absolved from supporting him, and that the Executive Committees of the several counties of this State in accord with this convention, be and are hereby authorized to take such steps as may be necessary to nominate others in lieu of those thus refusing. If a Committeeman refuses to support the nominee of the party, then, the Democrats of such county may reorganize, upon the advice of the State Executive Committee, after an application in writing signed by not less than twenty Democrats of such county. The State Executive Committee shall provide the mode and manner of effecting the reorganization; that whoever refuses to support the nominees of this Convention is not a loyal member of the Democratic party, and is not eligible to the nomination for any office at the hands of the party nor to membership in any committe of the party.

6. To settle and determine the prima facie right of delegates claiming seats in the State Convention.

7. Whenever any contest as to any nomination shall arise after the adjournment of the nominating convention or after the result of any primary has been declared, the committee of the party in the territory affected, or if there be no such, the State Executive Committee shall have authority to settle such contest, and to declare who is the regular nominee.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Don't say rain. We have it in any quantity here.

Miss Ola McRee has returned from Ramar, Ala.

Mr. J. E. Evans is making an addition to his residence.

Mrs. W. J. Elliott, of Montgomery, will spend a month in our town.

Mrs. W. B. Nolen is visiting relatives in Goodwater, Ala., this week..

Mr. Lee Bivings, of Birmingham, visited relatives in Clanton Sunday.

Mr. W. H. Foshee and son, Durwood, are on a pleasure trip north this week.

Mr. John Crew has returned home after a pleasant visit to relatives here.

Mrs. J. S. Catts and children visited Mr. W. H. Lawrence's family this week.

An old veteran on the day of the convention remarked that politics now reminded him of 1860.

Mrs. W. H. McNeil, Mrs. DeJarnetts and children of Montgomery, are visiting Mrs. Mamie Hall near this place.

Politics have taken up so much time and attention that our Sunday School convention seems to have dropped out of mind.

Miss Lee Evie Johnson, of Loachapoka, spent several days here last week and was the guest of Miss Minnie Phillips.

Prof. Tipton Mullins will have charge of Clanton Academy for the next session, and proposes to do his best to build up a good school.

Mr. Evans Pinkard has returned to Clanton after a course at the Business College of Louisville, Ky. He will occupy his former position at this place—bookkeeper for W. L. Sampey.

Col. W. D. Bulger and Col. Joseph F. Johnston, of Birmingham, were in town Friday. They addressed the grand rally of Democrats at Clanton Ford on Saturday, and were the guest of W. A. Collier, Esq., while in Clanton.

There are friends who tell us they admire the tone of the VIEW. The paper in its own way is seeking peace for the people and not admiration for itself, and will continue its fair minded and good tempered course no matter how hot the politicians may get. We are fully aware that the views of the people are so fixed that no paper could gain votes for either side.

The VIEW will publish communications from either side that are couched in respectful language and not bent upon stirring up bitterness, provided we be permitted to furnish the names of the authors when any person may be aggrieved by the contents. You can paint the moon black or a bloody red, but don't shoulder the responsibility for your individual opinions upon the paper. We are disposed to think that further newspaper agitation will do more harm than good, and for that reason would prefer that no political communications from either side should appear in these columns.

Just Arrived!

I am pleased to announce to the public that I have just received a large lot of the celebrated Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company's shoes for men, women and children with big feet, medium feet and little feet; and they are for sale at prices to suit the times. Bring your money with you when you come to see these shoes for you are sure to be pleased.

W. L. SAMPEY.

Public Speaking.

Hon. H. A. Herbert will address the people of Chilton at Clanton on Saturday June 30th. Everybody is expect to attend.

Lily Dale.

Miss Gamma Middleton, of Clanton, has been spending sometime with the Misses Johnsons.

Mr. Green Coolley, of Georgia, paid his cousin, J. T. Coolley, of this place, a visit last week.

Mr. H. J. Robinson left for Birmingham on the 4th inst.

Mr. Hudson Robinson is spending sometime with his mother and home folks at this place.

There is another one of our energetic young farmers who would like to get a set of furniture if he could get some one to help use it.

The grim monster, death, has again visited our community and taken hence one of our most useful citizens, J. L. Williams, the County Surveyor.

Miss Sallie Cooley has returned from a pleasant visited to Talladega.

Instead of receiving our mail twice a week we now get it every day.

Our good friend Mr. Baker gave his friends a picnic on the 4th inst., in front of his house, where the long table had been prepared for the occasion. At 12:30 o'clock dinner was announced, and such a dinner. There was plenty for as many more. In the afternoon the young people passed the time most pleasantly with such games as young people like to engage in.

The quarterly meeting was entirely rained out.

Mr. J. C. Edwards paid his mother a visit last week.

Rainy weather for picnics.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglass will spend the summer in Indiana.

Mr. John Fox will soon make Selma his home again.

Mr. J. P. Gore, of Birmingham, accompanied by Mr. P. M. McKee, of Jemison, gave our neighborhood a flying call the fourth of July.

Mr. Clint. Veuzey was appointed clerk of Mulberry Church last Sunday to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Prof. Williams.

Mr. Bluford Jones commenced his school at Clanton Ford last Monday.

R. E. R. HICKS,
County Supt. of Education.

Blessed are they who expect nothing for they shall not be disappointed. The editor of the Alexander Town Talk, in a despondent moment, remarks: "The Bible says that 'A kind word turneth away wrath.' This may be true with other people, but it don't work with newspaper editors. They may praise a man nine hundred and ninety-nine times, but if once they say something he don't like, they have made an enemy. * * * Also: "If there is any work less appreciated than that of the newspaper editors please find it out. We would like to examine it."

TAKES THE STUMP FOR JONES.

Col. R. W. Beck, State Lecturer of the Farmer's Alliance.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 11.—(Special)—Col. R. W. Beck, State Lecturer of the Farmers' Alliance, announces that he will take the stump for Gov. Jones and Democracy this week.

He will make two speeches in Sumter county on the fifteenth and sixteenth and will speak with Gov. Jones at the following places: Hartselle, July 19th; Cullman, July 20th; Bargon, July 21st; Centre, July 26th, and Collinsville, July 28th.

Colonel Beck will throw his whole heart in the campaign and some powerful speeches may be looked for from him.

Why the Hard Times.

The scarcity of money in the south is due very largely to the everlasting political higgle haggle. When a man talks about stay laws, if he is reasonable he is bound to know that money pockets east and west and everywhere else close up as if by machinery. What eastern or European banker or money lender wants to let his money into a country where there is one single apologist for a stay law or for the still more destructive, total abrogation of debts. Any farmer can comprehend that people who have money can loan it where they please and that they don't please to send it into states where the credit of individuals depend on which element is at the front in politics and what legislation is likely to be enacted. Let every man in this state unite to make the collection laws absolute and money will go down. It always did do it and always will. Instead of being concerned in frightening away the money it becomes us to invite every dollar possible by discouraging legislation that is doubtful, and may be, ruinous.—Eufaula Times.

A Traveler says: "It is commonly supposed that people live to a greater age in cold than in warm climates, but that, like many other generally received opinions, is an error. Population considered, semi-tropical, Japan heads the list for centenarians. The Southern states can show as many people, in proportion to population who have passed the three-score-and-ten milepost as can those of New England. The oldest man I ever saw had lived all his life in southern Arizona. He was what is popularly known to be a greaser—one-third Spaniard, one-third Indian and the remainder coyote. He claimed to be one hundred and forty years old and could prove up one hundred and thirty-two by the missionary records. He was totally blind, bent up like a jack-knife and the color of leather. He was a pretty good facsimile of the mummy of Rameses III.—As I looked at him I thought of those unfortunate people described by Dean Swift as unable to die, and wondered if the flying island had not landed Gulliver in Arizona."

Hear! hear! The people are urged to get in doors and not allow any democratic orator to contaminate their dear ears.

"Don't suffer yourself, dear brother, to listen to these insinuating speakers lest they win you to their side. It's better to be wrong for Kolb, than right, for Jones. In fact you shall not attend the speakings at all. We are the bosses!" That's about the style of addresses the Barbour bosses and the state bosses promulgate their followers. We assume that a few people with no share of independence may be shut up in their houses by this style of business.—Eufaula Times.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The Democratic Executive Convention for this district met at Clanton Monday and after nearly two days balloting nominated Hon. W. P. Caddle, of Elmore, for the Democratic candidate for State Senator. The candidates before the convention were Messrs. T. C. Reynolds of Shelby, and the nominee, and the final ballot stood Caddle 22, Reynolds 20.

Clanton Items.

The barbecue looked for the 16th inst., came off at Clanton Ford as advertised. From the immense crowd of people on the grounds one would have naturally supposed that every body and all their folks were in attendance. The large assemblage was highly entertained several hours with able speeches from W. A. Collier, Esq., Capt. Joseph Johnson, and (last but by no means least) Col. W. D. Bulger. These gentlemen presented the political situation in a plain straight way, giving them facts that went home to the hearts of the Kolbites. Neither speaker uttered one word whereby any offence could be taken by the Kolbites though there were many present and a great many were converted beyond question. The speeches were listened to with the deepest interest and good effects evidently will be the result. In one instance a man who had been a strong follower of Kolb said, "I can't follow that man Kolb any longer."

Bowman's bloody shirt speeches to the negroes are waking the Kolb faction up. They see into what an awful gulf they are being led. The negroes in this section are solid for Jones and we are going to poll a big democratic vote in this beat in August. Kolb men are coming over fast for which we are mighty proud.

Sey Thomas, a negro, was killed here this evening at 5 o'clock by another negro named Pete Quails. Sey had stolen some chickens and Pete had a warrant for him and attempted to arrest him, whereupon Sey turned on Pete with a keen bladed "Bowman" case knife and struck at him but Pete jumped out of the way to save his hide but had quite a rent made in his clothing. Sey still advanced on Pete who leveled a 44 Smith & Wesson and shot Sey in the breast, the ball passing clear through his body. Pete was justifiable in the killing.

Public Speaking.

Hons. John W. A. Sanford and E. P. Morrisette will address the people of Chilton at Clanton, July 25th.

A vision rises before me which is almost too bright to believe, and which is perfectly possible of being achieved and which you all may do an immense deal to achieve, of renovated homes and rescued thousands. Judge after judge, physician after physician, magistrate after magistrate, all the governors and chaplains of our jails, and all who deal with the crime, disease and pauperism of our country, have stated that if once we could unlearn amongst the working classes those drinking habits, which are short even of drunkenness, and which are so universal among them, you would show an entire abolition of nine-tenths of our crime, nine-tenths of our pauperism and nine-tenths of our disease.—Cannon Farrar.

From some cause, probably oversight, we have not been furnished with the proceedings of the last county convention for publication.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Don't say rain. We have it in any quantity here.

Miss Ola McRee has returned from Ramar, Ala.

Mr. J. E. Evans is making an addition to his residence.

Mrs. W. J. Elliott, of Montgomery, will spend a month in our town.

Mrs. W. B. Nolen is visiting relatives in Goodwater, Ala., this week.

Mr. Lee Bivings, of Birmingham, visited relatives in Clanton Sunday.

Mr. W. H. Foshee and son, Durwood, are on a pleasure trip north this week.

Mr. John Crew has returned home after a pleasant visit to relatives here.

An old veteran on the day of the convention remarked that politics now reminded him of 1860.

Mrs. W. H. McNeil, Mrs. DeJarnette and children of Montgomery, are visiting Mrs. Mamie Hall near this place.

Politics have taken up so much time and attention that our Sunday School convention seems to have dropped out of mind.

Miss Lee Evie Johnson, of Loachapoka, spent several days here last week and was the guest of Miss Minnie Phillips.

Prof. Tipton Mullins will have charge of Clanton Academy for the next session, and proposes to do his best to build up a good school.

Mr. Evans Pinkard has returned to Clanton after a course at the Business College of Louisville, Ky. He will occupy his former position at this place—bookkeeper for W. L. Sampey.

Col. W. D. Bulger and Col. Joseph F. Johnston, of Birmingham, were in town Friday. They addressed the grand rally of Democrats at Clanton Ford on Saturday, and were the guest of W. A. Collier, Esq., while in Clanton.

There are friends who tell us they admire the tone of the VIEW. The paper in its own way is seeking peace for the people and not admiration for itself, and will continue its fair minded and good tempered course no matter how hot the politicians may get. We are fully aware that the views of the people are so fixed that no paper could gain votes for either side.

The VIEW will publish communications from either side that are couched in respectful language and not bent upon stirring up bitterness, provided we be permitted to furnish the names of the authors when any person may be aggrieved by the contents. You can paint the moon black or a bloody red, but don't shoulder the responsibility for your individual opinions upon the paper. We are disposed to think that further newspaper agitation will do more harm than good, and for that reason would prefer that no political communications from either side should appear in these columns.

Just Arrived!

I am pleased to announce to the public that I have just received a large lot of the celebrated Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company's shoes for men, women and children with big feet, medium feet and little feet; and they are for sale at prices to suit the times. Bring your money with you when you come to see these shoes for you are sure to be pleased.

W. L. SAMPEY.

Public Speaking.

Hon. H. A. Herbert will address the people of Chilton at Clanton on Saturday June 30th. Everybody is expect to attend.

Lily Dots.

Miss Clarissa Middleton, of Clanton, has been spending sometime with the Misses Johnsons.

Mr. Green Cooley, of Georgia, paid his cousin, J. T. Cooley, of this place, a visit last week.

Mr. H. J. Robinson left for Birmingham on the 4th inst.

Mr. Hudson Robinson is spending sometime with his mother and home folks at this place.

There is another one of our energetic young farmers who would like to get a set of furniture if he could get some one to help use it.

The grim monster, death, has again visited our community and taken hence one of our most useful citizens, J. L. Williams, the County Surveyor.

Miss Sallie Cooley has returned from a pleasant visited to Talladega.

Instead of receiving our mail twice a week we now get it every day.

Our good friend Mr. Baker gave his friends a picnic on the 4th inst., in front of his house, where the long table had been prepared for the occasion. At 12:30 o'clock dinner was announced, and such a dinner. There was plenty for as many more. In the afternoon the young people passed the time most pleasantly with such games as young people like to engage in.

The quarterly meeting was entirely rained out.

Mr. J. C. Edwards paid his mother a visit last week.

Rainy weather for picnics.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglass will spend the summer in Indiana.

Mr. John Fox will soon make Selma his home again.

Mr. J. P. Gore, of Birmingham, accompanied by Mr. P. M. McKee, of Jemison, gave our neighborhood a flying call the fourth of July.

Mr. Clint. Veazey was appointed clerk of Mulberry Church last Sunday to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Prof. Williams.

Mr. Bluford Jones commenced his school at Clanton Ford last Monday.

Blessed are they who expect nothing for they shall not be disappointed. The editor of the Alexander Town Talk, in a despondent moment, remarks: "The Bible says that 'A kind word turneth away wrath.' This may be true with other people, but it don't work with newspaper editors. They may praise a man nine hundred and ninety-nine times, but if once they say something he don't like, they have made an enemy. * * * Alex. "If there is any work less appreciated than that of the newspaper editors please trot it out. We would like to examine it."

TAKES THE STUMP FOR JONES.

Col. R. W. Beck, State Lecturer of the Farmer's Alliance.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 11.—(Special)—Col. R. W. Beck, State Lecturer, of the Farmers' Alliance, announces that he will take the stump for Gov. Jones and Democracy this week.

He will make two speeches in Sumter county on the fifteenth and sixteenth and will speak with Gov. Jones at the following places: Hartselle, July 19th; Cullman, July 20th; Bargon, July 21st; Centre, July 26th, and Collinsville, July 28th.

Colonel Beck will throw his whole heart in the campaign and some powerful speeches may be looked for from him.

Why the hard Times.

The scarcity of money in the south is due very largely to the everlasting political higgle haggle. When a man talks about stay laws, if he is reasonable he is bound to know that money pockets east and west and everywhere else close up as if by machinery. What eastern or European banker or money lender wants to let his money into a country where there is one single apologist for a stay law or for the still more destructive, total abrogation of debts. Any farmer can comprehend that people who have money can loan it where they please and that they don't please to send it into states where the credit of individuals depend on which element is at the front in politics and what legislation is likely to be enacted. Let every man in this state unite to make the collection laws absolute and money will go down. It always did do it and always will. Instead of being concerned in frightening away the money it becomes us to invite every dollar possible by discouraging legislation that is doubtful, and may be, ruinous.—Eufaula Times.

A Traveler says: "It is commonly supposed that people live to a greater age in cold than in warm climates, but that, like many other generally received opinions, is an error. Population considered, semi-tropical Japan heads the list for centenarians. The Southern states can show as many people, in proportion to population who have passed the three-score-and-ten milepost as can those of New England. The oldest man I ever saw had lived all his life in southern Arizona. He was what is popularly known to be a greaser—one-third Spaniard, one-third Indian and the remainder coyote. He claimed to be one hundred and forty years old and could prove up one hundred and thirty-two by the missionary records. He was totally blind, bent up like a jack-knife and the color of leather. He was a pretty good facsimile of the mummy of Rameses III.—As I looked at him I thought of those unfortunate people described by Dean Swift as unable to die, and wondered if the flying island had not landed Gulliver in Arizona."

Hear! hear! The people are urged to get in doors and not allow any democratic orator to contaminate their dear ears.

"Don't suffer yourself, dear brother, to listen to these insinuating speakers lest they win you to their side. It's better to be wrong for Kolb, than right, for Jones. In fact you shall not attend the speakings at all. We are the bosses!" That's about the style of addresses the Barbour bosses and the state bosses promulgate their followers. We assume that a few people with no share of independence may be shut up in their houses by this style of business.—Eufaula Times.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The Democratic Senatorial Convention for this district met at Clanton Monday and after nearly two days balloting nominated Hon. W. P. Gaddis, of Elmore, as the Democratic candidate for State Senator. The candidates before the convention were Messrs H. C. Reynolds of Shelby, and the nominee, and the final ballot stood Gaddis 29, Reynolds 28.

Hipsome Notes.

The barbecue looked for the 16th inst., came off at Clanton Ford as advertised. From the immense crowd of people on the ground one would have naturally supposed that every body and all their folks were in attendance. The large assemblage was highly entertained several hours with able speeches from W. A. Collier, Esq., Capt. Joseph Johnson and (last tot by no means least) Col. W. D. Bulger. These gentlemen presented the political situation in a plain straight way, giving them facts that went home to the hearts of the Knights. Neither speaker uttered one word whereby any offence could be taken by the Kolbites though there were many present and a great many were converted beyond question. The speeches were listened to with the deepest interest and good effects evidently will be the result. In one instance a man who had been a strong follower of Kolb said, "I can't follow that man Kolb any longer."

Bowman's bloody shirt speeches to the negroes are waking the Kolb faction up. They see into what an awful gulf they are being led. The negroes in this section are solid for Jones and we are going to poll a big democratic vote in this beat in August. Kolb men are coming over fast for which we are mighty proud.

Sey Thomas, a negro, was killed here this evening at 5 o'clock by another negro named Pete Quails. Sey had stolen some chickens and Pete had a warrant for him and attempted to arrest him, whereupon Sey turned on Pete with a keen bladed "Bowman" case knife and struck at him but Pete jumped out of the way to save his hide but had quite a rent made in his clothing. Sey still advanced on Pete who leveled a 44 Smith & Wesson and shot Sey in the breast, the ball passing clear through his body. Pete was justifiable in the killing.

Public Speaking.

Hons. John W. A. Sanford and E. P. Morrisette will address the people of Chilton at Clanton, July 25th.

A vision rises before me which is almost too bright to believe, and which is perfectly possible of being achieved and which you all may do an immense deal to achieve, of renovated homes and rescued thousands. Judge after judge, physician after physician, magistrate after magistrate, all the governors and chaplains of our jails, and all who deal with the crime, disease and pauperism of our country, have stated that if once we could unlearn amongst the working classes those drinking habits, which are short even of drunkenness, and which are so universal among them, you would show an entire abolition of nine-tenths of our crime, nine-tenths of our pauperism and nine-tenths of our disease.—Cannon Farrar.

From some cause, probably oversight, we have not been furnished with the proceedings of the last county convention for publication.

NATIONAL CAPITAL.

THE SILVER BILL DEFEATED IN THE HOUSE—DEAD FOR THE SESSION.

PROCEEDINGS FROM DAY TO DAY BRIEFLY TOLD—CALLS AND MEASURES UNDER CONSIDERATION—OTHER NEWS.

THE HOUSE.

SUPERVISOR DAY.—Friday being—under special order of the house—suspension day, Mr. Shively moved to suspend the rules to pass the tin plate bill. Mr. Dalzell demanded a second, which was ordered—168 to 0, the republicans refusing to vote in the hope of breaking a quorum. Half an hour's debate, which followed, was devoid of interest, except when Mr. McMillin, in supporting the bill, referred to the occurrences at Homestead. These occurrences, he said, showed that the present tariff instead of increasing the wages of labor, as had been claimed by the republicans, had decreased them. Did any deny it? Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, most emphatically denied it. McMillin again declared that the wages of labor had decreased again and again. Dalzell entered a denial, supplementing it with the declaration that the gentleman did not know what he was talking about. McMillin referred the gentleman to the statement made by Mr. Frick to substantiate his statement, and added that it was the gentleman who did not know what he was talking about. Dalzell responded that he undertook to satisfy any fair and intelligent man in the house that the unfortunate affair at Homestead had nothing to do with the tariff question. Mr. McMillin retorted that the republicans had promised that wages would be increased. That this promise had not been fulfilled as had been shown, and the republicans were sensitive when the failure was commented upon. If the gentleman from Pennsylvania desired to maintain that the promise had been fulfilled, why had he not got up and done so when he had an opportunity to talk? Dr. Dalzell replied that he had not done so because he had believed that there was not a man so mean as to gloat over the dying men at Homestead. McMillin retorted that any man who accused another of gloating over the affair at Homestead could be truthfully accused of falsehood. This dialogue did not last over half a minute, but it was half a minute of a good deal of excitement, and at its conclusion the tin plate bill was passed—yeas, 207; nays, 56. Mr. Whiting, of Michigan, moved to suspend the rules and pass the lead and ore bill. After all resources for delay had been exhausted by the republicans, under the lead of Messrs. Burrows and Reed, the motion to suspend rules and pass the bill was agreed to—yeas, 165; nays, 63. Mr. Reed immediately rose to his feet with a motion to adjourn, but the speaker recognized Mr. Whiting for a motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill limiting to $100 the value of wearing apparel which may be admitted free of duty. The speaker then recognized Mr. Reed to move an adjournment. Lost—yeas 20; nays, 181, and the motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill was agreed to without a division, amid general applause. In the meantime the hour of 5 o'clock had arrived and the point was raised on the republican side that under the rules the speaker must declare the usual Friday recess until 8 o'clock p. m. The speaker said that the house had adopted an order substituting today as suspension day instead of Monday, July 4th, and he did not think it within his power to declare a recess. However, he submitted the question to a vote of the house. The house decided, by a large majority, that he should not and motions to suspend the rules and pass bills continued. Other bills passed were: The railroad land grant forfeiture, and the bill granting the Territory of Utah self-government.

SATURDAY.—On motion of Mr. Blount the house, on Saturday, further insisted on its disagreement to the senate amendments to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, and another conference was ordered. Mr. Bland, from the committee on coinage, weights and measures, reported the Stewart free silver bill placed upon the calendar. Mr. Tracey asked leave that the minority committee be permitted to have its views printed, and further asked that the report of the majority and the views of the minority be printed together. To the latter part of the request Mr. Bland objected, fearing that it might result in a delay of action on the measure. It was his intention, he said, to take the earliest opportunity to have the bill considered. He had no objection to the minority filing its views at any time. Consent was therefore given to the minority to file its views. Mr. Herbert presented the conference report on the naval appropriation bills.

MONDAY.—In the house, Monday, on motion of Mr. Bullock, of Florida, a bill was passed extending the provisions of an act for the immediate transportation of dutiable goods to the port of Fernandina, Fla. The speaker appointed Herbert, Lawson of Virginia, and Dolliver as conferees on the naval appropriations bill. Mr. Wheeler submitted a conference report on military academy appropriation bill. On motion of Mr. Beatty, of New York, a bill was passed appropriating $350,000 for the publication of the eleventh census.

TUESDAY.—On motion of Mr. Catchings, from the committee on rules, a resolution was adopted setting apart the day for the consideration of bills called up by the committee on the election of a president, vice president and members of congress. On motion of Mr. Stout, the senate bill was passed granting to the Mexican, Gulf, Pacific and Puget Sound railroad the right of way through the public lands in Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee. Mr. Dockery submitted the District of Columbia appropriation bill. The report as agreed to appropriates $90,000 to meet the expenses of the G. A. R. encampment in Washington, the appropriation to be paid entirely out of the revenues of the District of Columbia. The report was agreed to, yeas 150, nays 77. Mr. Chapman, in demanding the regular order, called up under the direction of the committee on the election of president, etc., a joint resolution proposing constitutional amendment for the election of senators by a popular vote.

WEDNESDAY.—It was just noon when General Catchings, from the committee on rules, called up the resolutions in the house providing for the consideration of the silver bill. The galleries were crowded, and of the 330 living members of the house, 324 were present and voted. Before General Catchings had time to say anything in explanation, ex-Speaker Reed cried out the motion to table the resolution, but the speaker ruled that General Catchings was entitled to the floor, and that on Reed's debate was in order. Mr. Bland spoke briefly for the bill, and offered amendments to it. He also gave notice that he would move to amend the resolution from the committee on rules to close debate and provide for a direct vote on the passage of the bill at 2 o'clock. Mr. Clarke, of Alabama, read a little speech he had prepared in advance, in which he said that he believed in free coinage, but nothing could be accomplished by the passage of this bill now. He would therefore vote against considering it. Mr. Forman, of Illinois, and Mr. Patterson, of Tennessee, two other converts to the side of the antis, made similar speeches. Then Tom Reed came with one of his characteristic speeches, deluging the democrats with irony. He was opposed to the resolution and claimed the credit for the republicans for making the fight for honest money. Reed was followed by Judge Culberson, of Texas, who declared that free coinage was the great question of the day. It was a contest between the moneyed interests and the people. His speech was greatly applauded. Mr. Pierce, of Tennessee, followed in a severe criticism of his colleague, Colonel Patterson, for deserting the cause of free coinage, and expressed the opinion that his constituents might be able to find a free coinage man to represent them next time. This ended the hour of debate. General Catchings then called for the previous question on the resolution. Mr. Bland announced that if it was voted down the resolution could be amended so as to provide for a vote on the bill proper at 2 o'clock Thursday, and that under the amendment he would offer no filibustering would be in order. Thus, it was for the free silver men to defeat the motion for the previous question. As the roll call commenced, the excitement was intense, but it had not progressed very long before the free coinage leaders realized they were whipped. Some of the opposition were against it on the ground that they were opposed to the adoption of an order forcing the house to vote on a measure at a specified time, or in the term of the day opposed to "cloture." Others because they wanted to defeat the bill. The previous vote was ordered, the vote standing 163 to 129. Then the question came to the adoption of the resolution providing for the consideration of the Stewart bill. This was the question to settle the contest. All realized that its adoption meant the passage of the bill, or its defeat, the death of all chances of free coinage for this session. While the democratic anti silver men felt that they had the fight whipped, still they were nervous. The silver men had but little hope of success, but were working and holding all their men in the intensely warm hall. The roll call developed the fact that about one hundred democrats voted with the republicans, while less than a dozen republicans voted for free coinage. The resolution was defeated by eighteen majority, and although Speaker Crisp again voted with the free coinage people, the vote stood 136 to 154 against the resolutions. Thus ended the contest. Silver was defeated, and the house proceeded to the consideration of other business, the majority of the members retiring—some in disgust, others in high glee.

THE SENATE.

FRIDAY.—In the senate Friday, Mr. Hill introduced a bill changing the date for the dedication of buildings of the world's Columbian exposition from the 12th to the 21st of October, 1892, and after a statement by him as to the reasons for the bill, and one from Mr. Cullom assenting to it, the bill was passed. Mr. Quay said that, in the discussion of Thursday on the troubles at Homestead, Pa., severe reflections had been made on the Carnegie Iron and Steel Company. He held in his hand a communication from Mr. Frick, manager of the Carnegie works, which he thought, in fairness to the company, should be printed in The Record, and he asked that consent be given to have it so printed. Mr. Peffer objected, and Mr. Quay sent to the clerk's desk and had read the Associated Press interview with Mr. Frick. By this means it became part of the proceedings of the senate and was entitled to publication in The Record. Mr. Quay said, however, that he would telegraph for a statement on the part of the workingmen. In order to counteract the effect of Frick's statement Mr. Peffer sent to the clerk's desk and had read a communication published in Friday morning's Post over the signature of F. S. Smith, giving the labor side of the question in the matter of wages.

SATURDAY.—A further conference was ordered on the diplomatic and consular bill. Consideration of the sundry civil bill was resumed.

MONDAY—Mr. Butler, according to notice heretofore given, moved that the senate take up the bill to transfer the revenue marine service to the navy department. The bill was laid before the senate by yeas 35, nays 24. Mr. Allison moved that the bill be laid aside and consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill be resumed. After discussion the bill was laid aside informally.

TUESDAY.—In the senate, Mr. Palmer sent to the clerk's desk and had read a communication received by him from the director of the mint in response to questions submitted by him in regard to the amount of silver in the treasury. Mr. Morgan objected to the printing of the correspondence in the Record. It was, he said, an argument on the silver question concerted between the senator from Illinois and the secretary of the treasury—an unfair argument, and he did not wish it to go to the country without an explanation. After further remarks Mr. Allison objected to the discussion and the matter went over. Mr. Sherman offered a resolution calling on the secretary of the treasury for a statement of several shipments of rum from Boston to Africa—with the names of the consignors—during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892. Objection was made by Messrs. Chandler and Hawley to confining the inquiry to Boston, and the resolution was changed so as to apply to all ports of the United States, and, so modified, was agreed to. Mr. Dolph, from the committee on foreign relations, reported a bill amendatory of the last Chinese exclusion act, the amendment being to strike out the words "one credible white witness," and to insert in lieu thereof the words "one credible witness, not a Chinese person or a person of Chinese descent. Mr. Palmer protested against the proposed amendment as contrary to the spirit of the age. The original bill, he said, was barbarious in itself, but the proposed amendment was adding to its barbarism. Mr. Allison, saying that the bill was going to lead to a debate, objected to its consideration, and called up the sundry civil appropriation bill, the pending question being the Quay amendment requiring the Columbian exposition, at Chicago, to be closed on Sunday. Debate was temporarily interrupted to allow the presentation of the conference report on the District of Columbia bill, and it was agreed to. At 2 o'clock the sundry civil bill came up as "unfinished business." Mr. Washburn moved that the exhibition section of the agricultural department should take the place of the silk culture bill as "unfinished business." A vote was taken, and resulted: Yeas, 36; nays, 16. Afterward Hawley, who was recorded as voting "nay," said that he had yesterday expected and intended to vote, "yea." So the appropriation bill was taken up, and became "unfinished business," as its place on each day at 2 o'clock. It was, however, immediately laid aside on motion of Mr. Allison, and consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill was proceeded with. The Quay Sunday closing amendment was discussed until after 5 o'clock. Unanimous consent was then given to have debate Wednesday on the exposition section continue under the five-minute rule.

WEDNESDAY—Immediately after the reading of the journal in the senate, and without any morning business, the sundry civil appropriation bill was taken up, the pending question being Mr. Quay's Sunday closing amendment to the section providing for the issue of 10,000,000 souvenir half dollars in aid of the Columbian exposition, speeches to be limited to five minutes. The amendment was then agreed to without division. Mr. Peffer offered an amendment to add to the section a provision prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors on the exposition ground, except for medical, mechanical or scientific purposes. After a brief debate this amendment was also agreed to—yeas, 28; nays, 26. Mr. Allison moved an amendment—which was agreed to—limiting gross expenditures for medals, clerical services, etc., to $500,000. The exposition amendment was agreed to. This action, however, was in the committee of the whole, and will be subject to change when the bill is reported back to the senate. There will certainly be an effort to defeat, at least, Mr. Peffer's amendment. The only other question that provoked much discussion on the sundry civil appropriation bill was an amendment in regard to a site for the government printing office in Washington. Discussion upon it was not half concluded when the senate adjourned, but there was a unanimous consent given that after 3 o'clock Thursday all debate on the bill and amendments shall be conducted under the five-minutes rule.

NOTES.

The house committee to investigate the Pinkertons, left Washington for Pittsburg Monday night. Oates, Bynum and Boatner are the democratic members of the committee. Taylor and Broderick the republicans.

Before congress adjourns the advocates and opponents of the subtreasury bill will have an opportunity to give full vent to their views on this question. In order to satisfy the demand of the farmers of the country the committee on ways and means will perhaps report the bill to the house adversely within a few days. A day will then be given for its discussion and the opponents of the measure will have full opportunity to express their views.

READY TO FIGHT.

The Situation in Idaho is Alarming And More Troops Ordered.

A dispatch from Portland, Ore., says: The Union Pacific people have just received advices from Coeur d'Alene that a Northern Pacific railroad bridge, together with several hundred feet of track, was blown up by the strikers west of Mullan Wednesday morning. The company is preparing to take all the non-union men out of the mines to Tekoa. The union men assert that the moment troops appear on the scene they will blow up Bunker Hill, Sullivan, Sierra Nevada and Gem mines. The burning of the bridge near Mullan will hold the troops there unless they march to Wallace or Wardner, which is almost ten miles. It is now reported that the union men have taken Vanelashutt, of Portland; William Sweeney, and other mine owners, and will hold them as hostages until the trouble is settled. The wires are in bad shape and it is almost impossible to get any information from Wallace. The wires have been cut.

MORE TROOPS ORDERED.

A Washington dispatch says: General Schofield, having received information that the situation in the Coeur d'Alene mining district of Idaho is more serious than at first supposed, has ordered ten more companies of infantry and one troop of cavalry to the scene of trouble.

WILL FIGHT TO THE DEATH.

Another dispatch from Boise City, Idaho, says: Governor Willey has issued a proclamation placing Shoshone county under martial law. Word has been received that three companies of federal troops from Missoula have arrived at Mullane. The other troops have not been heard from. Adjutant General Curtis, who is in command for the state, who went to Coeur d'Alene in advance of the outlook, has not been heard from, and it is feared he has fallen into the hands of the strikers. A dispatch to the governor from Judge Heyburn, at Spokane, says the union men drove 182 non-union miners out Tuesday, firing on them and killing two. Superintendent Dickinson, of the Northern Pacific, telegraphs the governor from Tacoma that tracks and bridges have been destroyed in the vicinity of Mullane and Wallace, and that the wires have been cut. Another message to the governor says that several non-union men have been blown up, and that the union men propose to fight the troops to the death.

THE SITUATION ALARMING.

The Idaho delegation in congress received a number of telegrams Wednesday in regard to the troubles in Coeur d'Alene mining region. Some of them were from W. B. Heyburn, solicitor for one of the mining companies, now at Spokane, Wash., and contained the following information:

One hundred and thirty-two unarmed men were taken to the Fourth-of-July canyon by the strikers last night and robbed, and then fired on. Can't learn how many men were killed, but know of two union men making preparations to start 200 more out this evening. We are as helpless as children. The miners' union at Wallace has just made a demand on Delashmutt & Gross that they telegraph to Washington to stop the troops, and if they do not they will blow up the Union and Gem mills at once. The situation is very desperate. One hundred and fifty of the non-union miners were being marched out of the country this afternoon, and I expect they will be treated like the ones marched out last night—that is, robbed and shot down like dogs. Some of them who escaped in an arrived here (Spokane), and give horrible accounts of the affair.

Nine are Dead.

A Fourth, Ill., dispatch of Wednesday says: Never since the Chatsworth holocaust of four years ago has there been such excitement in Peoria and Pekin as over the disastrous result of Tuesday night's explosion. The pleasure-crushed steamer, Franklin Folsom, is in sight not very far from the shore, and what persons are known to be dead. Sixteen persons are yet in the water from. Three were chambermaids, passengers, found dead on the river at the time the storm came up. Of these five turned up safely.

A CITY DESTROYED.

St. John, New Portland, Nearly Obliterated by Fire.

TWENTY MILLION DOLLARS LOST—HOMELESS PEOPLE AND SOME LOSS OF LIFE.

Dispatches from St. Johns, N. F., state that on Friday last, about 5 o'clock p. m., a stable at the head of Long's Hill caught fire, and at the time the wind was blowing a strong gale from the northwest. Rain had not fallen for three weeks and the town, buildings of wood, except Water street, were extremely inflammable. The adjoining houses rapidly caught and in a few minutes Long's Hill was a sea of flames. Human efforts were powerless to cope with the fire. Flying embers ignited houses hundreds of yards to the leeward and so rapid was the work of destruction that there was not time to haul down a sufficient number of houses to make the fire break. The people seemed paralyzed. Water street was reached by 8 o'clock. The market house, Commercial bank, Athenæum building, Temple clubhouse, the Chamber of Commerce building, telegraph building, Anglican cathedral, cost $500,000; Methodist college, Masonic temple and St. Patrick's hall all fell before the flames.

About 8:30 o'clock Waterside mercantile premises were attacked and shipping began to get out from the piers to the middle of the harbor. The Anglo-American telegraph office became untenable about 8:50 o'clock p. m., and communication with the outside world was cut off. The sea of fire which swept Water street rendered all attempts at saving property futile.

FLEEING FOR THEIR LIVES.

A few hundred people who had the temerity to remain indoors fled to the rear and escaped aboard boats and schooners, that were waiting swinging to their lines ready to drop out of danger. The air was filled with blazing embers. The terrific fire swept Water street, which was built of stone and brick, but these buildings fell almost as quickly as the wooden structures. The Atlantic hotel and custom house, more than one-half mile from the stable, on the head of Long's hill, fell at 1 o'clock. Galway wharf, a tobacco factory on Crookin's premises, Terra Nova foundry works, Mackay's stores and wharf, John Wood's premises, Harvey's extensive establishment, consisting of a bread factory, and the Costal Company's stores and wharves were speedily things of the past.

Signal hill for a time caused a lull in the storm, but the residents of the American consulate, situated well up on the hill, was doomed also. The large brewery and dwelling of John Lindberg, close by, were included in the slaughter. Having expended its fury to the eastward when there was nothing more to destroy, the fire began to edge northward, up the slope on which the town is built. Cochrane street, leading from the government house to the harbor, the town's handsomest thoroughfare, fell a victim, only a few dwellings at the top escaping. The Methodist church on this street also escaped. St. Patrick's hall, owing to the brave efforts of the Christian Brothers, whose schools were established therein, was for a long time considered safe, but such hopes proved vain.

Then supreme efforts were made and successfully to prevent the fire from creeping across to the Mercy convent, which if attacked would have been the cause of the destruction of Marks, the town's fashionable quarters, composed of pretty cottages and substantial dwellings. The Congregational church in this neighborhood could not be saved. Another gallant stand was successfully made at Rawling cross, at the head of King's road. The poor office, a large wooden structure, west of the range of Military road, was guarded, and if this could be saved that fashionable boulevard was safe.

The firemen by this time were pretty well exhausted, but intelligent action on their part and that of scores of spirited young fellows, manning roofs and fighting the fire, proved victorious. Two-thirds of the business part of the town and one-half of the entire town and three-fourths of the value of the town has been obliterated.

It is known positively that one man and six children perished, but it is thought that when the terrible excitement that now prevails subsides it will be found that the loss of life is much greater.

MT. ETNA AFLAME.

Rivers of Fiery Lava Pour Down Her Sides—Consternation Reigns.

A cablegram of Saturday from Rome, states that Mount Etna is unusually active. A thick column of smoke, in which lightning flashes are seen issues from the crater and rises to a great height in the air. Quantities of lava and ashes are also ejected from the crater. Several shocks of earthquake occurred during Saturday morning the tremors being felt throughout the whole district.

LATER DISPATCH.

Further news from Catania states that another eruption of Mount Etna occurred Sunday. Mayor Nolis, of Nicolosi, declares that a terrible volcanic outbreak is impending. The inhabitants of the city and surrounding country are in a state of consternation. The eruption assumed alarming proportions during the night, though less grand than the eruption of 1886. Huge quantities of lava have been thrown out of the volcano and have formed a double stream, which is advancing rapidly towards Nicolosi and Belpasso. Lava is already within six kilometers of Nicolosi. Great damage has been done to the surrounding country. A severe earthquake was felt in the immediate vicinity of the volcano during Saturday night. Twelve houses and a portion of the church have been destroyed. The eruption is still active.

UNFORTUNATE ST. JOHNS.

The Losses Estimated at Fifteen Million Dollars.

Dispatches of Tuesday from St. Johns, Newfoundland, state that every lawyer's office, doctor's residence and office and the Protestant clergyman's residence was burned and every daily newspaper and every printing office destroyed and there is no type, paper or ink remaining in the city for a single poster. Several homeless persons have died since the fire in consequence of fright and exposure. Most of the people are now temporarily housed in sheds and tents, but provisions and clothing are needed and relief should take these forms. The insurance agents held a meeting Tuesday. Their reports showed that the losses covered by insurance amount to somewhere above one-third of a million, giving dollars.

French Mineral Water.

Mohammed was certainly a wonderful man. His commands against strong drink have been obeyed and, as a result, his followers are the most temperate people in the world. But while the Turks are opposed to adjure wine, the spirit of modern enterprise has entered their drowsy land, and the younger men affect the French language and cultivate what seemed until recently like an insatiable taste for French mineral water.

It has recently come to light that some monks near Bordeaux have been making a fortune by shipping to Turkey as mineral water the white wines of southern France. The example was followed by more worldly dealers, and last year it was discovered that Burgundy wine was finding its way into the harems of sultan and pasha under the innocent name of mineral water.

The women grew so fond of this water and evinced such a flow of spirits after drinking it that the sultan, through his agent or consul at Bordeaux, caused an investigation to be made.

The monks who had made such a profitable business of this trade were summoned before a French court and the magistrate forced them to produce samples of the mineral water.

The abbot made a clean breast of it and declared, as he exhibited the filled vessels that the liquor was the very best. On being asked why he, a godly man, had practiced the deceit, he said: "It may have been a deceit, your honor, but it is an honorable one. There have been and still are men who pass off water for wine, but we, far, more righteous, have given wine for water."

When the Best Speeches Are Made.

Sometimes at a convention, when the hour is growing late and the reporters have gone home, a delegate will rise and make a speech worthy of Demosthenes, and that daily historian, the press, will have no mention of it. This happens because papers must go to press some time, and the next day the active transcriber of events may regard the speech as cold. One of the most remarkable speeches ever spoken by W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, was delivered about 4 o'clock in the morning at a convention, in which he nominated for superintendent of public instruction the old white haired chaplain of his brigade. After a long and stormy session that speech came like a glory, and those who were so fortunate as to hear it will never forget the impression it created, but no report of it was made and the orator could not write it out after he had delivered it.—Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.

It Never Fails.

Sniffers—"Do you ever have hay-fever, influenza, or anything of that kind?"

Biffers—"No, I never had any trouble with my nose but once. On that occasion it leaked about a gallon."

"Eh! When was that?"

THE HOUSE.

FRIDAY.—In the house Friday, Mr Enloe, of Tennessee, called up as a matter of privilege the resolution calling on the postmaster general for a report as to al new service established on railroads since March 4, 1889, together with copies of a correspondence on the subject. This resolution was offered some time ago and referred to the committee on postoffices and postroads, but was not reported back. Mr. Enloe explained that complaint was made that in the exercise of his power the postmaster general had discriminated in favor of some railroads and against others. The house should know whether the complaints were well founded. The Republicans desired that the report should go back to March 4, 1885, and when Mr. Enloe declined an amendment to that effect they declined to vote on a demand for the previous question. The previous question was ordered—yeas, 169; nays, 3—and the resolution was adopted. The conference report on the army appropriation bill was presented and agreed to. The house went into committee of the whole—Mr. Lester, of Georgia, in the chair—for the purpose of considering the senate amendments to the sundry civil appropriation bill, 312 in number. All the amendments except those relating to the world's fair were read and non concurred in. Mr. Holman then asked consent that general debate on the world's fair amendments shall proceed for three day and Saturday, speeches to be limited to half hour, and that a vote shall be taken at 12 o'clock Tuesday, agreed to. Immediately the chairman was surrounded by members desirous of having their names recorded upon the list of speakers, and for ten minutes the noise and confusion was so great that business had to be suspended. When comparative quiet had been secured, the floor was accorded to Mr. Durborow, of Illinois, who opened the debate upon the world's fair amendments. Other speakers were Messrs. McCreary, of Kentucky; Pendleton, of West Virginia; Little, of New York; Taylor, of Illinois, and Wheeler, of Alabama. The committee then rose and the house took a recess until 8 o'clock, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

SATURDAY. — In the house, senate amendments to the fortification appropriation bill were non-concurred in and a conference ordered. The house then proceeded to the consideration of a number of private pension bills which came over from Friday night with the previous question ordered. Sixty-four private pension bills were passed, and then the house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Lester, of Georgia, in the chair, on the senate amendments to the sundry civil appropriation bill. A number of speeches were made both for and against the different amendments. No vote was reached upon anything connected with the sundry civil bill, and the house adjourned.

MONDAY—Suspension day in the house, but unlike its predecessor of a fortnight ago, no great party measures were brought forward. Mr. Lester, of Georgia, moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill for the improvement of the outer bar at Brunswick, Ga. Agreed to. Mr. Smith, of Arizona, moved to suspend the rules and pass the senate bill submitting to the court of private land claims the title of William McGarraban to Rancho Panoche Grande, in the state of California. (This is one of the oldest claims pending before congress. It has been before the national legislature for more than a quarter of a century and has always found earnest friends as it has found determined enemies.") The motion was agreed to—yeas, 143; nays, 36. The bill has never before passed both houses. The bill was passed authorizing the secretary of the treasury to obtain, by direct selection or competition of architects, plans and specifications for public buildings to be erected under the supervision of the treasury department and providing local supervision of their construction. The senate joint resolution was passed authorizing the committee on labor to make investigation of the slums of cities. The house, at 5 o'clock, took a recess until 7:30 o'clock, the evening session to be for general debate on the world's fair feature of the sundry civil appropriation bill.

TUESDAY.—Filibustering began in the house Tuesday over a resolution reported from the committee on rules for the appointment of a committee to inquire into the administration of election laws in New York city by the United States officials. Agreed to. The house then resumed in committee of the whole consideration of the senate amendments to the sundry civil bill. The senate amendment increasing from $315,000 to $500,000 the appropriation for the government exhibit was non-concurred in—129 to 65. All the amendments increasing appropriations for the world's Columbian commission were non-concurred in in bulk. Mr Durborow moved to concur in the senate amendment appropriating $5,000,000 in souvenir 50-cent coins to aid in defraying the costs of completing the work of preparation for inaugurating the world's Columbian exposition. After several other amendments had been called up and defeated, the question recurred on Mr. Durborow's motion to concur in the senate five-million dollar amendment, and it was lost—91 to 116. The amendment was therefore non-concurred in. An amendment to the senate Sunday closing amendment was lost and a motion to strike out that amendment was ruled out of order. W. A. Stone, of Pennsylvania, moved that the committee concur in the senate Sunday closing amendment, and upon a division, much to the surprise of both sides, there was a majority in favor of the motion, the vote standing 78 to 74. Tellers were ordered and again the committee decided to concur, the vote standing 102 to 73. The announcement was received with applause. Mr. O'Neill, of Missouri, made a strenuous effort to add to the bill as a new section, a proviso making it unlawful for any officer of the government authorized to make contracts or any officer of the District of Columbia to contract with any person, firm or corporation which employs Pinkerton detectives or any other association of men as armed guards, and no employe of such agencies shall be employed in any government service or by any officer of the District of Columbia. It could not come in as a separate section without unanimous consent, and to this Mr. Oates objected. Mr. O'Neill then offered it as an amendment to the clause appropriating for capitol police. His purpose was mainly to prevent the employment of Pinkertons in the District of Columbia during the Grand Army encampment, as well as at the world's fair. After half an hour consumed in securing a quorum, the amendment was agreed to—146 to 32. The committee rose and reported the bill to the house. The recommendation of the committee in regard to senate amendments was agreed to with the exception of those amendments pertaining to lighthouses, to the geological survey, and to the world's fair. The vote then came upon the proposition to nonconcur in the senate amendment appropriating $5,000,000 for the aid of the world's Columbian exposition, and it was agreed to—yeas, 122; nays, 110. The Sunday closing amendment was then concurred in—146 to 61. A conference was ordered, and Messrs. Holman, Sayers and Bingham were appointed conferees. Mr. Forney, of Alabama, presented the conference report on the fortification appropriation bill, and it was agreed to without opposition. The senate amendments to the general deficiency bill were non-concurred in, and a conference was ordered. On motion of Mr. Wheeler, of Alabama, the bill was passed authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Tennessee river at Deposit, Ala. The house then adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.—In the house Wednesday, Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution providing that from now until the end of the session the speaker may, after the call of committees for reports, call committees for one hour, when measures on any calendar may be called up for action. Agreed to. Mr. O'Neill, of Missouri, asked that a consent session be ordered for Thursday night for the consideration of bills reported from the committee on commerce. Objected to. Under the terms of the resolution just passed the speaker proceeded to call the committees. Mr Culberson, from the committee on judiciary, called up and the house passed the senate bill providing for the holding of terms of the district court for the eastern district of South Carolina. Mr. McRae, Arkansas, from the committee on public lands, submitted the report of this committee on the Yellowstone park investigation. It was ordered printed and went over until next session. Mr. Price, from the committee on commerce, called up the senate bill to fix the compensation of keepers and crews of life-saving stations. Mr. O'Neill, of Missouri, spoke in support of the measure. "It would," he explained, "increase the salary of keepers from $700 to $900 and of members of crews from $50 to $65 per month while actually employed. The measure would involve an annual expenditure of $233,000. The bill was passed—yeas, 147; nays, 88. Mr. Price also called up the senate bill for the establishment of additional aid to navigation in Tampa Bay, Fla. Passed. Mr. Coombs of New York, from the same committee, called up, and the house considered in committee of the whole, the resolution directing the committee on commerce to investigate the alleged Reading combination. The resolution was reported favorably to the house and was adopted. Mr. Hatch called up the senate bill to provide a uniform standard of classification and grading of wheat, corn, oats, rye and barley. Mr. Warner moved to lay on the table, pending which the house adjourned, although Mr. Warner attempted, by dilatory motions, to consume the time accorded to the committee on agriculture.

THE SENATE.

FRIDAY.—The last stage of legislation was crossed in the senate Friday as to three of the principal appropriation bills—the legislative, navy and army, conference reports in each of these having been presented and agreed to. Nevertheless it was found necessary to extend for two weeks longer the joint resolution of June 30th to provide for such expenditures of the government as are not covered by bills already sent to the president. The suggestion was made to limit the time of the extension to the 25th of July on the assumption that the session would be closed by or before that time, but Mr. Allison thought it wiser not to take any chances, but pass the joint resolution as it came from the house. Most of the day's session was spent in the discussion of the fortifications bill. The bill was finally passed, leaving only the deficiency bill unacted on by the senate, and notice was given that that bill would be taken up Saturday. A number of bills were taken from the calendar and passed, among them the house bill to amend the act to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Tennessee river at Knoxville. After a short executive session the senate, at 5.50 o'clock, adjourned till Saturday.

SATURDAY.—In the senate, Saturday, after disposing of considerable routine business and bills to which no objection was raised, the general deficiency bill was taken up at 2 o'clock p. m. and the committee amendments were acted upon. The bill contains several items appropriating ridiculously small amounts. For instance, there is an item of 22 cents for "improving the harbor at San Francisco," one of 25 cents for the "marine hospital service," one of 28 cents for "improving the Missouri river," and one of 40 cents for the "repairs and preservation of public buildings." The "signal service" gets 41 cents for clothing, and "registers and receivers of the land office" are to have 60 cents for salaries and commissions. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company is to have its treasury increased by 67 cents in one item and by $447 in another, while the Atlantic and Pacific railroad is to be made the richer by $2.50. The last of the committee amendments was the insertion of a new silver section covering forty printed pages, to pay the findings of the court of claims for indemnity for French spoliation prior to July 31, 1801. These items aggregate $982,000. All items for insurance companies were struck out of the bill, and action on all items on the last twenty-three pages were suspended on the ground that they had been referred to the committee on claims and had not yet been reported upon by that committee. All of the committee amendments having been acted upon, the bill was open to general amendments. Several were offered, some adopted and others will come up again. By general consent the bill went over till Monday and the senate adjourned.

MONDAY.—In the senate, Monday, Mr. Pettigrew moved to insert an item of $50,000 for the collection and publication, in connection with the World's Columbian exposition, of statistics of moral, intellectual and industrial progress of the colored people of the United States since January, 1863. Agreed to. The bill was reported from the committee of the whole to the senate, and all the amendments were agreed to in bulk. Mr. Perkins asked unanimous consent to have struck from the bill an item of $50 000 for the widow of the late Senator Plumb, of Kansas, at the request of Mrs. Plumb. No objection being made, it was struck out, and then the deficiency bill was passed. On motion of Mr. Washburn, the anti-option bill was taken up, but was temporarily and informally laid aside for other business. Several bills on the calendar were passed, and then Mr. Peffer desired to have the resolution for a select committee on the Homestead conflict taken up for action, but Mr. Washburn objected on the ground that it would probably give rise to debate, and Mr. Cameron confirmed that objection by saying that his colleague, Mr. Quay, who was not present, desired to address the senate upon it. Opponents of the anti-option bill then interposed a series of motions, which had the character of dilatory motions, and which were also destined to oust the anti-option bill from its position of procedure. The friends of the measure were strong enough, however, to resist all these efforts, and when the senate adjourned the anti-option bill was "unfinished business."

TUESDAY—In the senate, Tuesday, after routine morning business, Mr. Gorman presented the conference report on the fortifications bill, and it was agreed to. Mr. Morgan called up the resolution offered by him on the 14th instant, directing the committee on finance to report the bill to give all paper money issued by the United States as legal tender for debts, and to all standard silver dollars full legal tender given by law to coins of gold, and addressed the senate in explanation and advocacy of it. The resolution went over without action, and, at 2 o'clock p. m., the anti-option bill was laid before the senate. Mr. Walcott said that he did not know of any more important question to be considered by the senate than the resolution which had just been under discussion, and he moved that the senate again proceed to its consideration. Mr. Washburn asked the presiding officers, as a parliamentary question, the effect of Mr. Wolcott's motion, if it were carried. He was told by the presiding officer, Mr. Manderson, that it would displace the anti option bill, and by Mr. Cockrell that it would kill the bill. The motion was rejected—yeas, 7; nays, 50. The presiding officer laid before the senate a message from the president returning, without his approval, the senate bill to amend the act establishing a circuit court of appeals and to define and regulate the jurisdiction of United States courts in the matter of Indian depredation claims. The message was referred to the judiciary committee. The anti-option bill was again taken up and was read in full by the clerk. Sundry amendments to the bill were presented. The senate proceeded to vote on amendments heretofore offered by Mr. Washburn, and they were all agreed to without question. A substitute was offered for the bill by Mr. George on part of himself, Mr. Coke and Mr. Pugh. The substitute was ordered printed. The bill was then laid aside informally and a reprint was ordered with the amendments agreed to and those proposed. After disposing of a number of bills on the calendar a message announcing the action of the house on the sundry civil appropriation bill was laid before the senate, including the house provision in relation to the Pinkerton detective force. Mr. Allison said in regard to the latter that he had no doubt of its meeting the approval of the senate, but that its phraseology might have to be modified and that it should be in its appropriate place. On his motion, therefore, that amendment was disagreed to and a conference then agreed to on the whole bill. Messrs. Allison, Hale and Gorman were appointed conferees on the part of the senate. After a short extra session, the senate at 6:05 o'clock adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.—The first two hours of the senate, Wednesday, were occupied in discussion of the bill to permit the Pagallup Indians in the state of Washington to alien a portion of their lands in the neighborhood of Tacoma. The matter was still under discussion when, at 2 o'clock, the anti-option bill came up as unfinished business. Mr. Vest assailed the measure as an undue stretch of the constitution, as an attempt on the part of congress to exercise police powers within the states and as a delusion to farmers, whose interest he said it was masking. He declared it to be one of the most pernicious measures that had come before congress during fourteen years of his service. Mr. Vest, in the course of further remarks, denounced the bill as a "bold, wicked, legislative highwayman, booted and spurred." Other senators might find that they could, under some sort of excuse, vote for such a bill, but he was unable to do so. It could not be amended, because it was vicious in principle. It was an attempt to meet the popular demand, but that demand was, in his judgment, not based on the real condition of affairs. Mr. Washburn defended the bill from some of Mr. Vest's thrusts; and, as several other senators took part in the discussion, interest in the measure was well maintained for over three hours. Mr. Daniel had the floor, and was arguing against it on somewhat the same lines as Mr. Vest had done, when the hour of adjournment came. He gave notice that he would move to strike out sections 12 and 18. The bill was laid aside without action. A conference was ordered on the deficiency bill, and Messrs. Hale, Allison and Cockrell were appointed conferees on the part of the senate. After a short executive session, the senate, at 5:30 o'clock, adjourned.

NOTES.

Under authority conferred by the senate resolution directing an investigation of the existence and cause of the depression in agriculture by the senate agricultural committee, Senator George has been designated by Chairman Paddock to act as a subcommittee to investigate the cotton-growing industry, and Mr. Casey has been charged with the inquiry into other branches of agriculture. They will report to the full committee at the next session of congress.

The Pilotage Bill.

Opponents of the bill exempting coastwise sailing vessels from paying state pilotage fees may rest assured that no legislation will be enacted by congress at this session detrimental to their interest. The commerce committee of the house decided Friday to postpone all further consideration of the measure until the next session. The bill has been before congress for many years and has several times passed the senate, but invariably meets with opposition in the house. As the law now stands, vessels are compelled to pay a pilotage fee on leaving and entering certain ports, principally those of Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia, even when they do not require the services of a pilot. Opposition to the bill comes mainly from southern pilots, who would be injuriously affected if it should become a law.

THE OFFICIAL REPORT

In Regard to Affairs in Idaho—Wholesale Arrests.

A Washington dispatch says: General Schofield has received a telegram from Colonel Carlin, Fourth Infantry, dated Wardner Friday, saying: "Arrests by order of the governor of Idaho commence today and will continue until the governor stops them. Mullane, Wallace, Osborne and Wardner are strongly garrisoned. The Twenty-second Infantry occupied Mullane today. No property was destroyed here or elsewhere by the rioters in consequence of my delay at Cataldo, but all was saved by that delay. I was most urgently begged by the manager of the principal mine, V. M. Clements, to delay till his surrendered miners should get out of the place. He believes men would have been murdered and his mine and mill destroyed. A ton and a half of dynamite was placed in the mill by the rioters to blow it up and burn it. When his non-union men had left the place, on cars, the giant powder was removed from the mill and all the property placed in his possession. Everything is progressing favorably."

THE CHOLERA RECORD.

Alarming Spread of the Disease in France and Russia.

A cablegram of Friday from Paris states that there have been five additional cases of cholerine at Stoven and two deaths from the disease. Two deaths from cholerine are reported at Clychy, and another at Asnieres.

From St. Petersburg—The official report gives the following figures as the number of deaths from cholera July 12th: Astrakhan, 227; Baku, 48; Tsaritsin, 46; Saratoff, 24; Samara, 11.

From London—The authorities in Whitehall regard the state of affairs in Paris with the greatest suspicion. The urgency of the situation is accentuated by the fact that the issue of French official records suddenly ceased three weeks ago. Reports of cholera received from eastern Europe are also very disquieting. The intended holding of a great fair at Nijahi Novgorod is regarded as a serious matter, tending to widespread diffusion of the epidemic.

OUR BILL AGAINST CHILI.

The Amount She Will Pay for Attacking the Baltimore's Crew.

According to a Washington telegram of Tuesday the secretary of state announces that an entirely cordial and mutually satisfactory settlement has been reached between the governments of the United States and Chili respecting the indemnity to be paid by the latter on account of the assault upon the crew of the Baltimore. Seventy-five thousand dollars in gold is to be distributed among the families of the two men who lost their lives and to surviving members of the crew who were wounded.

A NEW JUSTICE

In the Person of Mr. Shiras Appointed by President Harrison.

Mr. Shiras is a leading member of the bar of Pittsburg, where he was born sixty years ago. He was a member of the famous class of '53 at Yale and graduated with distinguished honors, and after studying law was admitted to practice in 1856 in Pittsburg, where he has since resided. He has never held public office, nor has he ever served on the bench.

YELLOW FEVER IN MEXICO

Spreading Rapidly and Many Deaths Occurring.

Dispatches of Tuesday from the City of Mexico state that the yellow fever scourge continues unabated at Vera Cruz, and the rate of mortality is alarmingly large. Hundreds of people are leaving the city. In the foreign colony there have been many deaths, and those who escape the quarantine regulations left their homes and scurried to this city and the interior. The government has established strict quarantine regulations.

A Washington dispatch of Wednesday says: Louis E. McComas, of Maryland has been appointed by Chairman Carter secretary of the national republican committee. Mr. McComas has accepted the position and will begin the discharge of its duties in New York city forthwith.

A New York dispatch of Wednesday says: Negotiations have begun between the firms of F. W. Devo & Co. and C. T. Reynolds & Co., the largest dealers in paints in the world, for the purpose of consolidation. It is probable there will be a five million dollar capitalization.

The ocean record has again been beaten. The Cunarder Aurania beat the Alaska, of the Guion line, from Queenstown two hours and fifteen minutes. The Alaska left Queenstown July 10th, forty-five minutes ahead of the Aurania, and reached her pier in New York Sunday, one hour and a half behind her opponent. The race proves the Aurania the faster, notwithstanding she is the heavier of the two.

A Washington dispatch of Sunday says: When the democratic nominees for president and vice president are formally notified of the action of the Chicago convention by the committee appointed for that purpose, each will receive a substantial remembrance of the event. This remembrance will be a copy of the democratic platform handsomely engrossed on parchment, and bound in pure white buckskin.

Dispatches from Pittsburg state that the Beaver Falls employes of Carnegie's kept their threat and did not go to work Monday morning. Consequently the mill did not resume. The men are orderly and stand about the streets talking in low and guarded tones. Many of the strikers think the move made last Friday was not wise, and admit this, but remain firm in their determination to adhere to the stand taken.

The chamber of commerce of Grand Forks at a meeting held Wednesday, selected September 1 and 2 as the date the international reciprocity committee will be held in that city. Arrangements will be made for an attendance of 1,000 delegates. Invitations will be issued to the board of trades in all the societies of the northwestern states. Among the speakers invited are Erastus Wiman, Ben Butterworth and Council Taylor.

President Harrison issued a proclamation Saturday setting forth the disturbed condition of society in Idaho, resulting in a call upon the federal authorities for assistance and commanding "all persons engaged in said insurrection and in resistance to the laws to immediately disperse and retire peaceably to their abodes." The proclamation was telegraphed to the military authorities in Idaho with instructions to promulgate it.

A band of 160 reapers, men and women, employed at Baber, Hungary, struck Tuesday for an increase in wages. When their demands were refused they became riotous. They offered battle to the gendarmes and stabbed the officer in command. The gendarmes then gave battle in earnest and twelve of the rioters were killed and many more wounded. The rioters were well armed, fighting in skirmish fashion, and it required forty-two rounds from the gendarmes' rifles to win the fight.

Papers were filed Tuesday in the United States circuit court of New York city for the removal of the suit of the Western National bank, of New York, against the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company from that state supreme court to the United States circuit court. The suit is begun for the recovery of a promissory note given on January 18, 1892, by the Danville company, by Walter G. Oakman, for $200,000. The note fell due on June 21st, and the amount, with interest due since that date, is involved.

The steamer Enchantress, Capt. Hammond, from Santos and Perambuco, was detained at quarantine at New York Sunday for examination and disinfection. During the voyage from Santos to Perambuco Capt. Hammond and Purser A. E. Foster were stricken with yellow fever. They died and were buried at sea. Immediately following the death of Hammond and Foster, Steward Wamsley, the second and third engineers, Pottinger and Parks, were stricken with the disease and all but the latter died.

A grand reception was given in St. Petersburg, Russia, Monday, to officers of the steamer Leo, from New York which recently arrived at that port with a large quantity of food for the starving peasants in the famine-stricken sections of the country. A richly bound address of thanks for the noble and timely gift to the stricken people was presented to the officers. Addresses were made by a number of those present, including Dr. Talmage and Count Bobrinsky, who is counsellor of state and who also holds other high offices.

Against a Mercantile Agency.

Judge Shipman, of the United States circuit court at New York handed down an opinion Saturday denying the motion for a new trial made by R. G. Dun & Co., of New York city, in the case of a bank of Birmingham, Ala., against the mercantile agency for Dun & Co. The suit was to recover losses sustained by the bank through a report received from the agency as to the standing of W. A. Kitts, of Oswego. The bank gave Kitts credit on Dun's report. The court holds that the agency is responsible for the result of the report of its agent.

Returning to Work.

Hughes & Patterson's iron work at Philadelphia, after a lockout since July 1st, of the Amalgamated Iron and Steel workers, who had been its employes, resumed work Monday morning in one of the mills which it operates with a score of hands, constituting about 4 per cent of all the men employed when the plant is in full operation. Seventeen men are professedly non-unionists and three are men who have deserted the union and returned to work. No trouble thus far.

Will Fly the Stars and Bars.

It was announced at Philadelphia, Monday, that Clement A. Griscom, president of the International Navigation Company, who is now in London, has completed negotiations with the British government for the formal transfer of the steamships, City of Paris and City of New York, from the English registry to the American registry. These steamships will be admitted to the American registry immediately and hereafter fly the stars and stripes.

The Stockholders Must Pay.

Receiver Beall, of the Maverick bank at Boston, Mass., received papers from Acting Comptroller of Currency Nixon, Monday, ordering an assessment of $400,000 on the stockholders of the bank. The assessment is for the full limit allowed by law. The stockholders are given till August 12th to pay it, after which Receiver Beall will enforce the assessment by writs of law

The Messenger Suspected.

THE HOUSE.

FRIDAY.—In the house Friday, Mr Enloe, of Tennessee, called up as a matter of privilege the resolution calling on the postmaster general for a report as to al new service established on railroads since March 4, 1889, together with copies of a correspondence on the subject. This resolution was offered some time ago and referred to the committee on postoffices and postroads, but was not reported back. Mr. Enloe explained that complaint was made that in the exercise of his power the postmaster general had discriminated in favor of some railroads and against others. The house should know whether the complaints were well founded. The Republicans desired that the report should go back to March 4, 1885, and when Mr. Enloe declined an amendment to that effect they declined to vote on a demand for the previous qu stion. The previous question was ordered—yeas, 169; nays, 3—and the resolution was adopted. The conference report on the army appropriation bill was presented and agreed to. The house went into committee of the whole—Mr. Lester, of Georgia, in the chair—for the purpose of considering the senate amendments to the sundry civil appropriation bill, 312 in number. All the amendments except those relating to the world's fair were read and non-concurred in. Mr. Holman then asked consent that general debate on the world' fair amendments shall proceed for the day and Saturday, speeches to be limited to half hour, and that a vote shall be taken at 12 o'clock Tuesday, agreed to Immediately the chairman was surrounded by members desirous of having their names recorded upon the list of speakers, and for ten minutes the noise and confusion was so great that business had to be suspended. When comparative quiet had been secured, the floor was accorded to Mr. Durborow, of Illinois, who opened the debate upon the world's fair amendments. Other speakers were Messrs. McCreary, of Kentucky; Pendleton, of West Virginia; Little, of New York; Taylor, of Illinois, and Wheeler, of Alabama. The committee then rose and the house took a recess until 8 o'clock, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

SATURDAY.—In the house, senate amendments to the fortification appropriation bill were non-concurred in and a conference ordered. The house then proceeded to the consideration of a number of private pension bills which came over from Friday night with the previous question ordered. Sixty-four private pension bills were passed, and then the house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Lester, of Georgia, in the chair, on the senate amendments to the sundry civil appropriation bill. A number of speeches were made both for and against the different amendments. No vote was reached upon anything connected with the sundry civil bill, and the house adjourned.

MONDAY—Suspension day in the house, but unlike its predecessor of a fortnight ago, no great party measures were brought forward. Mr. Lester, of Georgia, moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill for the improvement of the outer bar at Brunswick, Ga. Agreed to. Mr. Smith, of Arizona, moved to suspend the rules and pass the senate bill submitting to the court of private land claims the title of William McGarrahan to Rancho Panoche Grande, in the state of California. (This is one of the oldest claims pending before congress. It has been before the national legislature for more than a quarter of a century and has always found earnest friends as it has found determined enemies.") The motion was agreed to—yeas, 143; nays, 36. The bill has never before passed both houses. The bill was passed authorizing the secretary of the treasury to obtain, by direct selection or competition of architects, plans and specifications for public buildings to be erected under the supervision of the treasury department and providing local supervision of their construction. The senate joint resolution was passed authorizing the committee on labor to make investigation of the slums of cities. The house, at 5 o'clock, took a recess until 7:30 o'clock, the evening session to be for general debate on the world's fair feature of the sundry civil appropriation bill.

TUESDAY.—Filibustering began in the house Tuesday over a resolution reported from the committee on rules for the appointment of a committee to inquire into the administration of election laws in New York city by the United States officials. Agreed to. The house then resumed in committee of the whole consideration of the senate amendments to the sundry civil bill. The senate amendment increasing from $315,000 to $500,000 the appropriation for the government exhibit was non-concurred in—129 to 65. All the amendments increasing appropriations for the world's Columbian commission were non-concurred in in bulk. Mr. Durborow moved to concur in the senate amendment appropriating $5,000,000 in souvenir 50-cent coins to aid in defraying the costs of completing the work of preparation for inaugurating the world's Columbian exposition. After several other amendments had been called up and defeated, the question recurred on Mr. Durborow's motion to concur in the senate five-million dollar amendment, and it was lost—91 to 116. The amendment was therefore non-concurred in. An amendment to the senate Sunday closing amendment was lost and a motion to strike out that amendment was ruled out of order. W. A. Stone, of Pennsylvania, moved that the committee concur in the senate Sunday closing amendment, and upon a division, much to the surprise of both sides, there was a majority in favor of the motion, the vote standing 78 to 74. Tellers were ordered and again the committee decided to concur, the vote standing 102 to 72. The announcement was received with applause. Mr. O'Neill, of Missouri, made a strenuous effort to add to the bill as a new section, a proviso making it unlawful for any officer of the government authorized to make contracts or any officer of the District of Columbia to contract with any person, firm or corporation which employs Pinkerton detectives or any other association of men as armed guards, and no employe of such agencies shall be employed in any government service or by any officer of the District of Columbia. It could not come in as a separate section without unanimous consent, and to this Mr. Oates objected. Mr. O'Neill then offered it as an amendment to the clause appropriating for capitol police. His purpose was mainly to prevent the employment of Pinkertons in the District of Columbia during the Grand Army encampment, as well as at the world's fair. After half an hour consumed in securing a quorum, the amendment was agreed to—146 to 22. The committee rose and reported the bill to the house. The recommendation of the committee in regard to senate amendments was agreed to with the exception of those amendments pertaining to lighthouses, to the geological survey, and to the world's fair. The vote then came upon the proposition to nonconcur in the senate amendment appropriating $5,000,000 for the aid of the world's Columbian exposition, and it was agreed to—yeas, 122; nays, 110. The Sunday closing amendment was then concurred in—146 to 61. A conference was ordered, and Messrs. Holman, Sayers and Bingham were appointed conferees. Mr. Forney, of Alabama, presented the conference report on the fortification appropriation bill, and it was agreed to without opposition. The senate amendments to the general deficiency bill were non-concurred in, and a conference was ordered. On motion of Mr. Wheeler, of Alabama, the bill was passed authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Tennessee river at Deposit, Ala. The house then adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.—In the house Wednesday, Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution providing that from now until the end of the session the speaker may, after the call of committees for reports, call committees for one hour, when measures on any calendar may be called up for action. Agreed to. Mr. O'Neill, of Missouri, asked that a consent session be ordered for Thursday night for the consideration of bills reported from the committee on commerce. Objected to. Under the terms of the resolution just passed the speaker proceeded to call the committees. Mr Culberson, from the committee on judiciary, called up and the house passed the senate bill providing for the holding of terms of the district court for the eastern district of South Carolina. Mr. McRae, Arkansas, from the committee on public lands, submitted the report of this committee on the Yellowstone park investigation. It was ordered printed and went over until next session. Mr. Price, from the committee on commerce, called up the senate bill to fix the compensation of keepers and crews of life-saving stations. Mr. O'Neill, of Missouri, spoke in support of the measure. "It would," he explained, "increase the salary of keepers from $700 to $900 and of members of crews from $50 to $65 per month while actually employed. The measure would involve an annual expenditure of $238,000. The bill was passed—yeas, 147; nays, 88. Mr. Price also called up the senate bill for the establishment of additional aid to navigation in Tampa Bay, Fla. Passed. Mr. Coombs of New York, from the same committee, called up, and the house considered in committee of the whole, the resolution directing the committee on commerce to investigate the alleged Reading combination. The resolution was reported favorably to the house and was adopted. Mr. Hatch called up the senate bill to provide a uniform standard of classification and grading of wheat, corn, oats, rye and barley. Mr. Warner moved to lay on the table, pending which the house adjourned, although Mr. Warner attempted, by dilatory motions, to consume the time accorded to the committee on agriculture.

THE SENATE.

FRIDAY.—The last stage of legislation was crossed in the senate Friday as to three of the principal appropriation bills—the legislative, navy and army, conference reports in each of these having been presented and agreed to. Nevertheless it was found necessary to extend for two weeks longer the joint resolution of June 30th to provide for such expenditures of the government as are not covered by bills already sent to the president. The suggestion was made to limit the time of the extension to the 25th of July on the assumption that the session would be closed by or before that time, but Mr. Allison thought it wiser not to take any chances, but pass the joint resolution as it came from the house. Most of the day's session was spent in the discussion of the fort fications bill. The bill was finally passed, leaving only the deficiency bill unacted on by the senate, and notice was given that that bill would be taken up Saturday. A number of bills were taken from the calendar and passed, among them the house bill to amend the act to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Tennessee river at Knoxville. After a short executive session the senate, at 5.50 o'clock, adjourned till Saturday.

SATURDAY.—In the senate, Saturday, after disposing of considerable routine business and bills to which no objection was raised, the general deficiency bill was taken up at 2 o'clock p. m. and the committee amendments were acted upon. The bill contains several items appropriating ridiculously small amounts. For instance, there is an item of .22 cents for "improving the harbor at San Francisco," one of 25 cents for the "marine hospital service," one of 28 cents for "improving the Missouri river," and one of 40 cents for the "repairs and preservation of public buildings." The "signal service" gets 41 cents for clothing, and "registers and receivers of the land office" are to have 60 cents for salaries and commissions. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company is to have its treasury increased by 67 cents in one item and by $447 in another, while the Atlantic and Pacific railroad is to be made the richer by $2.50. The last of the committee amendments was the insertion of a new silver section covering forty printed pages, to pay the findings of the court of claims for indemnity for French spoliation prior to July 31, 1801. These items aggregate $982,000. All items for insurance companies were struck out of the bill, and action on all items on the last twenty-three pages were suspended on the ground that they had been referred to the committee on claims and had not yet been reported upon by that committee. All of the committee amendments having been acted upon, the bill was open to general amendments. Several were offered, some adopted and others will come up again. By general consent the bill went over till Monday and the senate adjourned.

MONDAY.—In the senate, Monday, Mr. Pettigrew moved to insert an item of $50,000 for the collection and publication, in connection with the World's Columbian exposition, of statistics of moral, intellectual and industrial progress of the colored people of the United States since January, 1863. Agreed to. The bill was reported from the committee of the whole to the senate, and all the amendments were agreed to in bulk. Mr. Perkins asked unanimous consent to have struck from the bill an item of $50 000 for the widow of the late Senator Plumb, of Kansas, at the request of Mrs. Plumb. No objection being made, it was struck out, and then the deficiency bill was passed. On motion of Mr. Washburn, the anti-option bill was taken up, but was temporarily and informally laid aside for other business. Several bills on the calendar were passed, and then Mr. Peffer desired to have the resolution for a select committee on the Homestead conflict taken up for action, but Mr. Washburn objected on the ground that it would probably give rise to debate, and Mr. Cameron confirmed that objection by saying that his colleague, Mr. Quay, who was not present, desired to address the senate upon it. Opponents of the anti-option bill then interposed a series of motions, which had the character of dilatory motions, and which were also destined to oust the anti-option bill from its position of procedure. The friends of the measure were strong enough, however, to resist all these efforts, and when the senate adjourned the anti-option bill was "unfinished business."

TUESDAY—In the senate, Tuesday, after routine morning business, Mr. Gorman presented the conference report on the fortifications bill, and it was agreed to. Mr. Morgan called up the resolution offered by him on the 14th instant, directing the committee on finance to report the bill to give all paper money issued by the United States as legal tender for debts, and to all standard silver dollars full legal tender given by law to coins of gold, and addressed the senate in explanation and advocacy of it. The resolution went over without action, and, at 2 o'clock p. m., the anti-option bill was laid before the senate. Mr. Walcott said that he did not know of any more important question to be considered by the senate than the resolution which had just been under discussion, and he moved that the senate again proceed to its consideration. Mr. Washburn asked the presiding officers, as a parliamentary question, the effect of Mr. Wolcott's motion, if it were carried. He was told by the presiding officer, Mr. Manderson, that it would displace the anti-option bill, and by Mr. Cockrell that it would kill the bill. The motion was rejected—yeas, 7; nays, 50. The presiding officer laid before the senate a message, from the president returning, without his approval, the senate bill to amend the act establishing a circuit court of appeals and to define and regulate the jurisdiction of United States courts in the matter of Indian depredation claims. The message was referred to the judiciary committee. The anti-option bill was again taken up and was read in full by the clerk. Sundry amendments to the bill were presented. The senate proceeded to vote on amendments heretofore offered by Mr. Washburn, and they were all agreed to without question. A substitute was offered for the bill by Mr. George on part of himself, Mr. Coke and Mr. Pugh. The substitute was ordered printed. The bill was then laid aside informally and a reprint was ordered with the amendments agreed to and those proposed. After disposing of a number of bills on the calendar a message announcing the action of the house on the sundry civil appropriation bill was laid before the senate, including the house provision in relation to the Pinkerton detective force. Mr. Allison said in regard to the latter that he had no doubt of its meeting the approval of the senate, but that its phraseology might have to be modified and that it should be in its appropriate place. On his motion, therefore, that amendment was disagreed to and a conference then agreed to on the whole bill. Messrs. Allison, Hale and Gorman were appointed conferees on the part of the senate. After a short extra session, the senate at 6:05 o'clock adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.—The first two hours of the senate, Wednesday, were occupied in discussion of the bill to permit the Pagallup Indians in the state of Washington to allen a portion of their lands in the neighborhood of Tacoma. The matter was still under discussion when, at 2 o'clock, the anti-option bill came up as unfinished business. Mr. Vest assailed the measure as an undue stretch of the constitution, as an attempt on the part of congress to exercise police powers within the states and as a delusion to farmers, whose interest he said it was masking. He declared it to be one of the most pernicious measures that had come before congress during fourteen years of his service. Mr. Vest, in the course of further remarks, denounced the bill as a "bold, wicked, legislative highwayman, booted and spurred." Other senators might find that they could, under some sort of excuse, vote for such a bill, but he was unable to do so. It could not be amended, because it was vicious in principle. It was an attempt to meet the popular demand, but that demand was, in his judgment, not based on the real condition of affairs. Mr. Washburn defended the bill from some of Mr. Vest's thrusts; and, as several other senators took part in the discussion, interest in the measure was well maintained for over three hours. Mr. Daniel had the floor, and was arguing against it on somewhat the same lines as Mr. Vest had done, when the hour of adjournment came. He gave notice that he would move to strike out sections 19 and 18. The bill was laid aside without action. A conference was ordered on the deficiency bill, and Messrs. Hale, Allison and Cockrell were appointed conferees on the part of the senate. After a short executive session, the senate, at 5:30 o'clock, adjourned.

NOTES.

Under authority conferred by the senate resolution directing an investigation of the existence and cause of the depression in agriculture by the senate agricultural committee, Senator George has been designated by Chairman Paddock to act as a subcommittee to investigate the cotton-growing industry, and Mr. Casey has been charged with the inquiry into other branches of agriculture. They will report to the full committee at the next session of congress.

The Pilotage Bill.

Opponents of the bill exempting coastwise sailing vessels from paying state pilotage fees may rest assured that no legislation will be enacted by congress at this session detrimental to their interest. The commerce committee of the house decided Friday to postpone all further consideration of the measure until the next session. The bill has been before congress for many years and has several times passed the senate, but invariably meets with opposition in the house. As the law now stands, vessels are compelled to pay a pilotage fee on leaving and entering certain ports, principally those of Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia, even when they do not require the services of a pilot. Opposition to the bill comes mainly from southern pilots, who would be injuriously affected if it should become a law.

THE OFFICIAL REPORT

In Regard to Affairs in Idaho—Wholesale Arrests.

A Washington dispatch says: General Schofield has received a telegram from Colonel Carlin, Fourth Infantry, dated Wardner Friday, saying: "Arrests by order of the governor of Idaho commence today and will continue until the governor stops them. Mullane, Wallace, Osborne and Wardner are strongly garrisoned. The Twenty-second Infantry occupied Mullane today. No property was destroyed here or elsewhere by the rioters in consequence of my delay at Cataldo, but all was saved by that delay. I was most urgently begged by the manager of the principal mine, V. M. Clements, to delay till his surrendered miners should get out of the place. He believes men would have been murdered and his mine and mill destroyed. A ton and a half of dynamite was placed in the mill by the rioters to blow it up and burn it. When his non-union men had left the place, on cars, the giant powder was removed from the mill and all the property placed in his possession. Everything is progressing favorably."

THE CHOLERA RECORD.

Alarming Spread of the Disease in France and Russia.

A cablegram of Friday from Paris states that there have been five additional cases of cholerine at Stoven and two deaths from the disease. Two deaths from cholerine are reported at Olycby, and another at Asnieres.

From St. Petersburg—The official report gives the following figures as the number of deaths from cholera July 12th: Astrakhan, 227; Baku, 48; Tsaritsin, 46; Saratoff, 24; Samara, 11.

From London—The authorities in Whitehall regard the state of affairs in Paris with the greatest suspicion. The urgency of the situation is accentuated by the fact that the issue of French official records suddenly ceased three weeks ago. Reports of cholera received from eastern Europe are also very disquieting. The intended holding of a great fair at Nijahi Novgorod is regarded as a serious matter, tending to widespread diffusion of the epidemic.

OUR BILL AGAINST CHILI.

The Amount She Will Pay for Attacking the Baltimore's Crew.

According to a Washington telegram of Tuesday the secretary of state announces that an entirely cordial and mutually satisfactory settlement has been reached between the governments of the United States and Chili respecting the indemnity to be paid by the latter on account of the assault upon the crew of the Baltimore. Seventy-five thousand dollars in gold is to be distributed among the families of the two men who lost their lives and to surviving members of the crew who were wounded.

A NEW JUSTICE

In the Person of Mr. Shiras Appointed by President Harrison.

Mr. Shiras is a leading member of the bar of Pittsburg, where he was born sixty years ago. He was a member of the famous class of '52 at Yale and graduated with distinguished honors, and after studying law was admitted to practice in 1856 in Pittsburg, where he has since resided. He has never held public office, nor has he ever served on the bench.

YELLOW FEVER IN MEXICO

Spreading Rapidly and Many Deaths Occurring.

Dispatches of Tuesday from the City of Mexico state that the yellow fever scourge continues unabated at Vera Cruz, and the rate of mortality is alarmingly large. Hundreds of people are leaving the city. In the foreign colony there have been many deaths, and those who escape the quarantine regulations left their homes and escaped to this city and the interior. The government has established strict quarantine regulations.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Happenings of the Day Culled from Our Telegraphic and Cable Dispatches.

WHAT IS TRANSPIRING THROUGHOUT OUR OWN COUNTRY, AND NOTES OF INTEREST FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

Sunday's mortuary register of the city of Paris shows ten deaths in northern Paris attributed to cholera.

The factory of the Western Linoleum company, at Akron, O., was burned Sunday. The loss is $100,000, fully insured. Cause unknown.

W. J. Stone, of Nevada, Vernon county, was nominated for governor by the democrats in meeting at Jefferson City Wednesday night on the nineteenth ballot.

As a result of the reapportionment of New York city, the republicans secure three districts, just what they had hitherto, and a fighting chance in two or three others.

A cablegram of Wednesday from Havana says: It is stated that several American capitalists have formed a syndicate for starting a large central sugar establishment near Trinidad.

Cleveland stockyards buildings at Cleveland, O., were entirely destroyed by fire Monday afternoon. The only thing saved is the stockyards hotel. The loss will be from $100,0000 to $150,000.

A dispatch of Wednesday says: Judn Romero, the representative of a syndicate of Cuban sugar planters, is in Philadelphia conferring with several prominent capitalists and sugar men with a view to form a large sugar company.

Advices of Sunday from Paris state that Senator Baron de Courcelles, formerly French embassador at Berlin, has been appointed French arbitrator on the Behring sea arbitration commission. The arbitrators will meet in Paris next week.

A Washington dispatch of Wednesday says: Louis E. McComas, of Maryland, has been appointed by Chairman Carter secretary of the national republican committee. Mr. McComas has accepted the position and will begin the discharge of its duties in New York city forthwith.

A New York dispatch of Wednesday says: Negotiations have begun between the firms of F. W. Devo & Co. and C. T. Reynolds & Co., the largest dealers in paints in the world, for the purpose of consolidation. It is probable there will be a five million dollar capitalization.

The ocean record has again been beaten. The Cunarder Aurania beat the Alaska, of the Guion line, from Queenstown two hours and fifteen minutes. The Alaska left Queenstown July 10th, forty-five minutes ahead of the Aurania, and reached her pier in New York Sunday, one hour and a half behind her opponent. The race proves the Aurania the faster, notwithstanding she is the heavier of the two.

A Washington dispatch of Sunday says: When the democratic nominees for president and vice president are formally notified of the action of the Chicago convention by the committee appointed for that purpose, each will receive a substantial remembrance of the event. This remembrance will be a copy of the democratic platform handsomely engrossed on parchment, and bound in pure white buckskin.

Dispatches from Pittsburg state that the Beaver Falls employes of Carnegie's kept their threat and did not go to work Monday morning. Consequently the mill did not resume. The men are orderly and stand about the streets talking in low and guarded toned. Many of the strikers think the move made last Friday was not wise, and admit this, but remain firm in their determination to adhere to the stand taken.

The chamber of commerce of Grand Forks at a meeting held Wednesday, selected September 1 and 2 as the date the international reciprocity committee will be held in that city. Arrangements will be made for an attendance of 1,000 delegates. Invitations will be issued to the board of trades in all the societies of the northwestern states. Among the speakers invited are Erastus Wiman, Bee Butterworth and Council Taylor.

President Harrison issued a proclamation Saturday setting forth the disturbed condition of society in Idaho, resulting in a call upon the federal authorities for assistance and commanding "all persons engaged in said insurrection and in resistance to the laws to immediately disperse and retire peaceably to their abodes." The proclamation was telegraphed to the military authorities in Idaho with instructions to promulgate it.

A band of 100 rapers, men and women, employed at Bisar, Hungary, struck Tuesday for an increase in wages. When their demands were refused they became riotous. They offered battle to the gendarmes and stabbed the officer in command. The gendarmes then gave battle in earnest and twelve of the rioters were killed and many more wounded. The rioters were well armed, fighting in skirmish fashion, and it required forty-two rounds from the gendarmes' rifles to win the fight.

Papers were filed Tuesday in the United States circuit court of New York city for the removal of the suit of the Western National bank, of New York, against the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company from that state supreme court to the United States circuit court. The suit is begun for the recovery of a promissory note given on January 18, 1892, by the Danville company, by Walter G. Oakman, for $200,000. The note fell due on June 21st, and the amount, with interest due since that date, is involved.

The steamer Enchantress, Capt. Hammond, from Santos and Perambuco, was detained at quarantine at New York Sunday for examination and disinfection. During the voyage from Santos to Perambuco Capt. Hammond and Purser A. E. Foster were stricken with yellow fever. They died and were buried at sea. Immediately following the death of Hammond and Foster, Steward Wamsley, the second and third engineers, Pottinger and Parks, were stricken with the disease and all but the latter died.

A grand reception was given in St. Petersburg, Russia, Monday, to officers of the steamer Leo, from New York, which recently arrived at that port with a large quantity of food for the starving peasants in the famine-stricken sections of the country. A richly bound address of thanks for the noble and timely gift to the stricken people was presented to the officers. Addresses were made by a number of those present, including Dr. Talmage and Count Bobrinsky, who is counsellor of state and who also holds other high offices.

Against a Mercantile Agency.

Judge Shipman, of the United States circuit court at New York handed down an opinion Saturday denying the motion for a new trial made by R. G. Dun & Co., of New York city, in the case of a bank of Birmingham, Ala., against the mercantile agency for Dun & Co. The suit was to recover losses sustained by the bank through a report received from the agency as to the standing of W. A. Kitts, of Oswego. The bank gave Kitts credit on Dun's report. The court holds that the agency is responsible for the result of the report of its agent.

Returning to Work.

Hughes & Patterson's iron work at Philadelphia, after a lockout since July 1st, of the Amalgamated Iron and Steel workers, who had been its employes, resumed work Monday morning in one of the mills which it operates with a score of hands, constituting about 4 per cent of all the men employed when the plant is in full operation. Seventeen men are professedly non-unionists and three are men who have deserted the union and returned to work. No trouble thus far.

Will Fly the Stars and Bars.

It was announced at Philadelphia, Monday, that Clement A. Griscom, president of the International Navigation Company, who is now in London, has completed negotiations with the British government for the formal transfer of the steamships, City of Paris and City of New York, from the English registry to the American registry. These steamships will be admitted to the American registry immediately and hereafter fly the stars and stripes.

The Stockholders Must Pay.

Receiver Beall, of the Maverick bank at Boston, Mass., received papers from Acting Comptroller of Currency Nixon, Monday, ordering an assessment of $400,000 on the stockholders of the bank. The assessment is for the full limit allowed by law. The stockholders are given till August 12th to pay it, after which Receiver Beall will enforce the assessment by writs of law.

The Messenger Suspected.

A telegram of Monday from St. Louis states that George P. Williams, the messenger who was in charge of the express company's car, which was robbed at Adair, I. T., Thursday night last by the Dalton gang, has been suspended pending an examination by the company.

NEVER IN A PROPER CONDITION.

"Captain," said Mrs. Trotter to the commander of an ocean steamer, "have you ever seen the sea serpent?"

"No, madam," replied the old sea dog. "I don't drink."

OUT OF SIGHT.

Miss Blossom—I didn't see you at the Barclay ball.

Miss Budd—It was probably because I was surrounded by men all the time.

Speakers are all over the woods this week "whooping 'em up" for the Democratic ticket.

Marvin Index: What has Captain Kolb done for the white people of Alabama that they should fall upon and destroy each other that he might obtain office?

Alabama's congressmen are spending the heated term in Washington. Too hot politically and otherwise to come home just now. Herbert is the exception.

As a good deal is being said about the negro vote in this county and a good deal more being hinted, it might be just as well to bear in mind that the negroes hold no balance of power in Chilton, and their votes are not worth the seeking so far as the county tickets are concerned.

The rules formulated by the Democratic State committee are not oppressive to those who can see the necessity of preserving the Democratic organization in Alabama; nor to those who, seeking preferment at the hands of the party, are not averse to giving evidence of their fidelity to the party.—Livingston Journal.

A people's party paper called the Freeman, published at Sumpter, S. C., the former home of P. G. Bowman, has the following to say of its chief disciple in Alabama:

Sumpter's old pest, P. G. Bowman, Esq., is running the Alliance campaign in Alabama. God have mercy upon any good cause entrusted to P. G. Bowman's leadership! Reforms are often lead by unworthy men, especially in their earliest stages; but when such men as Bowman get at the head of affairs horrible calamities are in full sight. We have our trials, as reformers, on account of unscrupulous leadership in this county and state; but nothing quite so bad as Bowman has seized upon us yet, we believe."

Mr. Kolb (before the the primaries—"Why, good heavens, men, Tom Jones is a friend to the negro. He actually has the audacity to pardon one out of the penitentiary occasionally. He's unfit for Governor!"

Mr. Kolb (after his repudiation by the Democracy of the State)—"What! Tom Jones, that bold, bad man, for Governor? Perish the thought! Why, you deluded negroes, he's your natural born enemy. He'll disfranchise you. Vote for me, and I'll see that your vote is counted."

That's the way Kolb wobbles about. That's the way he makes up his mind to suit the occassion.

Doesn't it strike you that the gentleman would adorn a station as a private citizen much better than that of Governor?—Tuskaloosa Times.

Would We be any Better Off?

Of course we all want all the money we need or can get, there is no dispute about that, but when our Alliance friends and third party friends (or enemies) talk about the increase of currency as the greatest desideratum and blessing that would come to the people, they would do well to enquire as to how this increase of money is to be got into the posession of those who need it very much.

If the government printing presses were to set to work making greenbacks and all the mints put to work stamping silver dollars under a free-coinage law, the people would not at the end of a year or decade be any any the richer, save for what their labor had earned. No man can get a dollar honestly except in the way of work or business, and he cannot call $1 of his earnings his own until the expenses of living are paid. What is left after that is his wealth. With enormous taxes and unwise laws to impoverish the working classes, it is hard to have anything left that they can call their own.

To which the Atlanta Journal sensibly adds:

"Horace Greeley once said that the most unfortunate hour in any young man's history was that in which he came to the conclusion that there is any easier way to make a dollar than to work for it. It would be a great calamity to this country if the people should ever become imbued with the idea that the government can relieve financial distress by the manufacture and distribution of money."

The following is taken from an address delivered by Capt. Joseph F. Johnston in Birmingham last week:

THE MINING LAW.

At the last session of the Legislature the organized miners of the State prepared a law to protect the lives of the miners; they sent my friend, Mr. Peter Findlay, to Montgomery to get it through. It was fought by the mine owners, and was trembling in the balance when I received a telegram from him asking me to come and help him. I went on the first train at my own expense. I made a speech for it before the committee. I saw my friends in the legislature and urged them to help, and finally it did pass by three majority.

Capt. Kolb was there in Montgomery all the time! He never turned his hand to help, as Mr. Findlay has told me. He didn't then know how dear the lives of miners were. He was not running for Governor? Ask Mr. Findlay if this is not the truth! I am telling you nothing but the truth. I would scorn to attempt to influence your vote by any other means than the exact facts.

WHAT HAS KOLB DONE FOR THE FARMER?

He was in office four years and had no other duty enjoined upon him but to look after and protect and advance the interest of the farmer. It was his sworn duty. He was authorized to travel over the State, have his expenses paid, to meet them and instruct them and get acquainted with their necessities.

Did he ever suggest a policy or frame or recommend a law to lighten their burdens? Not one! Ever suggest anything that would increase their crops or get a better price for them? Never!

What has he done? Point out a statute, put your finger on an act that has been suggested or done by him that has benefitted a single farmer or larboring man in all Alabama.

He claims that the farmer has been neglected by the Legislature. If so, why didn't he tell them what to do, and charge up their failure to do it?

The farmers have controlled the Legislature many years. The state has given every farmer his lien for rent and advances, protected his crop by severe penalties, exempted him more than any other class from taxation, and never refuses to pass any law that would benefit him and not injure others. It has given mechanics and blacksmiths and laborers liens for their labor and skill. The merchant and the lawyer and the banker and the doctor, the men most complained against are the only ones that are without statutory liens for their property and their services.

If Captain Kolb had been nominated at the time, and at the place, and by the men who nominated Governor Jones, would you Kolb men have bolted the ticket and refused to vote for him? If you would not, then isn't it fair and right and just between man and man, that you should vote for Jones?

If Kolb had been nominated for Governor by the regular Convention, Governor Jones and all his friends stood pledged to support him.

Fifty years from hence if some of your boys should find an old newspaper and see Kolb's name in it, he would not know whether he was a candidate for Governor or an inspector of convicts. His memory, like that of most of us, will be treasured up only by his children. The student of political history will remember him as the leader of a feeble revolt against the grand old Democratic party, and the political almanacs will show that he was beaten by some 50,000 votes and then disappeared from public view.

VOTE FOR PRINCIPLES.

If any here believes in the higher civilization and citizenship of the negro; if any man believes that "corporations should do as they please with their own," if any man believes that the rivers of Alabama should flow with blood rather than one negro vote be not counted as cast, let him vote for Kolb. That is what he represents and stands for. But if you favor white supremacy, home rule, local government, the control of corporations; if you are against a tariff for protection, if you are opposed to force bills; if you believe in justice to all and special favors to none, you are a Democrat, and should vote their ticket.

A Live Issue.

The Philadelphia Press comes as near interpreting the thought and purpose of its party as any newspaper in the country. Its editor who was appointed Minister to Russia by President Harrison, is very close to the Administration. The following from a recent article in that paper, will therefore, be regarded as coming from the very fountain of knowledge:

The Democrats doubtless imagined that the Republicans would abandon this issue when the Elections bill was defeated in 1891 through the treachery of a few Republican Senators. They never made a worse miscalculation in their lives. The Republican party will never abandon this question so long as it remains true to its principles. It might as well have claimed that the party would abandon its opposition to slavery, or its support of the Government in the war of the rebellion, or its advocacy of an honest dollar when the triumph of greenback inflation seemed almost assured. The Democratic party was as solid in every one of these heresies as it is now in the support of the monstrous crimes on the ballot boxes, but the Republican party never ceased to battle with them until it left them conquered and dead on the field.

It needed no such warning, however, to teach us that the Republican party will never "abandon this issue," or any other means of gratifying its vindictive hatred of the South. The Ethiopian could sooner transform himself into a lily than the Republican party wash out the black malignity of its heart.—Memphis Commercial.

He Pleads with His Friend.

Capt. Joseph F. Johnston, of Birmingham, wrote a long letter to an old time Black Belt friend in Dallas and wound up a plea for harmony with the following words:

There is no possible success under Capt. Kolb.

A man with the powerful organization Capt. Kolb as a candidate had at his back fighting inside the ranks and under the party flag could only lose for the want of ability to use the means at his command. He is weaker to-day than ever before. The leaders of those who supported him have almost to a man deserted him. He has demonstrated that he is not capable of organizing victory.

It is impossible that a man whose personal integrity has been so fiercely assailed, who has revolted from the action of his party, who is without experience or success or leadership, can hope to overturn a party that has done nothing to justify revolt, that it is thoroughly organized and disciplined, led by men who do not know fear and who are fighting for political existence and white supremacy?

There is no possibility of success. Defeat, overwhelming and ingloious, is the inevitable end, as certain as the course of the stars or the flow of water.

No party can succeed on the wrongs of an individual. A few men tower so high above their fellows that they can create a party, but it dies with them.

Only principles furnish a foundation for permanency.

The Democratic party has existed since the foundation of the republic.

It has survived war, pestilence, famine, betrayal, unwise leadership and the abandoning of principle for expedience; but it is immortal, because, however leaders may betray it, it is established on the undying principle of "justice to all and special favors to none;" because it stands for local self-government and the supremacy of the virtuous and intelligent.

It has seen one party after another arise to oppose it, win brief victories and then die. It will continue to survive and fight the battles of the people against all manner of methods of oppression, and be the safeguard of the liberties of your children and mine long after we have passed away and been forgotten.

What Blights the Editor's Life.

"My article on the death of Col. Jones was plain enough," said the editor. "I wrote in plain words that "he died shouting praises and went where all is well.'"

"Doesn't it read that away in the paper?" asked the proof-reader.

"It does not," said the editor. "It reads: 'He died shouting praises, and went where all is hell!'"

Self Reliance.

The brilliant McDuffie, of South Carolina, once said that "the characteristic of a free man was one who habitually relies on his own labor and resources for his support," and that "he was no free man who looks to the government for pecuniary bounties." I accept the definition. You nor or I should ask any bounty from government, except that it leave us alone in our pursuits, and that it would grant no favors to others. The glory of Athens was fast sinking when it gave money to its citizens that they might attend the theatres; and the freedom of Rome had sunk to rise no more when "bread and circuses" was the cry of its degenerate people.

Government ought to be kept simple in the manuel of its management. It cannot make us rich; nor is there any power of legislation that can make the mass of people wealthy. And it is an abuse of government to make one man wealthy at the cost of others. Hence, the less we rely on government for aid, and the more we rely on ourselves the more surely will we arrive at manly independence.

STATE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

1. That the assumption and exercise by the Federal Government of other powers than those specifically granted in the Constitution is usurpation and oppression; that a strict construction of the powers of the Federal Government is essential to the protection of the people in the several States in their domestic affairs, of life, liberty and property, and the preservation of our republican system of government.

2. That in the administration of the Federal Government the reserved rights of the States must not be impaired; and that Force Bills by Congres to regulate elections of members of Congress or electors for President or Vice-President will be destructive of the rights and liberties of the people of the several States and of the harmony which should always subsist between the people and their servants; and we, therefore, denounce as unconstitutional and revolutionary the recent attempt of the Republican party to pass what is known as the Force Bill.

3. We declare as a fundamental principle of Democratic faith that no more revenue shall be raised by the Federal Government than is necessary for the payment of the national debt and for the support of the Government, honestly and economically administered and that in laying duties on imports, any discrimination in favor of one interest, or business or of one section of the union to the detriment of others, finds no support in the Constitution and none from a just regard of the rights of the people. That equal justice to all and special privileges to none is the best rock principle of the Democratic party—the party of the people. We are, therefore, opposed to all manner of bounties, subsides and paternalism in the government, and we demand that the McKinley bill be repealed, and that the tariff be so reduced in rate, and so reformed as to subjects, that necessaries and such articles as the masses consume shall be as lightly taxed as possible.

4. That the Democratic party of Alabama expresses its condemnation of the Republican party for their administration of the finances of the country, under which the demand of the people for a sufficient circulation medium has been ignored, and silver has been driven from its time-honored and rightful place and useless under the constitution of the United States, where it was maintained so long as our party had control of the national legislation. And we demand that such laws be enacted as will secure the issue of safe, sound and elastic currency sufficient to meet all the demands of the people. And we demand the repeal of the Federal taxation on the circulation of the State banks.

5. We demand that Congress repeal all laws authorizing national banks to issue notes to circulate as money based upon the credit of the government.

6. We demand that all money appropriated by the Federal Government for the payment of pensions shall be raised by a gradual income tax.

7. We are opposed to the ownership of railroad and telegraph lines by the Federal Government, and to the multiplication of offices, but we favor the control and regulation of lines of transportation and communication so that only a fair and reasonable rate shall be exacted of the people.

8. That public office is a public trust to be administered for the good of the whole people, and not spoils to be distributed as rewards to unscrupulous partisan favorites.

9. We indorse the administration of Grover Cleveland and recognize in him one of the ablest living exponents of the true principles of the Democratic party.

10. We demand that free labor shall be relieved of competition with convicts and all necessary law shall be enacted to forever prevent such competition.

11. We favor legislation that will vide a more efficient system of public schools.

12. We favor such further legislation as will better regulate corporations chartered by the State.

13. We favor the passage of such election laws as will better secure the government of the State in the hands of the intelligent and the virtuous, and that will enable every elector to cast his ballot secretly and without fear of constraint.

14. We favor the election of Railroad Commissioners by the people.

15. We indorse the wise and able administration, of Thomas G. Jones, who has followed in the footsteps of his Democratic predecessors in redeeming every pledge made to the people to give them an honest, economical and just administration of the affairs of the State.

The Pump Snake.

The chief snake story of the season comes from Pennsylvania and is as follows:

A farmer at Cat Tail creek has a flock of twenty pumpsnakes trained to a remarkable degree of proficiency. At the blast of a whistle the snakes assemble on the banks of the creek. The leader (there is always a leader to a herd of these snakes, who is elected by a two-thirds majority) dashes into the water leaving only the extremity of his tail on the bank. Another snake immediately grasps the end of the leader's tail in his jaws, and the third snake takes hold of the second snake's tail in a similar manner, extending to the water troughs three hundred feet away. The leading snake begins to pump or swallow the water of the creek, which passes through the long line of snakes as it would through a hose and falls in a heavy stream into the trough.

A WILD MAN

Found in the Woods Near Johns Gives a Curious Name.

Deputy Sheriff Ike Parsons, of Blue Creek was in the city last Thursday with a wild man who had been captured in the woods near Johns, by Mr. Tom Sanders. After Mr. Sanders had captured the man he sent for Mr. Parsons, who took the man to Johns.

When captured the man was a horrible looking object, being almost entirely destitute of clothing and covered with vermin and filth. His hair was long reaching half way down his back, and matted and tangled. His beard was in the same condition, and he looked more like a wild animal than anything else. He had with him two tin cans, and the tin was stained with black berries.

Mr. Parsons brought the man to Johns, to Dr. Jones, who had his clothes taken off of him and burned, after which he was given a good bath and his hair and beard cut. Dr. Jones also hunted up a suit of clothes, a hat and a pair of shoes. The man would not part with his tin cans. He seems entirely harmless and one time had been a well educated man. He spoke like a German, and although he said he could not talk German, when a slip of paper with German writing was shown him he read it off at once. When asked his name and occupation and where he was from, he wrote in Mr. Parsons' book that his name was Meu Tea Tea, from Chicago, a bookkeeper and also put down the year 1865 and a street address in Chicago.

The man's appearance created a little excitment in Bessemer, and Mr. Parsons' first reply to all questions concerning the man was that he was the only Kolb man he could find in Jefferson county. Mr. Parsons turned him over to Sheriff Smith, and he will probably be taken to Tuskaloosa. The reporter talked to the man, and he stated that he was a traveler, made his living peddling; that he had been in the woods about four years; that in winter he would get his food from houses when nobody was in. In summer he would eat plums, berries, flowers, etc., that he was travelling East, and did not know what woods he had been in.

[The man has been put in the Jefferson county jail and will be taken to the Tuskaloosa Asylum.]

Didn't Know the Governor.

A countryman and a stranger in Montgomery recently had occasion to visit the Capital City, and while here he went to the State House "to see the sights," as is customary with visitors.

"I saw the Governor" said the stranger to the writer a few days subsequent. "Yes, I met him and didn't know it until it was all over." I was taking a rest on the front steps of the Capital talking to the watchman when the Governor came up and joined us. He looked about the general run of men and I didn't even ask who he was. He came up and sat down with us and soon began a conversation with me. We talked long and pleasantly about the weather, the crops, religion, politics and so forth. I found a new acquaintance well informed and a man of fine conversational powers, and our chat was especially enjoyable to me. But presently he said he must go to work and with a pleasant good evening he entered the State House. When he had gone I asked the watchman who that gentleman was, and he told me that he was the Governor. I was sorry that I did not know it sooner. I heard some how that the Governor was one of those way-up-yonder sort of fellows and I was looking for that sort of a man. There is nothing in his personal apperance and nothing in his manners and bearing to place him above the common run of Alabamians. He looks as much like a farmer as any Governor I ever saw. He is as plain and easy going as an old shoe. I reckon it must be his mind and character and every day worth that makes him the best and biggest Governor we have had since the war."

The visitor pictured the experiences of hundreds and thousands of men who never know the Governor until they meet him.—Blount Co. News.

COMES BACK TO THE FOLD.

One of Kolb's Executive Committee Comes Out for Jones.

Uniontown, Ala., July 24, 1892.

Editor Advertiser: Please let me say through the columns of your paper that I have been intimately connected with the Kolb faction of the Democratic party since the primary elections and I have warmly advocated his claims. I have tried faithfully to determine the merits and equities of the two factions now struggling for supremacy, and after thoroughly investigating for myself every claim made by both sides, I have determined to support, from now on, the regularly organized old Democratic party and its ticket, headed by Governor Jones.

I was at first interested in Kolb's behalf through sympathy for a large mass of toiling farmers who cried for relief from their impoverished condition, and who imagine now that this relief might be obtained through legislation. I am satisfied that they are mistaken, and more especially that they could not obtain this relief through any State laws that might be enacted or executed through State officers.

I am satisfied that the following which Captain Kolb has all over the State are tending to Independentism, Third Partyism and Republicanism, and I am not yet willing to forsake the Democratic party which has done so much for the State since it came into power.

Hoping and believing that many good Democrats will yet come back home to the grand old Democratic party and with charity for all and ill-will to none, I am, Very truly,

E. R. GLASS.

Platform of the People's Party.

First—We demand a national currency, safe, sound and flexible, issued by the general government only, a full legal tender for all debts, public and private; and that without the use of banking corporations, a just, equitable and efficient means of distribution direct to the people, at a tax not exceeding 2 per cent. be provided, as set forth in the sub-treasury plan of the Farmer's Alliance or some better system; also by payments in discharge of its obligations for public improvements.

(a) We demand free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1.

(b) We demand that the amount of the circulating medium be speedily increased to not less than $50 per capita.

(c) We demand a graduated income tax.

(d) We believe that the money of the country should be kept as much as possible in the hands of the people, and hence we demand that all State and national revenues shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the government economically and honestly administered.

(e) We demand that postal savings banks be established by the government for the safe deposit of the earnings of the people and to facilitate exchange.

Second—Transportation being a means of exchange and a public necessity, the government should own and operate the railroads in the interest of the people.

(a) The telegraph and telephone, like the postoffice system, being a necessity for transmission of news, should be owned and operated by the government in the interest of the people.

Third—The land, including all the natural resources of wealth, is the heritage of all the people, and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes, and alien ownership of land should be prohibited. All land now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of their actual needs and all lands now owned by aliens should be reclaimed by the government and held for actual settlers only.

Have you written me yet? If you haven't, write me and intelligent ambitious young men who desire to secure permanent, personal attention, I will undertake to help each any fairly intelligent person of either sex, who can read and write, and who will follow my instructions, to earn Three Thousand Dollars a year in their own localities, wherever they live. I will also furnish the situation or employment, all by which you can earn that amount. I charge nothing and receive nothing unless successful, as above. Nothing difficult to learn, or that requires much time. I desire but one person in each district of each county. I have already taught and provided profitable employment to large numbers of men and women who are making over Three Thousand Dollars a Year, each. All is new, solid, sure. Full particulars free. After you know all, if you conclude to go no further, why, no harm is done. Address, E. C. ALLEN, Box 420, Augusta, Maine.

PEOPLE'S PARTY

Of Georgia Hold Their State Convention in Atlanta Wednesday.

W. L. PEEK NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR AND A FULL COMPLEMENT OF STATE OFFICERS SELECTED—THE PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

The first people's party convention ever held in the Empire State of the south was called to order by Colonel C. C. Post, chairman of the state central committee, in the hall of the house of representatives in Atlanta Wednesday morning. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity with farmer politicians of Georgia, and the galleries were thronged with visitors, men, women and children. Every seat was taken, and many who could not secure seats seemed content to stand.

CALLED TO ORDER.

It was a little after 10 o'clock when Chairman C. C. Post, of the provisional committee, called the meeting to order.

"We have met, gentlemen," said he, "under peculiar circumstances. This is the first state convention of the people's party ever held in Georgia. [Applause.] We have met to nominate candidates for state offices to be opposed by that party with which in the past you have affiliated. You will also elect electors to cast their vote for the nominees of the Omaha convention, who, in my honest opinion, will be the next officers elected by the people of the United States. You are also to select a new state executive committee to carry on the work begun by your provisional committee. This convention will force all thinking men to recognize the fact that grave wrongs have been done unto the people and great wrongs exist in our economic system. True, men are always prone to bear with existing evil rather than attempt to remedy them through the medium of a new party. People are always slow to break the moorings that bind them to old parties, but when wrongs grow so grievous that they cannot longer be borne the tie must be severed. I do not doubt but that the world will compare this convention, composed of farmers and mechanics, with the convention of politicians that met here a short time ago. The world will compare the great convention of wealth producers in Omaha with the convention of officeholders in Minneapolis and with the convention of office seekers in Chicago. The world will compare to the clean-cut platform adopted in Omaha with the well nigh meaningless platform adopted at Minneapolis and at Chicago. [Wild applause.] We have met here to organize a new party. Five months ago there was no break in democratic ranks. The sentiment of the people's party was there, but organization was lacking. In five months, since the St. Louis convention, every county in the state has been organized and every district is prepared to put up candidates against the democracy from bailiff up to congressman, with fair prospects of electing them. [Long continued applause.]

BRANCH FOR CHAIRMAN.

He concluded his remarks by announcing that the committee on temporary organization had presented the name of M. I. Branch, of Columbia county, for temporary chairman and the names of Oscar Parker of Fulton, and W. A. Eckard, of Clinch, for temporary secretaries. Mr. Post then introduced to the convention Captain M. I. Branch, who was received with applause.

"Four years ago," said he in taking the gavel, "you would not have dreamed of such a convention as this. Two years ago it was a probability. One year ago it was a possibility. To-day it is a fact. We are here to protest against the wrongs heaped upon us by the money kings of this country. We are here, and we have considered well before we threw off all allegiance to the old party."

Continuing, Mr. Branch said: "If the alliance should die to-morrow it would have accomplished one grand work if no more, and on its tomb could be written, 'It has destroyed all sectionalism.'" [Applause.] The people's party has drawn the north and south together and has done more than all other agencies combined toward wiping out sectional feeling. The platform of the people's party adopted at Omaha is a wonderfully simple platform. It is so plain and simple that the blind can read it and the deaf can hear it read." A generous burst of applause followed, and then the speaker took up the thread of his discourse.

"The time has come," he continued "to make a change. I see Gordon and Colquitt, Northen and Livingston going to the rear. [Applause.] Thanks be to God, I see leaping into the arena a little David in the person of Tom Watson, and if we are loyal to ourselves, he will lead us on to victory." At the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Branch announced the convention open to business.

COMMITTEES NAMED.

On motion of J. G. Barrett, of Richmond, two committees, consisting of one from each district, were appointed, one being a committee on credentials and the other being the committee on platform. The convention then adjourned until one o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

When the convention reassembled there were speeches by Rev. S. A. Walker and Dr. Osborn of Texas, after which the committee on credentials reported that there was no contest. The election of officers followed:

POST IS CHAIRMAN.

Hon. C. H. Ellington in a few words put in nomination C. C. Post, of Fulton, as permanent chairman of the convention. His nomination was received with applause, and he was unanimously elected. When Colonel Post took the gavel from Branch, the applause was vociferous and long continued. Chairman Branch said in introducing him that he came to Georgia five or six years ago to die, but he lives to lead the people to victory. M. D. Irwin, of Rockdale, was elected secretary, and Oscar Parker was elected assistant.

THE PLATFORM.

The next order of business was the adoption of the platform. It was presented by Mr. Ellington, and is as follows:

We indorse and reaffirm the preamble, resolutions and platform adopted by the people's party in national convention assembled at Omaha July 4 th, 1892.

2d. We condemn the convict lease system.

3d. We demand rigid economy in all public matters, and insist on every possible reduction of taxation during the present impoverished condition of the people.

And we call public attention to the fact that the producing interest in both city and country is bearing more than its fair share of taxation.

PEEK NOMINATED.

Major Joe Blanco nominated W. L. Peek for governor. It was seconded by Ellington, Leary, Wimberly and John Mack, one of the colored delegates. The nomination was made unanimous. A committee was appointed to notify Peek of his nomination.

OTHER NOMINATIONS.

Mr. Wells, of Marion, nominated W. R. Gorman for secretary of state. Ellington seconded the nomination and so did W. R. Kemp and Dr. Ware. This nomination was made unanimous by a rising vote. Mr. Branch, of Columbia, nominated for comptroller general A. W. Ivey, of Thomas. The nomination was made unanimous by a rising vote. M. H. L. Peeples, of Gwinnett, put in nomination for treasurer W. E. H. Searcy, of Spalding. Mr. Jones, of Bartow, put in nomination Dr. W. M. Ware, of Fayette. Searcey's name was withdrawn and Dr. Ware was nominated. J. B. Mahaffee and J. G. Barrott were nominated for attorney-general and commissioner of agriculture, respectively.

THE ELECTORS.

Garrison, of Banks, nominated Dr. A. L. Nance, of Gainesville, for an elector's place from the state at large. Mr. M. D. Irwin, editor of the state alliance organ, was also nominated for that position. W. R. Kemp was nominated, and so was Vason McWhorter. Mr. Wimberly moved to nominate Dr. Nance by acclamation, which was done. McWhorter withdrew in favor of Dr. Nance. The electors from the districts were as follows:

First—George H. Miller, of Chatham.
Second—A. R. Jones, of Thomas.
Third—Joseph J. Stewart, of Sumter.
Fourth—J. W. F. Little, of Troup.
Fifth—W. O. Butler, of Fulton.
Sixth—W. F. Smith, of Butts.
Seventh—A. F. Wooley, of Bartow.
Eighth—George T. Murrell, of Clarke.
Ninth—J. N. Twitty, of Jackson.
Tenth—E. N. Sanders, of Talliaferro.
Eleventh—R. T. Hymer, of Johnson.

By motion the state central committee was empowered to fill all vacancies in the electoral ticket that might come up hereafter.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Following is the executive committee chosen, two from each district:

First District—J. E. C. Tilman, of Hallsboro; Geo. H. Miller, of Savannah.
Second—Dr. J. H. Pickett, of Ty-Ty; E. V. Mobley, of Iron City.
Third—R. D. Rogers, Butler; Dr. A. D. Bivins, Ellaville.
Fourth—W. D. Crosby, Howard; L. M. McGhee, Powersville.
Fifth—H. M. Daniel, Atlanta; J. L. Chapp, Lithonia.
Sixth—C. F. Turner, Brent, Monroe county; J. E. H. Ware, Kedron, Fayette county.
Seventh—John W. Love, McHenry; C. A. Cameron, Sharp, Walker county.
Eighth—W. I. Connor, Hartwell; J. B. McWhorter, of Greene.
Ninth—J. R. Henderson, Cumming; M. J. David, Mayesville.
Tenth—B. H. Miller, Linton, Hancock county; G. S. Farmer, Stellaville.
Eleventh—W. H. Roberts, of Lowndes; E. H. Muckins, of Dodge.

Sam Small addressed the convention by request and at its conclusion Chairman Post called for campaign money which was liberally responded to. The convention was then adjourned.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Dun and Co.'s Report for Week Ended July 16th.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: In all directions the business outlook is fairly encouraging. The crop report is much more favorable than was expected. The great labor controversies do not effect business unfavorably, but help it for the present. The anti-option bill makes no progress, and the silver bill has been defeated, and there is no small prospects of any legislation by congress that is liable to disturb business in any department. The crop reports promise results not equal to last year's.

The decrease will be only about 6 per cent. The wheat yield will be far beyond the quantity consumed and exported in any year except last year, and nearly equal to last year's consumption and exports. The cotton reports show the condition only 2 per cent below last year, and on any estimate of acreage the yield with the supplies still in sight will more than meet all demands for the year. The price for the past week has not changed, though the sales have been 61,800 bales.

The money markets are abundantly supplied, though the treasury has taken in much more than it has paid out. The banks have been refusing certificates to gold exporters, and the redemption of notes has drawn coin from the treasury, which, nevertheless, holds as much gold as a week ago.

CRIMINAL PROSECUTIONS

To be Instigated Against the Officers of the Tallapoosa Company.

A Boston, Mass., dispatch says: The stockholders of the Georgia and Alabama Investment company, at a meeting Tuesday afternoon, voted to send a representative south to investigate the business of the company. The committee appointed last week at a meeting in New York of the indignant stockholders of the Georgia and Alabama Investment and Development company met Tuesday morning. The committee reports that it is proceeding with caution, and that endeavors are being made to ascertain all the names of stockholders in the vicinity. Many letters have already been received by the committee complaining of the ruin and poverty entailed in many households by investment in this company. The committee decided to put itself into communication with all the stockholders they can and request them to send in their full names and addresses. It was decided to select two or three experts who shall proceed to Tallapoosa, Ga., examine the plant there and report its worth. It will endeavor to obtain possession of the books of the company and prosecute criminally all officers and directors from Ben Butler down to the lowest officer.

ALICE MITCHELL INSANE.

Hereditary Insanity Seems to Have Been Proven in Her Case.

The case of Alice Mitchell, who killed Miss Freda Warde, came up before Judge Dubose at Memphis, Monday, upon the question of her sanity. The only witness examined during the day was George Mitchell, the father of the accused. The jury is undoubtedly one of the most intelligent ever selected in west Tennessee. Mr. Mitchell said his daughter was nineteen years nineteen years old. Her mother had been insane years ago. He gave a history of his daughter's peculiarities, about which much has been printed since the case came before the public, and had not concluded his testimony when the court adjourned.

On Tuesday, the second day of the trial, the inquiry into the mental condition of Alice Mitchell showed undiminished public interest. Most of the testimony introduced tended to confirm the impression of hereditary insanity having been transmitted from mother to child.

THE SOUTH IN BRIEF

The News of Her Progress Portrayed in Pithy and Pointed Paragraphs.

AND A COMPLETE EPITOME OF HAPPENINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST FROM DAY TO DAY WITHIN HER BORDERS.

The Richmond, Va., grain elevator, located on the line of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, in the northern portion of the city, caught fire Monday night and was destroyed with its contents. Loss about $100,000, fully insured.

Lester H. Gale and W. E. Turner, the two gay young bank clerks who skipped out from Nashville on the night of Saturday, July 2d, with about eleven thousand dollars belonging to the Capital City Savings bank, have been captured.

Near Frankfort, Ky., Monday morning, John Saunders and Jim Fores were killed by an explosion of powder from the state arsenal. Others are reported killed, but no names are given. The men killed were of a party appointed to clean out the state arsenal and put it in order. They took all the ammunition and stores to a farm near Frankfort to do the work, and while engaged 1,200 pounds of powder caught from a spark and exploded.

There was great rejoicing at Brunswick, Ga., Monday over the passage in the house of the deep water bill. This will secure ample water for the deepest draught vessels now afloat up to the wharves of the city. Those who are deepest interested in the bill are assured that it will pass the senate. If so, before ten days, work will be actually begun on the bar, and in less than three months Brunswick will have the deepest water of any city on the coast.

A delegation from Savannah, Ga., including the mayor, health officer of the city, and members of the sanitary board and board of aldermen, visited New Orleans, Monday, for the purpose of inspecting the quarantine system of that city, with the view of establishing a similar system at Savannah. The delegation took in the quarantine station, eighty miles below New Orleans with the president of the Louisiana board of health, and thoroughly inspected the work there.

Advices from Birmingham, Ala., state that the encampment of the Second regiment broke up Monday with a sensation. The Montgomery Grays, the famous prize drill company, had to be forced into camp and they have been disposed to sulk. Monday morning their insubordination reached the point of firing off guns in the presence of the colonel in violation of orders and the colonel promptly had the whole company arrested. The officers were stripped of their side arms and the men of their guns and all sent home under guard of the Montgomery True Blues, their famous rival horse company.

A BIG HAUL.

Train Robbers Secure Between Fifty and Seventy-five Thousand Dollars.

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train No. 2, south bound, was held up by a gang of masked robbers at Adair, I. T., late Thursday night. The robbers secured the contents of the safe of the Pacific express and made good their escape. It is believed the robbers were the noted Dalton gang. The amount stolen is between fifty and seventy-five thousand dollars.

The gang of robbers has been camped in the territory for some time past between Prior creek and the place where the crime was committed. About 9 o'clock on the night of the robbery they made their way to Adair, bringing their Winchesters to bear upon the station agent. They proceeded to ransack the station of all valuables. This accomplished, they calmly sat down to await the arrival of the north-bound passenger train due there at 9:40 o'clock p. m. The entire contents of the safe was secured. In the skirmish that took place between Captain McKinney, chief of the railroad detective force and the Indian guards while the robbery was taking place, Mr. McKinney received a slight wound in the shoulder and one of the guards received a bullet in his leg. Two stray bullets entered a drug store up town and seriously injured Drs. Youngblood and W. L. Goff, who were sitting in the building at the time. Dr. Goff has since died from his wounds and Dr. Youngblood is in a serious condition. The exact value of plunder obtained by the robbers cannot be learned, railroad officials refusing to state the amount taken.

THE FIERY LAVA

Rushing Down Etna's Sides in Greater Volume and Fury.

Cablegrams of Sunday from Catania, Island of Sicily, are to the effect that the stream of fire belching from the angry mouth of Etna grows longer and higher. For nearly one hundred miles the light is reflected back from the sky over the country, so that the terror caused is not confined to the immediate locality, but spreads all over Sicily. As a result the churches are crowded with worshipers, imploring exemption from threatened destruction. Men, never known before to harbor religious thoughts, press up around the priests, seeking consolation. Women, frantic and wild, will not leave the churches. There is a complete abandonment of business, and the next world seems of much more importance than this.

From indications it would seem that the present eruption would surpass in destruction that of any other period.

CHINESE TOWNS DESTROYED.

A Great Fire in Which 1,700 Buildings are Reduced to Ashes.

A San Francisco dispatch of Monday says: The steamer City of Pekin, from Hong Kong and Yokohama, brings information of a series of fires reported from the Phillippine islands, at Marong, June 3d, 200 buildings in the business section being destroyed. At San Miguel de Hayums fire broke out in two districts of the town, causing a great deal of damage. At Balanga, June 6th, 1,500 buildings were destroyed, 9,000 people being rendered homeless in Juan Maadela and Rauban during the month.

A Bogus Petition.

Dispatches from New York of Monday night stated that a paper was being circulated in New York city, appealing, in the name of the Amalgamated Association, for financial aid to provide for the poor strikers at Homestead. The paper was said to be signed by President William Weihe and Thomas J. Crawford and George G. Ryland, two of the Amalgamated leaders in Homestead. Mr. Weihe repudiated the paper and declares that the Amalgamated Association and Homestead strikers are not in need of assistance and have asked for none.

Taming Leopards in India.

The cheetah is tied in all directions, principally from a thick grummet of rope around his loins, while a hood fitted over his head effectually blinds him. He is fastened on a strong cart headstead, and the keepers and their wives and families redoce him to submission by starving him and keeping him awake. His head is made to face the village street, and for an hour at a time several times a day his keepers make pretended rushes at him and wave cloths, staves and other articles in his face. He is talked to continually, and women's tongues are believed to be the most effective antisoporifics. No created being could resist the effects of hunger, want of sleep and feminine scolding, and the poor cheetah becomes piteously, abjectly tame.—Beast and Man in India.

Caught at Last

In the toils of dyspepsia after imposing on the stomach for years. How shall the sufferer restore his much abused digestion? By a resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, coupled with an abandonment of eatables and drinkables calculated to injure the digestive apparatus in a feeble state. As a dollar were the scrofula sores on my poor little boy, sickening and disgusting. They were especially severe on his legs, back of his ears and on his head. I gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla. In two weeks the sores commenced to heal up; the scales came off and all over his body new and healthy flesh and skin formed. THE INDUSTRIAL SOUTH.

Progress and Improvement for the Past Week.

In its review of the industrial situation in the South for the past week the Chattanooga Tradesman states that the reports received throughout the Southern States are quite encouraging. In the Mississippi valley and in the lower parts of Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi there is still danger of considerable loss from overflow. The crop reports are all favorable. The results of diversified planting are now showing themselves in greatly increased harvests of wheat, oats and corn. The lumber business is very active; a better demand has sprung up from South American States than for three years past, and this industry is in a more promising condition than for years. The cotton mill owners are steadily increasing the number of their plants. New ones are reported every week, and some of them are on large scale.

The labor troubles in the North are not known in the Southern field, and it is not yet time to state what the effect will be on the demand for Southern iron, but an advance is looked for. The good understanding among the coal miners and the recent consolidations, are followed by the formation of new corporations to engage in the development of the Southern coal fields. One with $650,000 capital is reported for the week from Chattanooga, Tenn., headed by Senator Vance, of North Carolina.

Mercantile business is reported to be in fair condition, and there is a general good feeling apparent which promises well for the future.

CYCLONE IN ITALY

Adds to the Terror of the Unfortunate People.

A cablegram from Rome states that the province of Raigo, in the northern part of Italy, was swept by a terrific cyclone Tuesday. An enormous amount of property was destroyed and it is reported many lives were lost. The village of Polesalla, on the bank of the river Po, seven miles south of the town of Ravigo, and containing nearly four thousand inhabitants, was almost completely wiped out of existence. Many of the villagers were buried in the ruins of their homes. Troops have been sent from Ravigo to render assistance.

MOUNT ETNA GROWING WORSE.

Another dispatch from Catania says that the terror of the people living in the vicinity of Mount Etna is increasing in consequence of the renewed violence of the eruptions from the different craters of the volcano and prolonged subterranean rumblings, which are becoming more and more frequent. The poorer inhabitants of Nicolosi, who have been driven from field work by the advance of lava, are being supplied with free bread and soup. The houses of the town were severely shaken Tuesday night, many windows being shattered.

The Cholera in Persia.

A cablegram of Tuesday from St. Petersburg, Russia, states it is semi-officially reported that the plague has broken out in the province of Khorassan, Persia. The Novasti urges the necessity for an international agreement to stamp out the disease and to save Europe from contagion.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

Fixed just right—Liver, Stomach, and Bowels, by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They do it in just the right way, too—by using Nature's own methods. That's why they're better than the dreadful, old-fashioned pills, with their griping and violence.

But they're better in every way. In size, for instance, and dose. They're the smallest and the easiest to take; only one little Pellet is needed for a gentle laxative—three for a cathartic. They cleanse and regulate the system thoroughly—but it's done easily and naturally. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for value received.

Something else, that pays the dealer better, may be offered as "just as good." Perhaps it is, for him, but it can't be, for you.

The New Song of Freedom.

July 4, 1892.

Sounds of joy oe'r broad savannas,
Waking to a newer life,
Glad recall the old hosannas
Of the early battle strife,
When, our liberty achieving,
North and South together stood,
In the glorious object cleaving,
And the boon at length receiving,
Purchased with their mingled blood.

Oe'r our sacred fields of battle,
By New England rock and rill,
The rejoicing paeans rattle,
And revive at Bunker Hill;
And through all the land extending,
As a new day's gladdening light,
All our sundered interests blending,
All our stormy conflicts ending
In the triumph of right.

Down the border rivers flowing,
Sweetly rolls the tide along;
Through the tropic bowers going,
Till the sea repeats its song,
Burdened hearts the music feeling,
Catch the glow of Freedom's fire,
And, before her altar kneeling,
For their cause to heaven appealing,
Grasp the boon their hearts desire.

To the mighty inland oceans,
To the little lakes between,
To the broad, rich prairie Goshens,
Flocks and harvests o'er them seen;
Over dale and hillside ringing,
Where the Susquehanna flows;
To the Catskills' summit springing,
To romantic Hudson bringing
Welcome strains, that Freedom knows.

O'er the snow-capped Rocky Mountains,
Onward sweeps the anthem clear;
Mississippi's farthest fountains
Its rejoicing echoes hear;
While they reach far hills surrounding,
Where the wild Comanche dwells,
Where Missouri's tide is sounding,
To Nevada's distant bounding,
Waking all her golden dells.

Earnest faith the song's inspiring,
Praise to God, good will to men;
Purer knowledge, all desiring,
Flows in living streams again;
Schools and churches multiplying,
All the precious arts increase;
Fruits of labor, self-relying,
Wealth, with generous purpose vying,
Marks of freedom, skill and peace.

Onward, flag of glory, flying;
Grandest earthly banner thou;
Higher rise, to fame undying,
Borne aloft by Freedom now.
Thine, O Stars and Stripes, the story
Of a nation's wondrous birth,
Symbol of its brightening glory,
Won from field and conflict gory;
Symbol of its power and worth.

A Strange Celebration.

BY E. H. STRATTON.

"I would like to me married upon our national holiday, Myra, and in the old home among the pine-clad hills of Maine," said Leon Adams, looking inquiringly at his bethrothed.

"Of all things in this world I should like that best of all!" she answered, with a pretty gesture of delight. "Is it lonely and romantic there?"

"Lonely enough," smiled Leon. "As to the romance, we shall carry that with us. I will write to father at once that we are coming, and he will have everthing ready. They generally have a Fourth of July celebration at the village, which is not more than four miles away, and we can visit that if we wish; but father and mother will have company enough for us at the old home, I guess."

Do you suppose that—that they will like me?" she faltered, with a shy uplifting of the eyes which had first made Leon captive.

"As if they could help it, my darling!" he exclaimed.

So the morning of the Fourth of July, about eight o'clock, found them at the little Maine depot.

"That is queer," muttered Leon, in a puzzled tone—"very queer! I thought that father would surely meet us. Stay here in the waiting-room, Myra, while I see if I can find a team to take us to the farm."

But no team was to be had, and Leon returned in despair at the end of an hour.

"I know a way across lots that isn't so very long," he said, hesitatingly. "Every team is engaged for today."

"Why, I can walk!" laughed Myra.

And leaving their baggage, even to the dainty lunch basket, to be called for later, they started "across lots" to the Adams farm.

How cool and sweet the woods were that sunny morning!

"Ah, it seems as if I were a boy again!" exclaimed Leon. "Over that knoll yonder I saw a bear once."

"Did you, really? And he didn't kill you?" asked Myra, with a delighted shudder.

"No, he didn't kill me, or I wouldn't be here," laughed Leon. "This used to be Uncle Jack Ames' sheep pasture, and Will Ames and I built a first-class bear trap near here. We caught the old fellow, too. We got $10 for his snout and hide. I wonder if that trap is here yet?"

He led the way along a path nearly hidden by bushes to a great log structure, that looked as if it might have been built in old Puritan times.

"There it is!" he cried boyishly. "I knew that Will and I built it to last."

Before Myra could reply, a low, hoarse roar sounded from behind a screen of bushes, and they saw a moving black bulk beyond the green.

"Is—is that a bear?" shrieked Myra.

"No, no, it is worse!" answered Leon, hurriedly. "Can you crawl into the old bear trap, dearest? Quick now! There, we're safe! It is an ugly bull, but if we keep very quiet, I think that he will soon leave."

Vain hope! The bull circled around the old trap, uttering low, challenging roars and looking at them with twinkling, wicked eyes, but he gave no sign of retreating. Upon the contrary, he lay down by the door, and answered every movement with that ominous roar.

"It is nearly noon," said Leon, looking at his watch. "Mother does not like to have her nice dinners spoiled by waiting, but I fear that this one will be—our wedding dinner, too, dearest!"

"And the minister is there, and all of the folks! What will they think?" asked Myra. "Dear me! I wish that we had brought the lunch-basket."

"He will leave soon; he must!" assorted her lover.

But the great black brute eyed them maliciously, and went on chewing his cud, as though marriages and wedding dinners were things beneath his notice.

The bright sun began its westward march.

They could hear the happy laughter and merriment from the village, where the celebration was going on, and the lowing of cattle in the field over the hill.

It was almost night when relief came, in the shape of a hearty masculine voice:

"Coo-boss! coo-boss! coo-bossy, bossy boss! Drat that Neptune! where can he be? In some mischief, I'll warrant."

"That's the sweetest sound I ever heard!" ejaculated Leon.

Then he put both hands to his mouth and sent an answering shout:

"H-e-e-r-e! Here he is!"

"Well, I should say he was," and a tall, grizzled farmer strode out of the bushes. "Got ye trapped, didn't he? the ill-mannered brute! Why, if it ain't Leon! I thought you was home and married hours ago. Was just getting the critters up, so's to go over to the evening 'ception. Ha, ha, ha! I vum that's too bad! I'm sorry, boy!"

"It's no matter, Uncle Jack," said Leon, although he felt that he was breaking one of the commandments when he said it. "We'll come out later now, and be there to welcome you."

At the sight of his master, the black bull had meekly started for home, and had joined the herd of cows without looking back at his coveted victims.

"Well, where were you? We've waited all day. Your father has been to the station every train—but one—and the men are out hunting now," said Mrs. Adams, as they entered the house, kissing and scolding her son in the same breath.

"And that was the one which we came on," laughed Leon. "Where have we been? In the old bear trap, guarded by Uncle Jack's black bull; and we are hungry, mother. This is Myra."

"I am very glad to see you my—daughter!"

The old lady's face flushed, as she transferred her embrace to the girl, with a half-reproachful look at her son's proud eyes, for she realized that she was now second in his love.

"But, seeing as the minister has waited so long, perhaps we might just as well have our victuals first and the wedding afterward. The folks is mostly here, and I'll call the men."

She took the tin horn from the nail behind the door and sent forth a ringing call that told the searchers that the wanderers were found, and soon all were enjoying the wedding feast.

Then all assembled in the old fashioned parlor and the words were spoken which made Leon and Myra one for life, "until death do us part."

"But when you come home to get married again," advised Farmer Adams, as he saluted the blushing bride, "you'd better wait a little while at the depot than to spend the day in a bear trap—Fourth of July, to boot! It's too bad!"

And they thought so too.

Why the Steps Suited Him.

Coming down the main walks from the capitol to Pennsylvania avenue, there are groups of three or four steps that are very confusing to the average pedestrian, and there is a queer incident connected with their construction. For years there was a man about the capitol who made the study of steps and persons going up and down stairs a fad and a science. In watching crowds walking down the long approaches to the capitol he discovered that by far a greater number of persons stumbled on those groups of steps than the record ought to show. The attention of the present capitol architect was called to the matter, but he was incredulous at the idea.

"Why," said he, "Frederick Law Olmstead, the architect, took especial pains with those groups of steps, I know." However, they watched the tricky groups of steps and discovered that is was really astonishing the number of persons who stumbled going up and seemed inclined to fall in descending, but they were utterly at sea for any explanation.

Olmstead himself came here later. The subject was brought to his attention, and he went down to watch the steps himself. He was simply amazed at the way people behaved when they reached those steps. He said: "I can't account for it. I spent weeks arranging the proportion of rise to tread for them. Wooden models of them were put down for use at my own place and I walked over them day after day till I felt sure they were perfect."

"Olmstead, isn't one of your legs a trifle shorter than the other?" the stenographer inquired.

Olmstead was dumbfounded when it dashed on him that owing to the inequality in the length of his legs he had made steps to the capitol that were suited only for people similarly [illegible]

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Happenings of the Day Culled from Our Telegraphic and Cable Dispatches.

WHAT IS TRANSPIRING THROUGHOUT OUR OWN COUNTRY, AND NOTES OF INTEREST FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

There were seventeen fatal cases of sunstroke in Chicago Thursday.

There are over twenty thousand men on strike in New York city, as a result of the fight against the iron league.

Crane Chemical Works, at Springfield, N. J., blew up Thursday night and ten buildings, composing the plant, were destroyed.

The Carnegie Homestead mill company announce that they have every situation vacated by the strikers filled with new men.

The Inman line steamship City of Paris, which sailed from Liverpool on the 20th arrived in New York early Wednesday morning, beating the record for the western trip across the Atlantic. The time of her passage across the ocean was five days, fifteen hours and fifty-eight minutes.

A New York dispatch of Wednesday says: Chairman Harrity has announced that No. 139 Fifth avenue had been selected as the headquarters of the national democratic committee. The building will be opened as soon as desks and other furniture and fittings have been placed.

A dispatch of Thursday from Bay City, Mich., says: The relief committee finds that the extent of suffering among the victims of Monday's fire is so great that outside assistance will have to be asked for. Two hundred and sixty families lost everything and are in very destitute circumstances.

At 2 o'clock Tuesday morning Cooke Bro.'s lard, tallow and neatsfoot oil plant at Elizabeth, N. J., was almost entirely destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $75,000. The works occupied three and a half acres of ground, fronting on Staten Island sound, near Elizabethport. The fire started from spontaneous combustion.

At Philadelphia, Wednesday, Charles H. Page, a broker, of the firm of E. T. Page & Co., was shot by a customer named Robert Kennedy, 65 years of age, while sitting in his private office. Page died almost instantly, and Kennedy meanwhile blew out his own brains. The men, it is reported, had a difference over a stock transaction.

A band of brigands under the leadership of Cicilio Salino made a raid on the town of Puerpero, Mexico, Wednesday. While engaged in their work they were attacked by a detachment of the Eighth federal regiment. A battle ensued, the bandits standing their ground. Four of the latter were killed, while one of the soldiers received a death wound. No captures were made.

The Richmond Terminal advisory committee met at New York Wednesday and discussed the question of meeting the interest on the 6 per cent bonds due August 1st. It was resolved that it was not advisable that the company should borrow money to pay the interest. Many large stockholders were consulted and concurred in the idea that this was the best thing to be done.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Wilkesbarre, Pa., states that a petition of great length, signed by many of the best people in the city and Wyoming valley, will be sent to Governor Pattison asking that Colonel Streator, who caused Private Iams to be swung up by the thumbs, to be tried for breach of the peace. It further asks that he be given trial such as any other criminal would receive, and if found guilty be punished.

Dispatches of Wednesday from Rio Grande City, Tex., state that there are no less than twelve thousand people in the lower Rio Grande border counties of Texas on the very verge of starvation. The rain which fell there four weeks ago was the first in three years, but it was of no benefit. The intense heat of summer has evaporated every particle of moisture and the suffering among the people for lack of food and water is terrible to witness.

A St. Louis dispatch says: The gas generated by escaping stock from the recent fire in the Walter Hersch oil building, heated by the intense summer sun, exploded Tuesday afternoon wrecking fully one-half of the great Mill Creek sewer, the largest of the city's drainage system and causing a known loss of three lives and injuring five others, with the possibility of other fatalities being revealed by a search of the wreckage.

The New York Biscuit Company's [illegible] baking establishment burned [illegible] Tuesday. The building, on Third street, takes in nearly an entire block. The works contained the largest plant of the concern, which has branches at Chicago, Grand Rapids, Mich., New Haven and Hartford, Conn., and Cambridgeport, Mass. The loss is estimated at $500,000. Hundreds of men, women and children are thrown out of employment.

A cable dispatch from Brussels, Belgium, says: The trial of sixteen anarchists which has been in progress at Liege for some days was concluded Tuesday. The jury returned a verdict of guilty on all counts of the indictments. The verdict was received in profound silence. Moncau, the head of the band was sentenced to twenty five years penal servitude; Wolff and Beaujean, two of the leaders, to twenty years each; four others to fifteen years each, and two to ten and three years, respectively.

A BANK ROBBED.

No One to Protect it Except the President's Wife.

A dispatch from Kansas City brings news of the robbery of the bank of El Reno of $10,500 Wednesday morning. It seems that nobody was in the bank at the time except Mrs. Sawyer, wife of the president. At half-past 10 o'clock a stranger entered the bank, stepped up to the cashier's window, and made an inquiry about some town lots and then stepped to the desk and commenced writing. In a moment, another stranger stepped to the cashier's desk, and presenting a gun at Mrs. Sawyer's head demanded that she hand out all the money in the bank. She stepped to a vault and handed him all the packages of bills in the vault's safe, and what was in the daily change drawer, aggregating about $10,500. The man who was writing at the desk grabbed the money as Mrs. Sawyer handed it through the wicket and disappeared out the door. The one holding the gun followed quickly. Mrs. Sawyer then screamed several times and fell over in a swoon. The robbers mounted horses and rode away. Mr. Sawyer arrived at home about thirty minutes after the robbery. The robbery is believed to be the work of the Daltons, on account of the manner of its execution.

RIOT ON A TRAIN.

Workmen Bound for Homestead Under Guard Rebel.

A Pittsburg dispatch says: A riot occurred Thursday morning on the Baltimore and Ohio train, on which a party of fifty-six non-union men were being transported from Cincinnati to Pittsburg to work in the Carnegie Steel Works at Homestead. One man was stabbed in the forehead with a bayonet in the hands of an armed guard. Another had his thumb chewed off and nearly a score of others were badly bruised in an attempt to regain their liberty. When the train reached Pittsburg only twenty-one men were aboard in addition to the armed guard, the other thirty-five having escaped from the car between Whitehall station and the depot in Pittsburg. When they left Cincinnati the men did not know they were being taken to the Homestead mills, and when they found it out they rebelled. That is how the riot had inception.

DISASTROUS HAIL STORM.

Crops Totally Destroyed—Losses Estimated at $200,000.

Wednesday terrible hail and wind storms swept over the town of Farmington, Minn., and an area of country twenty miles east and west by two miles north and south. Hailstones the size of hickory nuts and hen's eggs fell, covering the ground six inches deep, tearing awnings and signs down, splitting the latter into ribbons, and glass suffered in proportion. Trees were stripped of their foliage and many totally stripped of branches, while the roofs of small outbuildings were battered in. The loss to crops is absolute, the corn, wheat and oats being cut down. The storm covered an area of fifteen miles square in Rice, Dakota and Goodhue counties, and extending to the Mississippi river, thirty miles. A liberal estimate places the acreage absolutely destroyed at ten thousand and the loss at $200,000.

OIL ON FIRE.

Lightning Sets Fire to Tanks in the Pennsylvania Oil Fields.

A Pittsburg, Pa., dispatch of Thursday says: During the prevalence of the thunder storm which swept over the southwestern oil field Wednesday afternoon, lightning struck tank No. 17 of the Southwest Pennsylvania Pipe Line company, six miles from Washington. The tank contained 37,000 barrels of oil, and when it burst the burning fluid spread to twenty tanks in the vicinity and soon all were afire. The heat was so [illegible]

THE SOUTH IN BRIEF

The News of Her Progress Portrayed in Pithy and Pointed Paragraphs

AND A COMPLETE EPITOME OF HAPPENINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST FROM DAY TO DAY WITHIN HER BORDERS.

Twenty-two horses were lost by the burning of Mack Bruce's livery stable at Stanford, Ky., Thursday.

The two young men, W. E. Turner and J. H. Gale, who robbed the City Savings bank of Nashville, Tenn., a few weeks ago of $13,000 while employed as clerks in that bank and skipped for Mexico, were brought back to Nashville Tuesday morning from Saltillo, Mex.

A Chattanooga dispatch says: The Southern Dental Association and Tennessee Dental Association were called to order at Lookout Inn Tuesday morning with 275 delegates in attendance. Many noted men of national reputation were present. The address of President Gordon White, of Nashville, created a sensation. He handled dental quacks without gloves.

W. L. Cabbell, of the trans-Mississippi division of the United Confederate Veterans, has announced a meeting for September 17th, at Raleigh, N. C., of the committee appointed at the reunion in New Orleans a few months ago to consider the matter of a monument to ex-President Jefferson Davis. The committee will meet with the Jefferson Davis Monument Association. The committee consists of one person from each Confederate state.

An engine, tender and seven loaded box cars were wrecked Sunday near Drifton, Fla., on the Florida Central and Peninsular railroad, by a mixed train running into a bad washout. A colored fireman was killed and other train hands more or less injured. The train was bound east for Jacksonville. No passengers were hurt. Recent rains have flooded nearly 100 miles of the Florida Central and Peninsular track, between Tallahassee and Baldwin.

The relief boat Danube left New Orleans Wednesday with a second lot of rations for the people in the overflowed section of Red and Black rivers and Bayou Des Glaises. The number of sufferers is 1,600, of whom 1,300 are in Ouachita, above Catahoula; about 600 in Concordia, 200 on Bayou Des Glaises and the remainder in Franklin, on Boeuf river, and Pointe Coupe, West Feliciana and Assumption. It will be necessary to feed these people three weeks longer.

The lease of the Southbound railway to the Florida Central and Peninsular railroad was consumed at Savannah, Ga., Wednesday. The rental amounts to about one hundred thousand dollars per annum. The link to unite the Southbound, which runs from Columbia, S. C., to Savannah, and the Florida Central and Peninsular, which terminates at Jacksonville, will be built at once. The lease places the securities of the Southbound at par. The negotiations have been in progress some months.

FIFTEEN DEAD PEOPLE.

The Result of a Terrible Gas Explosion in a Coal Mine.

A frightful explosion occurred at York Farm colliery, near Pottsville, Pa., about 11 o'clock Saturday, by which fifteen men are known to have been killed outright, and it is believed that others will die of their injuries. The mine is a very old one, and has many abandoned "headings," in which gas accumulates, and it is believed that in tunneling, one of these "headers" was struck, the gas ignited and an explosion followed. The mine is very badly damaged, and the passages are choked with debris.

QUIET IN IDAHO

And the Troops Will be Gradually Withdrawn.

A Washington dispatch of Sunday says: General Schofield reports that order having been completely restored in Coeur d'Alene mining district most of the United States troops now there will be gradually withdrawn. Over three hundred rioters have been arrested by the troops and turned over to the civil authorities at Boise City. Most of the others have fled to the mountains, and there are no indications whatever of further trouble.

After John Chinaman.

A dispatch of Thursday from Boise City, Idaho, says: The police have ordered all the Japanese residents to leave town immediately. At Nampa the Chinese were ordered to leave, and they complied on the first notice. A number of Japanese arrived from the mines [illegible]

THE LABOR WORLD.

MINING activity is increasing.

AMERICA has 60,000 Chinese laundrymen.

EASTERN cotton mills have advanced wages.

RAILROAD building continues at a very low ebb.

THE English pay of a roller in iron mills is only $2.50 a day.

NON-UNION men are called "Rushers" in western parts of this country.

RAIL straighteners earn ten dollars a day under the Amalgamated scale.

THERE are 1,803,406 domestic servants in England, of whom 1,330,000 are women.

THE Knights of Labor at Anita, Penn., have built a hall of their own, costing $10,000.

CHINESE laborers are to be imported into Africa to teach the natives how to cultivate tobacco.

A SPECIAL room in the Hahnemann Hospital of New York City is fitted up for sick saleswomen.

THE American Flint Glass Workers' Union has a membership of 8,300 and $138,000 in its treasury.

SEAMEN are very scarce in Quebec, Canada, and bounties of five and ten dollars are paid for each man.

NEARLY all the Southern car works are on full time, and business is improving throughout the South generally.

U. S. HOBART died in San Francisco, Cal., the other day, worth $4,000,000. In 1870 he was a carman in a mine, earning four dollars a day.

IT is estimated that three strikes of the granite-cutters and the building trades in New York City during the last four months cost $385,000.

HARVEST hands are so scarce in Barton County, Kansas, that the farmers gather at the railway stations and go through the trains seeking laborers.

THE clerks in the banks of Denver, Col., jointly own a cottage in the Rocky Mountains, where they all pass their vacations, using it in detachments during the summer.

THERE are 300,000 women engaged in industrial pursuits in Massachusetts, embracing twenty different occupations, the largest percentage being domestic and manufacturing.

ELECTRICIANS are very busy designing new plants for the smaller towns and cities throughout the West, and quite a number of cables and electrical roads are to be built this fall.

THERE documents have been found in the military archives at Madrid, Spain, which go to prove that Columbus was born at a place called Saona, near Genoa, Italy. These documents confer a title of nobility on Columbus and his son.

After the defeat of the silver bill in the house the other day, a member rose and said: If Wall street has no further business with the house, I move we adjourn."

Alice Mitchell, the Memphis murderess who wanted to marry another woman, and then killed her in a fit of jealousy, has been adjudged insane and will be sent to an insane asylum.

Sometime ago the Alliance Herald favored the Australian ballot system. That system requires that every voter be able to read his ballot. What more does the Jones Democratic platform pledge in saying that the elective franchise should be in the hands of the "virtue and intelligence of the State."

No quality will strengthen the influence of a sister, wife or mother so much in her home as this persistent remembrance of the little likes and dislikes of those about her, with a hearty effort to indulge them.

Surely every woman would try to strengthen her influence in the field in which God has set her to work. Some of them complain that they have no memory for trifles, nor keen sympathy with the wants or feelings of others. As a rule, this is because they are exclusively occupied with their own wants and feelings.

Put self out of your heart, and you will be surprised to find how large and warm a tenement it is. —Youth's Companion.

Our Currency.

(1.) Gold coin. This is the foundation of the whole. Everything else rests upon it, including the standard silver dollar. The gold dollar is the "unit of value," and the only one known to the law. The meaning of the phrase "unit of value," since the silver dollar was reintroduced into our coinage in 1878, seems to be restricted to customhouse valuations, the rating of foreign coins, and other technical matters. Inasmuch as gold is the only thing in our variegated currency that stands on its own bottom, it results that gold bullion answers the same purpose as gold coin for monetary uses.

(2.) Standard silver dollars. There are about $600,000 of these in actual circulation, answering the same purpose as small notes. The remainder of the silver dollars, about $347,000,000, are held in the government storehouses, most of them being represented by—

(3) Silver certificates. According to the latest report there were $326,680,803 of these in circulation, and there can be no more of them. These pieces of paper are not legal tender.

(4.) Greenbacks. These are the legal tender notes issued during the war, amounting now to $346,981,016, of which about $100,000,000, are held by the national banks as part of their reserves. No more can be issued.

(5.) Legal tender notes under the act of 1860. These are issued in payment for silver bullion bought by the government under said act, at the rate of 4,500,000 ounces per month. With silver selling at 87 cents per ounce, the monthly output of notes would be about $3,900,000. This is a continuing operation. The whole amount at present is about $100,000,000.

6. National bank notes. These amount to $167,000,000, or thereabouts. They are not legal tender between individuals, but are such at all national banks, each bank being required to receive them at par for any indebtedness due to itself.

7. Gold certificates and legal tender certificates are not in general circulation. They are issued by the treasury on the deposit of gold, or of either kind of legal tender notes, for the convenience of banks.

8. Subsidiary coins. These it is not necessary to describe. They include everything less than a dollar that circulates as money. They are not legal tender beyond five dollars. The treasury redeems them in legal tender money whenever requested to do so.

THE ELECTION.

JONES CARRIES THE STATE AND KOLB THE COUNTY.

The Kolb County Ticket Goes Through With A Rush.

The Kolb ticket State and county carried the day in Chilton on Monday. Even Dixie, the banner beat of the Democracy sent in a majority of 72 for Kolb.

Gov. Jones carries the State by a good majority, and it is to be hoped that the war is over that the people may settle down to business.

The official figures cannot be obtained until next Saturday. The vote for Governor as returned to the Sheriff's office is as follows:

	Kolb	Jones
Mineral Springs	191	80
Providence	66	44
Jemison	245	37
Benson	72	49
Macedonia	126	4
Clanton	347	176
Cooper's	195	27
Verbena	146	139
Kincheon	146	38
Maplesville	89	31
Latham's	64	00
Dixie	216	144
Total	1903	719

Kolb's majority 1,184.

It is probable that the vote for the county officers will vary but little from that for Governor. Of the probable contest mentioned by the daily papers we have no authentic information; though rumors of that portent were heard, they could not be traced to any candidate or authoritative source.

The following are the county officers elected:

Representative—O. M. Mastin.
Probate Judge—R. M. Honeycutt
Circuit Clerk—J. P. Vanderveer.
Sheriff—P. M. Moore.
Tax Assessor—E. G. Rollins.
Tax Collector—B. M. Gentry.
Treasurer—J. M. Parrish.
Superintendent of Education—J. W. Moore.
County Commisioners—M. Robinson, E. W. Bailey, A. Glasscock, Sam Pate.

The large majority which Chilton gives Goodwin for State Senator will insure his election.

It is confidently expected that Gov. Jones majority in the State will go over 25,000. The legislature will be close but will probably have a safe majority of Jones men.

An Appeal to the South.

New York Sun.

There are some Southern States whose Democrats regard Grover Cleveland with aversion, and have proclaimed beforehand, a settled purpose to carry this feeling into election, so far even as to support the candidates of the Farmer's Alliance or the people's party, or whatever name the combination may finally assume. Of these States South Carolina is the most zealous and the most pronounced.

Now, we appeal to South Carolina and to all those Southern Democrats of other States who cherish the same feeling and contemplate the same course of conduct, to reflect on what is before them, to pause, to postpone the satisfaction of their first manly impulse, and to sacrifice to the public safety and well-being their present convictions and purposes of political duty. The cause they propose to adopt leads to the overthrow of Democracy and the victory of the Republicans in the Presidential election. To take any State in the South away from the Democratic strength in November will be to add immensely to the prospect of electing Harrison. Every electoral vote that is deducted from the Democratic aggregate is so much power bestowed directly or indirectly upon the party of negro domination in the South and of force bill interference in our elections everywhere. Is such a result as that to be promoted by the Democracy of South Carolina? Is it not better, far better to go up and vote for Mr. Cleveland like men who know what they are doing and mean to do it, like men determined to make every effort for his election as the sure means of nullifying and crushing out the Republican force-bill conspiracy?

They Want Three Square Meals a Day.

New Decatur Advertiser.]

"I never realized how small my mind was until I went into the kitchen to cook" said a bright feminine M. D. not long ago.

Anatomy and surgery are A. B. C's compared with the science of cooking.

The wife of Mr. Congressman Kinsey of Missouri says the "smart women are not all writing books." There are thousands bending their intellect to the preparation of three square meals a day.

A YEAR WITHOUT SUMMER.

Something About the Dog-Days Season of 1816.

The State of the weather in July presented a splendid opening for a few paragraphs on the extraordinary summer of 1816. According to the best records January and February were warm and spring like. March was cold and stormy. Vegetation had got well along in April, when real winter set in. Sleet and snow fell on seventeen days in May. In June there were either frost or snow every night but three. The snow was five inches deep for several days in succession in the interior of New York, and from ten inches to three feet in Vermont and Maine.

July was cold and frosty, ice forming as thick as window-panes in all of the New England States. August was still worse, ice formed nearly an inch in thickness and killed nearly every green thing in the United States and Europe.

In the spring of 1816 corn which had been kept in from the crop of 1815 sold for $5 to $10 a bushel the buyers purchasing for seed.

On May 10, 1835, snow fell to a depth of a foot in Jamestown, Va., and was piled up in huge drifts in most of the Northern States. There was snow in many parts of Iowa and Illinois on May 11, 1878, and and again as late as May 23, 1882. —St. Louis Republic.

SORRY HE MAILED IT.

A Young Lover Applies to the Postmaster for His Letter.

A young lover with a pale and anxious face presented himself to a French postmaster. "A letter which I mailed day before yesterday is now in your postoffice," he said, "I have been traveling after it since I dropped it in the office in my own town. I want you to return it to me."

"That's against the law," answered the official.

"So I have been told by all the postal agents through whose hands it has passed. But you must take pity on me. I repented writing it as soon as it left my hands. I have not slept or eaten since. I shall never be happy again if it is delivered.

"You see, the letter is to Jeanne Arnet. We have been friends ever since we were children. We were going to be married next month. When I wrote this letter I was offended about something, and I wrote so coldly, so unkindly, that she will think that I do not care for her at all. She will never believe that I loved her just the same when I wrote it. And we were going to housekeeping on such a nice little farm."

The official was touched. Evidently the happiness of this worthy young couple was in his hands.

"I will give you the letter," he said, "but I must go through the formality of making sure that you wrote it. You may repeat to me the expression with which you began and ended it. I will open it and see if it corresponds with what you say."

"Of course, this is painful to you," he added. "I see well enough that you are bitterly ashamed of the cruel and violent things that you have said. But you are young and I will not judge you too severely. Now"—and he assumed an encouraging air of being prepared for anything.

The young man paused a moment in miserable reflection. How had he begun and ended his dreadful letter. "Yes, I remember!" he exclaimed presently. "It began: 'My own darling,' and ended, 'Yours for life.'"

"Exactly so!" said the postmaster. "Here is your letter, but I think she would have forgiven you. Pardon my smiling. Good-bye! How can you thank me? Invite me to the wedding."

Bad for the Eyes.

Among the sources of the greatest trouble to the eyesight are the chewing of tobacco (this above almost all others), the excessive use of wine, spirits or beer; the indiscriminate administration of quinine; the use of cosmetics for heightening the luster of the eye, and mixtures for dying the hair and eyebrows, and there is a case on record, where a diminution of vision has been traced to the wearing of an artificial wreath of flowers. Another source of failing vision may be traced to impeded circulation. The wearing of tight neckwear, such as collars which are too small, or shirtbands so cut that the veins drawn, should be avoided, as they prevent the downward column of blood returning to the heart, and dilitation and development of disease is likely to follow. The same rule holds good of constriction of other parts of the body.

SALT IN CHOLERA.

A Man who has Tried it With Immediate Success.

To the editor of the New York Times: Several years ago I read in a scientific paper a statement that in bodies of persons that had died of cholera, yellow or typhoid fevers there was found a lack of chlorides in the blood. This suggested the following: Should not the lack of chlorides in the system make it easier for those scourges to take hold? Common salt—chloride of sodium—"keeps" meat and other things by means of preventing the growth of the germs of putrefactive fermentation.

During the heated term people perspire much, and every drop of perspiration takes salt out of the system. In the hot seasons those scourges are most virulent. I have acted on this theory, ever since I read the statement, in summer complaints and cholera morbus, with decided and immediate success in every case.

I take a tumblerful of water, add a teaspoonful of raw corn starch and a teaspoonful or two of common salt, stir well, and drink it as much and as often as I can without causing nausea. The taste of salt is not ugly when the system needs salt. I have tried this more than a hundred times in cases of summer diarrhœa and cholera morbus with invariable, prompt success. A. B.

The LaFayette Sun paid a well merited compliment to our newly elected circuit judge in the following:

This is an age when young, strong and competent men are demanded in every position. Men do not wait these days till they are almost ready to step into the grave before their services are needed by their country. Where there is qualification also, comparative youthfulness is an advantage rather than a disadvantage. Such a man is needed for Judge of this Judicial Circuit and such a man we have in the person of Hon. N. D. Denson. He is in the prime of a strong and active manhood and is a master in the law. His special fitness for the bench is recognized all over the circuit.

The white of an egg, with a little water and sugar, is good for children who are troubled with an irritable stomach. It is very healing, and will prove an excellent remedy for diarrhœa, as well as a simple preventive for bowel disorders.—Exchange.

This should be given at regular intervals—say a teaspoonful every half-hour—and be continued until effective. Don't expect results from one dose.

STATE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

1. That the assumption and exercise by the Federal Government of other powers than those specifically granted in the Constitution is usurpation and oppression; that a strict construction of the powers of the Federal Government is essential to the protection of the people in the several States in their domestic affairs, of life, liberty and property, and the preservation of our republican system of government.

2. That in the administration of the Federal Government the reserved rights of the States must not be impaired; and that Force Bills by Congress to regulate elections of members of Congress or electors for President or Vice-President will be destructive of the rights and liberties of the people of the several States and of the harmony which should always subsist between the people and their servants; and we, therefore, denounce as unconstitutional and revolutionary the recent attempt of the Republican party to pass what is known as the Force Bill.

3. We declare as a fundamental principle of Democratic faith that no more revenue shall be raised by the Federal Government than is necessary for the payment of the national debt and for the support of the Government, honestly and economically administered and that in laying duties on imports, any discrimination in favor of one interest, or business or of one section of the union to the detriment of others, finds no support in the Constitution and none from a just regard of the rights of the people. That equal justice to all and special privileges to none is the bed rock principle of the Democratic party—the party of the people. We are, therefore, opposed to all manner of bounties, subsidies and paternalism by the government, and we demand that the McKinley bill be repealed, and that the tariff laws restored in part, and so reformed as to subjects, that necessaries and such articles as the masses consume shall be as lightly taxed as possible.

4. That the Democratic party of Alabama expresses its condemnation of the Republican party for their administration of the finances of the country, under which the demand of the people for a sufficient circulation medium has been ignored, and silver has been driven from its time-honored and rightful place and useless under the constitution of the United States, where it was maintained so long as our party had control of the national legislation. And we demand that such laws be enacted as will secure the issue of safe, sound and elastic currency sufficient to meet all the demands of the people. And we demand the repeal of the Federal taxation on the circulation of the State banks.

5. We demand that Congress repeal all laws authorizing national banks to issue notes to circulate as money based upon the credit of the government.

6. We demand that all money appropriated by the Federal Government for the payment of pensions shall be raised by a gradual income tax.

7. We are opposed to the ownership of railroad and telegraph lines by the Federal Government, and to the multiplication of offices, but we favor the control and regulation of lines of transportation and communication so that only a fair and reasonable rate shall be exacted of the people.

8. That public office is a public trust to be administered for the good of the whole people, and not spoils to be distributed as rewards to unscrupulous partisan favorites.

9. We indorse the administration of Grover Cleveland and recognize in him one of the ablest living exponents of the true principles of the Democratic party.

10. We demand that free labor shall be relieved of competition with convicts and all necessary law shall be enacted to forever prevent such competition.

11. We favor legislation that will vide a more efficient system of public schools.

12. We favor such further legislation as will better regulate corporations chartered by the State.

13. We favor the passage of such election laws as will better secure the government of the State in the hands of the intelligent and the virtuous, and that will enable every elector to cast his ballot secretly and without fear or constraint.

14. We favor the election of Railroad Commissioners by the people.

15. We indorse the wise and able administration, of Thomas G. Jones, who has followed in the footsteps of his Democratic predecessors in redeeming every pledge made to the people to give them an honest, economical and just administration of the affairs of the State.

Mrs. R. H. Croswell is visiting her old home here again.

Miss Anna Logan, of Verbena, visited Clanton Saturday.

Mrs. Evans visited her son in Anniston during the week.

Mr. Chas. Bivings visited his parents here the past week.

Mrs. B. H. Chestnutt visited friends in Calera Wednesday.

The barbecue and speaking drew a big crowd here Saturday.

Mr. W. H. Phillips is in Montgomery, and will be absent a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Waterworth, of Maplesville, were in town Saturday.

Mr. W. A. Collier, spent Tuesday with his family, at Talladega Springs.

Mrs. R. W. Walker, of Birmingham, is visiting Mr. L. A. Thornton's family.

Miss Rochelle Williams, who has been visiting here has returned to Birmingham.

Miss Annie Lamar has returned home after a pleasant visit to Mr. Tom Phillip's family here.

Mrs. B. H. Chestnutt accompanied her mother to Anniston on a visit to Mr. Glaucus Evans.

The election is over and it is to be hoped that the country is saved and that business will pick up.

A complimentary party was given to Miss Claudie McCranie at the residence of Mr. J. H. Hunt, Monday night.

The doctor has told the editor to keep close to his bed, and out of the sun and political excitement; but the paper may be looked for as regular as usual.

Mr. John Gullahorn, who is at work in the saw mill business in Conecuh county, has been spending some days with home folks in Clanton.

Everything was so quiet on election day, that the "devil" at this office had to fasten a tin can to his dog's tail in order to get up any excitement at all.

The Methodist Ladies Aid Society will have a meeting at Mrs. O. A. Duke's next Monday. The ladies are requested to attend as the society will be re-organized.

The Honorable Aleck Wilson, of Birmingham and Lomax, was in Chilton for some days before the election endeavoring to fool somebody into the idea that he carried the negro vote of this county in his breeches pocket. Not over fifty negroes were in Clanton to vote on Monday. But they will all turn out to vote for Harrison in November whether the Honorable Aleck votes that way or not. Even the nigger "great chief," Bill Stevens, seems to have played out with the Chilton darkies.

Kindness.

There are perhaps very few who would deny for one moment that kindness is a duty we owe to each other; yet those who have trained themselves in the practice of this duty are too few. The great law of kindness is "Do unto others as we would that they should do unto you. If this be kept both in letter and spirit it is plain that in doing so we have met all the obligations that rest upon us.

It is very clear we shall find ourselves happy in having done so. But to do this and the richest of all rewards—that of duty done—we must feel some solicitude. We must take upon ourselves some care. We must be of some pains. We must cultivate ourselves for this purpose, and see that there is within us a kindly disposition.

He who does not feel the distress of others and whose spirit enters not into their anguish will certainly not be kind. This noble feeling if practiced will grow, and when it becomes greatly enlarged will show a whole-souled generosity. One reason why so many are without the kindness they should have is because they cultivate a feeling of selfishness.

No doubt very many make a sad mistake just here. They do not mean to be unkind, but they attend to self first until selfishness takes full possession of them and then kindness is driven away. There would to-day be far less of self and selfishness in the world if it were not for the fact that we make the mistake of living for ourselves more than for others.

Let us who are yet in life's roseate morn avoid this ruinous error. It is possible to be so unkind that we may finally become such miserable old selfish churls that none but the devil would have any use for us, and he can only use us for wedgewood.

Be kind to all for we are traveling a road that we shall never [redacted]

[redacted] You cannot always judge a book by the cover," said Maj. Tom Speedwell at the Laclede to a Globe-Democrat reporter. "If any man despises a dude I do. I am prejudiced against any man who uses perfumery, wears a silk hat, a stand-up collar or carries a cane. Add to those offenses against the canons of horse sense, a buttonhole bouquet, a curled mustache and a lisp, and my fingers fairly tingle for a grip on his neck, my toes for a coup de grace. Yet I saw just that kind of a biped perform an act of heroism that made me think better of mankind. I was walking down Madison street, Chicago, last summer, when there was suddenly raised that most appalling of all cries of terror, 'Mad dog.' An old lady and a little girl were crossing the street, down the center of which a big mastiff was plunging, with bloodshot eyes and foaming mouth, pursued by a couple of officers. He made straight for the old lady, caught her dress and dragged her down. He then sprang at her throat, but before he reached it a youngster, tricked out in the toggery I abhor, had him by the neck. The beast raged like a demon, but the dude held him fast until an officer came up and put a bullet through his head! He then picked up his silk tile, brushed it with his elbow and said with an idiotic: 'Every dog in the thity thould be killed; everybody that keepth a dog in the thity thould be hanged.' His philosophy was sound as his nerve. I went home and wrote with a piece of chalk across the headboard of my bed: 'A man may dress like a cad and look like a d—d fool, and still have sand and sense to give away.'"

If it had not been for the high protective tariff we should have had no Carnegie, if no Carnegie, then no Homestead, if no Homestead, then no Manager Frick, if no Frick, then no strike, if no strike, then no Pinkertons, if no Pinkertons—well, what in thunder would we have had any way? Verily, the tariff is a wonderful thing!—New Decatur Advertiser

NATIONAL CAPITAL.

What is Being Done in Congressional Halls for the Country's Welfare.

PROCEEDINGS FROM DAY TO DAY BRIEFLY TOLD—BILLS AND MEASURES UNDER CONSIDERATION—OTHER NOTES.

THE HOUSE.

FRIDAY.—The house, immediately after meeting Friday morning, proceeded with the regular order, which was the call of committees. The time allowed the post office committee having expired, without action on any measure, the committee on public lands called up a few bills of little general interest and none of them succeeded in passing, the filibustering being so strong. Mr. Sayers then called up the senate amendments to the general deficiency bill, which have not yet been agreed upon. One hour was granted to debate on the subject of Indian depredations claims, one hour for French spoliation claims, one hour for the amendment paying the widows or legal representatives of deceased members of congress, half hour for Pacific railroad claims and ten minutes for the item relative to the salary of the assistant attorney general in charge of the Indian depredation claims. The amendments relative to the claim of the Pacific railroads and for the payment of the assistant attorney general were non-concurred in. An amendment was adopted to the senate paragraph relating to the payment to widows of deceased representatives. The amendment specifies the persons to whom the various amounts may be paid, and provides that the legal representatives shall be paid the balance of the salary to which the member would have been entitled, deducting mileage. The next amendment relates to the French spolia tion claim amendment, but before the house had disposed of it the hour of 5 o'clock arrived, and a recess was taken until 8 o'clock, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

SATURDAY.—The house resumed consideration of the senate amendment to the general deficiency appropriation bill. The pending amendment was that relative to the French spoliation claims. It was non-concurred in.

MONDAY.—In the house, Monday, Mr. Wheeler, of Michigan, called up as special order the report of the committee investigating the workings of the pension office. Mr. Little, of New York, took the floor in advocacy of the majority resolution, which give it as the judgment of the house that the president should remove Raum. He believed that the present administration of the pension bureau was unfortunately one of the few dark pages that had occurred in connection with departmental management. He believed it to be a political and moral crime to permit such management to continue. Mr. Lind, of Minnesota, in opposing the resolution, turned his attention chiefly to representative Cooper, of Indiana, and the part Mr. Cooper bore in the investigation. Mr. Enloe, one of the authors of the investigation resolution, spoke in favor of the report. The debate was interrupted at this time by Mr. Sayers, who submitted the disagreeing report on the general deficiency appropriation bill, and the report was agreed to. Mr. Holman then moved that the house recede from its amendment granting to widows, or legal representatives of deceased members, the balance of the salary which such members would have received. No action was taken and the house adjourned.

TUESDAY.—The house resumed consideration of the general deficiency bill, the pending question being on the motion made by Mr. Hayes, of Iowa, to reconsider the vote by which the house refused to table the amendment for payment of widows, etc. The house refused—yeas 81, nays 109—to reconsider the vote. After some time spent in filibustering, the bill was sent back to conference, Mr. Holman presented the disagreeing report on the sundry civil appropriation bill and immediately demanded the previous question on the report. It was ordered and then there was half an hour's debate upon the conference report as far as it recommended an agreement. Then came up the world's fair amendments, and Mr. Holman gave notice that on Wednesday he would demand the previous question upon the main proposition and amendments thereto. Mr. Bankhead was the first member to offer an amendment, and this amendment was to reduce from $5,000,000 to $5 the appropriation for the world's fair. Mr. Outhwaite opposed the appropriation made by the bill. He denounced the appropriation of $5,000,000 for the fair as the most outrageous piece of legislation ever attempted in the house. Then came as an interruption another conference report on the general deficiency appropriation bill. The report was agreed to and the house resumed consideration of the sundry civil bill. Mr. Wheeler, of Alabama, was recognized and continued his remarks in a discussion of the force bill. Mr. Otis, of Kansas, made a free silver and Farmers' Alliance speech. Messrs. Taylor and Wike, of Illinois, and Boatner, of Louisiana, in brief remarks favored the appropriation. Mr. O'Neill, of Pennsylvania, thought the appropriation should not be a gift, but a loan. The house then adjourned.

WEDNESDAY—In the house, Wednesday, it was expected that a vote would be taken on the world's fair amendment to the sundry civil bill without debate, but the friends of the fair at the last moment concluded that it would be better to have more talk and, when at 12.30 o'clock the sundry civil report again obtained the floor, Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, was given an opportunity to explain why he had decided to change front at this time for the appropriation. His reason was that the fair had become a national matter. Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, closed for the appropriation, his strong point being that by ordering Sunday closing the house had diminished the fair receipts. Mr. McMillin closed for the opposition, urging the necessity for economy. The debate being concluded Speaker Crisp announced that he was satisfied that his ruling Tuesday should be changed. The effect of the ruling was to give Mr. Holman entire control of the situation unless the house should take it away from him by voting down some proposition he makes. The first senate amendment proposed to increase the appropriation for the government exhibit, and, on Mr. Holman's motion, the house, without division, insisted on its non-concurrence in this amendment. The same course was followed as to other amendments of minor importance to the five-million-dollar appropriation, the world's fair managers not caring to force the fighting until the big appropriation was reached. In this way, without division, all the senate word's fair amendments were sent back to conference until the five-million-dollar appropriation reached. Mr. Holman, in accordance with the opposition programme, yielded to Mr. Bankhead to offer the five-million-dollar amendment and the previous question being ordered, the clerk began to call the roll on Mr. Bankhead's amendment. On the first roll call the amendment was defeated by a vote of 139 to 141. Mr. Holman demanded the yeas and nays and a second roll call was ordered. When the clerk finished the calling of the roll it was noised around that the motion had secured a majority of nearly twenty. Mr. Holman immediately changed his vote from the negative to the affirmative in order that he might be entitled to move a reconsideration. Several votes were withdrawn, and the speaker finally declared the motion carried by a vote of, yeas 117, nays 105. All of the republicans voted to concur in the senate amendment. The Farmers' Alliance members voted against concurrence. Sixty-three democrats voted to concur. On the announcement of the vote Mr. Holman was promptly on his feet with a motion to reconsider, and Mr. Bingham as promptly moved to lay that motion on the table. Then filibustering began in earnest. Mr. Outhwaite, of Ohio, moved an adjournment and pending that moved that when the house adjourn it be to meet Friday next. This was supplemented by Mr. Bailey, of Texas, with a motion for an adjournment until Saturday. Seventy-seven of the opponents of the world's fair proposition refrained from voting and Mr. Bailey's motion was lost—yeas, 2; nays, 148. The point of no quorum was raised and Mr. Bingham moved a call of the house, which was ordered, but only after the filibusterers had wasted some time by demanding tellers. Two hundred and eight members responded to their names. Mr. Bingham offered a resolution revoking all leaves of absence except those granted on account of sickness and directing the sergeant-at-arms to notify absent members to attend to the sessions of the house immediately. The resolution was subsequently withdrawn and the house adjourned. When the matter again comes up the pending vote will be on Mr. Bingham's motion to table the motion made by Mr. Holman to reconsider the vote by which the house receded from its disagreement to the world's fair amendment.

THE SENATE.

FRIDAY.—The resolutions offered Thursday by Mr. Peffer, in the senate, instructing the judiciary committee to inquire into the relations of employes and employers, was taken up Friday Morning and Mr. Peffer addressed the senate in its support. Mr. Peffer argued there was but three ways to meet labor troubles. One was for the government to keep its hands off and let employers and employes settle the matter between themselves; the second was for the government to establish and regulate the rate of wages; the third was that the government take possession of private manufacturing establishments and conduct them as public institutions. Mr. Peffer's preference was for the first named method. At the close of his remarks, the resolution was referred to the committee on education and labor. The resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Voorhees, looking to the establishment of a tribunal of arbitration in labor questions, was then taken up and Mr. Call addressed the senate in support of it. He argued that the employment of the Pinkerton detective force was a violation of law, and of the constitution, and that any man should be indicted for raising troops at his own sweet will and pleasure without the sanction of the courts or of the authorities of the country. No action was taken on the resolution which went back to the table. The anti-option bill was then taken up at 2:15 o'clock and Mr. White resumed his argument begun Thursday in opposition to it. There was, Mr. White said, a concensus of opinion on the part of the great commercial bodies of the country against the measure. In proof of this he sent to the clerk's desk and had read resolutions of the Chamber of Commerce of the state of New York, protesting against it as injurious to the best interests of the community. He also sent up and had read protests of bankers of New York, Chicago and New Orleans against the bill. He also sent up and had read a list of other bodies that had sent memorials to congress against the bill. That list comprised New York, New Orleans, Savannah, Houston, Mobile, Greenville and Memphis cotton exchanges, Milwaukee chamber of commerce, Chicago board of trade, New York produce exchange, New Orleans board of trade, New Orleans clearing house association, bankers, millers and merchants of Toledo, Ohio; Baltimore corn and flour exchange, Chicago merchants and manufacturers, and Minneapolis clearing house association, business union and chamber of commerce. Were these great associations, he asked, mere bodies of degraded and abandoned gamblers? And yet that was the inevitable outcome of arguments in support of the bill. Mr. White spoke for nearly three hours and when he closed the bill went over without action till Saturday. Mr. Davis asked and obtained unanimous consent to have taken up for immediate action the house bill to enforce reciprocal commercial arrangements between the United States and Canada. It was taken up, read and passed without any explanation and without division. (It is the Canada canal tolls retaliation bill.) The house bill to pay the state of South Carolina money to which she is entitled under the agricultural college bill, was reported and passed. The senate then adjourned.

SATURDAY.—In the senate, Saturday, Mr. Morgan introduced a bill to provide for the control of the Union and Central Pacific railroad companies until their debts to the government be fully paid up or secured. It was referred to a select committee on Pacific railroads. The house bill granting right of way to the Pensacola Terminal company through lands of the naval reservation near Pensacola, was granted.

MONDAY.—In the senate, Monday, Mr. Vest introduced a joint resolution authorizing the president to proffer to Great Britain, Germany and France as an inducement to enter into an international agreement for the free coinage of silver, a reduction of 25 per cent in tariff duties on textiles, hardware, earthenware and glass. Laid on the table. The anti-options bill was then taken up. Mr. George addressed the senate. At 2 o'clock Mr. George yielded the floor temporarily at the request of Mr. Allison, who presented the conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill. The report, although referring to amendments of the bill by numbers, covered many pages of typewritten paper, and its reading occupied twenty-five minutes. Mr. Allison made an explanation of the conference report, stating that, outside of the provisions about the world's fair, there was but one other matter left open, the provision inserted by the house, prohibiting the employment of Pinkerton detectives. He went somewhat into detail upon other points, on which the senate conferees had agreed to modify the senate amendment as to payment for government transportation on Pacific railroads. Other senators came into the debate, which lasted four or five hours. Mr. Hale's resolution was then laid on the table. The anti-option bill was laid before the senate as unfinished business and it went over till Wednesday. The house bill granting a pension of $12 a month to army nurses was taken up from the calendar and passed with amendments and a conference asked. After a short executive session the senate at 6:10 o'clock adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.—In the senate, Wednesday, Senator Hale, of the committee on naval affairs, introduced a joint resolution to amend the act in relation to the proposed international naval review at Hampton Roads and New York. The amendment empowers and directs the secretary of the navy to send the United States ships of war to rendezvous in Hampton Roads in April, 1893, and to proceed thence at some time during the month of May or June to New York harbor to hold a review. The senate joint resolution authorizing foreign exhibitors at the world's Columbian exposition to bring into the United States foreign laborers of their respective countries for the purpose of preparing for and making their exhibits was taken from the calendar and passed. The anti-option bill then came up and three speeches were made upon it. No attempt was made to have a vote on Mr. Wolcott's motion to refer the bill to the committee on finance and when Mr. Washburn asked unanimous consent to have a time fixed, (perhaps Thursday) for taking the final vote on the bill and pending amendment, a very prompt and determined objection was interposed by Mr. White. Many house pension bills were taken from the calendar and passed; also, the senate bill to facilitate the enforcement of the immigration and contract labor laws of the United States; also, the house bill to authorize the construction of a bridge over the Tennessee river at Deposit, Ala. After a short executive session the senate adjourned.

NOTES.

The president on Tuesday, nominated A. Barton Hepburn, of New York, to be comptroller of the currency, vice Lacey, having resigned. Mr. Hepburn is at present national bank examiner in New York city. Previous to receiving that appointment he was superintendent of state banks in New York state.

The senate, on Friday, confirmed the nomination of Ministers White to Russia, Snowden to Spain and Beale to Greece, Roumania and Servia, all nominated Thursday. Cyrus W. Field, son of the recently deceased Cyrus W. Field, who was nominated consul to Brunswick, Germany, was also confirmed.

FOR GEORGIA RIVERS.

The Appropriations as They Appear in the New River and Harbor Bill.

The river and harbor bill has been signed by the president and is a law. Through the efforts of Col. Lester, who is a member of the committee, Georgia has fared remarkably well, as the following paragraphs will show:

Improving harbor at Brunswick—Completing improvement, $27,500.

Improving Cumberland sound—Continuing improvement, $170,000.

Improving harbor at Savannah—Continuing improvement, $318,750; provided, that contracts may be entered into by the secretary of war for such materials and work as may be necessary to complete the present project of improvement, to be paid for as appropriations may from time to time be made by law, not to exceed the aggregate $2,831,350, exclusive of the amount herein and heretofore appropriated.

Improving Harbor at Darien—Continuing improvement, $25,000.

Improving Altamaha River—Continuing improvement, $15,000

Improving Chattahoochee River, Georgia and Alabama—Continuing improvement, $35,000, of which $5,000 is to be used on that portion of the river between West Point and Franklin.

Improving Flint River—Continuing improvement, $15,000, of which $4,000 is to be expended between Albany and Montezuma, and $11,000 below Albany.

Improving Ocmulgee River—Continuing improvment, $35,000, of which $12,500 is to be expended between Macon and Hawkinsville, and the like below Hawkinsville.

Improving Oconee River—Continuing improvement, $35,000, of which $5,000 is to be expended between Milledgeville and the Central railroad bridge.

Improving Savannah River, Between Augusta and Savannah—Continuing improvement, $25,000.

Improving Jekyl Creek—Continuing improvement, $7,500.

Improving Ocoee River, in Georgia and Alabama, Between Rome, Ga., and the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad Bridge, in Alabama—Continuing improvement, $130,000.

Immigration to Southern States.

A New York dispatch says: The appeal made by merchants of the south to turn the stream of immigration down there is having its effect in England and Scotland, a large number of immigrants arriving on the steamer Gallia. The Gallia passed Yesterday for South Carolina and Georgia ports.

Too Much Tinkering.

Mrs. Winks—"I see the question of omitting the word 'obey' from the marriage service is up again."

Mrs. Minks—"Yes, it's perfectly abominable the way they are tinkering at the marriage service. They'll be leaving out 'love and honor' next, and bring the beautiful sacrament down to a commonplace civil contract. Well, I must be going. I want to take this bundle to the tailor's before his place is shut up. It is some of my husband's duds which he told me to mend, but I think I see my self. Goodbye, dear."—New York Weekly.

Benefits from Running.

Running is the great beautifier of figure and movement, it gives muscular development, strong heart action and free lung play. The muscle comes where it ought to be, the shoulders go back, the loins hold the trunk well balanced, and the feet take their correct positions. It was running which made the Greek figure. The more active tribes of American Indians have been runners from time immemorial, and from the chest to the heels they are much more beautifully built than the average of white men. Running people have usually the firm but elastic texture which is the beauty of flesh.—London Tit-Bits.

His Hair Turned Green.

Black hair, brown hair, red hair and gray hair are common possesions of humanity, but the exceptional honor of the possession of a head of green hair falls to Daniel McCorry, bronze colorer at Carey Brothers' wall paper factory, Philadelphia. He was once blessed with blonde hair, but in following his trade he was constantly amid acids and bronzes, and finally he observed his hair changing to a rich emerald green.—Ex.

None But the Brave, Etc.

He was poor, but nervy, and she was beautiful and rich.

"Will you marry me?" he asked plumply.

"Why," she exclaimed, "how abrupt you are! You won't give me time."

"I can't do it," he snapped. "This is a cash transaction."

And so they were married and lived happily to a good old age.—Detroit Free Press.

Walked Seventy Miles for a Job.

William Corbett, famous in American revolutionary politics, and in connection with American agriculture and horticulture of a century ago, was once employed in the royal gardens at Kew, according to Prof. Hemsley, having walked some seventy miles when but a lad of eleven, with but thirteen cents in his pocket, in order to secure the promised job. He was a fine type of a self-educated man.—Meehan's Monthly.

For a correct answer to any THREE words,	$75.00	For a correct answer to any EIGHT words,	$200.00
For a correct answer to any FOUR words,	$100.00	For a correct answer to any NINE words,	$225.00
For a correct answer to any FIVE words,	$125.00	For a correct answer to all of the TEN words,	$250.00

As SPECIAL GRAND REWARDS we will Pay in Cash:

For the FIRST correct answer to ALL of the entire Ten words, $5,000
For the SECOND correct answer to ALL of the entire Ten words, $3,000
For the THIRD correct answer to ALL of the entire Ten words, $2,000

Here are the Ten Word-Riddles—Can You Solve Any of Them?

1	B-rn--	A NAME MADE FAMILIAR BY GREAT ADVERTISING TO EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD WHO HAS EVER VISITED A CIRCUS.
2	-ea-ty	A CHARMING QUALITY WHEN POSSESSED BY WOMEN, THAT ATTRACTS THE ADMIRATION AND OFTEN WINS THE LOVE OF MEN.
3	Bl---e	WAS NOT CONSIDERED DESIRABLE AT THE MINNEAPOLIS NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION BY A MAJORITY OF THE DELEGATES.
4	-le------	SERVED TO DEFEAT JAMES G. BLAINE FOR THE PRESIDENCY IN 1884.
5	-ol---	THAT WHICH YOU CAN SECURE TO THE AMOUNT OF $5,000 IF YOU WIN THE FIRST PRIZE HEREIN OFFERED.
6	-r-ss	THAT WHICH WOMEN KNOW HOW TO WEAR TO BETTER ADVANTAGE THAN MOST MEN.
7	-i-ht	SOMETHING WHICH JOHN L. SULLIVAN, CORBETT, JACKSON, SLAVIN AND OTHER BIG PUGILISTS EXCEL IN.
8	-ar-i--n	OCCUPIES THE MOST RESPONSIBLE AND FOREMOST POSITION CONNECTED WITH THE GOVERNMENT AND PROTECTION OF THE PEOPLE AGAINST FOREIGN OR HOSTILE NATIONS.
9	-ict--e	THAT WHICH PLEASES OR SATISFIES THE EYE, AND WHICH, IF ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED, ATTRACTS THE ATTENTION AND EXCITES THE ADMIRATION OF LOVERS OF THE BEAUTIFUL.
10	Qu-e-Vic-----	PROBABLY CONSIDERED OF GREATER CONSEQUENCE AND MORE SOUGHT AFTER BY THE IDLE, EXCLUSIVE AND TITLED ENGLISH NOBILITY THAN BY THE AVERAGE BUSY, HUSTLING AMERICAN.

Explanation. Each dash appearing in the partially spelled words indicates the absence of a certain letter, and when the proper letters are supplied the original word selected to form each Riddle will be found complete. EXAMPLE: H--r-e, something every farmer should possess. In this case the omitted letters are o and s, and when properly inserted the completed word is HORSE.

REWARDS paid in cash the VERY DAY any answer is found to be correct.

Each answer will be numbered as received, to be examined in the order of its number, and when found correct a New York Certified Bank Check for the full amount of whatever reward such correct answer secures will be sent the VERY DAY the award is made.

REMEMBER If you only solve one word you will receive $20 in Cash; you are not confined to any particular word—any one of the entire ten will bring you a $20 cash reward—while if you are bright enough to solve more than one your reward will be increased in proportion from $50 to $250. Also remember that you do not have to be first, or last with your answer. EVERY correct answer for even a single word wins a splendid cash reward.

The Only Condition.

The object of this extraordinary offer is, of course, to secure Subscribers at once and in large numbers. We therefore require that 50 cents for a year's subscription to some one of our papers shall be remitted with every answer. We publish four great papers: The American Fireside, The American Homestead, The American Household Journal, and The American Cottage Home. Name your choice of any one of the four—they are all the same price, 50c. a year. If you send answers to more than one word you must send a separate name and 50c. for every word you answer. Thus, if you send answers to two words, send an extra name besides your own and $1, and so on—one name and 50c. for a year's subscription for each word you answer. The total amount of cash rewards that you receive for correct answers can be divided pro rata among the list, or you can keep it all, just as you arrange between yourself and those whose names you send. In every case we will pay the full amount of the reward for correct answers to the person who sends the names.

Don't send answers without subscriptions—they will receive no attention and cannot possibly win a reward even if correct.

Protection. As a means to guard against even an appearance of irregularity or collusion, a copy of the original ten words selected to make up the above Word-Riddles is deposited with Mr. C. F. SMITH, Superintendent of the Jersey City Police Department, under seal, to be opened December 31, 1892, in the presence of witnesses, after this contest closes. The complete list will be printed in full in the January issues of our four papers, so that all who have not received rewards for correct answers will know wherein they failed. This method of protection is due to all concerned, and absolutely prevents everything that is not wholly honest and fair to every subscriber.

DESIGNATE THE WORDS YOU ANSWER BY THEIR NUMBERS, and be wise and send your answer at once.

Address all letters and make all remittances payable to the Treasurer of the American Publishing Co., as follows:

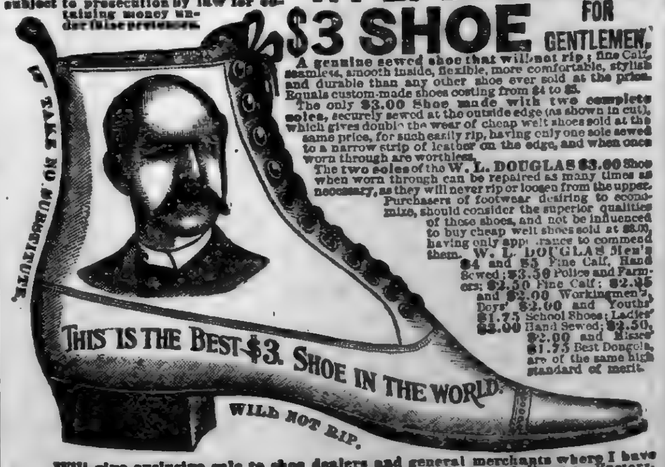
CAUTION.—Beware of dealers substituting shoes without W. L. Douglas name and the price stamped on bottom. Such substitutions are fraudulent and subject to prosecution by law for obtaining money under false pretenses.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

A genuine sewed shoe that will not rip; fine Calf, seamless, smooth inside, flexible, more comfortable, stylish and durable than any other shoe ever sold at the price. Equals custom-made shoes costing from $4 to $5. The only $3.00 Shoe made with two complete soles, securely sewed at the outside edge (as shown in cut), which gives double the wear of cheap welt shoes sold at the same price, for such easily rip, having only one sole sewed to a narrow strip of leather on the edge, and when once worn through are worthless.



The two soles of the W. L. DOUGLAS $3.00 Shoe when worn through can be repaired as many times as necessary, as they will never rip or loosen from the uppers. Purchasers of footwear desiring to economize, should consider the superior qualities of those shoes, and not be influenced to buy cheap welt shoes sold at $2.00, having only apparent resemblance to genuine them. W. L. DOUGLAS Men's $4 and $5 Fine Calf, Hand Sewed; $3.50 Police and Farmers; $2.50 Fine Calf; $2.25 and $2.00 Workingmen's, Boys' $2.00 and Youths' $1.75 School Shoes; Ladies' $3.00 Hand Sewed; $2.50, $2.00 and Misses' $1.75 Best Dongola, are of the same high standard of merit.

The Camden Progress says that the Montgomery, Hayneville and Camden railroad is going on for as Wilcox county seat. It seems as if the glorious day is fast dawning when our people will no longer live as an outside attachment to the world.

A correspondent writing from Seale says that the people are taking advantage of the dry, hot weather to dry quantities of fruit—peaches, apples and pears, these latter having been blown down by the wind. Large quantities are being picked up and housekeepers have been busy preserving and drying since. Dried fruit will be plentiful and cheap next winter. The fruit crop in that section is immense.

The Birmingham Age-Herald says: It is understood that Mr. Hillman and Mr. George L. Morris, both of whom are in New York, have recently completed the machine of a great steel making process invented and patented in England and patented in the United States. This is both by the process described in an interview with Mr. Hillman published in the Age-Herald a year ago, and which Mr. Hillman had decided to use in his proposed steel mill at Ensley City. It is especially adapted to our ores, and is a wonderful invention. By this process our ores can be easily and cheaply converted into steel of a very superior quality, and as proposed at Ensley the ores would be so converted without losing their initial heat.

University Letter.

Friends of the University have long desired to see it at the head of the educational system in Alabama, being the climax or cap to a well rounded and harmonious pyramid. A letter recently issued by the president of the University indicates a well-defined purpose to develop that idea, which begins with the Normal College of the State. The letter is as follows:

To the Friends of Education, Greeting:—

The Alabama State Normal School, Florence, one of which James K. Powers, M. A., is principal, is hereby declared by the president faculty of the University of Alabama a preparatory Auxiliary school, from which students bearing a proper certificate, may be admitted into the Freshman class, University of Alabama, without examination.

In testimony whereof, this certificate is signed and covered.

RICHARD C. JONES,
President University of Alabama

A Tribute to the State Grange.

Col. Hiram Hawkins, master of the Alabama State Grange, in his annual address before the state grange recently in session at Troy, used these eloquent words: "As the mighty oak stands towering above all the trees of the forest, spreading its leafy branches to shelter all who seek protection from the storm, though swayed for a time by fierce winds, the giant oak stands erect and majestic, the storm only having served to strengthen its foundation by sending the roots deeper in the earth. So the grange, like the mighty oak, stands among all other farmer organizations, offering shelter and protection to all who seek its care, and like the oak, though swayed for a time, stands erect and majestic. This political storm serving the purpose of sending its roots deeper into the hearts, the affections and the confidence of the people." Colonel Hawkins' able address shows the grange to be in a flourishing condition.

A Big Hearted Drummer.

The following letter to the Age-Herald from a traveling salesman, who sees a chance to help the unfortunate overflow sufferers, explains itself:

"The recent floods in Alabama have caused great distress in the country bordering on the Warrior and Bigbee rivers that calls for charity to relieve the suffering people of that section. Many have lost their all, not alone their growing crops, but stock, farming implements and even their homes in many cases. This is a case where charity will be well directed, and I propose to raise through the aid of the Age-Herald a fund for these suffering people, to be distributed in the state of Alabama where most needed in the counties bordering on the Warrior and Bigbee rivers. Let every salesman who travels in Alabama write his house, as I have done, stating the condition of affairs, and I am sure all will respond to charity's call. Boys, this is a call that appeals to all of us, and no traveling man has ever failed to answer a worthy call in the name of charity. Please sign the collections as 'The Drummers' Fund,' and in the name of the brotherhood I appeal to all traveling men to request their houses to respond to this call. I enclose check for $25 from my house, as their contribution to start the fund.

Yours truly, DAVID M. SCOTT.

Weather and Crops.

The mean temperature for the week ended July 30 was apparently about the normal. The rainfall was about 0.75 of an inch below the normal. There was consequently a large amount of sunshine, occasional showers refreshing vegetation and prevented the crops from suffering under the heat of the sun. The week was exceedingly favorable to plant growth, and reports are more encouraging from all parts of the state. In north Alabama the warm sunshine has revived the injured crops, and corn, cotton and potatoes are generally looking much better. In bottom lands and basins the crops are said to be hopelessly ruined. Farmers report from this section that they estimate their corn as damaged about 20 per cent. by the heavy rains of this month; wheat and oats have lost about 30 per cent and fruits about 50 per cent, especially grapes and peaches. The southern sections of the state report that the corn crop is about made, and promises fine results; potatoes are improving daily under the genial influence of the sunshine, and farmers are taking advantage of every fair day to get the grass out of their cotton. In Baldwin county cotton is rusting badly; a great deal of land has been submerged and crops totally ruined. Gardens and orchards favorably situated are maturing rapidly. Reports from Sumter county state that "crops and gardens not totally destroyed by floods are rallying. Nearly all our vast acreage of overflowed corn and cotton is utterly destroyed. The immense quantity of decaying vegetation is producing an almost intolerable stench on the bottom lands. Four thousand people in our county are being fed by charity."

SHE IS INSANE.

So Say the Jury in the Alice Mitchell Murder Case.

A Memphis, Tenn., dispatch says: A large crowd was in attendance at the criminal court Saturday, it being announced that Judge DuBose would deliver the charge to the jury in the famous Alice Mitchell case, murderess of Freda Ward. The defendant appeared calm and collected during the reading of the charge, the time occupied in its delivery being fifteen minutes; the question of sanity or insanity of the prisoner at the time of the trial being the only question considered. The jury retired at 9:30 and at 9:50 o'clock filed into the courtroom with the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find the defendant, Alice Mitchell, insane, and believe it would endanger the safety of the community to set her at Liberty."

Alice Mitchell was then remanded to the custody of the sheriff, and will be ordered placed in an insane asylum. Should she be released as sane at any time she can then be placed upon trial on the charge of murder, as she was only tried as to her mental soundness or unsoundness at the time of her trial, the question as to her mental condition at the time of the commission of the homicide not being touched upon during her trial, now concluded.

When the verdict was read by the clerk a faint smile spread over the defendants' features as if she had been confident of the jury's verdict throughout the entire trial. She was taken to jail, gayly chatting as she went, and will be sent thence to one of the state insane asylums.

CONDEMNING THE PINKERTONS

Railroad Men Pass Resolutions Against Their Employment.

Sunday, seven of the orders of railroad employes of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware met at Wilkesbarre, Pa., in general convention to discuss the benefit and advisability of coming under one head. The societies are the Railroad Conductors, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Switchers' Mutual Aid Society, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Order of Railroad Telegraphers and ladies' auxiliary. In the afternoon a mass meeting was held attended by 5,000 non-brotherhood men. Addresses were made by prominent members of the various branches.

Grand Master Workman of the Knights of Labor T. V. Powderly spoke vigorously of the outrages of the Pinkertons at Homestead and submitted the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we regard the interference of the Pinkertons in the labor troubles as unpatriotic and un-American. We have confidence in the power of the law to keep the peace and, therefore, demand the abolition by law of the practice of throwing standing armies of irresponsible men around mills and factories and upon our railroads in times of labor disputes.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

Happenings of the Day Culled from Our Telegraphic and Cable Dispatches.

WHAT IS TRANSPIRING THROUGHOUT OUR OWN COUNTRY, AND NOTES OF INTEREST FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

A New York dispatch says: The American District messenger boys went on a strike Tuesday morning.

The steamer Teutonic arrived at New York Wednesday morning. She ran 525 miles Tuesday. This is the best day's run on record.

Anarchists Cauer and Knold were admitted to bail in $5,000 each at Pittsburg, Tuesday. The bonds have not yet been approved.

A New York dispatch of Tuesday says: Judge Larcombe has issued an order continuing Henry E. Howland as receiver of the Florida Construction Company.

The wall paper trust was perfected at New York Tuesday. Forty leading manufacturers are interested and the value of the property involved is $200,000,000.

A cablegram of Wednesday says: The Swiss government has received from the United States an apology for the arrest by mistake of attache Geng of the Swiss legislation at Washington.

Return of triennial elections held in provinces of France Monday for members of councils general have been received at Paris from 1,132 districts. They show a republican gain of 110 seats.

A New York dispatch says: In accordance with the resolution passed at a recent meeting of the Richmond Terminal advisory committee, default was made on the interest of 6 per cent bonds which was due Monday.

The deputy and acting comptroller of the currency on Monday declared the first dividend of 35 per cent in favor of the creditors of the First National bank, of Palatka, Fla., on claims proved, amounting to $261,550.

Ex-United States Senator Anthony Kennedy, aged eighty-two years, died at Annapolis, Md., Sunday morning. Senator Kennedy has been in feeble health for a long time, but the superinducing cause was the excessive heat of the late torrid spell.

The thirty-third or upper union mills in Pittsburg started up non union at 4 o'clock Monday morning. The plate mill is running, and the other departments appear to be in operation. A guard of police is about the property and no trouble has occurred.

A cablegram of Monday from St. Petersburg, Russia, states that cholera has made its appearance in the prison at Tomsk, the capital of the government of that name in West Siberia. Already ten cases of the disease and eight deaths have been reported by the prison authorities.

It was reported at St. Louis that a limited express, east-bound, on the Big Four, which left that city at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, collided with a freight train at Edwardsville Junction, Ill., the engineer and fireman being killed and a large number of passengers being injured, several fatally.

Operations at the Champion iron mines at Marquette, Mich., suspended Monday morning for an indefinite period and the entire force of 600 employes discharged. The suspension is due, it is said, to the fact that the company is unable to market its ore, which is of a quality that is crowded out of the market by cheaper ore.

A Pittsburg dispatch says: Joseph Driver, with three companions, who arrived at Homestead Saturday, left there Tuesday evening. Driver declares that his reason for leaving was because he knew there were two cases of smallpox among the non unionists in the mill. In this statement his companions bore him out. They claim the bodies were buried in the yard. Superintendent Polk denies the story.

A Philadelphia dispatch of Monday says: James Hunter, twenty-five years of age, who fled after forging $105,300, returned unexpectedly Sunday from Brazil, and was arrested. He is broken in health and his mind is shattered, and he bears but slight resemblance to the once honored head of the extensive mill firm of James & John Hunter. It is thought he will never be tried.

Informations were made at Pittsburg, Monday afternoon before Alderman Reilly by ex-Private Iams against Colonel Hawkins, Lieutenant Colonel Streater and Assistant Surgeon Grim, of the Tenth regiment, for aggravated assault and battery. Warrants were issued. The charge of aggravated assault was for tying Iams up by the thumbs and the assault and battery for shaving his head.

Lieutenant Colonel Streater was arrested at his home in Washington Tuesday afternoon on charges of aggravated assault and battery and assault and battery preferred by Private Iams. Colonel Streater went before a justice and waived hearing for an appearance at the September term of court in Pittsburg. He gave bail in $500 on each charge and was released. Colonel Hawkins was not arrested, as he is still on duty at Homestead.

A New York dispatch of Monday says: The strike in the building trades, which began by the union men quitting work on the new criminal court building, where the Jackson Architectural Iron Company employed non-union men, has assumed alarming proportions. In retaliation for this strike the Iron League, to which organization the Jackson company belonged, locked out all iron workers. Then walking delegates ordered strikes throughout the building trades.

The usual monthly statement prepared by the treasury was issued Tuesday. The figures are as follows: Aggregate cash in the treasury, $783,979,286; net cash balance, $27,050,286; increase during the month, $357,909; decrease of interest and non-interest bearing debt, $398,905; decrease of certificates and treasury notes outstanding, $569,051; total certificates and treasury notes outstanding, $619,675,803, offset by an equal amount of cash in the treasury; net debts, $967,878,935.

Telegrams of Monday from Spokane, Wash., state that Indians on the Colville reservation threaten an outbreak. The Indians are greatly incensed at the failure of the authorities to eject prospectors, and even those who have heretofore have been peaceably disposed, seem to have caught the infection from others and all are armed. The removal of all intruders would settle the trouble, and Indian Agent Cole has received official notification that troops will be placed at his disposal for this purpose.

TRADE REVIEW.

Dun & Co.'s Report of Business for the Past Week.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The extreme hot weather for the entire week has checked many kinds of business, but has not prevented considerable excess in the volume of trade over that of last year. At the same time the weather has been extremely favorable for growing crops, except in the limited districts where damage has been done by violent storms, and the crop outlook is decidedly improving.

The great interruption of the iron and steel manufactures at the west continues, but there are distinct signs of a favorable settlement. Finished products of iron and steel are stronger—$3 to $5 higher, but great demoralization is expected in pig iron unless more of the consuming works start speedily. Bar and sheet iron are very active, and the manufacturers of plate and structural iron have more orders than they can well handle, but no improvement is seen in rails.

Boot and shoe shops are running full of business, and shipments exceed last year's every week; being for the year, thus far, 2,056,000 cases, against 1,967,000 to date last year. The shipments of hides from Chicago have been 110,000,000, against 97,000,000 pounds last year.

At Baltimore the hot weather retards much trade, though in dry goods and boots and shoes and furnishing goods it exceeds last year's. At Pittsburg the products of steel and iron grow stronger. A little improvement appears at Memphis and Little Rock.

Trade is dull at New Orleans, though the prospects are bright there, and at Savannah the receipts of cotton are light and the exports are slightly more than last year, but the sales of plantation stock for the week exceeds the sales of tangible and visible cotton about ten to one, aggregating 7,000,000 bales.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last week, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., number for the United States 171.

POOR ALICE MITCHELL

While on Her Way to the Asylum She Sheds Tears Over Freda Ward's Grave.

The last scene in the famous Alice Mitchell case was enacted Monday when the insane murderess was conveyed to the insane asylum at Bolivar, Tenn. Before leaving the city, a carriage containing the prisoner halted at the Mitchell residence, where Alice toyed a moment with a couple of cats, then throwing them away petulently with "Oh, you can go, I don't love you any more." Reaching Freda Ward's grave in Elmwood cemetery, Alice and her father and mother alighted from the carriage. Alice said nothing, but evidently was under strong emotion. Her meditation was not interruptid by the other members of the party. She moved around the little mound and eyed it with eyes wide open, an occasional tear dropping on her cheeks. She stooped over and plucked some flowers, which she placed tenderly, and then she [illegible]

ALABAMA ELECTION

The State is Claimed for Jones by a Majority of 20,000.

CAPTAIN KOLB ALSO CLAIMS THAT HE HAS CARRIED THE STATE BY NOT LESS THAN THIRTY THOUSAND.

A special of Wednesday from Montgomery says: The returns coming in tonight from the election of Monday tend to place the majority for Governor Jones at 20 000 or below, though the state executive committee still claims that there is no reason to show that the majority will fall below 30,000. Official and unofficial returns received up to 8 o'clock Wednesday night show that twenty-six counties give Jones majorities aggregating 33,734; twenty-six other counties give Kolb majorities aggregating 18,-34; leaving an apparent net majority of 15,700 for Jones. These figures are subject to possible changes on the official count of returns which will take place next Saturday in every county in the state. Twelve counties are yet to report; but it is estimated that their majorities will not affect the result one way or the other more than 5,000. The legislature is claimed by the state executive committee, and Kolb's people also claim it, and contend that many members elected in Jones counties are Kolb's friends and alliancemen, while they claim every man in counties which they have carried. It will take a close canvass to settle this matter.

CAPTAIN KOLB TALKS.

Captain Reuben F. Kolb, alliance candidate for governor, said to a newspaper correspondent Wednesday night: "I am confident of my election and that I have carried the white vote of the state by not less than 30,000 majority. I hold that the small majority which my opponent and his followers claim is based on a fraudulent and stuffed vote in the black belt counties of the state. I claim that on a fair and honest count of the vote as it was really cast in the black belt counties of Montgomery, Dallas, Wilcox, Marengo, Perry, Lowndes, Macon, Bullock and Barbour these counties would give me a majority of over 20,000, and with a fair and honest count in the whole state my majority would be 40,000. The democratic party of the state of Alabama is essentially the party of the white men of the state. The returns show that I have carried a vast majority of the white vote of the state. I do not propose to submit to a fraudulent count, nor do my friends propose to submit to it. My white followers represent two-thirds of the democracy of the state of Alabama. I cannot believe that the minority of the democratic party of the state represented by Governor Jones and his followers can afford to longer antagonize us."

A TELEGRAM TO GEORGIA.

Captain Kolb has received a number of telegrams from Georgia—telegrams congratulatory and telegrams of inquiry—and in his reply to one of these from the Southern Alliance Farmer, at Atlanta, Captain Kolb sent the following:

MONTGOMERY, ALA., August 3, 1892.—Southern Alliance Farmer, Atlanta, Ga.: My majority of the white vote in the state will exceed thirty thousand. The 15,000 majority claimed by Governor Jones is based on a fraudulent count in the black counties. With an honest count of the votes as cast in Montgomery, Bullock, Macon, Lowndes, Dallas, Wilcox, Perry and other black counties, my majority will not be less than 40,000. R. F. KOLB.

THE MAFIA AGAIN.

A Strange Letter Received by the Chief of Police of New Orleans.

Chief of Police Garter of New Orleans, received a letter Saturday from what is supposed to be the Mafia. Following is the letter:

NEW ORLEANS, July 29.—To Chief of Police Garter: We have in our possession Judge Marr. Will deliver him in your hands for $500, or will liberate him for $1,000. We will send you his old clothes, etc., such as we found on his person, but bear in mind, by one bad break authorized by you, his body will be riddled with shot; then sent you for a present. This money must reach us before twenty days, unless you will have his right ear. For further information address general delivery, postoffice, Chicago, St. Louis or New Orleans.

Respectfully, F. J. MONNER.

It will be remembered that Judge Marr, of the criminal district court in New Orleans, mysteriously disappeared last April. He was old and feeble, and was last seen walking along the levee. The impression of his friends was that he had fallen into the river and was drowned, and that impression still prevails.

THE INDUSTRIAL SOUTH.

Progress and Improvement Recorded for the Past Week.

In its review of the industrial situation in the South during the past week, The Chattanooga Tradesman states that its reports received from correspondents at all important points in the Southern States, are to the effect that much attention is directed to the condition and prospects of the new crop of cotton. In the northern portion of the cotton area the reports are to the effect that a backward planting time, heavy rains which prevented cultivation, and, in the river valleys the recent extensive overflows will cause the making of a greatly decreased crop. The hot weather which has generally prevailed during the week is doing good, but has come too late to be of much help in many sections.

In the southern manufacturing, mining and iron producing centers it is reported that there is no change in the steady demand for and no special increase in the output. There is a marked increase in the demand for machinery in every part of the southern states.

Forty-two new industries are reported as established or incorporated during the week, together with four enlargements of manufactories, and 16 important new buildings. Among the new industries reported are a $100,000 brick and tile company at Charlotte, N. C., and one at Augusta, Ga., a $500,000 compress company at Little Rock, Ark., a $10,000 development company, and one with $50,000 capital at Covington, Ky., an electrical company with $150,000 capital at Louisville, Ky., and others at Kissimmee, Fla., and Caldwell, Tex. A paving company with $100,000 capital is reported at Vicksburg, Miss., paint works at Memphis, Tenn., powder works at Covington, Ky., a $300,000 sugar refinery at Iberville, La., and a tannery at San Antonio, Tex.

The textile plants of the week include cotton mills at Chapel Hill, and Durham, N. C., Ridgedale, Tenn., a ticking mill at Charlotte, N. C., a $500,000 carpet mill at Wheeling, W. Va., and a $40,000 cotton and woolen mill at Marble Falls, Tex. A $50,000 tobacco factory is being organized at Mayfield, Ky., lumber mills are to be built at Ashdown, Ark., Durham, N. C., and Tyler, Tex., furniture factories at Cullman, Ala., and Brunson, S. C., and saw mills at Thomson, Ga., and Cumberland City, Tenn.

Water works are to be built at Alexandria, La., Shelbyville, and Harriman, Tenn., and Caldwell and Palestine, Texas.

The cotton mills at Trenton, Tenn., are to be enlarged as are the lumber mills at New Berne, N. C., and Wheeling, W. Va.

Among the new buildings of the week are business houses at Ocala, Fla., Van Buren, Ark., and Roanoke, Va., churches at Decatur, Ala., and Oxford, N. C., a $50,000 college building at Atlanta, Ga., and others at Newport, Ky., Jonesboro, Ark., and Greenville, Ala., a $10,000 depot at Milan, Tenn., and a government building at Tallahassee, Fla.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEES,

Executive and Campaign, as Announced by Chairman Harrity.

After several days' deliberation and conference with Calvin S. Brice, William C. Whitney and Gov. James E. Campbell, Chairman Harrity, of the democratic national committee, announced, Friday afternoon, the national executive and campaign committees. They are as follows:

Executive Committee—M. F. Tarpey, California; Charles S. Thomas, Colorado; Carlos French, Connecticut; Samuel Pascoe, Florida; Clark Howell, Georgia; J. J. Richardson, Iowa; Charles W. Blair, Kansas; Thomas W. Sherley, Kentucky; James Jeffries, Louisiana; Arthur Sewall, Maine; Arthur P. Gorman, Maryland; Daniel J. Campau, Michigan; Michael Dore, Minnesota; Charles B. Howry, Mississippi; John G. Prather, Missouri; Alvah W. Sulloway, New Hampshire; Miles Ross, New Jersey; William F. Sheehan, New York; M. W. Ransom, North Caroline; Calvin S. Brice, Ohio; Samuel R. Hovey, Rhode Island; Holmes Cummings, Tennessee; C. T. Bonis, Texas; Bradley B. Smalley, Vermont; Basil B. Gordon, Virginia; William F. Harrity, of Pennsylvania, chairman ex officio; S. P. Sheerin, secretary ex-officio.

The following compose the campaign committee: Calvin S. Brice, Ohio; A. P. Gorman, Maryland; William F. Sheehan, New York; B. B. Smalley, Vermont; M. W. Ransom, North Carolina; B. T. Cable, Illinois; E. C. Wall, Wisconsin; Josiah Quincy, Massachusetts; W. F. Harrity, Pennsylvania.

Warrants for Five Hundred.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Wardens, Idaho, states that General Carlin and Major Randall have returned from Fort Sherman. The troops will be at Wardens for an indefinite period, as the United States commissioner has warrants for the arrest of 500 men, some two hundred of which are yet to be served. It has been represented in petitions to both the governor and the president that the men have been designated for the assassin's knife or bullet and that existing evidence proves the assertion.

Cholera Closes the Schools.

A St. Petersburg dispatch of Wednesday states that in consequence of the cholera in Russia the ministry of education has issued an order that all schools in the country shall remain closed until September 1st. The course of medical lectures in St. Petersburg will be suspended until November 1st to enable that the students may be enabled to assist in [illegible]

THE DEADLY HEAT.

The Highest Death Rate Known in Twenty Years.

TWO HUNDRED AND EIGHTY SIX DEATHS IN NEW YORK CITY IN ONE DAY—MORTALITY IN PHILADELPHIA.

During twenty-four hours, ending at noon Saturday, 286 deaths were reported in New York city. This is the heaviest death rate for a single day for twenty years. The number of deaths for the week was 1,434, the heaviest since July 6, 1876, when 1,581 deaths were reported for the week ending that day. Prostrations from heat among workmen of the Williamsburg sugar refineries for the week exceeded 600. Only two of the large sugar houses are in full operation. Havemeyer's establishment employs nearly one thousand four hundred men. Of these more than four hundred, or nearly 33 per cent. were carried out during the week. The Brooklyn sugar refinery employs 450 men. Of these between seventy and one hundred were compelled to quit work and have been replaced by new men, as were those in the Havemeyer sugar house.

GREAT MORTALITY IN PHILADELPHIA.

The effect of the terrible heat of the past week in the city of Philadelphia was startlingly shown by the weekly report made Saturday by the board of health. During the week ended at 10 o'clock Saturday, Health Officer Veale issued 870 death certificates. This is a greater mortality than has ever been recorded by the officers before. This death rate is even greater than when epidemics of grippe or even cholera, smallpox of diphtheria scourged the city.

COOLER IN BALTIMORE.

The weather at Baltimore Saturday, was about eight degrees cooler on an average than that of Friday, but deaths and prostrations from heat during the day were nearly as numerous as those on any other of the protracted hot spell. The report of the city health commissioner for the week gives the following facts: Total number of deaths for the week, 457; under five years, 224; from sunstroke, 51; cholera infantum, 89; convulsions, 18. The number of deaths for the corresponding week of 1891 was 207, or 250 less than for the week just ended, and the excess in mortality is attributed by the health commissioner to be unparalleled heat here. Never before in the history of the city have there been so many deaths during the same period of time.

THEY WANT REVENGE.

The Pinkertons Swearing Out Warrants Against the Strikers.

A dispatch of Monday from Pittsburg states that those who participated in the disgraceful scenes at Homestead after the surrender of the Pinkertons, on July 6th, will be prosecuted for aggravated assault and battery, highway robbery, larceny, pocket-picking and other crimes and misdemeanors. The work of securing the necessary evidence to convict those engaged in the assaults on the Pinkertons and robbery of the surrendered men has been going on for some time, and it is now so far advanced that informations will be made in a few days and the implicated persons will be arrested. Among them are several women, who were particularly aggressive during the time the Pinkerton men ran the gauntlet and after it in taking the property of the men and hiding it. Assault and battery and receiving stolen goods will be charged against these women. The Pinkerton agency will take part in these prosecutions, and now have in Pittsburg a lot of their men who were assaulted and from whom property was stolen. The attorney for the prosecution is preparing information in these cases, and as soon as they are completed warrants will be issued.

Governor Winans, of Michigan, Monday afternoon issued a proclamation calling a special session of the state legislature to meet Friday, August 5, at noon, for the purpose of rearranging the senate district and apportioning anew the representatives among the counties and districts and for the transaction of such other business as may be laid before it.

Third Party in Michigan.

Five hundred delegates were present at the people's party convention which assembled at Jackson Michigan, Tuesday. The platform of the Omaha convention was adopted and a motion to incorporate a prohibition plank was made amid great disorder. The following ticket was nominated: Governor, John W. Strong, a former of Grand Ledge; lieutenant governor, Louis (Black) Lieutenant; treasurer, Joseph state; [illegible] W. Vanderwood, editor, of [illegible]

With a contest on in the Black Belt in Alabama, Harrison's election in November is almost a certainty.

Small bore politicians are talking down the spirit of compromise. The small bore politician is a great nuisance.—Age-Herald.

The Jones men in Chilton will not lose any sleep or throw away time in idle regrets at the result of the election here. They will drop politics and go to work at something else.

The constitutional amendment in Mississippi requiring all voters to be able to read and understand the constitution, has resulted in cutting down the colored vote from 30,000 to 1,000.

The white Democracy cannot afford "rendering evil for evil or reviling for reviling." The country needs peace and the party unity, to save the State from Harrison in November.

The political policy of the Birmingham dailies we think is wise and praticable. While the Montgomery Advertiser continues to make votes for Harrison by throwing fire-brands.

It is now quite certain that the "party law" of the State convention damaged the Governor's cause in Chilton and Tuskaloosa, however much it may have helped him in other counties.

The men who have been elected to fill the offices in Chilton will make conscientious and faithful officials, and this will soon be proved. In case of those re-elected it has already been demonstrated. They will be aided in the discharge of their duties by all law-abiding citizens.

Capt. A. A. Wiley, of Montgomery county, whom everybody supposed was a Kolb man, supported Gov. Jones in the recent election. The Alliance Herald nevertheless still favors Capt. Wiley for Congress in the second district and thinks he is the only man the Democrats can win with.

The VIEW can very well see now where it made some blunders, but lamenting over mistakes is time thrown away. The election is over. No doubt many of us said and did things that were better left unsaid or undone. In an excited moment we have probably said something to wound the feelings of some friend and we regret it. Let us forget these things and be friends and neighbors again. We are all interested in the progress of our county and country. Let us be united for the advancement of our business and material interests.

It was reported several days after the election that H. A. Wilson had made promises to the negroes to divide out the county offices with them if they would vote the Jones ticket. This is enough to disgust the Jones men, and will show them what a heavy load they had to carry in having the Republicans on their side in Chilton. The Jones Democracy had nothing to do with such promises, but that side lost votes of white men by having the sympathies of Republicans. And it is well if they but heed the lesson. In a contest between Democrats Republicans will generally damage the side that they favor.

In this issue we publish an article from the Birmingham News and the Age-Herald favoring re-organization of the Democratic party in the State. Peace and good government demands this step, and every patriotic Democrat will favor it. The party law of the Jones convention was so arbitrary as to weaken instead of strengthen the party. The Democrats in the Alliance are working to keep the organization from being swallowed by the third party, and the Democracy of Alabama will court defeat in November by persisting in ruling out of the regular organization all who may disagree with an unwise plan of campaign. Other articles in this issue from the Tallapoosa New Era, the Eutaw Mirror, Eufaula Times, Tuskaloosa Gazette and Montgomery Journal, all Jones papers, show that this sentiment is wide-spread.

Re-Organization.

It is suggested by an eminent Democrat of this city that the imperative necessity of getting together for the November battle involves the thorough organization of the Democratic party from top to bottom. He suggests that all Congressional delegates be withdrawn and new committees elected in every county, and a way provided for the election of a new State Committee. In all primaries all white Democrats shall be allowed to participate, the qualification being only a pledge to act with the party and support the nominees.

The chairman of the Kolb executive committee says he would be glad to go into such an arrangement and solidify the party again.

Evidently the spirit to harmonize and fraternize is abroad in the land. What every good Democrat desires is to get together. The man who kicks against any reasonable way of doing it should be given to understand that he is not a Democrat in good standing.—Age-Herald.

Harmony and Justice.

The State election is over: Governor Jones has been re-elected, and the entire State Democratic ticket secured a majority of the votes, as officially returned by the County Supervisors of Elections.

It was a frightfully hot fight between brethren of the same household. A majority of the votes received by each candidate for Governor were Democratic; the question—which candidate received the larger white vote—is an open one: The News believes that Kolb had the bigger fraction. Now, the time has come for Democrats to act together again.

Let us wipe out and begin anew; let the electoral ticket, put out by the Jones Convention, be pulled down: let both the State Committees yield to a new party organization: each State Committee from each of the Congressional Districts and two from the State-at-Large, and the twenty-two committeemen so chosen could elect a chairman from the great body of Alabama Democrats.

The new Democratic Organization could then call a State Convention to name a new Electoral ticket, or it could, under the precedents of the Democratic party, itself appoint Presidential Electors.

The division in the Democratic Party is so equal, that all honors should be equally distributed between the supporters of Jones and Kolb. The News would be willing to go to the point of dividing the Congressional delegation equally, the right to name the odd or ninth Congressman to be settled by lot.

When the legislature meets, Kolb Democrats should go into the Democratic caucus of members.

The interests of the people are at stake: let no patriotic man throw an obstacle in the way of their unification. The people must and shall rule.—Birmingham News.

Let Bygones Be Bygones.

The election is over, now let us accept the result and let bygones be bygones. We have no apology to make and demand none. We did what we considered our duty—we suppose those who held opposite views did the same. We were honest in our convictions of what was right in the premises, and we are willing to impute like motives to those on the other side. We regret that the campaign was so extended and bitter and feel glad that it is over. We would not continue it, or any of the bitterness it has engendered. Let there now be peace and good will toward man.—Eutaw Mirror.

One of the most unfortunate things that has befallen the fair State of Alabama in many a day is the political campaign of this year, which found an end at the ballot box Monday. More bitterness, prejudice and strife were crowded into it than any campaign, perhaps, in the history of the State. The seed of discord were more widely sown, and more lasting scars made upon brother by brother than Time, the great restorer, was ever called upon, after a similar campaign, to heal. That there has been no good excuse for this terrible strife is very evident. But it has come and it has gone Let us hope its bad effects have gone with it. And now let us all unite in endeavoring to bring about an era of unprecedented prosperity.—LaFayette Sun.

Calls It An Upheaval.

The Tallapoosa New Era, which was a violent anti-Kolb paper, now says:

"The political situation in Alabama is in no wise flattering for Democracy. The party is torn in pieces, and unless wisdom and patriotism prevails to a greater extent among the leaders in the future the prospects are rather discouraging. To-day the people are actually without any leaders in whom they will place much confidence. The ultimate result of this great upheaval of the people cannot be easily foretold. The safety of the principles of Democracy are endangered, and men who have been using the party for personal ends should no longer be trusted. The spirit of the people is seldom wrong. A thorough education by those capable and honest is the great necessity of the hour. Unity should be the grand object sought by all who would perpetuate the good and stable government which has blessed our State since 1874. Worse trials and struggles are yet to come, unless a sacrifice is made, Let every lover of good government go to work to avert the calamity which now threatens us."

Throwing Out Boxes.

Birmingham News.

Special dispatches to the News tell of the throwing out of a number of boxes, containing the votes of the people of many beats or precincts, without detailing the reasons for such action by the several boards of supervisors.

Gov. Jones and the entire state democratic ticket are fairly elected beyond the shadow of a doubt: the throwing out of the votes may have been legal, but in no aspect of the case was it politic. Technical defects in returns or in holding of an election, should not work the disfranchisement of any man. The demand of the times is a fair return of the wishes of the people as evidenced by their ballots.

The Montgomery Journal looks at politics in this wise:

Suppose we rule all of Kolb's supporters out of the party, what is going to become of the party in November? Shall Alabama be turned over to the third-partyites and to the Republicans, or shall the party become less intolerant, more considerate of the views of those who have fought side by side many on battle fields against the invader and for a cause all deemed just, and who since then have been fighting side by side for white supremacy, the maintenance of the government in the hands of the virtuous and intelligent, and for all that is dear and near to true Southern manhood? Can there longer be any question as to the best and wisest policy to pursue, or shall we continue to allow a few sap-headed politicians to rule or ruin the party and destroy themselves? It is about time the sober sense of the party was asserting itself, and more respect and consideration shown to those who would prevent by prudence and a respectful conservatism and a wise discretion, further dissensions in the party. Cease to doubt the loyalty of good men to the party because of their conservatism. Cease to doubt the loyalty of those who are so blinded by party zeal or prejudice as not to be able to see the danger in questionable methods and have the courage to criticise them. Cease to denounce all who differ with you about methods and policies as disloyal to the party. Cease to impugn the motives of men, equally intelligent and honest as yourself. Look to the welfare of the party and not to the political aspirations of individuals. And tell the truth and shame the devil.

Away With Ill Feelings.

During the heated political contest our people have become excited. Friends have abused and vilified each other. Every citizen has championed the cause which he sincerely believed was to the best interest of the country and now that the fight is over we should cheerish no ill feelings against anyone.—Prattville Progress.

Let Us Come Together.

The Times is not elated over the election of Jones, or if it is, it feels like suppressing it. It recognizes that our people are seriously divided and it would address itself as near as it may to healing, rather than widening the breech by demonstrations. People, let's get together.—Eufaula Times.

Now that the question of State and county politics has been settled, whether right or wrong, it is the duty of every good citizen to bend his energies to the revival of business, the upbuilding of our financial interests and the general prosperity of the people. No institution can flourish, no people can prosper when everything is in the turmoil and excitement incident to a political campaign. The simple fact that it is over is a matter of congratulation. It is necessary to have these seasons of politics, but after all there is more real and permanent good in industry and peace. Let's get down to work.—LaFayette Sun.

Shall We Have A Force Bill.

The most direct, but by no means the only important effect of a Force Bill would be on the industrial progress of the South. How rapid that progress now is—rapid beyond the realization even of the men that are bringing it about—is set forth in a compact article in the August number of the Forum, by Mr. Richard H. Edmonds, late editor of the Manufacturer's Record of Baltimore, whose life's study has been given to the subject. Among the most significant facts set forth by Mr. Edmonds are these:

Since 1881, the corn crop of the South has increased 75 per cent., as against 71 per cent. increase in the rest of the country; the cotton crop has increased from five and a half million to nine million bales—an increase in value, even with the present low price, of two hundred millions of dollars; in 1891, there were nearly 45,000 miles of railroad in the south, against less than 24,000 in 1881—a gain of 87 per cent., as against a gain of 56 per cent. in the rest of the country. The passenger traffic of the Southern roads increased during the same period 369 per cent. as against an increase in the rest of the country of only 168 per cent. In pig iron manufacture the South's output jumped from 451,000 tons in 1881 to 1,614,000 in 1891—a gain of 323 per cent. as against a gain for the rest of the country of 78 per cent. in other words in 1881, the North and West made more than nine times as much iron as the South, in 1891 they made less than four times as much. The increase in the number of mill operatives in the South was 145 per cent. as against an increase in New England of 17 per cent. And so in every line of productive activity the marvelous rapidity of increase is explained, showing that in assessed valuations the property of the south has in this period very nearly doubled, and increased from $187 per capita to $271—a record that is probably without a parallel in the whole history of substantial industrial growth. And in spite of the temporary depression caused by an over production of cotton, the increase goes on.

Would it continue if a Force Bill were to go into operation?

This question is answered in the same number of the Forum by Mr. Hoke Smith, of Atlanta, Ga. The negro is the laborer of the South. He has made the cotton; he has built the railroads. Everything depends on the quiet and industry of the negro. And the negro has done his work with effect, precisely in proportion to the absence of friction between the races. He made little or no progress, and the country made little or no progress, during the days of Reconstruction. A Force Bill would bring back substantially the same state of affairs as existed during the Reconstruction days; and Southern industrial development would be checked and thrown. So Mr. Smith, himself a conservative and energetic representative of the younger generation of successful Southern men, argues with point and force.

Carlyle tried to make the purse proud English ashamed of their gentility, respectability and rubbish. He taught that work was noble, idleness shameful; that ladies and gentlemen who live to please themselves live the life of a beast—of the poodle on their hearth rug; that duty, not pleasure, was "our beings end and aim;" that realities were better than shams.

Effect of the Tariff upon Agriculture.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The house committee on agriculture today submitted its report on the resolution of Representative McKinney, of New Hampshire, requesting the committee to report the effect upon agriculture of the tariff law.

"Careful comparrison, the reporter says, shows that there has been a steady decline in the prices of farm property and products under the several tariffs in force since the war. Under the low tariff of 1846 agriculture enjoyed its greatest prosperity, and a comparison of values of farm property and products show them more restrictive and prohibitive.

The report gives a table showing a decrease in value of farm lands in the United States from 1870 to 1880, which is fixed at $355,586,794, and also the decrease in value of farm products for a period of eighteen years, 1870 to 1888, as $175,876,104, making a total loss from these sources of $531,463,899; a comparative table showing a large increase in volume and profit of the banking business, as gleaned from official sources, is given. The total increase in railroad earnings for the last nineteen years is given at $672,610,998.

A champion for woman suffrage has arisen in South Carolina in the person of Mrs. Virginia Young, of Fairfax, a Southern woman by ancestry, birth and education.

A paper (The News and Courier) has also been found courageous enough to uphold her advocacy of what is still a radical subject.

Mrs. Young recently attended a meeting of the South Carolina Press Association as a member, and was invited to address them on "any subject she might select." This meant the subject dear to her heart, and she spoke for an hour. She closed with the following eloquent words:

Love your wives, daughters, mothers, and sisters, my brothers, and you will find your souls taking on fitness for heaven. Give them a share in all your pursuits—law, medicine, journalism, the ministry; and by the finer quality of your partner these shall take on a higher tone.

Birmingham Age Herald: In the divine economy every created thing has its use, although in many cases it is hard to find the design. The mosquito was no doubt created to suck the blood of fat and overfed persons, and reduce them to a condition consonant with the warm weather, so that they would not have a stroke of apoplexy. The red bug was created to counteract the natural tendency towards laziness of most people. There are persons so lazy that they will not wash, and in the summer the pores of their skin become clogged and they are an easy prey to summer sickness. The red bug compels such people to scratch, and this friction causes their skin to glow with the hue of health. The red bug is the originator of the massage treatment.

It is all over but the contest. That will probably, be settled in short order. Now lets get down to a bread basis. Our fields and shops and our offices need our attention.—Eutaula Times.

Mr. R. Ehrman, of Birmingham, was in town Tuesday.

All the newly elected county officers were in town Saturday.

Miss Sophie Mullins is visiting her sister Mrs. Oscar Mullins here.

Mrs. E. M. Barrett has returned from a weeks visit in Montgomery.

Mrs. B. E. Feagin has returned home after a visit to Pine Apple, Ala.

Mrs. Owlsby, of Atlanta, and two children are visiting Mrs. Merritt.

Dr. J. P. Givhan and Dr. McNeil, of Jemison, were in town Monday.

Mrs. W. M. Wilson is visiting her mother near Mulberry neighborhood.

Miss Gamma Middleton has been visiting Mrs. H. H. Tatum in Montgomery.

Mrs. Walter Pearson, of Montgomery, was the guest of Mrs. W. H. Phillips this week.

Mr. Sam Catts is again at his post after a delightful visit at Pleasant Hill, Ala.

Mrs. Elliott after a visit of several weeks in Clanton has returned to her home in Montgomery.

Mr. A. J. Gullahorn, of Gravella, Ala., spent several days with relatives in Clanton during the week.

Mrs. H. A. Logan, after a pleasant visit to her parents here, left Tuesday for Oxford, her future home.

Maj. J. M. Bivings, of Georgia, and Mr. Charley Bivings, of Dunham, spent Sunday here with their parents.

Mr. A. G. Dake was re-elected one of the Justices for Clanton beat. Mr. Dake is a worthy and popular official.

Mr. John Chandler received a telegram Thursday stating that his youngest brother was at the point of death in Georgia.

We were very glad to see Mr. L. J. Hand, of Jemison, in town Monday, and to find that he is steadily improving in health.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Phillips returned home Friday night accompanied by Mrs. Green, who will make her home with them for the present.

Tom Crumpton, the leading merchant of Maplesville, was in Clanton Monday with a petition to place before the board of revenue, asking for a new public road from Maplesville to the southeast.

A lady reader writes to this paper as follows:

"Let us have peace. No more worrying politics. 'In unity is strength.' The new county administration are all good men, some of them Christians, and will no doubt be good citizens. Let us extend to them a welcome."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Logan, of Verbena, visited the Misses Duke the past week.

Mrs. J. W. Edwards, who has been quite sick for several weeks is reported some better.

Mr. James Bull, of Montgomery, formerly a merchant in Clanton, was in town visiting relatives Friday.

Mr. Elliott, pastor of Clanton Church, will begin a series of meetings on his next sabbath here and will have a minister to assist him.

We don't know who it was that managed the Alliance campaign in Chilton, but who ever it was knows something about politics, particularly in this county.

The old board of revenue having no authority to hold court adjourned Monday. We were informed that the new board will qualify and meet for the transaction of business on Monday, the 22nd inst.

Subscribers at Lily postoffice complain that they do not get the VIEW regularly. The papers are mailed regularly from this office, and we ask our patrons at Lily to do what they can in assisting us to discover where the fault lies.

Ex-Sheriff Hayes will assist Sheriff Moore for a time in his office work and then return to his farm near Lily. Mr. Hayes is a clever and kind-hearted gentleman, who has made new friends during his sojourn among us, and we can but wish him well.

Jemison

Special to the Birmingham News:

Jemison, Ala., Aug. 5.—The election passed off quietly at this place There was no disturbance, and election talk is a thing of the past.

Two negroes were arrested here yesterday on supicion. It is thought that they are wanted in Selma for murder. They were carried there last night by officer Woolley.

The young ladies of Jemison gave a leap year party at the residence of Mr. Silsbee on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Silsbee are royal entertainers. The young ladies acquited themselves gallantly, and altogether it was a most enjoyable occasion.

Miss Perryman, of Fayetteville, Talladega county, who is assisting Professor Jennings in a school near here, spent Sunday in this place. She is an intelligent, attractive young lady, and made friends of all who met her. It is hoped that she will spend her Sundays in Jemison often.

Mr. Honeycutt's horse became frighten at the train one day this week, and ran some distance. Mr. Honeycutt, his wife and two children were in the buggy. All escaped unhurt, except Mrs. Honeycutt, who received some very slight injuries.

R. L. Woolley will move his family here in a few weeks for the purpose of sending to school. His attractive family will be quite an addition to our town, and we take pleasure in welcoming them in advance.

The following conversation, recently indulged in by two bright young men, speaks for itself:

"You often hear of the self-made man?" "Yes." "But you never hear of the self-made woman?" "That's true. Rather strange, isn't it? What is the reason, do you think?" "Well when a woman is self-made she doesn't want anybody to know it."

Six Men of Hindostan.

There were six men of Hindostan
(If sages tales are true)
Who rather plumed themselves upon
How very much they knew,
And intimated they could give
Old Solomon, did he but live,
A friendly tip or two.

One day these men of Hindostan
Went out to take a run,
And carried big umbrellas for Protection from the sun;
But up there came a jimmy-cane
With forty different kinds of rain
Before their walk was done.

And then these men of Hindostan—
These men of wisdom vain,
Shut all their big umbrellas up,
TO KEEP THEM FROM THE RAIN;
And though the torrents roared and poured,
These men proclaimed, "We can't afford
To put 'em up again?"

Oh foolish men of Hindostan!
As foolish as a pup—
What wonder jeers fill all the land,
While sorrow fills your cup?

And yet there are wise business men in U. S. A. who have not learned that in advertising—like handling an umbrella in a storm, to be successful,
You have to keep it up.

OFFICIAL VOTE OF CHILTON CO.

As Polled August 1st, 1892.

The vote for Governor as given in our last issue was exact in figures, but in the official count Saturday the last from Maccdonia was thrown out because of the failure of the election managers to sign the certificates sent in. This reduced Kolb's majority in the county to 1,082.

Following is the official count in round numbers:

Governor—Kolb 1765, Jones 723.

Secretary of State—Barron 736, Fonville 1789.

Attorney General—Wm. L. Martin 727, Collier 1778.

State Treasurer—Smith 750, T. K. Jones 1776.

State Auditor—Purifoy 729, Lynch 1779.

Superintendent of Education—Harris 729, Oliver 1778.

Chief Justice—Stone 2518.

Commissioner of Agriculture—Lane 730, Adams 1887.

Chancellor—McSpadden 2510.

Circuit Judge—Denson 2495.

State Senator—A. T. Goodwin 1358, A. L. Goodwin 362, A. L. Goowin 67, W. P. Gaddis 726.

COUNTY OFFICES.

Representative—Mastin 1707, Dennis 716.

Probate Judge—Honeycutt 1795, Duke 696.

Circuit Clerk—Vanderveer 1820, Hayes 680.

Superintendent of Education—J. W. Moore 1713, T. Mullins 282, T. T. Mullins 627.

Sheriff—P. M. Moore 1720, Traywick 716.

Treasurer—Parrish 1812, Jones 696.

Tax Collector—Gentry 1748, Parnell 657.

Tax Assessor—Rollins 1829, Hammon 649.

County Commissioners—Robinson 1801, Glasscock 1800, Pate 1703, Bailey 1590, J. F. McKee 670, J. M. McKee 32, B. T. Rasberry 679, K. Wells 703, J. H. Schoults 701.

Coroner—J. F. Goodgame 180.

The total vote polled was 2622 for Governor, the vote on the county offices being more than 100 behind this.

Goodwin's majority for State Senator was 632. Errors in the ballots cut his vote down as will be readily noticed. Similar discrepancies will be noticed in the vote of Mullins for Superintendent of Education, and of McKee for Commissioner. Mullins total vote was 909, which was considerably ahead of his ticket.

Beat Officers.

The following beat officers were elected the first Monday in August:

Beat 1—Justices, Ed. Willis, B. C. Glascock. Constable, J. W. Collins.

Beat 2—Justices, J. O. Jeffries, W. H. Shaw. Constable, W. C. Woolley.

Beat 3—Justices, J. C. Veazey, S. A. Blount. Constable, J. C. Veazey received the only vote cast.

Beat 4—Justices, A. G. Dake, William Lambert. Constable, F. Eiland.

Beat 5—J. G. Barbour, W. H. Strock. Constable, J. S. Jones.

Beat 6—Justices, A. C. Mims, J. W. Scott. Constable, J. R. Vinson.

Beat 7—Justices, J. D. McGee, B. C. Crawford. Constable, C. L. Ingram.

Beat 8—J. E. McCullough, C. C. Ray. Constable, W. T. Davis.

Funds are Ample.

A member of the county board of revenue informs us that the Age-Herald correspondent at this place is in error as to the county having no legal board of revenue for the past year, and further said that there is now over one thousand dollars in the county treasury and taxes yet uncollected and due to meet all the wants of the county.

Gov. Jones' majority on the official count will not go much over 10,000.

Five Ways to Cure a Cold.

Inhale ammonia or menthol.

Take four hours active exercise in the air.

Snuff up the nostrils hot salt water every three hours.

Bathe the face in very hot water every three hours.

Bathe the face in very hot water every five minutes for an hour.

A ten grain dose of quinine will usually break up a cold in the beginning.

Bathe the feet in hot water, and take a pint of hot lemonade. Then sponge with salt water, and remain in a warm room.—Pharmaceutical Record.

Now that the official count has been made and the fact that organized Democracy has won the victory in our state is assured, all bickering and strife should cease among the white people, and we should all get together again and go to work to promote our material prosperity. If we continue to fight and quarrel among ourselves not only will our industrial progress be retarded, but the danger will be great of losing the state to the Democratic party in November. We should remember that the interest of one white man is the interest of all.—Tuskaloosa Gazette.

Just One Kingdom.

"I am in favor of the advancement movement for women," said Jefferson Bartlett Davis of the Bohemians, as she sat at her lunch. "I believe in everything that has been done for the advancement of the sex, and I wholly approve of any thing that gives women a chance to show what they can do."

"How about reform in dress?" was asked.

"I am wholly for it," she said. "Women lace themselves so tight that they cannot speak a loud word, or draw a long breath, and they tie themselves back and swath themselves in long skirts until it is a wonder that there is a particle of health left in them.

"There is a new rain-day dress, I see," said the reporter. "No doubt it has your approval?"

"Anything has my approval that is sensible and healthful," replied Jessie stoutly. "How is the dress built?"

"It is of waterproof, faced with oilcloth, and it is very short coming scarcely to the top of the shoes."

"Oh! oh! oh!" almost shrieked the pretty contralto. "Say no more. Don't put it in the paper that I am in favor of such a dress as that. I should hate it, I should hate it."

"Why?" exclaimed the astonished reporter.

"Because, because I am from the West. And don't you see," leaning across the table and whispering softly, "I wouldn't wear such a dress for the world. I—I have Chicago feet. Don't you understand?"—New York World.

What is Being Done in Congressional Halls for the Country's Welfare.

PROCEEDINGS FROM DAY TO DAY BRIEFLY TOLD—GOLD AND SILVER UNDER CONSIDERATION—OTHER NOTES.

THE HOUSE.

FRIDAY.—The World's Fair matter was delayed by a question of privilege raised by Mr. Wheeler, of Alabama, relative to certain statements contained in a campaign book recently published by Representative Watson, of Georgia, reviewing the action of the present congress and positions taken by its members in the past. The house was thrown into a state of great confusion resulting from the assertions by Mr. Watson that every word written in the book to which Wheeler referred was literally true, and that he stood ready to defend every word of them. The assertion was greeted with prolonged hisses, as the words charge that drunken members reel through the aisles, and drunken members speak upon grave measures. Mr. Watson was called to order by Mr. Tracy, of New York, who was greatly indignant over the wholesale charge upon the house. Mr. Watson was permitted to explain his language. He reiterated his assertion as to the truth of the statement made by him and defied the house to do with him what it wished. Mr. Boatner introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee to investigate the truth of Mr. Watson's charges relative to drunkenness of members of the house, and to recommend what course shall be taken with respect to the member (Mr. Watson) if the charge is found to be untrue. Filibustering was immediately inaugurated by Mr. Cummings, of New York, assuming command of the filibusters. Mr. Boatner asked for immediate action on the resolution, and the question of its privilege was discussed and was ruled to be privileged and adopted without division. It was after 1.30 p. m. when the house resumed the consideration of the World's fair amendments to sundry civil appropriation bills.

SATURDAY.—The World's fair appropriation continues to deadlock congress. The filibustering in the house went on Saturday until the announcement was made of the death of Representative Craig. The house then adjourned out of respect to his memory. Before that, however, and during the filibustering Mr. Holman reported a resolution extending the old sundry civil appropriations until August 4th. Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, one of the World's fair advocates, objected to its consideration, knowing at the time that a failure to adopt it would leave many departments of the government without funds. His objection sent the resolution over.

MONDAY—In the house, Monday, Mr. Holman moved to suspend the rules and pass a joint resolution extending until August 4th the appropriations made by the sundry civil act of last year. The resolution was passed without opposition, but its passage was preceded by rather spicy discussion. Hardly had the speaker announced the passage when there was an exodus of government printers from the public gallery. No question came up that required the ascertainment of the fact whether there was voting quorum present or not. If it had been necessary to test that point the result would probably have been a demonstration in the negative. But there was nothing in the day's proceedings that required any formal vote. The joint resolution extending till Thursday last year's appropriations for government bureaus, covered by and included in the sundry civil appropriation bill, still pending in the house, was passed without a word of remark and without any division.

TUESDAY. — Monday night's caucus failed to have the effect anticipated upon the house. The world's fair people declined to be bound by its acts. They seem to have resolved on a rule or ruin policy, determined to secure an appropriation at any cost. As a consequence the filibustering was continued Monday and absolutely nothing was accomplished by the house. This was the seventh day of the filibustering. Speaker Crisp has made every possible effort to effect a compromise of some kind between the warring factions but up to date without result. During the day, however a resolution was adopted revoking all leaves of absence and requiring members to return at once, and in case of failure to do so, the sergeant-at-arms is instructed to send deputies to all parts of the country and arrest them.

WEDNESDAY—Fillibustering over the World's fair appropriation was resumed Wednesday and no quorum voting on a motion to take recess, the house adjourned and a democratic caucus was announced for two o'clock. Shortly after adjournment an agreement between the leaders of the two factions was reached. It provided that the entire world's fair matter should be stricken from the sundry civil bill and that the bill be allowed to pass. Then the opposition to the appropriation agreed to a direct vote on a gift of $2,500,000 to the world's fair to be provided for in a separate bill. A democratic caucus was immediately called to ratify the agreement. In that it was stated that no roember was pledged in any way to vote for the gift, but that they should agree for a vote to be taken without filibustering.

THE SENATE.

FRIDAY—There was no quorum when the senate met Friday morning and a half hour passed before one appeared; then Mr. Stewart seized the opportunity afforded by the colloquy between Messrs. Carlisle and Cockrell to make a silver speech. Mr. Carlisle addressed the senate on Mr. Hale's invitation as to the relative merits of "protection" and "tariff for revenue only," and in response to the speeches of Messrs. Hale and Aldrich.

SATURDAY.—The anti-option bill was finally buried in the senate Saturday. Owing to the hot weather many senators have left Washington for the summer. Senator Washburn realizes he could never get a quorum to vote upon it this session, so he agreed at Saturday's session for it to go over until December. That practically means its defeat after the election, as but little interest will be taken in the measure, and the opposition will find no difficulty in postponing it indefinitely.

MONDAY.—The attendance of senators Monday morning was not indicative of any great success having attended the telegraphic summons of the vice president recalling absentees. The vice president stated that no less than thirty-one such telegrams had been sent out, and in hand before the senate four telegrams received by him alleging sickness as the cause of absence. Those were from Messrs. Wilson, Gorey, Voigt and Peffer. Several of absence were granted, including to Mr. Pfost, for the remainder of the session, and Mr. Gibson, of Louisiana, for Tuesday. On motion of Mr. Hawley, the invitation of the Grand Army of the Republic at the encampment in September was accepted on the part of the senate, and a committee of five senators provided for. The house joint resolution, extending the appropriations included in the sundry civil bill till Thursday received from the house was laid before the senate and passed.

TUESDAY.—The attendance of senators Tuesday was still smaller than on Monday, or during most of last week. The vice president laid before the senate the resolution reported Monday for the appointment of a select committee of seven senators on the employment of Pinkerton detectives in labor troubles. A general discussion ensued. At 2 o'clock the discussion was suspended and Mr. Butler offered a resolution for the reference of general appropriation bills, at the next session and thereafter to the standing committees having the subject matter in charge, leaving only to the appropriations committee the legislative, executive and judiciary appropriation bills, the sundry civil bill, the pensions bill and deficiency bill. He asked that the resolution be laid on the table, and he gave notice that he would call it up at the beginning of the next session. Mr. Gorman asked leave of absence for Mr. Hill for the remainder of the session, and it was granted. The Pinkerton resolution was then further discussed and finally adopted without division. It provides for a select committee of seven senators to investigate and report facts in relation to the employment for private purposes of armed bodies of men or detectives in connection with differences between workmen and employers; reasons for creation of such organized bands of armed men, their character and uses; where, when, how and by whom they have been employed and paid, and under what authority. Several private bills were passed, and the senate adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.—There were very few senators present when Wednesday's session opened, nor did there appear to be any pressure of business before the body. Leave of absence on account of ill health was granted to Mr. Kenna. A resolution offered by Mr. Pettigrew, calling on the secretary of war for a report as to all army officers who have been tried by court martial during the past ten years, their rank, offense, verdict rendered and punishment imposed, was the subject of considerable discussion. The resolution was finally referred to the committee on military affairs. The resolution offered by Mr. Call, of Florida, on the 12th of May for the appointment of a joint committee of the two houses to examine and report on the commercial and political conditions of Cuba and West India Islands and their relations to the United States, was laid before the senate. Its adoption was opposed by Mr. Sherman as unwise in every aspect, and as an unfriendly act towards the government of Spain, and he suggested a comparison between the proposed inquiry and a like proposition on the part of the British government to inquire into the condition of Utah. It went over again without action.

NOTES.

An extra session of congress is possible if the filibusters will not let the fair appropriation go through, and if the fair people will not let the resolution extending the old appropriation from August 4 (as it now stands), to next December an extra session would have to be called to meet the emergency or a lot of government machinery would stop. This situation existed once before and an extra session had to settle it.

The president, on Friday, vetoed the famous McGarrahan claim bill. The veto message comes in the face of the fact that the bill passed both houses of congress by more than a two-thirds majority. For his veto the president has been severely criticised. Old man McGarrahan had expected it from the president's delay in acting, and received the news philosophically. He believes it can be passed over the president's veto in December. Such an effort will be made.

The Watson Investigation.

Watson's statement to the committee and his statements in his book revealed the fact that Judge James E. Cobb, of the Tuskegee, Ala., district, was the speaker referred to. Cobb's name was made public at his request. He said it was generally known that the charge was against him and he wished an opportunity to refute it. All Mr. Watson's witnesses expressed the opinion that he was intoxicated when he made his speech in the Noyes-Rockwell case. Mr. Rockwell, in whose favor Judge Cobb was arguing, testified that he had seen Cobb before, after and all during his speech, and that he was not in the smallest degree intoxicated. Colonel Oates, of Alabama, testified that he had known Cobb twenty-seven years; that he was not a drinking man; that he stood high in his church; that his character was above reproach. He said that Cobb was physically weak; that he was making a long and careful argument; that some friend sent to his desk a stimulant (whiskey, he supposed); that Cobb sipped it; that his manner brightened up somewhat; that he emotionally was not drunk. Representative Patterson, of Tennessee; Bynum, of Indiana; Meyer, of Louisiana; Delegate Smith, of Arizona; Peyton Wise, of Virginia, clerk to the house commerce committee, and Solicitor Hepburn of the treasury testified to Mr. Cobb's sobriety on the occasion in question. Messrs. Patterson, Bynum and one or two other witnesses testified that they had seen a cup on Mr. Cobb's desk and had seen him drink out of it, but from close observation and knowledge of Mr. Cobb they knew that he was not under the influence of liquor. Representative DeForest, of Connecticut, did not think Mr. Cobb at all under the influence of liquor. Mr. Fellows, of New York, testified, and gave general absolution to members of the house as to drunkenness. Mr. Mutchler, of Pennsylvania, testified in denial of the truth of Mr. Watson's charges, and so did Mr. Tracy, of New York. The members of this house, Mr. Mutchler said, were particularly free from the habit of intoxication, and were as sober a set of men as he ever saw in his life. He would not say that he had never seen a member on the floor of the house under the influence of liquor, but he never saw a member drunk there this session. Mr. O'Brien Moore, correspondent of the St. Louis Republic, testified that he talked with Mr. Cobb immediately before and after his argument, to which he had listened, and knew Mr. Cobb was not under the influence of liquor. Mr. Andrew Devine one of the official stenographers of the house, produced the manuscript of the official report of Mr. Cobb's argument, and testified that he saw nothing in Mr. Cobb's conduct to justify the charges made. The examination of congressional witnesses to prove by stenographic evidence of the [illegible] Mr. Cobb was not under the influence of liquor when he delivered his Noyes-Rockwell speech gave occasion for the long array of congressmen who made statements. Messrs. Funston, of Kansas; Cummings and Bockwell, of New York; Wheeler, of Michigan; Durgan, of Ohio; Winn and Meredith, of Virginia; Byrnes, of Missouri; Kyle, of Mississippi; Sperry, of Connecticut, and Stump, of Maryland, added their testimony to that of previous witnesses who had testified that they listened to Mr. Cobb's argument, and were surprised at the charge that he was under the influence of liquor.

THE SOUTH IN BRIEF

The News of Her Progress Portrayed in Pithy and Pointed Paragraphs

AND A COMPLETE EPITOME OF HAPPENINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST FROM DAY TO DAY WITHIN HER BORDERS.

The first bale of Georgia cotton crop was received at Savannah Monday from Sumter county. It was classed as low middling and sold at 10 cents per pound.

A dispatch of Sunday from Memphis, Tenn., says: The Memphis Passenger Association is on the verge of disruption. The long threatened rate war between the railroads centering here has broken out at last and as a consequence, eastbound passenger rates have gone all to pieces.

At a meeting at Savannah, Monday, of the stockholders of the Middle Georgia and Atlantic railroad a plan for the formation of a syndicate was read. The syndicate is to so be formed of gentlemen already interested in the road and will complete the road from Macon to Eatonton. Subscription books will be opened at once.

It is reported from Knoxville, Tenn., that as soon as the Knoxville Southern railroad bridge is completed across the river at that place that the Louisville and Nashville would run through trains over it from Cincinnati to Atlanta. This will mean the purchase of the Southern and Knoxville, Cumberland Gap and Louisville roads.

Savannah is to have direct trade with Europe before Brunswick or any other southern port. On August 15th the steamship Highland Prince, of the Prince line of steamships, will sail for Barcelona, Genoa and Tirsate, and will be followed by the Roman Prince and other steamships of the same line at regular dates.

A New Orleans dispatch of Monday says: The failure is announced of the well-known cotton factorage firm of Bickham & Moore. No statement has been made as to assets or liabilities, but the firm's business was large. The house has always borne an excellent reputation, and the active partner, John V. Moore, is one of the best-known and most popular men in the cotton trade.

A special from Austin, Tex., says: Lightning striking the wires leading from the plant which lights the state insane asylum to the building, set fire to the west wing of the structure at an early hour Monday morning, and that portion devoted to females was destroyed. The remainder of the building was saved. The female patients, some two hundred in number, were removed in safety, none escaping from the attendants. The loss is $25,000, with no insurance.

Near Winchester, Ky., Sunday, six boys were drowned in the Kentucky river by the overturning of a skiff. Their names are Kelley Farney, aged fifteen; Claude, aged thirteen; Walter, aged eleven; Charles, aged nine, all sons of James H. Farney; Algin Brock, aged sixteen; William Brock, aged twelve, sons of Rev. Henry Brock. The boys were bathing in the river climbing in and out of the boat and were thrown into a panic by the boat overturning with some of the small boys.

One of the most extensive planters in Texas exhibited at the cotton exchange in Houston, Tuesday, a number of plants, every boll on which had been destroyed by the boll worm. The plants were cut from a field of 150 acres in Fort Bend county, which gave promise a short while ago of a bale to the acre, but now the entire crop has been destroyed. On thousands of acres of bottom lands in Fort Bend, Harrison and other counties the plant has been attacked by the destroyers. This is the first appearance of the boll worm in that section of Texas.

FRICK ARRESTED

As Were Also Several Other Carnegie Officials and Pinkerton men.

A Pittsburg dispatch says: The threatened suits against the Carnegie officials and the Pinkertons charging them with murder were begun Wednesday morning and warrants issued for the arrest of the defendants. At 11 o'clock Brennan Cox and Hugh Ross, prosecuting witnesses, went to Alderman King's office on the south side and made information and the warrants were issued for Robert and William Pinkerton, heads of the Pinkerton agency, J. A. Potter and G. A. Corey, superintendents at the works, and Frick, Lovejoy, Leishman and Curry, officials of the company, and several Pinkerton men.

During the afternoon Secretary Lovejoy, Vice President Leishman and Treasurer Curry, of the Carnegie company, appeared before Judge Ewing, in the criminal court, and said they desired to surrender themselves on the charge of murder preferred by Hugh Ross. Judge Ewing refused to hear an application for bail until the accused surrendered to Alderman King. The magistrate was sent for, and after he had presented his docket a hearing was held. Leishman, Curry and Lovejoy waived the hearing, as did H. C. Frick, N. McConnell, James S. Dovey and Superintendent Potter, who were absent but represented by their attorney. Frick, Lovejoy, Leishman and Curry were then released on $10,000 bail each and R. B. and A. W. Mellon went on their bond. Hearings on the applications of the others were postponed until Thursday morning.

END OF A FAMILY FEUD

In Which Forty-one Men Have Lost Their Lives.

A dispatch from Phenix, Arizona, states that Tom Graham was shot and killed Tuesday by Ed Tewksberry. The shooting was the result of a family feud of five years standing, during which time twenty-seven men have been killed on the Graham side and fourteen on the Tewksberry. Graham was the last one of four brothers, all armed, and Tewksberry was the last of the six. A posse of fifteen and citizens are in pursuit of Tewksberry, who still [illegible] Yesterday's [illegible]

(Detroit News)

The following paragraph, which appeared in the News a short time ago, furnished the basis of this information—a case that was so wonderfully remarkable that it demanded further explanation. It is of sufficient importance to the News to report it to them. It was so important then that it attracted considerable attention at the time. The following is the paragraph in question:

"C. S. Northrop, for 26 years one of the best known merchants on Woodward avenue, who was supposed to be dying last spring of locomotor ataxia, or creeping paralysis, has secured a new lease of life and returned to work at his store. The disease has always been supposed to be incurable, but Mr. Northrop's condition is greatly improved, and it looks now as if the grave would be cheated of its prey."

Since that time Mr. Northrop has steadily improved, not only in looks, but in condition, till he has regained his old-time strength.

It had been hinted to the writer of this article, who was acquainted with Mr. Northrop, that this miraculous change had been wrought by a very simple remedy called Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. When asked about it Mr. Northrop fully verified the statement, and not only so, but he had taken pains to inform any one who was suffering in a similar manner when he heard of any such case. Mr. Northrop was enthusiastic at the result in his own case of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It was a remedy that he had heard of after he had tried everything he could hope to give him relief. He had been in the care of the best physicians who did all they could to alleviate this terrible malady, but without any avail. He had given up hope, when a friend in Lockport, N. Y., wrote him of the case of a person there who had been cured in similar circumstances by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The person cured at Lockport had obtained his information respecting Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from an article published in the Hamilton, Ont., Times. The case was called "The Hamilton Miracle" and told the story of a man in that city who, after almost incredible suffering, was pronounced by the most eminent physicians to be incurable and permanently disabled. He had spent hundreds of dollars in all sorts of treatment and appliances only to be told in the end that there was no hope for him, and that cure was impossible. The person alluded to (Mr. John Marshall, of 25 Little William St., Hamilton, Ont.,) was a member of the Royal Templars of Temperance, and after having been pronounced permanently disabled and incurable by the physicians, was paid the $1000 disability insurance provided by the order for its members in such cases. For years Mr. Marshall had been utterly helpless, and was barely able to drag himself around his house with the aid of crutches. His agonies were almost unbearable and life was a burden to him, when at last relief came. Some months after he had been paid the disability claim he heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and was induced to try them. The result was miraculous; almost from the outset an improvement was noticed, and in a few months the man whom medical experts had said was incurable, was going about the city healthier and stronger than before. Mr. Marshall was so well known in Hamilton that all the city newspapers wrote up his wonderful recovery in detail, and it was thus, as before stated, that Mr. Northrop came into possession of the information that led to his equally marvelous recovery. One could scarcely conceive a case more hopeless than that of Mr. Northrop. His injury came about in this way: One day, nearly four years ago, he stumbled and fell the complete length of a steep flight of stairs which were at the rear of his store. His head and spine were severely injured. He was picked up and taken to his home. Creeping paralysis very soon developed itself, and in spite of the most strenuous efforts of friends and physicians the terrible affliction fastened itself upon him. For nearly two years he was perfectly helpless. He could do nothing to support his strength in the least effort. He had to be wheeled about in an invalid's chair. He was weak, pale and fast sinking when his timely information came that veritably snatched his life from the jaws of death. Those who at that time saw a feeble old man wheeled into his store on an invalid's chair would not recognize the man now, so great is the change that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have wrought. When Mr. Northrop learned of the remedy that had cured Mr. Marshall in Hamilton, and the person in Lockport, he procured a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through Messrs. Bassett & L'Hommedieu, 98 Woodward avenue, and from the outset found an improvement. He faithfully adhered to the use of the remedy until now he is completely restored. Mr. Northrop declares that there can be no doubt as to Pink Pills being the cause of his restoration to health, as all other remedies and medical treatment left him in a condition rapidly going from bad to worse, until at last it was declared there was no hope for him and he was pronounced incurable. He was in this terrible condition when he began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they have restored him to health.

Mr. Northrop was asked what was claimed for this wonderful remedy, and replied that he understood that the proprietors claim it to be a blood builder and nerve restorer; supplying in a condensed form all the elements necessary to enrich the blood, restore shattered nerves and drive out disease. It is claimed by the proprietors that Pink Pills will cure paralysis, rheumatism, sciatica, palpitation of the heart, headache, and all diseases peculiar to females, loss of appetite, dizziness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, and all diseases arising from overwork, mental worry, loss of vital force, etc.

"I want to say," said Mr. Northrop, "that I don't have much faith in patent medicines, but I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The proprietors, however, claim that they are not a patent medicine in the sense in which that term is used, but a highly scientific preparation, the result of years of careful study and experiment on the part of the proprietors, and the pills were successfully used in private practice for years before being placed for general sale. Mr. Northrop declares that he is a living example that there is nothing to equal these pills as a cure for nerve diseases. On inquiry the writer found that these pills were manufactured by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., and Brockville, Ont., and the pills are sold in boxes (never in bulk by the hundred), at 50 cents a box, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., from either above addresses. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment with them comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment. This case is one of the most remarkable on record, and as it is one right here in Detroit, and not a thousand miles away, it can be easily verified. Mr. Northrop is very well known to the people of Detroit, and he says he is only too glad to testify of the marvelous good wrought in his case. He says he considers it his duty to help all who are similarly afflicted by any word he can say in behalf of the wonderful efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Thomas Cook & Son of London, the well known tourists' agents, have notified the transportation department of the World's fair that they intend to make an exhibit of means of transportation including the following: Norwegian carriole, Norwegian sleigh, Lapland dog sleigh, Irish car, Neapolitan cart, Turkish caique, Palestine encampment, camel saddle and harness, elephant with howdah, Bombay bullock cart, catamaran, Chinese palanquin, Japanese jinrikisha, antique English sedan chairs, old English traveling chariot, models of dahabeahs and Nile steamers, models of boats and also to show models of various Egyptian temples.

France intends to show its skill in landscape gardening at the World's fair. A cablegram has been received from the French commission asking that it be allowed to do and bear the expense of the "whole decoration of the spaces surrounding the horticultural and the woman's building." This generous offer, doubtless, will be accepted if it does not interfere with plans too far advanced to be changed. The French are world-renowned as artistic landscape gardeners, and it is believed they would hardly have made the offer referred to unless they intend to make a display of surpassing beauty. The commission asked also for 60,000 square feet for the French horticultural exhibit.

An Early Display of Fireworks.

A very fine display of fireworks was let off from a magnificent building in the Green park, London, in November, 1748, to celebrate the peace of Aix-la-Chappelle. The next fine display history records is the elegant one they had in Paris, on May 31, 1770, in honor of the marriage of the Dauphin, who was Louis XVI in embryo. The French, in their intense enjoyment, got up such a fine crowd and had such an elegant panic that nearly 1,000 persons were killed. Some of them were pushed into the river, and some died of shock and suffocation in the crowd.—New York Evening Sun.

The Singing in God's Acre.

Out yonder in the moonlight, wherein God's Acre lies,
Go angels walking to and fro, singing their lullabies;
Their radiant wings are folded and their eyes are bended low,
As they sing among the beds whereon the flowers delight to grow:

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd guardeth his sheep!
Fast speedeth the night away,
Soon cometh the glorious day;
Sleep, weary ones while ye may—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

The flowers within God's Acre see that fair and wondrous sight,
And hear the angels singing to the sleepers through the night;
And, lo! throughout the hours of day those gentle flowers prolong
The music of the angels in that tender slumber song:

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd loveth His sheep!
He that guardeth His flock the best
Hath folded them to His loving breast;
So, sleep ye, now, and take your rest—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

From angel and from flower the years have learned that soothing song,
And with its heavenly music speed the days and nights along;
So, through all time, whose flight the Shepherd's vigils glorify,
God's Acre slumbereth in the grace of that sweet lullaby!

"Sleep, oh, sleep!
The Shepherd loveth His sheep!
Fast speedeth the night away,
Soon cometh the glorious day;
Sleep, weary ones, while ye may—
Sleep, oh, sleep!"

HE LACKED COURAGE.

BY EDWARD S. VAN ZILE.

Erastus Robinson, M. D., had decided to commit suicide. He had reached this determination with considerable reluctance. Being a man of great mental and physical powers he felt more vividly, perhaps, than weaker men that detestation of death that is more or less prevalent among mortals and forms one of the greatest mysteries of this queer world. We all know that we must die. Nature ordains that we should pass away. Why, then, do we dread the ordeal? Nature decrees that we must eat and drink, sleep and love, and we thank the goddess for so doing, but when she tells us all men must die we shudder and revolt. Why is this? Countless generations have attempted to solve the problem, but it still remains unanswered.

But to our story! This man Robinson had been a very successful surgeon. He had cut and slashed his way into fame and fortune, and by lopping off limbs and performing laparotomy, tracheotomy and various other otomies had built up a metropolitan reputation that paid him a large income every year. Nevertheless, he had, as was said before, decided to blow his famous and very lucrative brains out.

When Erastus Robinson made up his mind to do anything that thing was practically done. He possessed a will of iron, and he knew that it was a shame to bang at its seat with a shooting-iron. But the doctor had been crossed in love and his scientific acumen assured him that his heart was broken. Now there is only one reasonable and appropriate course for a man with a fractured heart to pursue. The earthly life having lost all its charms he must, of necessity, try some other realm. As there is no marriage or giving in marriage in the other world, he who has been jilted here is certain to find rest and possibly recreation in the land beyond the grave. So, at least, thought Erastus Robinson, and one morning, after a sleepless night, he, like Johnny, got his gun, a thirty-two caliber revolver, and having locked the front door of his office and dismissed his [illegible] keeper, prepared to perform the most interesting, if not the most fatal, surgical operation in his career.

Dr. Robinson had made his way in his profession in large part owing to his wonderful nerves. His colleagues and patients had never known his hand to tremble nor his eye to flinch at any crisis, and, like a society belle, he always gave the cut direct. But as he stood up that day and leaned against his desk his hand, as it grasped the instrument of death, shook so violently that he could not place it against his temple. As a conscientious surgeon he did not wish to make a bungling job of his absolutely farewell appearance in the line of heroic treatment, and so he replaced the revolver on the desk, and, seating himself in an armchair, lit a cigar and began a process of cerebration that resulted in the conclusion that he could not blow out his brains without the aid of some one less interested in the result of the operation than he was himself.

The outcome of his cogitations was this: he walked to the telephone, called up the central office and asked for a messenger-boy—the oldest and most experienced that could be spared. Then he returned to his seat, resumed his cigar and nearly fainted away. An unsuccessful effort at suicide is apt to agitate the nervous system, but when you combine it with the exhaustion of vitality pertaining to the delivery of a message over a telephone wire the combination is certain to be extremely enervating. Erastus Robinson, M. D., strong man though he was, felt keenly the debilitating effects of trying to reach both the future life and a messenger-boy within the brief space of ten minutes.

After awhile the suicidal smoker grew so nervous that he was obliged to throw aside his weed and walk up and down the office with faltering step. Once he grasped the pistol in a frenzied way, and the messenger boy had nearly lost his job, but Robinson's hand was still too unsteady to do the work required. A ring at the doorbell restored the broken-hearted man for a moment to his senses.

"Come in," he said to the uniformed youth who stood before him. The messenger was a boy of about 16 years of age, whose face bore that peculiar expression that is known to slang as "tough."

Locking the door again, the doctor ushered the youngster into his office.

"Have you got much pluck?" he asked the boy, seating himself and lighting a fresh cigar.

"Well, dey calls me 'Nervy Pete,' sir. Don't dat go?"

"That's promising. Did you ever kill a man?"

The messenger-boy looked rather startled, but only for a moment. Then he answered:

"Naw; but I served t'ree months on de Island. I smashed a old chap in de jaw fer callin' me a 'dago.' D' ye see?"

"That's not bad. Do you want to make some money?"

"W-e-l-l hear me shout. But I don't want no more o' de Island. De boodle's got to be big to catch 'Nervy Pete' if de coppers is on de lay. See?"

"Oh! you needn't worry," returned the doctor, taking up the revolver and examining the cartridges. "The point is just here, my boy. I intended to kill myself, but I find that too much smoking has injured my nerves. I can't feel certain that I shall do the act with what the newspapers call neatness and dispatch. Now, I've left a note on the desk here saying that I have blown my brains out. I want you to do the deed. I'll give you two hundred dollars in cash if you'll kill me. When you've put the ball into my head, place the pistol in my hand. Then take this key and leave the house here, and the shot will not be heard. Here's the money. Have you got the sand?"

The face of the youth was a study. Amazement, cupidity, fear, were combined in the picture. He glanced at the doctor, gazed longingly at the money held out to him, took the crisp bills in his hand, carefully placed them in his pocket, shuddered as his eyes rested on the revolver. Then a humorous gleam came into his eyes, and his Celtic countenance seemed to light with an intelligence it had not shown before.

"Look ahere, boss," he said. "I've de dust, but I ain't got the sand. See?" Then he bolted for the door, unlocked it and was gone.

Erastus Robinson, M. D., is still alive. He was so amazed at seeing a messenger boy run that life took on a pleasanter aspect than it had worn for some time, and he replaced his revolver in its drawer.—[Once A Week.

The Train Despatcher's Work.

There are many wild stories afloat as to how the train dispatcher keeps track of the various freight trains and passenger trains, regular and special, that are at all times speeding in opposite directions in the narrow track. One of these, which is very commonly believed, is that he has before him his division of the road in miniature with all its switches, sidetracks, spur tracks, water stations, etc. Little trains are there, which when started, will run at a speed corresponding to the actual trains on the actual road, and when two of these bump into each other, he knows that there has been a collision. It is needless to say that this sort of business would scarcely be practical. As a matter of fact the dispatcher has before him a sheet of paper ruled off into small squares by perpendicular and horizontal lines and divided down the center. On one side of this center division the the east bound trains are recorded and on the other side the west bound. Opposite each of the horizontal lines is the name of a station, and at the head of each perpendicular line the number by which a train is designated. When train No. 10 leaves a station the time is marked on the square opposite the name of the station and below the number of the train. As No. 10 proceeds its time is marked successively on each square so that by looking down the column it can be seen at a glance when this particular train was at any station. The east bound and west bound trains are marked in opposite directions on this sheet so that it is an easy matter to tell just when and where they must pass each other.

A Liberty Cap on a Pine Tree.

Insects have destroyed whole forests in Powhatan county, Virginia, and among other trees the famous Pope's pine, a noted landmark in the Old Dominion. It stood for years on an eminence from which it was visible for 20 miles or more around, and towered high above all surrounding trees. In old times Colonel Pope, a local patriot, put a liberty cap like that stamped on our copper cent pieces on top of the tree, and every year when Fourth of July came around he celebrated the anniversary by holding a barbecue at the foot of the pine. This Colonel Pope, who lived to be 90 years old, knew personally every President from Washington to Polk, and was a famous character in Virginia.—[Boston Cultivator.

There comes from Hartselle cheering news of the Young oil well. C. D. M. Young, who resides in Decatur went down to Hartselle a few days ago and he found that the oil had risen 1,600 feet in said well. We will now turn our attention to business as the smoke of the great political battle clears away.

A dispatch from Montgomery says: A convention has been called in Pike county by Kolb's followers to devise some plan of action to right the alleged wrong they have sustained in throwing out of the ten boxes in the official count Saturday. The convention is called to meet on Monday, and will consist of ten delegates from each beat to be selected Saturday. It is said a great deal of feeling was exhibited, and a determination expressed to see that the votes in the ten boxes thrown out should not be disfranchised.

An exchange remarks: "Congress has adjourned and the Alabama election is over. We therefore have a right to presume our six members of Congress, who are candidates for re election, will now come home. We trust they will be allowed to stay there and go on to a happy old age amid the peace and quite of their own firesides. If a compromise is reached between the factions they are not likely to be re nominated anyway. If a compromise is not reached and we have got to fight it out, it will be a dangerous experiment to call on organized Democrats to pull off their coats and follow in the second battle a plume so recently lifted from behind the log, where it was hidden during the first engagement."

Chilton's Troubles.

An act of the general assembly of Alabama approved February 28, 1887, created a court of revenue for Chilton county, and in addition to the duties imposed by the code upon the courts of the county commissioners, provided that this board should have charge of the drawing of juries. An act approved January 28, 1891, repealed this act, the repeal take effect in August, 1891, and it made no provision for the performance by any one of the duties imposed upon the courts of revenue or county commissioners for the time intervening between the last of August and the time for the election of a commissioner's court. The county has now been a whole year without a legal board. As the tax levy has been made by the board, the juries, etc., a nice complication of affairs has arisen. It is said that everything done for a year past is void, and the time having passed when a levy of taxes for county purposes can be made. In the present state of things there will be no funds to meet expenses next year.

Reorganization.

The Birmingham Age-Herald says: It is suggested by an eminent democrat of this city that the imperative necessity of getting together for the November battle involves the thorough reorganization of the democratic party from top to bottom. He suggests that all congressional delegates be withdrawn and new committees elected in every county, and a way provided for the election of a new state committee. In all primaries all white democrats shall be allowed to participate, the qualification being only a pledge to act with the party and support the nominees. The chairman of the Kolb executive committee says he would be glad to go into such an arrangement and solidify the party again. Evidently the spirit to harmonize and fraternize is abroad in the land. What every good Democrat desires is to get together. The man who kicks against any reasonable way of doing it should be given to understand that he is not a Democrat in good standing.

An Important Discovery.

A correspondent writing to the Age-Herald from Livingston says: An interesting and odd result of our ruinous floods in Sumter county appears in the fact that, with all its destruction to crops of corn and cotton on "bottom" lands, it has proved that we have an excellent fiber plant in Alabama and other southern states, which can be utilized to make rope, very much like the well known manilla rope, if some of our enterprising people choose to develop it. On some low land, near the Sucarnoochee, where Mr. Ben Hooks has a pasture, in the suburbs of Livingston, was a rank growth of "iron weed," which grows with its upright, smooth, round, straight stem to a height of 8 to 10 feet, and has purple, composite inconspicuous flowers. It is abundant everywhere we find lowlands of many acres. It is [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The New York Sun says: "Better vilest a democratic devil than a respectable Benjamin Harrison, with a force bill for his horns and tail."

Dr. Peter Bryce, Superintendent of the Alabama Insane Hospital, died on Sunday morning. He was a great and good citizen and his place will be difficult to fill.

The matter of Gov. Jones election cannot be arbitrated or compromised. That matter must be settled by the Legislature or the courts. But our party machinery can be re-organized, organized on a more equitable basis, and should be for the sake of party harmony and success in the national contest.

P. G. Bowman seems to be trying to eclipse old John Brown as a political agitator, and if he has any followers the end is not yet. The Kolb party got about all the offices in north Alabama and we don't believe they are endorsing Bowman's constant kicking. Mr. Kolb says he believes the Legislature will give him justice and a fair count and that ought to settle the matter.

The fact stands that the organized democracy has the official majority and possession, and no political party in any State or country has ever given up power on any charge of fraud. There never will be such a thing. The only way for the man who claims fraud is to prove it, and get his opponent ousted through the courts. The merest tyro in law knows that Captain Kolb can't succeed in that.—Age-Herald.

We endorse the following sentiments from the Eutaula Times:

As for the Times and its house, it is willing to labor for the triumph of the party, but it is not wedded to men and won't be in the coming national campaign. The Times is willing to sacrifice anything and anybody for harmony in the party. If a man stands in the way of the reconciliation of the two wings, why he ought to be moved out of the way. This is party fealty and patriotism too.

The Democratic party was born of necessity—was the outgrowth of tyranny and oppression, and was nurtured in principles as broad as the universe and high as Heaven. But that great party, the pride of Jefferson, Jackson and Calhoun has degenerated into an organized effort for spoils. The positions occupied by Jefferson, Jackson and Calhoun, are usurped by such men as Cleveland, Hill and Brice—mere place hunters.—National Economist.

We are disposed to ask if there was ever a political party that did not have its office hunters? And further what could any political organization accomplish unless its leaders were placed in positions where they could put in practice their party's principles? All parties are on the same footing in the matter of place hunting.

GEN. WILLIAM W. ALLEN.

A Democratic War Horse Takes Up the Cry, "We Must Get Together.

To the Age-Herald.

MONTGOMERY, Aug. 8—I have read with much interest and satisfaction the editorials and communications that have appeared in your columns since the late election, looking to re-uniting the democrats of Alabama in order that we may surely achieve victory in November.

We cannot afford to remain divided. False pride may give way to reason and wrangling cease at once, and we must prepare to go into the presidential and congressional battle with serried ranks—all true soldiers of our cause marching shoulder to shoulder. It is idle to talk of one side being altogether right and the other wrong in the contest just ended. It will change no one's opinions and intended future course, but tend rather to widen the breach in the party and make each faction more determined and bitter than before. Let us settle this trouble at once. We cannot afford to wait.

It has been suggested that the two state executive committees meet together and confer, with the view of re-organizing the party on a satisfactory basis. It is a wise suggestion and will doubtless meet the approval of every true man in the party, no matter how he voted on the 1st of August.

Let it be done, and without delay, and let our United States Senators be urged to be present at the conference and contribute the aid of their conservative and impartial counsel, to the end that our party may become once more united and harmonious.

Very respectfully,
WM. W. ALLEN.

Let Us Come Together.

Shelby Chronicle.

Hon. W. Brewer has sounded the tocsin, let us fall into line. Let us come together like men. Let us lay aside all of our personal feelings. Let us say that we are men. Let us say to ourselves that we will treat our neighbors as we would ask to be treated. Let us give you the words of Mr. Brewer. If there is a man in Alabama who will not sanction Mr. Brewer's words we want to know who he is:

PROPOSITION.

1. That twelve men on each side of the late struggle be selected as democrats to settle our differences, with George W. Stone or Robt. C. Brickell as the twenty-fifth man.

2. That the aim and scope of their labor be to unite the democracy; all details and concessions to be left to their wisdom.

3. That this council be selected by the two state committees; and that the only qualification be (1) sympathy with its aim and scope, (2) that the member be a democrat.

4. That this council meet at some quiet place, within the present month, and its action be ratified or rejected in such a way as they may determine.

There are men of experience, of conservatism and patriotism in this state. There are men who can see both sides of the shield. These are the men we need for such a council.

My suggestion may be premature. It may be that popular feeling ought first to subside; that next winter or next spring would be the fitter time. Perhaps so. I only know that reconciliation should be attempted.

Respectfully yours,
W. BREWER.

What it Promises.

The Courier Journal says: "Mr. Cleveland's election secures three things in which the south is vitally interested.

First, it will be the death of the force bill.

Second, it will make certain the reduction of the tariff.

Third it will check the reckless prodigality which has characterized the administration Mr. Harrison.

Here we have promise of substantial relief to the South and to the whole nation.

Weaver's success would not insure as much, but Weaver's success is impossible. We must choose between Harrison and Cleveland.

A vote for Weaver in any Democratic state is a vote for Harrison.

Harrison approves the McKinley tariff, which confiscates one-fourth of the products of the Southern farm.

Harrison urges the passage of the Force bill, which will place negro supervisors at every voting place in the South.

Every bill plundering the Treasury under any pretext in the name of pensions, steamship subsidies, or as plain steals, receives promptly the signature of President Harrison.

Can This Be True?

The following telegram is taken from the columns of the Alliance Herald:

A special to the Atlanta Constitution says: Mobile, Ala., Aug. 4.—Capt. Reuben Kolb defeated before the people in the gubernatorial election is a Micawber and is already preparing to turn up on another tack. He expected to be elected by the aid of Republican votes and he was undoubtedly aided in several counties by the Republican leaders, but the negro voters divided their vote. Had Mosely, chairman of the State Republican committee or Ben Walker, marshal of the middle and southern circuits, or any other leading republican turned a hand, made a speech or otherwise shown publicly a preference for Kolb, the negroes would have gone solid for the alliance candidate, but they made no sign. The reason for this is now clear. Captain Kolb's defeat can be more useful to the Republicans than could Governor Kolb With the third party leaders the sub-treasury plan and free silver coinage are regarded as panaceas for the hard times that afflict the agricultural element of the south and they are still very sore over the downfall of the silver bill. With Kolb as a leader, the republicans believe that the white vote Kolb received in the State election Monday can be thrown solidly for the third party national electoral ticket in Alabama. To have assisted Kolb's election with an appeal to the Republican negroes to throw their votes for him, would have alienated that portion of the white vote who favor the control of the State remaining in the hands of the white people and if Kolb and his managers can control the vote he received Monday last, in November, the wedge that the Republicans have been seeking for twenty years, is they claim, at hand.

The official canvass of the State will show that Kolb's vote in the white counties of Alabama, if cast for Weaver, will give the State to Harrison. Ever since the election there has been frequent conference in the Kolb headquarters at Montgomery between Kolb and his lieutenants and the Republican leaders of the State there. There is mischief ahead.

Pensions for Volunteers in the Indian Wars.

The editor of the Age is in receipt of a letter from Congressman Joseph Wheeler announcing that citizens who served as soldiers in the Indian wars are now entitled for pensions for such service. The passage of the bill relative to the granting of pensions referred to will place on the list many old soldiers in the South to whom such assistance will be a veritable boon and will serve to ease their lives during their declining years. Gen. Wheeler requests that persons entitled to pensions designated, and are desirous of making application for the same, will forward to his address at the Capitol at Washington, D. C. sufficient evidence to warrant the application, and blank forms for applications will be sent in return. There are several veterans in Alabama who fought in the Florida wars who will rejoice to learn that their patriotism is to be rewarded, even though it may be at the eleventh hour of their lives.—Scottsboro Age.

GENERAL FIELD'S HOPES.

Expecting His Party Will Carry the Most States.

WASHINGTON, Aug 15.—Gen. James G. Field, of Virginia, candidate for Vice-President on the People's Party ticket, is in Washington en route to Arkansas, where he will join Gen. Weaver on a joint stumping tour of that State and Georgia. Gen. Field is a typical Virginian. Replying to-day to an inquiry by the World correspondent as to the plans and prospects of the People's party, Gen. Field said:

"Our prospects are bright. The reports from all directions where the people are aroused on the subject on which we are appealing to them are very assuring. We shall make our campaign as thorough as possible, and both Gen. Weaver and myself will be on the stump until the close.

"We may not continue together after our appointments in Arkansas and Georgia have been filled, but the debatable territory everywhere, both South and West will be visited by one or the other of us. A great many speakers will take the field."

"How many States do you expect the People's party to carry?"

"I'll answer that by saying that in my judgment there will be no choice of President and Vice-President by the people this year. The election will be thrown into the house. A new party succeeding that far will have shown considerable strength."

"Such a result would insure the election of Mr. Cleveland, would it not?"

"That would not necessarily follow. The House, it is true, is Democratic, but suppose Gen. Weaver should carry more Democratic States than Mr. Cleveland carries and in other States poll more Democratic votes than Mr. Cleveland polls, would not, ought not that operate as instructions to this House as to its duty in the premises? The people in that event, while failing to make a choice at the polls would clearly have indicated their choice to the House. My Democratic friends usually laugh at the suggestion, but they had better begin considering it a little seriously."

From the commencement of the season to the present time there has been shipped from Georgia over 500 carloads of peaches to Northern and Eastern markets. Growers have realized a handsome income from their orchards. The average price has been about $1,500 per carload or over $750,000 for the crop. Large shipments of grapes are being made from Macon and Griffin.

HOW TO RUN A PAPER.

The Kind of Advice Newspaper Men get Without Charge.

The Binghamton, N. Y., Leader thus comments upon the pointers received, "how to run a newspaper," that are constantly received by newspaper men:

There is an old fable about a man who conceived the remarkable idea of trying to please everybody. He immediately set about putting his conception into practical shape, but he ended up by pleasing nobody and getting himself into trouble. There is perhaps, nothing, in the way of a human being or an institution, that is so advantageously situated to undertake such a foolish job, as the newspaper. It certainly receives every possible encouragement from that class of people known as cranks, to set about instituting reforms that will lead up to a realization of the scheme upon which the man of the fable unsuccessfully embarked. The newspaper man may find it difficult to secure new subscribers or keep his collections close up to the desired mark, but he need never be at a loss if he is simply looking for men to give him "pointers" as to how to run his business.

Here is an example of the advice offered by the genus "know it all."

"I would like," said Mr. Peagreen, "to see a new dailey paper started in New York and I might take it if it suited me. It must leave off the sporting page, which is frivolty; it must cut off the political articles, which are mere wrangling; it should not be stuffed with Wall street speculations, which interest very few people; it should give us a rest from crime, which is disgusting; it should give short space to the stuff called news, which is of no account; it should let people alone and not abuse them." But what would you print in it, Mr. Peagreen?" "It should give us essays on nature and virtue, sketches of life and society, accounts of eminent public characters and other like material, supplied by scholarly writers. If you will start such a paper and sell it for a cent, I will try it for a day, and take it afterwards if it suits me."

This ought to constitute a competent opening for some aspiring journalist who is out of business and has some money he wouldn't care what became of. With an assured subscriber for at least one day, and the chance to be a competitor for a public printing contract at twenty cents a folio, he could materialize Mr. Peagreen's concep- of a typical newspaper, create a name for himself and help to fill a mad-house in less than no time.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

A Great Ambition That Has Been Only Partly Satisfied

OUR AMBITION.—Our esteemed contemporary down the street, in a three column article of personal abuse asks the question, "Will this villian's ambition be satisfied with the office of mayor?" We are the villian refferred to, of course, and we wish to frankly and emphatically reply that our ambition, so far from being satisfied has just woke up. We are the editor and proprietor of a great weekly family newspaper, and the owner of a grocery, a harness shop, a shoestore, a gunshop, a butcher shop and a feed store, all under one and the same roof. Further we are the acknowledged Ward McAllister of of this town. What we say in regard to social matters goes. We lead the german when the music strikes up, and when not leading the german we are telling the hostess how to work the ice-cream freezer and fold the table napkins to satisfy a broken humanheart.

On top of this we are mayor of the town elected by an overwhelming majority and running municipal affairs in bangup style. Such of the boys as do not respect us as mayor take pains to keep clear of the two guns we are known to carry as an editor and a citizen. We have driven out the cowboys licked every member of the common council and brought the postmaster down off his high horse. It doubtless seems to our contemporary as if any one critter on this earth ought to be satisfied with such honors, but we are not. Far from it! We shall not pause long on the threshold. We are already laying wires to be elected to the legislature as we announced some weeks ago. It is the senate or nothing with us. From thence to the gubernatorial chair will only be a step. From governor to congressman will be only a stride. We may not be satisfied with even that.

The Eufaula Times, which has been a warm supporter of Gov. Jones, realizes the importance of a united party and the change of attitude of the party leaders toward Kolb and his supporters. It concludes in a timely editorial by saying cheerily and happily: "A word now on a wider scope. We must all live in this country together or perish together. We cannot afford to be fighting, quarreling and fussing all the year and all the time. It must not be so. There is no difference of consequence between us any way and the estrangement has been without cause. Let's learn to give and take and be friendly and social."

The newly elected county commissioners held their first court Monday having been called together by the Probate Judge.

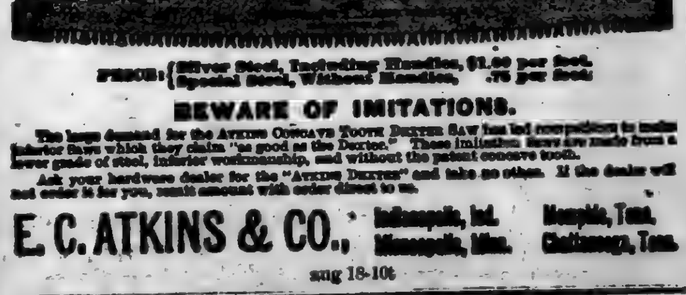
Atkins' Patent Concave Tooth Dexter.

DIXIE'S FAVORITE. FOR THE WOODS OF THE SOUTH IT HAS NO EQUAL.

The patent by which this saw is protected consists of a depression of the face of the cutting teeth through the center from point to base, thus removing all friction while in use, giving strength and stiffness to the teeth and increasing three-fold the durability of the "set." WE CHALLENGE THE WORLD to produce a saw equalling the ATKINS FAST CUTTING DEXTER.



PRICES: {Silver Steel, Tapering Handles, $1.00 per foot. Special Steel, Without Handles, .75 per foot.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The large demand for the ATKINS CONCAVE TOOTH DEXTER SAW has led competitors to make inferior saws which they claim "as good as the Dexter." These imitation saws are made from a lower grade of steel, inferior workmanship, and without the patent concave tooth.

Ask your hardware dealer for the "ATKINS DEXTER" and take no other. If the dealer will not order it for you, remit amount with order direct to us.

The editor of an exchange drove away dull care for half an hour the other day by producing the following pathetic tale. An humble boy with a shining pail went gaily singing down the dale to where the cow with the brindle tail on the clover pasture did regale. A bumble bee did gaily sail over the soft and shady vale to where the boy with the shining pail was milking the cow with the brindle tail. The bee lit on the cow's left ear, her heels flew through the atmosphere, and through the leaves of the chestnut tree, the boy soared to eternity.

Importance of Governing the Temper.

We clip the following from the Northport Breeze:

[Written and spoken by Thos. H. Payne, a student of the Helena High School.]

If there is anything pertaining to humanity that needs constant and continued attention, it is the government of the temper of the human mind. If the youth allows his temper to master him, it will forever be a curse, always urging him to do and to say things that will drive him to ruin and despair.

The temper should be trained at an early period and checked before a savage disposition is formed in the mind and conscience of the individual. All the lower and degrading dispositions of the mind should be ruled out, and in their stead, cultivated and religious principles be substituted. A person who has trained and governed his temper in this manner, is free from the many temptations which befall people of peevish and ill dispositions, and the grand and noble disposition that he possess is a blessing to his country.

Were it not for the minds that have been thus disciplined, our country, which is in such a high state of civilization and prosperity, would be doomed to destruction, and every foundation upon which the happiness of the human race depends would be shaken and ruined by the infernal minds that are savage by nature and ruined for the want of attention and government.

The class of people that obey the motives of their minds and never restrict nor control them under any circumstances, are subject to be drifted down the terrible channel that leads to the everlasting ruin of themselves and the continual harrassment of their fellowbeings who have to endure the terrible results of a crabbed disposition. A bad temper is something that, after it is firmly planted in the brain, is hard to overcome, even by the strongest will power and the most strenuous exertions. Even when quelled, it is ever ready to burst forth when the power that governs it is least removed, and prey upon the better feelings and conscience of the individual who possesses it and cause him to mistreat those who would do right were it not for that terrible disposition in the mind of the offender. Not unfrequently are the christain churches, upon which all human destintes are dependent, sorely abused and blasphemed by those who possess that evil temper that bites like a serpent and stings like an adder. Then seeing how necessary it is for the young to guard against the fearful foe, in the name of reason, I entreat you to kill this destructive germ before it is too late.

Peaches vs. Bulldog.

Age-Herald.

Passengers on the Highland Avenue dummy feel their mouths water as they pass by a fine peach orchard on the Southside and see the luscious fruit hanging from the bending limbs. The glossy coat of the peaches, "warmed by the sun and washed by the dew," shines through the leaves more tempting than the grapes of Eschol. But like the fruit Tantaus tried to reach they were just beyond the grasp, for juicy and ripe as the peaches are there is a still more juicy and ripe bulldog lying beneath the trees. His head protudes from his little dog house and strikes terror to the eyes of the beholder, as Giant Despair issuing from his cave affrighted the pious pilgrim. The bulldog is more effective than a scare-crow and is more to be dreaded than a shot gun with a set trigger. His owner considers the dog worth $50, because that is the sum he brought him, and a thing is worth what it will bring. The owner came home late one night and the dog failed to recognize him. It was a sad case of mistaken identity. In a minute the owner looked like he had passed through an election riot. Fortunately, he had an accident insurance policy, and recovered $50 for the damage the dog done him. So the dog was worth $50 to him and that is the value he sets on him. He has named the dog "Rube Kolb," because he has more zeal than judgment. He imagined things were going wrong when they were not. He should have plucked the feathers from the tail of his imagination and put them in the wings of his judgment. He didn't seem to realize the true situation.

The accident insurance company declines to take any further risks on bull dogs. It will insure against fire, lightning, earthquakes and morthers-in-law, but not against bulldogs.

The Birmingham News is very much in earnest in its efforts to bring about a reconciliation between the two factions of the party and save the State to Cleveland. The News has suggested the only reasonable or feasible compromise yet offered, and the others have been practically a demand for the surrender of Kolb and his followers, and to come back and receive nothing except the privilege of voting the Democratic ticket. The News proposes to rub out the slate and begin ever again, that is to give the Kolb faction representation on the electoral ticket and divide the congressmen with them. There is meat in this proposition and it is not without reason and merit. But smarting under the wrongs of returning boards, the Kolb people are not seemingly caring for a division of the offices in the future, but a division of what they believe they are entitled to by virtue of the will of the people in counties like Pike, Conecuh, Butler, Morgan and others, and if the News will join the Journal in its effort to have these wrongs righted, there will be a brighter prospect for harmonizing and saving Alabama the disgrace of giving its electoral vote to other than Mr. Cleveland. The Journal believes that today the greatest barrier in the way of carrying out the patriotic suggestion of the News for a compromise is the action of returning boards in the counties named.—Montgomery Journal.

The State committee will modify many of the party rules, which it was authorized to enforce by the state convention. The state committee as a matter of fact never did really favor the rules; but a small minority, encouraged by a seemingly great victory in the state convention, gave the credit to those who had waged a relentless and merciless war on Kolb and his followers, and were willing to continue to follow wherever they were willing to lead. In fact one or two were willing to out-herod-Herod. The majority were simply intimidated, and the whole committee with possibly two or three exceptions, went against their better judgment. The state committee is all right; it left free to do what it honestly conceives to be its duty to the party.—Montgomery Journal.

BUCHANAN SCORED.

Denounced for Having Commuted H. Clay King's Sentence.

BURNED IN EFFIGY IN THE PUBLIC SQUARE OF MEMPHIS—KING SAFELY IN THE PENITENTIARY.

The city of Memphis was thrown into a state of intense excitement when the announcement appeared in Wednesday morning's papers that Governor Buchanan had commuted the sentence of Colonel H. Clay King, who was to have been hanged on the 13th instant for the murder of Mr. Poston. Wednesday morning's Appeal-Avalanche said:

If the governor's power in the matter is absolute and conclusive, the responsibility is his alone. He is not required to give reasons. He may yield to any passing caprice, to appeal to his sympathies, to prejudice, and yet his authority remains undisputable and supreme. If his determination of the King case is to be taken as a precedent, then we see no reason why any other criminal should be hanged in Tennessee. King, in cold blood, after careful deliberation, shot down David H. Poston, unarmed and unsuspecting. It was a highway assassination in which the victim was given no chance to defend himself. There could not have been a murder more heinous. When the trial was had, the murderer himself, with most extraordinary assurance, protested against the introduction of the insanity plea.

Discussing the review of the case by the supreme court, the Appeal-Avalanche continues:

The opinion was welcomed by all lovers of law and order. Its effort was not confined to Tennessee. It was felt throughout the whole United States, and the supreme court of Tennessee was entitled to enduring honor for advancing civilization to that degree. The court did not overlook a phase of the case; it considered every excuse King made for his act.

But the governor has brought all this to naught. Having greater power to save, he has met the court's power to condemn and has whistled the latter's judgment down. With a stroke of his pen he has given hope to every murderer in the jails of Tennessee. He has rebuked the jury and made light of the state's highest tribunal of justice. It were infinitely better if the jury of the trial court had bade King go free. We now wish sincerely that it had done so. It were even better if the governor had granted an absolute pardon. He has acted without the support of a trial, judge, jury or prosecution, usually an essential perequisite in gubernatorial clemency, and it now remains for King's attorney to solve the question of his freedom.

The Evening Scimeter vehemently denounces the governor in a sensational article abounding in such sentences as these:

"He has spit on the carpets of the state and nation and held out his hand to save an assassin in whose person was centered and upon whose fate depended the question whether any influence in the south was sufficient to make distinction between persons convicted of cold blooded murder.

"The rescue of H. Clay King from the gallows to which all courts of the country, after a careful review of the evidence, had condemned him, was a crime more damnable even than the murder of Poston.

"He has risen above all law, all right and all justice. What King did as a citizen, he has done as chief executive of the state. He has taken the law in his own hands; he has justified the murder of Poston; he has saved an assassin; he has taken the smoking pistol from King's hand, stepped into his shoes, dipped his hands in the blood of his victim and trampled upon the already outraged law. He has turned a deaf ear to the pleadings of the victim's family for justice; he made a governor of a state a champion of murderers.

"The governor's conduct tears the bandage from the eyes of justice; it pulls down the pillars of the temple; it paralyses the strong arm of the law; it stifles the cry of the widow and the orphan, and makes of the court a sham; it shakes the very foundation of society, and makes every man a law unto himself.

"If Buchanan should be shot down from behind a pillar on the portico on the capitol today, if King should be slain on his way to the penitentiary, who shall say that the gallows would bear fruit?"

These publications aroused intense feeling. A mass meeting was arranged for at which Governor Buchanan was to have been hung in effigy Wednesday night. It was given out that the jail would be attacked and the notorious prisoner would be lynched. So great was the anxiety that Criminal Court Judge J. J. Dubose issued the following order:

It appearing to the court that there is now undue excitement in the public mind because of the commutation of the sentence of H. Clay King, who was by the supreme court sentenced to hang on the 12th day of August, 1892, and it further appearing that because of threatened mob violence, it is not safe to longer keep said King in the county jail of Shelby county; it is therefore ordered by the court that the sheriff of Shelby county, without delay, take said King and deliver him to the keeper of the penitentiary at Nashville, in pursuance to the order, as made by the governor, commuting his sentence to life imprisonment in the penitentiary of the state.

KING TAKEN AWAY.

Sheriff McLendon took King from jail in the meantime and out of the city, on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, en route to Nashville where they arrived safely. The sheriff hurried his prisoner to the penitentiary.

HUNG IN EFFIGY.

The indignation against Governor Buchanan for commuting King's sentence found vent in hanging and burning him in effigy at the corner of Main and Madison streets Wednesday night. The crowd was composed not of toughs and street arabs but of well clad, unusually orderly and respectable young men. When the figure burned in two and the lower half fell to the ground the crowd vented in wrath by kicking the burning embers about the streets. The governor was cursed and abused with every contemptous epithet imaginable.

BUCHANAN TALKS.

Governor Buchanan, in an interview with an Associated Press reporter, gives his reasons for the commutation of King's sentence as follows: "First," said the governor, "I thought that King should have had a chance of venue. Affidavits to the effect that Juror Smith had communicated with outside parties and expressed an opinion about the case were filed with me. These affidavits could not be introduced in the court of record, because it was too late. The action of Juror Mustin and of the jury going to Arkansas to deliberate upon the case also had their weight; the dissension of one of the supreme judges in defense of partial insanity; the pleadings of his wife and children and the most prominent men of the country, besides hundreds of letters and petitions—they were my reasons for commuting the sentence. I am responsible for my action," added the governor. "I thought I was doing right, and I acted according to my belief." He then handed the reporter a petition signed by twenty-six senators and congressmen.

KILLED BY A LANDSLIDE.

Eight Men Buried Alive—Three of them Dead.

There was a terrible landslide one mile below Whitesburg, Carroll county, Ga., Tuesday morning, in which three negroes, Jerry Collin, Sam Wimbush and Sam Weems, lost their lives, and five other negroes were badly hurt. The work train of the Central railroad was loading rock, to be used for ballasting in a deep cut, eight negroes were undermining the rock when the bank caved in, covering them all with the dirt and rocks.

The committee on resolutions entered the hall and reported the following:

The democratic party of Georgia, in convention assembled, pledges anew its loyalty and devotion to the time-honored principles of democracy as promulgated and practiced by the fathers and sages of the party.

It endorses the platform adopted by the national democratic convention of 1892 and pledges its united and enthusiastic support to the election of its nominees—Grover Cleveland and Adlai E. Stevenson.

It commends to the people of Georgia the administration of Governor W. J. Northen and the state house officers whose most honest and economical management of the affairs of the state have conducted so largely to the progress and prosperity of the people.

COMPLIMENTING CRISP.

The New York World Has Good Things to Say of Him.

The New York World of Saturday, in a review of congress, says of Speaker Crisp: "No democrat in congress, in speaking of the record of the present house, fails to pay a warm tribute to Speaker Crisp. It was claimed for Judge Crisp by his friends at the time of his election that he possessed all of the qualities necessary to success in that responsible office, and it is the general judgment now that he has justified in his high place the most generous things said of him. He has been, indeed, a most model presiding officer, prompt, courteous, entirely fair to both sides, and resolute whenever the occasion demanded. His decisions have always been ratified by the house, and his private counsels to his party friends have always been to promote an intelligent and praiseworthy dispatch of business. In the most turbulent times of the session he has never been betrayed into word or deed reflecting in the slightest degree on the dignity of his situation, or his well-established reputation for good temper and self-possession. The most experienced of the men in congress unite in saying that no speaker so early in his service in that office ever won for himself more deserved praise than Mr. Crisp.

THE COTTON REPORT

As Issued by the Agricultural Department.

The August report of the statistician of the department of agriculture at Washington, issued Wednesday, shows a reduction in the condition of cotton during July from 86.9 to 82.3. This is the lowest average since August, 1886, when the general condition was one point lower. The season has been almost everywhere too wet, though in South Carolina and Georgia alternations of an excessive rainfall and a blistering sunshine have been injurious. In Texas the need of rain is reported by some correspondents. The natural result of these conditions appears in grassy fields, rank plant growth and small fruitage, with considerable shedding. Grassworms and caterpillars have appeared in the more southern and western districts, but no material damage has yet resulted. The state averages of condition are: Virginia, 88; North Carolina, 82; South Carolina, 88; Georgia, 84; Florida, 81; Alabama, 89; Mississippi, 80; Louisiana, 83; Texas, 86; Arkansas, 75; Tennessee, 79.

HALVES WORTH SEVENTY-FIVE

A Premium Offered for the Souvenir Half Dollars.

A dispatch of Monday from Chicago says: Director General Davis of the Columbian Exposition, says that congress has really given the fair $3,282,000, including the expenses of the commission and the government exhibit. The souvenir half dollars will be worth 75 cents, the premium already offered.

Crandall Notified.

The notification committee of the national prohibition party met in Waco, Texas, Thursday night, and in the presence of nearly 10,000 people formally notified Dr. Crandall of his nomination. The doctor in his address of acceptance predicted the ultimate success of the party, nationally and in all states. After the notification ceremonies were over, a ratification meeting was held.

THE SOUTH IN BRIEF

The Boys of Her Progress Portrayed in Pithy and Pointed Paragraphs.

AND A COMPLETE RETROSPECT OF HAPPENINGS OF GENERAL INTEREST FROM DAY TO DAY WITHIN HER BORDERS.

At Atlanta, Ga., Tuesday, before United States Commissioner, Judge Haight, Charles M. and Charles R. Chisholm were bound over in the sum of $3,000 for counterfeiting.

General Field, the people's party nominee for vice president, spoke at Birmingham, Ala., Wednesday night to a large and enthusiastic audience. He was shown many courtesies during his stay.

A San Francisco News special of Tuesday says: Practically all the milling interests of California have united in a combine with a capital of $10,000,000. The daily output will be 60,000 barrels flour.

A ferry boat containing twelve negro truck hucksters and the day's supply of vegetables was swamped in the harbor at Charleston, S. C., Tuesday morning and eight persons, including the captain, were drowned.

A News special from McKinney, Texas, says: Fire Monday night destroyed Coffee Bros., livery stables, Hollander's shoe store, McKinney bank, Cole's saloon and half a dozen grocery store, besides several smaller concerns. Loss $20,000; insurance $55,000.

A dispatch of Monday from Salado, Texas, states that boll worm is playing havoc with the cotton crop in that section of the state. One farmer has offered 100 acres of cotton land for $1 an acre. Nothing can be done to stay the ravages of the pest.

In a row between workmen at the repair forges of the St. Louis and Suburban Electric road, in St. Louis, Wednesday night, Scotty Morris, an ex-convict, was seized and thrown on an open forge at white heat and fatally burned.

The planing mill of Bender Brothers at Hamilton, Ohio, burned Wednesday. Loss $80,000; insurance light.

The stockholders of the Middle Georgia and Atlantic have decided to raise the money among themselves and complete the road from Covington to Eatonton. They have been trying for a year or more to raise the money in New York, but times have been hard and it has been impossible to negotiate bonds on a new railroad. Now the stockholders have resolved to put up the money themselves.

The state alliance at Cullman, Ala., adjourned Thursday. They passed resolutions in secret denouncing what they called the frauds in the recent election and declared their independence of the organized democracy. Then they adjourned, held a mass meeting, heard General Field speak and adopted similar resolutions with the addenda that it was their duty and purpose to defeat the regular Cleveland ticket in Alabama.

A Jackson, Miss., dispatch of Tuesday says: The total registration of this state is 76,742, whites 68,124, colored 8,618; of these 1,087 whites and 1,035 colored were registered under what is termed the understanding clause of the new constitution which allows those which can neither read nor write but can understand the constitution to register, provided they have complied with tax paying and other requirements of the constitution.

The North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association in session at Raleigh Thursday, elected the following officers: President, H. R. Chears, of Plymouth; vice presidents, N. D. Fetzer, of Concord; J. H. Babbitt, of Raleigh, and W. G. Thomas, of Louisburg; treasurer, A. J. Cooke, of Fayetteville; secretary, F. W. Hancock, of Oxford; member of the board of pharmacy, W. H. Wearn, of Charlotte. The next meeting will be at Winston next August.

Dispatches from Fairmount, W. Va., state that three thousand miners in that portion of the Monongahela valley began a strike Monday to force recognition of their labor organization. The operators declare they will close their mines permanently if necessary to win the struggle. Considerable dissatisfaction exists among the union miners of Kanawha valley. It is probable that the strike will extend to that section. Ten thousand men will be affected.

Joseph J. Davis, associate justice of the North Carolina supreme court, died Monday night at his home at Louisburg, aged sixty-four. He served during the war in Scales' brigade, Army of Northern Virginia, and as captain was captured at Gettysburg, remaining in prison until the war ended. He represented his district in congress three terms. In 1887 he was appointed to fill a vacancy on the supreme bench to which position he was afterwards elected. He was one of the leading men in North Carolina.

RAIN FURNISHED.

The Goodyear Rain Company Begins Operations.

A dispatch from Ft. Scott, Kan., says: The Goodland Rain Company, organized last winter to make rain after the Melbourne plan, commenced operations Sunday under contract with the farmers of Bourbon county to cause a fall of rain of half an inch over 500 square miles, the compensation being $1,000. Operations commenced Saturday morning. Clouds gathered in the southwest and commenced moving in the direction of Ft. Scott. At midnight a copious rain was falling. Skeptical people say natural conditions would have brought rain any way and that the farmers might have saved their $1,000.

MUST BE AMERICANS

Before they Can Man the Newly Enrolled Steamers.

A Washington dispatch of Sunday says: An interesting question has been presented to the treasury in connection with the enrollment of the new Inman line steamers under the American flag. The officers of the vessels are foreigners, but have applied for American naturalization. The commissioner of navigation decided that the law requires them to be full-fledged American citizens. Unless his decision is reversed, the company must dismiss old reliable officers or delay the enrollment until the naturalization process is complete—a matter of some time.

The Souvenir Half Dollars.

The treasury department will take prompt measures for the execution of the provisions of the act appropriating $3,500,000 for the world's Columbian exposition, and expects to have the souvenir half dollar in coin, bronze medals and vellum impressions for diplomas prepared in about six weeks. The designs of the souvenir coin have already been selected, and the reverse will show the main building of the exposition and the obverse the head of Columbus.

BRADSTREET'S OUTLOOK.

Review of Trade as Reported by R. G. Dun & Co.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: In every respect, save only business distinctly improves. Crop prospects are cleared, manufactures are doing finely, even in the iron branches, and labor troubles seem to approach a settlement which is likely to be advantageous and lasting. The domestic trade is of enormous value and decidedly the largest ever known for the season.

At Boston trade is fairly active. At Philadelphia receipts of wool are large and prices firm. The trade in paint and glass is moderate; in liquors and chemicals active, and tobacco dull. At Baltimore the fall trade opens with favorable auspices. Business at Chicago considerably exceeds last year's, and fair crops and a large business are expected. Business at Kansas City is satisfactory, though collections are slow, but receipts of cattle and grain are large at fair prices. At Louisville trade improves and the outlook is better. At Little Rock business is quiet, but at Savannah well sustained. At New Orleans money is in improved demand at a slight advance; cotton is steady and sugar firm. Pig iron is on the whole no weaker, though Bessemer has sold at Pittsburg for $13.00, and southern sales at Chicago have depressed gray forge to $12, equal to $8.15 at Birmingham. The demand for bar is more active, and plate, sheet and structural mills are crowded with orders. Shoe factories are unusually crowded, and shipments for the week reached 90,000 cases against 80,000 last year. Sales of wool increased largely, and for the year at the three chief points are 174,000,000 pounds against 148,000,000 last year to date.

Speculation has made higher prices for bread stuffs, half a cent for wheat, in spite of receipts at the west exceeding a million bushels per day with exports of 800,000 bushels in three days. Corn has been advanced nearly 5 cents on small sales, and oats 2 3-4 cents, western reports favoring shorter estimates. Cotton has declined an eighth on sales of 596,000 bales for the week, crop receipts being more favorable.

Coffee is an eighth stronger and oil 3-8 of a cent lower.

Business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., number for the United States, 160. For the corresponding week of last year there were 207 failures in the United States.

VALUABLE FREIGHT.

Twenty Millions in Gold Shipped From San Francisco to New York.

A dispatch from Omaha, Neb., says: A train bearing twenty millions in gold, from San Francisco to New York, arrived Sunday night and after a short stop proceeded eastward. A Pullman and six coaches were guarded by a company of soldiers with Springfield rifles and two Gatlings. The guards stood on the platforms with loaded rifles while the stop was made and no one was allowed to approach.

A $60,000 Package Lost.

A Bridgeport, Conn., dispatch says: It was learned Monday that the loss of a package containing sixty thousand dollars by the Adams Express company several weeks ago, occurred at the New York office of the company, 59 Broad way. The clerk was putting the package in the safe to go on the train for New Haven. While the packages were spread out on the floor, some person picked up one and escaped. The loss was not noticed until the safe at New Haven was opened.

The Banner Wheat State.

Advices of Thursday from Sioux Falls, S. D., state that the figures on South Dakota's prospective wheat yield by competent men, are simply astounding, ranging from fifty million to sixty million bushels of wheat, besides immense quantities of other grains. Elevator experts place the yield at sixty millions, while Milwaukee and Northwestern railway experts place it at fifty-five million and fifty million respectively. Even at the lowest figures it is claimed the state will carry the banner of the entire union.

Says the Pickens County News: The election is over, now let us accept the result and let bygones be bygones. We have no apology to make, and demand none. We did what we considered our duty—we suppose those who held opposite views did the same. We were honest in our convictions of what was right in the premises, and are willing to impute like motives to those on the other side. We regret that the campaign was so extended and bitter and feel glad that it is over. We would not continue it, or say of the bitterness it has engendered. Let there now be peace and good will towards man.

What compromises can now be made between Jones and Kolb, we are at a total loss to understand. It seems to us that nothing but a legal contest in the courts of the state can possibly reach such differences as may exist between these two candidates for governor and their respective state and county ticket. But we stand ready to aid in any political effort looking to the reconciliation of the democratic factions of the state. The division among the white people of the democratic party of the state is ominous, and threatens serious trouble. This much is at least patent to all.—Huntsville Mercury.

An Engineering Society.

At the suggestion of Col. R. A. Hardaway, professor of civil engineering in the University of Alabama, an engineering society was organized at the university on the 27th of last June. The name selected for the organization was The Engineering Society of the University of Alabama. In the plan of the constitution all graduate engineers of the University of Alabama and all honorary civil engineers and mining engineers will be enrolled as members of the society upon notification of their desire to become members, addressed to the secretary of the Engineering Society of the University of Alabama, University Postoffice, Ala. No dues or fees are required for membership. It was determined that the society have a badge, and a committee was appointed to submit designs for same. Permanent officers were elected as follows: W. W. Campbell, president, and W. S. Keller, secretary and treasurer.

Death of Dr. Bryce.

Dr. Peter Bryce, the distinguished superintendent of the Alabama insane hospital, died at his home in Tuskaloosa on the morning of the 14th of August, of Bright's disease, after an illness of several months. Dr. Bryce was a native of Columbia, S. C., having been born in that city March 4th, 1834. He was a graduate of the South Carolina Military institute, also of the medical department of the University of New York, receiving his diploma from the latter institution in 1859. Upon the completion of his medical studies he spent some time abroad, principally in the hospitals of Paris. Having determined to make the treatment of nervous diseases a specialty, upon returning to this country he prosecuted his studies in the state hospitals of New Jersey and South Carolina, finally accepting the position of assistant physician in Bellevue hospital, New York. He was allowed to remain there but a short while, being called to Alabama about 1861 to establish the Alabama Insane hospital, which is to-day, as the result of his remarkable ability, recognized throughout the world as without a parallel in the successful treatment of the insane, being specially noted for its non-restraint and industrial systems. Dr. Bryce has occupied many positions of honor, among which may be mentioned president of the Alabama Historical society, president of the Alabama Medical association, and at the time of his death he was president of the American Neurological association.

Southern Steel.

From the Age-Herald.

Some two weeks ago the Chattanooga Times published an article explaining in detail a new process of desiliconizing and dephosphorizing southern low grade iron, making it high grade iron of the first quality, rendering it easily convertible into steel. The process was patented by Benjamin Talbot, of that city, superintendent of Southern Iron company, and is known as the "Talbot" process. This process seems destined to revolutionize steel and iron making in the south on account of its simplicity, cheapness and practicability. Col. A. M. Shook, president and general manager of the Southern Iron Company, in speaking of iron and steel making in general, and the Talbot process in particular, said: "My investigations have forced me to the conclusion that to make steel in the south is an absolute necessity; not only for the expansion of the iron industry, and not only to bring renewed life and activity into our section, but to keep alive our present industries. The use of soft steel has practically shut out our forge and foundry iron from all manufacturing establishments into which it formerly entered, except where cast iron is used. The average cost of converting a ton of iron into muck bar in the United States is about $12.50; in the south the average cost is $15. This brings the cost of bar iron up to or above the cost of bar steel, notwithstanding the fact that steel is better for all purposes than iron. The amount of silicon and phosphorous in the irons of our sections precludes the possibility of making steel, either by the acid or basic Bessemer process. While we have too much phosphorous for the acid Bessemer process we have too little for the basic Bessemer. If we adopt the duplex process, we will be forced to take our blast furnace metal; let it cool so that it can be broken and graded, in order to select such stock as we can use. Then remelt and treat in an ordinary acid converter for the purpose of desiliconizing. The metal must then be taken to the open hearth furnace for the purpose of dephosphorization. This necessitates not only an expensive plant, but also the loss incurred by the Bessemer converter in addition to the loss in open hearth furnace. Having suggested the difficulties, I desire to suggest a remedy: Benjamin Talbot, of Chattanooga, has patented a process for desiliconizing metal, known as the "Talbot" process, that will, I think, solve this question. The simplicity and cheapness of the process will commend it to all southern iron masters. It consists in tapping the slag from an ordinary basic open hearth furnace (a part of the usual operation of a furnace) into a cylindrical vessel so as to produce as great a depth or column of slag as possible; taking the molten metal from the blast furnace and pouring it through this column of slag while both the slag and the metal are molten; then taking the treated metal and pouring it into an ordinary basic open hearth furnace. The passage of the metal through the column of basic slag, not only removes all the silicon, but greatly reduces the phosphorus and partially reduces the carbon; so that you get into your open hearth furnace a metal entirely free from silicon—the phosphorus greatly reduced; and this is true without regard to the grade of the metal before it is poured through the slag. The actual tests that have been made to show that with a silver gray iron containing 5.80 of the silicon, the metal was as completely desiliconized after treatment as a white metal containing only .4 silicon. The next and most important question is the cost. Take gray forge iron at Birmingham—the present price is $8.50 per ton for cold iron, graded, broken and loaded on cars. The average price paid for breaking, grading and loading is 25 cents per ton. The cost of sand, cast house labor, carrying out of cast house, etc., is no less than 15 cents per ton. So it is safe to say that hot gray forge iron, taken as it runs from the furnace, is $8.10 per ton, including commissions. To pour this iron into the vessel containing the molten slag, tap it out again and pour it into the open hearth furnace will require but a few minutes of time and cost nothing excepting the labor required, plus the cost of the slag. If the waste slag obtained from the open hearth furnace will be sufficient to treat the pig iron for the next succeeding charge, then the cost will be represented by the labor required to tap it into the slag ladle. If the waste slag is not sufficient for this purpose, then the balance will have to be made by melting the purest brown ore we can get in an ordinary regenerative gas furnace. The cost of taking the metal from the blast furnace, pouring it through the slag and delivering it to the open hearth furnace, including cost of slag, cannot exceed $1 per ton—it should be much less. Instead of there being a loss in the metal, there will be a gain, for the reason that as the metal gives up its silicon, it will take up from the slag a portion of the iron which the slag holds as oxide of iron. You now have your open hearth furnace charged (and the charge melted down) with a metal wholly desiliconized, greatly reduced in phosphorous and partly reduced in carbon—in other words, a semi-steel. It requires from two and a half to three hours to charge a twenty-ton open-hearth furnace with pig and scrap, there still being present all the silicon, phosphorus and carbon the charge contained when put into the furnace. Under the old practice, starting with a cold charge, the average output of a twenty-ton furnace is about 150 tons per week. Under the Talbot process, with a hot charge to start with, the average output of a twenty-ton furnace is 600 tons per week, or four times as much as by the old method. Taking the hot charge in the open-hearth furnace at $9.10 per ton, will make the total cost of steel in the ingot not more than $16 per ton, after allowing a liberal charge for labor, fuel, ferro, dolomite, moulds, running, repairs, waste, supplies, etc. The ingots can be put into billets for $8 per ton. This makes the billets cost $18 per ton at furnace. The process must be continuous from the time the ore, coke and limestone are charged at the tunnel head until the finished billet is reached. The time required after the metal is tapped from the blast furnace should not exceed four hours. With three open hearth furnaces and one slag furnace, constructed alongside of two blast furnaces, with a slag vessel between, the output should be 1,200 tons per week of finished product, allowing for one furnace out for repair and one on slag all the time. The rolling mills of the south will all agree not to puddle another ton of iron if they can be assured of a reliable supply of soft steel billets at $25 per ton. The cost of erection and equipment of such a plant with a blooming mill to break down the ingots into 4x4 inch billets, all complete, will be about $300,000, inclusive of blast furnace plant. Why it will not pay for itself one year after it gets to working well I cannot see.

CANDIDATE BUCHANAN

Will Run for Governor of Tennessee as an Independent Democrat.

A Nashville news special says: Gov. John P. Buchanan on Monday announced that he is an independent democratic candidate for governor. This announcement was expected, as Gov. Buchanan withdrew his name from before the recent convention as soon as he was defeated at the primaries. He has recently been called upon by delegations from several counties and asked to run as an independent. The people's party, it is said, has pledged him 25,000 votes. In making his announcement, Governor Buchanan says he believes he is doing so in obedience to the will of the majority of the rank and file of the democracy. He announces his platform to be free coinage, an increase in the circulating medium, abolition of the national banking system, graduated income tax, tariff for revenue only, election of United States senators by the people, against trusts and dealing in futures, opposition to the force bill, against alien ownership of lands, abolition of the lease system, arbitration laws and a constitutional convention.

Permanent Receivers of the R. & B.

England on Our Labor Troubles.

The London Post says: "It is impossible to read accounts of the labor troubles in America without feeling the gravity of the crisis through which the great American republic is passing. The moral should be laid to heart in England, where socialism seems to be disposed to go to extreme lengths, if a favorable opportunity presents itself."

TRADE REVIEW

For the Past Week as Reported by R. G. Dun & Co.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly report says: The crop reports are not quite up to expectations, and are construed as indicating a deficient supply of corn and oats, while any possible deficiency in wheat and cotton will be more than met by the surplus stocks. But prices have advanced quite sharply, and the exports of domestic products fall below last year's.

The great industries are all doing remarkably well, excepting iron manufacture, in which the labor controversies have been partially settled.

The iron output on August 1st was 15,196 tons weekly, against 162,151 July 1st, and 169,576 a year ago, but the stocks unsold nevertheless increased 16,000 tons during the month of July, and on the 1st of August exceeded 1,000,000 tons. Southern pig iron is pressed for sale, and some quotations are lower than ever. But the resumption of manufacture by the Western iron works, which have settled their controversies with the men will make a great change in the situation at once, increasing the output of iron, but probably the demand still more.

In textile industries the utmost activity prevails. Manufacturers are buying wool freely. Boston sales for the week being 2,000,000 pounds above last year's, and the total sales at the three principal markets for the year thus far have been 82,000,000 pounds greater than last year. The boot and shoe factories are still pressed to the utmost and shipments from the east continue for the year 81,000 cases greater than last year. Cotton fell an eighth, though exports are larger than a year ago, as the crop reports grow more favorable. In fall clothing, trade is heavy and stocks of woolens are being closed out, while orders for spring goods are liberal. The trade in dry goods is rendered larger than usual by liberal western orders, particularly in woman's dress goods. At Philadelphia wool is also strong with free receipts, groceries dull, but up to the average, manufactured iron in better demand other trades comparatively quiet. At Baltimore the trade in dry goods and hardware is good and shoe manufacturers report business far ahead of last year.

The strike in the iron mills at Pittsburg has been settled with a reduction of 10 per cent. in wages in the finishing branches, and the window glass workers have settled the scale on last year's basis.

The southern reports show a general improvement in trade at Little Rock, at Memphis, Montgomery and New Orleans, but at Galveston collections are slow, and at Savannah money is reported tight. The treasury has taken in $700,000 more gold and silver than it has paid out, while lessening the volume of notes in circulation $1,200,000, but money is abundant and cheap. Silver has fallen to 38 pence in London, the lowest price ever quoted, and in June it sold at 41 pence.

DEMOCRACY IN TEXAS.

A Split in the Convention—Pistols and Knives Brought Into Play.

A dispatch from Houston, Texas, says: Democracy is rent in twain and a double barreled convention is the result. The same scenes which were enacted in this city four years ago during the Stewart-Hutchinson campaign occurred Tuesday. It was a foregone conclusion that if the Hogg people, who had about two-thirds of the instructed delegates, attempted to control the convention the Clark people would bolt. The body agreed upon this line of policy at their secret caucuses and they carried it out, the convention never completing or even getting to temporary organization. The Clark faction assert that knowing the danger of a deadlock to the success of Governor Hogg, the chairman was to arbitrarily run the machine, and his attempt to do this brought on a fight. Men, in angry passion, were surging, rushing and pulling at the tables and chairs, and all the time yelling and cursing. Several fights were going on in the audience, and pistols and dangerous looking knives were flourished. For several minutes it looked as though the bloody scene of Carnegie would be enacted. Reporters were jostled about, and in the melee had all they could do to look out for their notes and memoranda. One of them had gained a seat of advantage, and in a mad stampede he was hurled a distance of thirty feet on the heads of some of the crowd below. At last semblance of order was worked out of the chaos. As though by mutual consent, murderous looking pistols and knives were put back in the pockets and each side took half of a platform and held a Chappard pounding over the Hogg convention and Lane presiding over the Clark legion. Both sides soon got down to business and began the work of committees, by appointing the usual committees, their chairmen and [illegible] were done.

THROUGHOUT THE SOUTH.

Notes of Her Progress and Prosperity Briefly Transcribed.

Important Happenings from Day to Day Tersely Told.

The schooner, Snowflake, from Honea, La., capsized Tuesday and a party of fifteen were drowned.

Stephen R. Mallory, of Pensacola, Fla., was renominated for congress Wednesday afternoon.

Turner & Oates' sawmill at Mobile, Ala., was burned Thursday morning. Loss $14,000. Insured. The dryhouse and planing mill were saved.

A Richmond, Va., dispatch says: Mrs. Elizabeth Powell, the manager and proprietor of the Richmond theater for more than a quarter of a century, died Wednesday.

The stockholders of the Fort Payne Coal and Iron Company condemn the action of the minority stockholders in securing a temporary receiver. The case will be fought.

Anniston, Ala., is to have a third party paper and its publication will begin at an early date. Kirby Woodruff, late candidate for circuit court clerk on the Kolb ticket, will be its editor.

A Nashville dispatch of Thursday says: A telephone message from Governor Buchanan's residence elicited the information that the governor is confined to his bed but is in no danger, whatever.

An El Paso, Texas dispatch says: The executive committee of the southwestern silver convention, on Wednesday, issued a call for a second annual convention to meet at El Paso, Monday, December 5th.

A news special of Wednesday from Jasper, Tenn., says: The grand jury returned against the insurrectionists fourteen true bills and the attorney general states that forty more indictments are certain.

A Louisville, Ky., dispatch says: When the general assembly met Monday morning to adjourn for the summer, Governor Brown sent in his veto of the revenue bill, which had been under consideration for over nine months before it was adopted, and the state is out several hundred thousand dollars, as the legislature will have to go back to the beginning.

Railroad Commissioners Powers and Fort reached Brunswick Thursday morning for the purpose of hearing representatives from the city council, board of trade and the railroads on the question of building a depot at that place. The railroads pleaded poverty, and said they should not be required to provide a place for the people out of whom they made their money to rest while waiting for trains, or shelter from heat and rain.

YELLOW FEVER ON BOARD.

The Steamer Eva B. Douglass Is Sent to the Quarantine Station.

Telegrams of Sunday from Tampa, Fla., state that reports of yellow fever on the American steamer Eva B. Douglass, have been confirmed by official statements of Dr. Joseph Porter. The vessel was bound from Havana to Punta Gorda loaded with phosphate, and was detained by the state quarantine, twenty-eight miles below Port Tampa, according to the law for fumigation and disinfection. This was on August 3d, and while this was going on Captain Letts was stricken down with yellow fever.

Before the vessel could be removed to the government station at Dry Tortugas, three others of the crew were taken sick, so State Health Officer Porter put some of his own men aboard, who took the vessel five miles down the bay and anchored her at a point ten miles from the track of vessels, where he is personally attending the sick. Last Thursday morning Captain Letts died and his body was buried at Anna Maria Key, an uninhabited island further down the bay. The other cases are improving, but the disease will probably go through the entire crew, with the exception of a mulatto from Cuba, who has probably had the fever before. There the Douglas is completely isolated, and there is absolutely no communication with the mainland or with other shipping. The state board of health has the boat under perfect control.

Confidential notifications were sent in cipher to the chairman of every county board of health in Florida, as well as to the presidents of all state boards, as per agreement made at the Montgomery quarantine conference three years ago. Florida's coast patrol has made it practically impossible for any infected vessels to go outside of the quarantine, and [illegible] this one instance the [illegible] vessel [illegible] from Cuba [illegible] Tampa [illegible] Gorda [illegible] Captain [illegible] Tampa [illegible] Gorda [illegible] Captain [illegible] Tampa [illegible] Gorda [illegible] Captain

An Industrial Aid Association has been organized in Birmingham. Its object is to establish more small industries in the Magic City.

The August report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture states that the condition of the cotton crop shows the lowest average since 1880.

The Birmingham Age-Herald of the 16th inst., contains the following concerning the probable successor of the late Peter Bryce, as superintendent to the Insane Asylum: "It is to be generally accepted that Dr. J. T. Searcy, the eminent Tuskaloosa physician, will succeed Dr. Bryce, late superintendent of the Alabama insane hospital."

The citizens of Opelika can't entertain the editors this year. The Journal endorses the suggestion of its esteemed morning contemporary that editors now go to work and prepare for entertaining themselves. Don't ask any favors of any community, but go to some delightful summer resort, and go prepared to pay their own bills and to have a rattling good time.

We agree with the Journal in the above suggestion, the editors don't need to be entertained especially in Opelika.

Jim Weaver the Third party's candidate for President, has, within the past fifteen years, been a member of five different political parties—the Republican, Greenback, Union Labor and Populite parties. He has never been successful in any of his efforts to get office. It is hard to tell what political party he will adhere to next year. He now has no more idea of being elected than a butt-headed cow. He is simply in the field as a Republican decoy duck.—Greensboro Watchman.

Col. G. W. Hewitt, of Birmingham, is out in an open letter to the Age-Herald in which he favors an investigation of the charges of fraud made by Kolb and his followers. He says the legislature when it meets should at once provide a mode of investigation, and proceed to do it fairly and impartially. He declares it is his opinion that Gov. Jones has been legally elected governor, but he says no party can stand under the charge of ballot box frauds without vindicating itself. He is in favor of preserving the integrity and sacredness of the ballot box.—Montgomery Journal.

The Dothan Siftings is responsible for the story that a man from Henry was traveling through Dale some time since and seeing a severe rain and wind storm coming up, asked a man if he could go in his house till the threatened storm blew over. "Are you a Jones man or a Kolb man?" was asked the traveler. Said the traveler, "I am a democrat." "Answer my question," said the man of the house, to which the traveler replied, "I am a Jones man." "Then," said the man of the house, "move on. You can't come in my house. No Jones man can get shelter under my roof." This is very near as ugly condition of affairs as exists in South Carolina.—Montgomery Journal.

A big effort will be made to lead all of the farmers into the Third Party between now and November and all kinds of inducements will be held out to them. There is no possible chance for that party to win and it would be well for those who contemplate leaving the Democratic party to stop and consider the result of casting their vote for Weaver. It will only be helping to disrupt the solid south and to elect Harrison. We who live in the south cannot afford to see a republican elected. Harrison once more in power with a congress to back him will crush the south under the most grinding laws. If you wish increased taxation, the force bill and the many evils that will follow, then vote for Weaver, but if you wish good government, peace and prosperity stand by the Democratic party. It is the farmers' party, the laborers party and works for their interests.—Greenville Advocate.

CLAIM OF THE POPULITES.

Third Party Leaders Predict that They Will Carry Several States.

WASHINGTON, Aug., 14.—The People's party means business this year, if it ever did. It is making some mighty claims, all of which are laughed at by the leaders of the two great parties. But in some of the States the anxiety of the old party leaders is apparent to everyone. Heitman Shoultice of the board of immigration, and one of the leading members of the People's party, declares that after the election this fall there will be no such thing as the Republican party. The Democratic party, he says, is nearer the people and will live longer. "You think this absurd," he said to the Commercial correspondent tonight, but bear in mind that the claims of the People's party two years ago were regarded as the idle vaporings of cranks and nothing more. Two years ago we claimed we could carry two States and that we would have a good dozen men in the lower house of congress. We made that claim good and we will make the claims good now also."

"What part, then, does the People's party expect to play in the coming revolution in politics?"

"A very important part, indeed, for we are confident of carrying at least eight to ten States. Four of these States we regard as absolutely certain. They are Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and North Carolina. In four others, Minnesota, Colorado, Alabama and Georgia, we have all the best of the fighting so far and ought to win beyond any reasonable doubt. In at least two other Democratic States, Texas and Florida, we will make gains in Congressmen."

"How many members of the lower house do you think the People's party will have in the next congress?"

"From forty five to fifty," replied the enthusiast of the Third party, "and this will give us the balance of power, a power that will be used to defeat bad legislation if it can't be used to its liking. There will be no more legislation favorable to banks and to railroads. There has been too much of that sort already."

While these claims of the People's party leaders are doubtless exaggerated, it is admitted on all sides that the party has grown substantially in strength since the election of two years ago, and in consequence it is one of the uncertain quantities in politics, the breadth or strength of which no one can accurately estimate. The claims are at least worth consideration, as one of the possibilities of politics of to-day. Should all their claims be fulfilled it would bring about a political revolution in very truth. Of the eighteen states claimed by them, five are the States which cast their votes four years ago for Harrison, and three of them were found in the Cleveland column. The Republican States with their electoral votes are: Minnesota 9 votes, Kansas 10, Nebraska 8, and Colorado 4. South Dakota, with 4 votes, was then a Territory and without a vote in the electoral college. The Democratic States with their electoral votes are: Alabama 11, North Carolina 11, and Georgia 13. If the People's party should carry these States it would draw 35 votes from each of the two great parties and be almost certain to throw the election into congress. This would result in the election of Cleveland as president and Reed as vice-president, the former being elected by the house and the latter by the senate.

The Vote for Commissioner of Agriculture and the Judges.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 17.—The votes for Commissioner of Agriculture, Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the Supreme Court have been opened, and the figures show the following result:

Chief Justice—George W. Stone, 219,164; R. C. Brickell, 1,771; P. G. Bowman, 3; J. C. Oliver, 15; E. W. Pettus, 1.

Associate Justices—T. N. McClellan, 220,328; T. W. Coleman, 219,730; J. B. Head, 220,602.

Refuse to Follow a Deserter.

One of the most unique and remarkable political documents comes from Barton, Ga., in the district now represented by Tom Watson, the Third Party Congressman. Twenty five of his constituents and firm supporters have addressed him as follows:

Believing as we do that an honest man is the noblest work of God, a man who when convinced of an error, who when he has made a mistake, has the courage of his convictions, the manhood, the back-bone, to acknowledge it and repent with a deep, soul-stirring repentance, a repentance your neighbor can see, hear and feel—not a closet repentance.

As humble citizens, as honest citizens, with a real love of the whole country at heart, a country with common interests, a country with common interest, a country whose cry is "special privileges to none and equal rights to all," a country which asks no favors but demands justice as plain citizens, as common homespun boys with no political aspirations, with no office or reward to inspire; we come to you with our hearts bleeding in our hands, conscious of having done wrong, our eyes uplifted to God who created us, feeling we are due you an apology. We owe it to you and your country and to our country—and apology for having cast our ballot to help elect you to the present Congress, and further pledge our most sacred promise to use all honorable means to defeat you in the present Congressional contest. Hoping that you may accept the apology as a dictation of honest hearts and for honest motives, we are,

"Yours once was, but now isn't."
—Greenville Advocate.

The Pulaski, Tenn., Democrat contains the following about the People's party candidate for president:

General Weaver, while in command at Pulaski, in January 1864, issued an order to Charles C. Abernathy, John H. Newhill, Robt. Rhodes and others that they pay into his hands $1,000 for the maintenance of refugees (meaning negroes and renegades from Alabama). This order was accompanied by a threat that, if the money was not paid; they and their families would be sent South and their property given to said refugees. All these parties are dead now and were sixty years old when that order was issued. Can any Southern man vote for such a heartless wretch?

THE COTTON TWIST ROBBERY.

A man by the name of Mr. C. W. Witt sold Mr. Jasper Cox—a very poor man—two thousand pounds of bacon, for which he received the cash. Mr. Cox took the bacon to the cotton mills in Lawrence county and traded it for cotton twist. This he carefully stowed away in the loft of his little cabin, thinking it would assist in purchasing a little home after the war, as he was very poor with a large family and had no home. Weaver learned through some source that this gentleman had the cotton twist and sent a detatchment of soldiers to his house and took possession of it, and shipped it to Iowa for his own use.

The cotton twist was worth at the time it was stolen, $2,000.

Jasper Cox is living in Giles county.

ROBBERY OF HOGS AND TURKEYS.

John P. Williams a poor but highly esteemed farmer in Giles county, had twenty five fat hogs, which at that time were worth ten dollars per hundred, gross, and a lot of turkeys. Weaver in person, took a file of soldiers out to Williams' place and made the soldiers shoot every hog on the place, and had them brought to camp. When Williams asked for a voucher Weaver said: "I don't give rebels in the South vouchers. I would rather furnish a rope to hang every d—n one of them." Mr. Williams is still living and will swear to the above if necessary.

The hogs were valued at seven hundred and fifty dollars.

The turkeys belonged to Mrs. Williams, and she begged to have them spared, but the heartless wretch had them all killed and taken to headquarters for his own special use, remarking to Mrs. Williams that she had no business being the wife of a rebel.

BARTERING IN PASSES.

Weaver made it a practice to charge our citizens ten cents each for passes to come into and go out of the federal lines. The money he put into his own pockets. This pass read as follows:

"Pass the bearer through the federal lines." J. B. WEAVER, Commander.

Tenure of Office.

Judge John P. Hubbard has written the following letter to R. B. Holt, Clerk of the Circuit Court of this county:

TUSCY, Ala., Aug. 16, '92.

In 1886 I had occasion to decide the time the Clerk and Probate Judge terms of office expired, from a careful examination of the law then I decided the terms expired not earlier than on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. I have re-examined the election law in acts of 1888, and the constitution of 1868 and 1875 and they, I think, have the conclusion correct. I deem it unnecessary to go into argument to show the correctness of my conclusion as I have seen nothing to change the decision I rendered six years ago. Your term of office will not, in my opinion, expire before the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1892. Respectfully,

John P. Hubbard.

This has been the construction placed upon the tenure of office of Clerks and Probate Judge since the new constitution was adopted in 1875.—Advertiser.

A Fusion.

The following call has been issued by Messrs. Bowman and Gaither, one the chairman of the Kolb Executive Committee and the other of the Populite Committee:

The members of the Jeffersonian democracy and the people's party of Alabama are requested to meet at the courthouse of the respective counties or such other place as may be designated, on Saturday, September 10, 1892, in mass meeting or convention for the purpose of expressing their indignation on account of the frauds and outrages perpetrated in the recent state election in Alabama, and also to appoint ten delegates to a state convention to be held in Birmingham, on Thursday the 15th day of September, 1892, to nominate candidates for congressman for the respective districts and presidential electors, and to also transact such other business as may come before said convention, and the delegates from each district respectively will nominate the candidate for congressman from that district.

In counties where delegates have already been selected, their ratification by these demands will be sufficient and meet the demands.

P. G. BOWMAN,
Chairman State Democrat Executive Committee.
GEO. F. GAITHER,
Chairman People's Party Executive Committe, State of Alabama.

Who Constitute the Assembly?

Section 3 of Article IV. of the Alabama Constitution says the office of Senators shall be four years, commencing on the day of the general election, except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The only provision otherwise is regarding the election of Senators and Representatives in 1876, whose term shall not begin "until the term of the present members shall have expired," and that regarding the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House, who hold over until their successors are qualified.

So the old General Assembly, with the exception of the hold-over Senators and the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House, expired on the day after the general election. August 2nd 1892.—Advertiser.

What the People Need.

Struggles in Talladega Home.

Unity of effort in our several callings and vocations would be of vastly more benefit to us as a people than Jones or Kolb in the gubernatorial chair or than Cleveland, Weaver, or Harrison in the presidential position. We need fellow-ship, we need co-operation, we need united effort for our own advancement, more than we need any man at the head of the government affairs. We have liberty, we have strength, we have the natural advantages, and these, with an equal opportunity of progression, are all any man ought to ask or expect of the government.

Complaints Not Unfounded.

Fort Payne Journal.

These men may be driven from the party by inconsiderate abuse and they may be retained by fair treatment. They have much to complain of in many instances in the previous management of the party machinery. They see that the party has been dominated and controlled to a great extent by the political machinery and trickery and that the will of the people has been ignored and the will of the bosses substituted therefor. The conscience of every fair man will tell him that those complaints are not entirely unfounded.

Gov. Jones will ask the Legislature to pass a law to provide for a contest of the election for Governor, and he says he does not want the office unless he has received a majority of the votes cast. The people will get justice.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an attatchment in my hands from the Circuit Clerk of Chilton County in favor of W. M. Wilson and Brother, against A. M. Rollins, I will proceed to sell on MONDAY THE 15TH DAY OF SEPTEMBER,

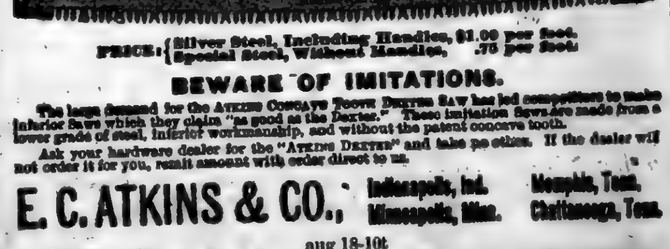
1892, in front of the court house door at Clanton to the highest, best and last bidder for cash during the legal hours of sale, the following described personal property of the defendant to-wit: 18 head of work oxen, 25 pounds of crackers, 12½ pounds of lard, 3 sacks of meal, 6 sacks of flour, and about 12 bushels of corn in the shuck. Dated at Clanton the 24th day of August 1892.

P. M. MOORE,
Sheriff of Chilton County.

Atkins' Patent Concave Tooth Dexter.

DIXIE'S FAVORITE. FOR THE WOODS OF THE SOUTH IT HAS NO EQUAL.

The patent by which this Saw is protected consists of a depression of the face of the cutting teeth through the center from point to base, thus removing all friction while in use, giving strength and stiffness to the teeth and increasing three-fold the durability of the "set." WE CHALLENGE THE WORLD to produce a Saw equaling the ATKINS FAST CUTTING DEXTER.



PRICE: { Silver Steel, Including Handles, $1.00 per Saw. / Special Steel, Without Handles, .75 per Saw.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The large demand for the ATKINS CONCAVE TOOTH DEXTER SAW has led competitors to make inferior Saws which they claim "as good as the Dexter." These imitation Saws are made from a lower grade of steel, inferior workmanship, and without the patent concave tooth.

Ask your hardware dealer for the "ATKINS DEXTER" and take no other. If the dealer will not order it for you, remit amount with order direct to us.

Jemison Locals.

Trusting that a few items from our town will add interest to your columns and let our neighbors see what we are doing, I will say that religion and rain made up the two leading features of last week.

Rev. W. J. Elliott, pastor of the Baptist Church, began a series of meeting here on the 13th inst. He was assisted by Rev. J. M. McCord, who preached some excellent sermons and won the love and admiration of all who heard his plain gospel teachings. Notwithstanding the continued rains, the services were well attended, especially by the ladies.

At a business meeting of the members of the Baptist Church held here last week, Jemison Church withdrew from the Mulberry Association by a vote of 37 to 13 in favor of Shelby Association.

Rev. B. F. Feagin preached a most logical and interesting sermon in the Methodist Church Sunday.

Rev. Erasmus Burns and family, of Tuscumbia, are visiting relatives and friends here.

Dr. Pearson is here preparing the dilapidated dentals of our citizens.

Prof. Robt. D. Durham, who has been absent sometime attending A. J. Showalter's Normal Musical Institute, is at home again to the delight of his many friends. Prof. Durham received the normal grade certificate and is recognised as one of the best vocalist in the country. Prof. Godsey has secured the service of Prof. Durham as a vocal director in the Jemison High School. This is a most attractive and valuable feature and will no doubt be highly appreciated by all who are so fortunate as to attend this school.

Messrs. Bailey and Gullahorn, of Clanton, who have the contract to paint the school building arrived here Monday morning. They at once set to work to fulfill their contract. The building will receive two coats of paint inside and three outside.

Mrs. Scott, our post mistress, has been quite ill from cold for the past few days. We are glad to see her at her post again.

The constant rains have proven detrimental to the foddering interest in this section and it is thought it will cut the cotton crop short, but sweet potatoes and turnips are on a boom.

Mr. Jim Woolley has been absent for a few days. It is supposed that he is visiting his best girl.

Miss Evelyn Caffey, one of Verbena's fascinating young ladies has returned from a pleasant visit to friends in Bozeman.

Mrs. Carrie House, after a pleasant visit here has returned to her home in Autauga.

There will be a Centenial meeting at the Baptist Church at this place on the 29th, and 30th and 31st insts. Some of the most eminent Baptist ministers of the State will take part in the meeting.

CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS.

The Fund For Their Relief Will be Ready Sept. 30th.

Revenue Department of the State of Alabama, Montgomery, Aug. 18, 1892.
(Circular 1.)

To the Probate Judges of Alabama:

The fund for the relief of Confederate soldiers and sailors and the widows of deceased Confederate soldiers and sailors will be available immediately after the close of the fiscal year, to-wit: September 30th, after which time warrants for the amount due each applicant will be drawn and forwarded to the Probate Judges of their respective counties.

Very respectfully,
John Purifoy, Auditor.

In the past ten years the exports of raw cotton have increased from 3,604,708 bales, in 1892 to 5,820,777 bales in 1891. This is an immense business and if it was a profitable business the South would be the richest section of the country. The reason that the South is not rich is that the tariff has, at the lowest calculation, imposed a "cotton tax" upon the South of not less than $50,000,000 annually. It has denied to the southern planter the freedom of exchanging for its full value these immense crops of great staple, and has imposed an annual fine of $50,000,000 on its export. The largest crop of cotton produced before the war was 4,823,780 bales. The crop for 1890-91 was 8,656,518. On an average the cotton crops have been doubled since the war, and yet the South suffers from financial prostration, due to the fact that it has not been permitted to exchange its surplus freely in order to supply its necessities. The $50,000,000 annual cotton tax which the tariff has imposed has amounted in the last twenty years to one thousand million dollars. If this wealth was in the South to-day there would be no cry of "hard times." It should be there invested in mills, in factories, in improved machinery, and in everything that makes a
